Advocates of the N. P. feel keenly its failure to respond to the promises made in its name, as to the multitudinous benefits it was to rain upon the farmer, especially, and they stick at no subterfuge, even juggling with figures as to prices, to make out a case in favour of the discredited policy. The Chatham Banner has caught the London Free Press, a prominent western Conservative journal at the act of "colouring" its market reports to make out a case in favour of the N. P. The Banner remarks:

As to dressed hogs. We gave the quotations in Chatham and Detroit the same day—Thursday last—$4.75 to $4.90 in Chatham, $5.25 to $5.50 in Detroit. How does the Free Press meet the facts? By the assertion that the Globe of the same day quoted dressed hogs "in Toronto" at $5.50 per cwt. This is a pitiable attempt at evasion and deception at best, but in order to make it pass the Free Press deliberately falsifies the record. Here is the Globe's market report of (Thursday) the 29th ult. "Dressed hogs—the offerings have been larger and packers are bidding $5.10 for selected cars and $5 for mixed cars. The prospects of big deliveries of spring hogs and the cut in the price of live hogs has stimulated country dealers to ship at once." Here is another sample of Free Press honesty. We quoted from the Mail—in the paragraph to which the Free Press professes to reply—the price of "live" hogs in Toronto as $3.75 to $4; Buffalo, same day, $4 45 to $4.55. The Free Press attempts to discredit the Mail's figures by giving the Globe's quotation for "dressed" hogs in Toronto the same day without drawing the distinction—$5.50—while, as will be seen from the extract given above, the price of dressed hogs in Toronto was only $5.10.

The Free Press also declares The Mail's quotations for cattle are incorrect, and to prove it quotes "porterhouse steak and rib roasts," 8c at Detroit, while the London editor has to pay 10c to 12c for choice cuts at home. Where can "porterhouse and rib roasts" be bought in Detroit at 8c? Looking over Sunday's Free Press the very lowest price we find quoted for rib roasts is 12½c, while 18c to 20c are quoted for "fancy" cuts. Yet the Canadian farmers are asked to believe that without a duty of 3 cents per pound, American 18c and 20c roasts would destroy a 10c and 12½c market.

To continue the comparison to other staples which the Free Press has no stomach to refer to, let us submit a few figures, taken from the Mail, the Detroit Free Press, the Buffalo Courier, and our own local reports, and see how the Canadian farmer is benefitted by the N.P. We give the outside figures in each case:—

	Chatham	Detroit	Toronto	Buffalo
Beans	$ 0 70	$ 1 05	$ 0 85	$ 1 25
Barley	0 38	....	0 43	0 53
Oats	0 21	0 23½	0 24	0 25
Hay	12 00	15 00	14 75	17 00
Dressed hogs	4 60	5 00	5 10	....

TORONTO has to pay Mr. Mansergh, the English engineering expert, $15,000.00, for the information that the place to get city water is the place that the city has heretofore been using. It is a pity Toronto hasn't as good a source of water supply as Peterborough.

GENERAL WOLSELEY has paid a compliment to the character of the Canadian volunteers by advising the arming of them with the Lee-Enfield magazine rifle. Military authorities agree that it is not wise to put repeating weapons in the hands of undisciplined troops. General Wolsley knows Canadian volunteers from personal contact and he has full confidence that they possess the coolness and common sense to use a magazine rifle properly. The Dominion Government should show the same confidence and interest in the Canadian militia by placing the best modern arms in the hands of the volunteers. According to Lord Wolsley's advice the old policy of neglect and indifference should be placed in the lumber shed with the old back-number rifles.

A Mouthful of Pearls.

The teeth, perhaps more than any other feature, enhance or destroy that intangible, because complex, thing we call beauty. What more repellant than ill-kept, discoloured teeth? What unsightliness more needless and inexcusable? Ivorine is delightful, whether as a cleanser or in its property of imparting to the teeth that dazzling whiteness so much desired and admired, and as efficiently does it render the breath sweet and fragrant. Ivorine is simply incomparable as a toilet requisite, which accounts for its recommendation and use by leading dentists.

Norway Pine Syrup strengthens the lungs and cures all throat troubles.

WORTHLESS ASSETS.

When it is stated in the public accounts that the net debt of the Dominion is, say $250,000,000 and that this has been reduced by setting off over $60,000,000 of assets, it becomes a matter of the utmost consequence to ascertain the real value of the offsets. An attempt to get at this was made the other day by Mr. Mulock, who extorted from the Minister of Finance the information that some large assets of the Dominion are quite worthless. Here is a short but very instructive table:

Albert Railway Co	$ 14,735
Fredricton Bridge Co	200,000
Quebec Harbor	3,746,519
Three Rivers Harbour	81,700
G T R	121,739
Quebec Turnpike Trust	20,000
Bank of Upper Canada	750
Earl of Selkirk	13,900
	$4,201,393

This sum is included in the list of assets of Canada, which goes to reduce the public debt. Some years ago a sub-committee of the Public accounts committee went carefully over the so-called assets, and reported that some of them were undoubtedly worthless; it is time to repeat the weeding out process, and this is a very good time to do it, so that the people may know just how the country stands financially.

Some of the above items are specially important. The arrears of interest on the Fredericton bridge loan have been accumulating since 1889, and at the close of 1895 they amounted to $78,000. This is the bridge owned by a company of which the chief shareholders are Mr. Temple, who has promised to make way for Mr. Foster in York county, and Mr. Gibson, who is supposed to hold a heavy vote thus in the hollow of his hand. Interest to the amount of $80,000 is a large price to pay for a seat for Mr. Foster. Albert county, New Brunswick, is represented by Dr. Weldon, and it can hardly be claimed that he and his constituency are politically free, so long as the local railway is in arrears for interest to the amount of $6,613. Thomas McGreevy was recently re-elected the government's representative for Quebec. The harbour commissioners there having fallen behind in their payments of interest, $930,463. Three Rivers is represented by Sir Hector Langevin, and the harbour is in arrears on account of interest to the extent of $26,924. It is unnecessary to comment on so scandalous a state of affairs.—Brantford Expositor.

EWAN—GALWAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A successful tea and concert was held in the school house here on the 25th of February. The proceeds of the entertainment, which were very satisfactory, were for the benefit of the Presbyterian church funds. The attendance was exceptionally good under the circumstances which were against us, owing to the cold weather and bad state of the roads, which prevented the speakers, who had a long distance to come, from being present. Miss Scott, the esteemed teacher of school section, No. 6, spared no pains in preparing the following interesting programme, which was proceeded with after the chairman had been elected:

God Save the Queen.

Mr. Chas. McMahon played the accompaniments very gracefully on a violin. It may be said that a large share of the credit due to Mr. Wm. McConnell, who originated the entertainment.

A meeting of the Galway and Kinmount cheese factory will be held in the village, on Saturday at the hour of 2,30 p. m., when the contract for milk drawing will be let to the lowest bidder.

Damond Peters went with his horses and sleigh, last Friday to draw home a stack of beaver hay he had in the marsh, but when he arrived to the place, he found that some of his good neighbors had preceded him and taken off his hay, leaving Mr. Peters entirely destitute of feed, it being the last hay he had left to winter his horses and a few head of cattle. He is taking steps to bring the party to account, as he has a clue as to who took his hay.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Two rinks of Keene curlers drove to Norwood on Friday last and played a friendly match with the curlers of that place. The Norwood curlers are composed of good men, for although this is their first season at the game, the visitors only beat them by a small score of seven. After the game was finished the curlers adjourned to the Doherty House, where a fine supper was laid out by mine host, Mr. Doherty, to which all did ample justice. The Keene curlers cannot speak too highly of their Norwood brethren, and hope they will soon meet them again.

Quite a number from the village attended the carnival at Norwood on Friday night. Some of them got home next day.

Miss F. Harper, of Peterborough, is visiting here, the guest of Miss Bella Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McCrea, of Peterborough, spent Sunday in the village.

The next carnival will be held in the skating rink here on Wednesday, March 11th.

Mr. Geo. E. Dyes, of Peterborough, agent for the Williams Piano, was in the village last week, and placed a piano in Mr. John McFarlane's residence, which adds one more to the long list of musical instruments of the village.

A large number of horses were taken out of the county by the buyers last week.

The trains were blocked with snow on Monday, and consequently we got no mail here that day.

The hockey boys go to Millbrook on Friday night.

The curlers go to Campbellford on Wednesday night, to play with the club of that place for a medal.

The C. E. will hold their next regular meeting in the Presbyterian church, on Sunday night next, commencing at 7 p. m.

Mr. Minns, of Belleville, was in the village on Tuesday.

The Time for Building

Up the system is at this season. The cold weather has made unusual drains upon the vital forces. The blood has become impoverished and impure, and all the functions of the body suffer in consequence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great builder, because it is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

Hood's Pills become the favourite cathartic with all who use them. All druggists. 25 cents.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Alex. Richardson has gone to Sherbrooke, Quebec, where he has secured work.

Rev. John McEwen returned to Toronto last week.

Mr. John Lowe, of Ottawa, spent Sunday in the village, the guest of Col. Chamberlain.

Mr. H. T. Strickland, of Peterborough, spent Sunday in the village.

Mr. Geo. H. Pope, of Belleville, one of the T. V. C. valuators, was in the village on Saturday.

Miss M. Hendren spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Mr. Jas. Edwards, of Montreal, was in the village this week.

Miss Maggie McKee, of Smith, is visiting friends in the village.

Miss Edith Fitzgerald, of Smith, is visiting friends here this week.

Mrs. Beatty and daughter, of Cannington, have been visiting friends in the neighbourhood.

Miss Maggie Mann, of Peterborough, spent a few days in the village this week.

Mr. Wm. Hamilton, of Lindsay, spent Sunday in the village with his father.

Miss Laundy, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Fischer, for some time, returned on Wednesday to her home in Blyth, Ont.

Mr. Harry Defoe, of Norwood, spent Sunday in the village.

Mr. T. Ridpath was in Norwood last week attending the carnival.

SNOW BLOCKADE.

Owing to the snowstorm of Sunday, no trains arrived here on Monday at all, and no train on Tuesday afternoon, consequently no mails.

The roads are again badly blocked in the country to the north, east and west.

A number of our Sabbath School workers were at Selwyn on Friday last, attending the Sabbath School convention held there, among which were Revs. Limbert, McDonald, Reeves, Mr. T. H. Hewson and others.

Have you seen the lovely prints, dress goods, etc., just opened out at R. Graham & Son's, if not it will pay you to do so, as they are fully 25 per cent. under value. 12½c printed ducks for 10c a yard.

CURLING.

On Monday evening of last week a close and exciting 16-end game was played between two young skips for an oyster supper. After the match the members adjourned to the Queen's Hotel, where the players sat down to a sumptuous spread, each doing justice to the bivalves. Following are the players and score:

unfortunate

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption, which is almost unfortunate.

Its best use is before you fear consumption; when you begin to get thin, weak, run down; then is the prudent time to begin to take care, and the best way to take care is to supply the system with needed fat and strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, will bring back plumpness to those who have lost it, and make strength where raw cod-liver oil would be a burden.

A substitute only imitates the original.

THOUSANDS DIE EVERY SPRING!

Now is the Time to Banish All Forms of Disease.

THE SYSTEM SHOULD BE CLEANSED AND MADE STRONG.

The Blood Must be Pure and Course Healthily.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND DOES THE GOOD WORK.

A Scientific Prescription That "Makes People Well."

RECOMMENDED BY THE BEST MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS.

It Saves and Cures When All Other Medicines Fail.

If you are weak, run-down, pale, nervous and sleepless, rest assured that your body is filled with the seeds of disease that will soon develop into serious and death dealing troubles.

If you have suffered through the long winter months from rheumatism, dyspepsia, neuralgia, constipation, nervous prostration, headaches or blood diseases, remember well that spring weather will not ease your burden of suffering. You must have your load removed by nature's cleanser and healer, Paine's Celery Compound.

Thousands die every spring season. The weight of disease accumulated during the the winter months is never banished by the ordinary medicines of the day. It requires the power of Paine's Celery Compound to battle successfully against the strongly entrenched foes that threaten life. No other medicine has such far reaching, effective and disease-conquering virtues.

The cures now being effected by Paine's Celery Compound are wonderful and marvellous. The great medicine takes hold of men and women pronounced incurable by the doctors, and saves them from the grave. Hundreds of testimonials from such saved people are on fyle. The great and glorious results astonish the best physicians, many of whom are now freely prescribing Paine's Celery Compound with extraordinary success and satisfaction.

Now is the time, sufferer, to rid yourself of disease. There is no reason why you should risk your life with worthless medicines when Paine's Celery Compound is sure to cure you. Its record in the past proves clearly that it is far ahead of all other prescriptions; it never, never disappoints the sick one.

As there are imitations, see that you get "Paine's," with the trade mark the "stalk of celery." Beware of substituters who, for the sake of extra profit, ask you to take some other medicine.

Norway Pine Syrup cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, etc

WOULDN'T STAND IT

The Orange Grand Lodge Has Repudiated Hughes.

MANITOBA MUST BE LEFT ALONE

The Correspondence Committee Severely Criticised His Special Pleading in the Interests of Roman Catholics —A Word for National Schools —Election of Officers.

London, March 4.—(Special.)—The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario West resumed their deliberations at 9 a.m. to-day. A large number of delegates came in yesterday evening and this morning there are 350 members in attendance. Great interest was taken in the report of the Correspondence Committee, who had to draft a reply to the Grand Master's address. As was surmised, they differ in toto with him. After a protracted debate it was adopted with but few slight amendments. This is a great victory for the anti-Remedialists.

The report is as follows:

"R.W. Sirs and Bros.,—Your committee have carefully pursued and weighed the finished and elaborate address of the R.W. the G.M., and take this oportunity to congratulate this Grand body upon the able way in which that address has expressed the deep satisfaction that we all feel in the grand energy and noble pride shown by the splendidly isolated isles beyond the sea. We feel that in the interests of the Empire and of Protestantism beyoud the bounds of Canada we are not one with the R.W.G.M. of Ontario West. We also agree with the R.W.G.M. that all true Orangemen sincerely desire to promote the unity of the people of Canada, and they must deplore the introduction of sectarian issues, which destroy national harmony and prevent the co-operation that should be the distinguishing characteristics of Canadians of all classes and creeds.

"We must confess, however, that that some of the matter contained in the address does not to us seem strictly pertinent to the character of the assembly address and that in particular the multitude of details containing theories of school work would be liable, if recommended by this grand body, to be considered an impertinent interference with the educational machinery of a province of which we are not electors.

"We beg further to report that the portion of the Grand Master's address which relates to the Manitoba school question appears to our plain and simple minds to partake of what, among lawyers, is termed special pleading. To your committee the declaration of the R.W.G.M. that we, as Orangemen, are opposed to Separate schools, taken in connection with the curious context by which that declaration is surrounded, places the G.M. in an unfortunate position. We regret that the G.M. should have attempted to make use of the purely technical decision of the Privy Council and should have attempted to lend so much weight to that catch word, 'grievance,' by which is properly implied no more than the legal right to be heard in appeal before the Governor-General-in-Council.

"The merits of the school case were not on trial before the Privy Council of England and we feel that the two hundred thousand British subjects, our friends and our brethren residing in Manitoba, can be trusted to do justice on the merits. We regret that the attempt to do so made in the G.M.'s address conveys the distinctly false impression that the Legislature of Manitoba has refused to render justice to the supposedly injured minority in that province. On the contrary the Government of that province declared their total ignorance, as we declare our total ignorance, or even the least real injustice done the Roman Catholic people of Manitoba, and they declared further their eagerness to have the most ample investigation, and that whatever injustice, if any, might be brought to light by the most searching investigation, the Legislature of the province would remedy.

"We regret that the attempt was also made to compare the most dissimilar cases of Quebec and Manitoba, knowing as we do that there are no National schools in Quebec, in the sense that they are in Manitoba, where the door is alike open to Protestant, Roman Catholic, and to Mennonite, with no distinction that should offend the nicest religious scruples.

"Your committee further beg leave respectfully to protest that the followers of Orange principles, as represented by this Grand Lodge, do not meet to be lectured on tolerance and justice, and that the repeated exhortations to be tolerant and just, contained in the G.M.'s address, are at least unnecessary and positively uncomplimentary

"Your committee further begs to report that the present danger impending over Protestant and British interests in Canada is so imminent that no word or act should appear in the proceedings of this Grand Lodge that could weaken the arm that is realsed in defence of the National schools in Manitoba, and that this Grand Lodge should express its unqualified repudiation of evxery sentence an dword in the address which tend to put the Province of Manitoba in the wrong, or to justify coercion by the Federal Government.

"The sentiments of your committee are well expressed in the following quotations, taken from an address of the G.M. Bro. James L. Hughes, delivered to this Grand Lodge, assembled at Chatham, March 13 1894:

"'We believe in one national system of education of all the children of our Province as the surest way of giving every child the inestimable advantages of a thorough education physically, intellectually and morally, and the only way by which the children of all creeds and classes can be trained to live in harmony, respecting each other, recognizing each other's rights and cementing that mutual interest that will qualify them for friendly and sympathetic co-operation in the up-building of their common country. The men who have to work side by side as citizens of the same country should play shoulder to shoulder as boys on the ame school grounds.'"

Unusual interest is being taken in the election which was concluded this afternoon. The regular business was suspended to enable the election to be held, as a number of the delegates had to leave for home on the night trains. Notwithstanding the reports to the contrary, there was no contest for the position of Grand Master. Following is the result: Grand Master, W. M. Lockhardt, Alliston; deputy G.M., D. M. Jermyn, Wiarton; Associate Deputy G.M., John McMillan, Toronto; Grand Treas., E. F. Clarke, Toronto; Grand Sec., Wm. Lee, Toronto; Grand Chap., Rev. J. C. Madill, Sarnia; Grand Lecturer, O. F. Wilkins, Bridgeburg; Grand Director of Ceremonies, Wm. Wilson, Brantford; Deputy Grand Sec., James H. Scott, Kincardine; Auditors, John Hewitt, Toronto, and T. C. McAvoy, Balsam.

QUEEN'S PLATE ENTRIES.

Twenty-Four Candidates for Her Majesty's Guineas in May.

Twenty-four entries have been made for the Queen's Plate, to be decided at Woodbine Park next May. The list includes the names of a splendid lot of province breds and as usual Mr. Seagram has the most. He has four three-year-olds and the four-year-old Millbrook. Joseph Duggan is a good second in numbers, with four in the list, and Mr. Hendrie has two. Three-year-olds predominate, and there are four five-year-olds, three four-year-olds and the aged Quinte. The list warrants a good field for the big race, even if there are no supplementary candidates. Entries for the other stake events that closed with the Queen's Plate, and also the complete program will likely be given to-morrow. The Queen's Plate candidates:

A. Quackenbush's r.m. Quinte, 5, War Cry—Bess.

Gladstone & Everleigh's ch.c. Dictator, 5, Shillingstone—Georgia.

Glen Oak stables' ch.m. Marcella, 5, Tatman—Vic.

W. Hendrie's b.g. Lochinvar, 5, Lisbon—Canoble Lea.

Westminster stables' b.g. Broomleigh, 3, Ranelagh II.—Strathleen.

J. H. Doane's b.g. Clipmont, 3, Dandie Dinmont—Little Clip.

W. Hendrie's b.f. Plover, 3, Strathspey—Pee Weep.

Two Convicts Pardoned.

Kingston, March 4.—Two convicts, named Ringer and James, who in September, 1888, were sent from Smith's Falls to the Kingston penitentiary for fourteen years on conviction for arson, were pardoned to-day by the Minister of Justice. Both men during their incarceration were well conducted and amenable to discipline.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigourous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

The Grosbeaks.

It may be well for every one to know that it is illegal to shoot or in any manner destroy the pine grosbeaks, a species of bird that has been seen here and in this neighbourhood during the past two weeks. The law says, any person may seize, on view any bird unlawfully possessed and carry the same before any Justice of the Peace, to be by him confiscated, and if alive to be liberated and it shall be the duty of all market clerks and policemen or constables on the spot to seize and confiscate, and if alive, to liberate such birds. Violation of the provisions of the Act is punishable with a fine of from $1 to $20, with imprisonment.—Campbellford Herald.

BAPTIST HOME MISSION CIRCLE.

ANNUAL MEETING IN THE MURRAY STREET CHURCH.

Reports and Addresses—Annual Report of Secretary—Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of the Murray street Baptist church was held on March 3rd, at 3 p. m.

There was a good attendance and after the singing of a hymn, the reading of the Scripture lesson by the President and prayer by Mrs. Ellis, papers and reports were presented as follows:

Paper on India, Miss Hutchinson.
Paper, "The Bright side of Missions," Mrs. Goldsmith.

An address was given by the Associational Director, Miss Walton, and a sketch of our work as a society by the President.

The thanks of the circle were tendered Mrs. Goldsmith and Miss Walton for their excellent addresses.

ANNUAL REPORT.

Miss M. A. Nicholls, Secretary, presented the seventeenth annual report of the Women's Mission Circle, Murray street Baptist church, as follows:—

At the close of this mission year of our Circle the membership consists of 63, same as last year.

We have been reminded of the brevity of time and the uncertainty of life, as two of our number have been removed by death, one of whom was a charter member.

The largest number in attendance at any meeting was 32, smallest 5, average 15.

Our monthly meetings have been made interesting and instructive by discussing the work of our mission fields, such as home, foreign and Indian. The September meeting was one of unusual interest, when Mrs. Hutchinson, a charter member, was presented, by the circle, with a life membership certificate for home missions. In response to an appeal from the Home and Foreign Mission Boards, an open thank-offering service was held in November. Contributions amounted to twenty dollars, which was equally divided between home and foreign missions.

Two barrels of warm clothing, bedding, etc., valued at $45.55, were sent to Rev. Mr. Mellie, for distribution among the needy in the North-west.

The annual meeting of the Society was held with us in May, and was a success in every way. Each member of our circle received an inspiration from this gathering of consecrated women, as all were brought in closer touch with the work and workers.

We should like to report the spread of our missionary periodicals on the increase among our members; but the Link must be reported on the decrease, having only 21 subscribers, four less than last year. The Visitor now has forty subscribers, four more than last year.

Come one and all, the time is fleeting,
With giant arm let us spread the light,
To make this year a glorious triumph,
Let sisters all as one unite.

MARY A. NICHOLLS,
Secretary.

The report was adopted.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter (re-elected.)
1st. Vice-President—Mrs. Mowry (re-elected.)
2nd. Vice-President—Mrs. Ellis (re-elected.)
Secretary—Miss M. A. Nicholls (re-elected.)
Treasurer (Foreign)—Miss G. McDonald (re-elected.)
Treasurer (Home)—Mrs. Mimms (re-elected.)

The treasurer submitted the following report of contributions:—Home Missions, $68.85; Foreign returns incomplete; Mission Board, $24.77.

During the meeting Mrs. (Dr.) Scott and Miss Hutchinson sang a very pleasing duet.

The meeting closed with a short season of prayer.

LINDSAY VS. PETERBOROUGH.

The Trophy Goes to the Scugog Town this Year by a Majority of Fourteen Points.

Linday had the pleasure of winning from Peterborough yesterday in Lindsay by being 33 points up. As Lindsay was beaten by 19 points here the day before, it leaves the Scugog curlers just 14 points up in the competition, and as they won the first match early in the season the trophy goes to them this year.

Just how Peterborough was defeated yesterday is a puzzle, as the rinks which went to Lindsay were strong—but 'tis a slippery game, is curling. The rinks were composed as follows:

Lindsay.	Peterborough.
RINK NO. 1.
T Pratt,	C N Brown,

Explanatory.

Mr. J. C. McDonough, whose difference in opinion with his landlady in reference to proprietory rights in certain wearing apparel, resulted in his seclusion in jail for a couple of months, regained his liberty today. He called at the EXAMINER office to state that the newspapers in writing up the case were incorrect in saying that he was a married man, and that his wife, who died shortly after his marriage, was from Newmarket. Mr. McDonough also showed certificates from former employees as to ability and honesty. He also left behind him at this office a portrait which he may set some value upon.

WOULD-BE ROBBERS.

Fail in an Attempt to Obtain an Entrance to the Traders' Bank Vault, Port Hope.

A most desperate but unfruitful attempt to enter the vault of the Traders' Bank in Port Hope was made Tuesday night. The burglar or burglars entered the St. Lawrence Hall by removing a panel in a door of the up-stair cooking kitchen, which is approached by a stairway from the back yard. Operations were then commenced on two iron doors leading from the dining room of the Hall to the Opera House. The look of the first door was picked, and having opened that the brickwork on the north side between the two doors was removed and a hole made through the wall into the Opera House, large enough for one to crawl through. Having thus gained an entrance into the Opera House an aperture about twelve inches square was made above the bank vault through the double floor, by means of an auger. After removing the brickwork at the roof of the vault, struck the plating, with which the vault is completely lined, composed of railroad rails placed closely together, and here further proceedings were stayed, and it would have taken nothing short of a large charge of dynamite to make any impression on the roof of the vault, and that would have caused considerable noise. The burglars therefore took their departure, emptyhanded, the auger and a brace and bit being found near the hole this morning.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. DAILY MOTTO.

Thursday March 5th.

It seems to me we can never give up longing and wishing, while we are thoroughly alive. There are certain things we feel to be beautiful and good, and we must hunger after them.

Still through the paltry stir and strife
Glows down the wished ideal,
And longing moulds in clay, what life
Carves in the marble real.

To let the new life in, we know
Desire must ope the portal:
Perhaps the longing to be so,
Helps make the soul immortal.

RENNET.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly grant me space in your valuable columns, to protest against the remarks made by Mr. D. Derbyshire, on the occasion of his address to the cheesemakers in the council chamber, on Monday last, regarding Blumenthal's Rennet Extract:

Mr. Derbyshire said, "The so called Blumenthal's Rennet, which was said to be manufactured in Germany, was really made in Chicago, was chiefly made from hogs' stomachs, and that cheese made from this rennet when a few months old would smell of the hog pen." In making such an assertion Mr. Derbyshire stated what is false, and more than that he stated what he must have known to be false. When a man publicly asserts what he knows, and the public knows, to be untrue, he is generally designated by a name beginning with the letter L. But the generous public have in the past dealt more leniently with Daniel's extravagant assertions, and have mildly impeached him with being slippery. Perhaps he never made such an untruthful statement before, and this may account for the mildness of his title; at any rate, he never made a more untruthful one.

Mr. Derbyshire furnishes the motive for his base assertions in one short sentence, when he said, "I am agent for Hansen's rennet," and he takes advantage of his position as a lecturer to the cheesemakers, not to laud his own goods, which would have been fair enough, but to vilify and defame the goods of a rival dealer.

Blumenthal's Rennets are now too well known in this section to be much injured by such baseless statements. But there may be some cheesemakers who have not used these extracts, and who may be influenced against them in consequence of Mr. Derbyshire's remarks. To such I beg to say that every ounce of Blumenthal's rennet sold by me is received by me direct from the maker in Berlin, Germany. It never gets any nearer Chicago than when in my storehouse at Peterborough. I have invoices, and bills of lading and letters in my possession now, and which I am receiving every day, to prove this. It is a good rennet. It is better than Hansen's. It is the best in the world to day. It has taken gold medals and been awarded diplomas at every great exhibition in the world for the last twenty years, and I could furnish testimonials enough, from prominent cheesemakers, to fill a newspaper, all declaring it to be the best they ever used. It is popular wherever known, and this is why dealers in other brands fear and hate it. Mr. Derbyshire may well wish it out of the market. It is displacing his favourite Hansen's very fast, much to his loss and the cheesemakers' gain. Two years ago he had a monopoly of the trade in this section, charging the cheesemakers $1 00 for three quarts of his Hansen brand. I have a large interest in the success of the cheesemakers and I secured them Blumenthal's celebrated rennet, the best ever produced, at a price which was and is equal to buying Hansen's at $1.20 per gallon. Blumenthal's rennet will be sold in Imperial measure; Hansen's is put up in wine measure. Let me say if anyone doubts the genuineness of this, I will furnish him with testimonials from local dealers, and cheesemakers, whom they know, and whose testimony they cannot doubt.

GREYSTOCK.

The Woman's Auxiliary in connection with St. Mark's church, Otonabee, held their annual meeting at Mrs. Robert Scollie's on Tuesday last. Ten members were present. The society is in a very active condition, and besides working for their own parish are preparing a bale for the Indians. Mrs. Tims and Miss Symonds, of the Gleichen Reserve, were also present and gave the members some valuable information as to the needs of their mission (for which the society is working) and what articles would be most acceptable.

The officers elected for the new year were Mrs. Gage, president; Mrs. Robert Scollie and Mrs. Stephen Thorne, vice-presidents; Miss Greystock, secretary; and Miss Thorne, treasurer.

Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Throat and Lung Troubles.

Perfectly well established is the value of cod liver oil in the various diseases of the air passages, and combined with maltine and the hypophosphites, its remedial value is vastly enhanced. In the elegant and palatable preparation, Maltine with Cod Liver Oil, are combined the valuable tissue building oil, and that sustainer of vitality and digestive, maltine. No emulsion can compare in remedial value with this preparation, for in addition to disguising the unpleasant taste of the oil and rendering it more easily digested, the maltine plays a most important part in maintaining adequately the process of nutrition so essential in wasting and pulmonary diseases. This it does by rendering the starchy foods in a form which assures its assimilation, with the result that emaciation gives way speedily to plumpness, the irritated bronchial tubes are soothed, rest grows natural and health becomes an assured fact. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, medicine and digestive.

BUFFERS VS. DUFFERS.

"A Match for Your Life" was the Verdict of the Spectators—The Buffers Win by 9 to 2.

A game of hockey or something was played at Riverside Park yesterday afternoon and for a fun-maker the match takes the lead over all predecessors. The majority of the players claimed not to have "had their skates on" for years, but this didn't wash. The game was fast and furious and the ice was sat upon until it seamed and scarred to an extent as to bear a strong resemblance to George street with its hills and hollows. The teams played under the cognomens of Duffers and Buffers and lined up as follows:

Buffers.		Duffers
Jimmy Blaine	goal	Guy
Joe Begley	point	Neil
Bob Fife	cover point	Alf Terrill
Billy Lech	back-wards	Scott
Sam Kenner	back-wards	Boundy
Bob Hay	back-wards	Hartley
Billy Bradburn	back-wards	Costello
W A Buchanan	umpire	Alex Patterson

C. LeBrun—Referee.

Bob Fife and Harry Neil were the two stars of the game. As both were on defence for their respective sides, they did not come together, or it would have been a case of when Greek meets Greek. These were the only two players who did not devote most of their time to polishing the ice. Bob Hay carried off the plum as having the art of polishing down to the finest point. Bob is an old baseball player and therefore had an unfair advantage over the rest of the hockeyists. When Bob felt that it was necessary to do a little polishing he would shed a skate and imagine he was sliding for second base. The players gave him lots of room, and by the time he reached the end of the rink he had swept so wide a swarth that he was points ahead of anyone else in the polishing line, though Terrill was a close second, making up in the frequency of his polishing for what he lacked in the art of sliding.

Riplets Hartley and Micky Costello in the excitement of the moment did not recognize each other when after the puck and though both were on the same side made the snow fly as they alternately threw one another into the snow bank whilst delving for the puck. When they were separated poor Riplets had lost the skin off the bridge of his nose. As it could not be found a piece of sticking plaster was substituted. Riplets was unfortunate, for a moment later he charged into Corncure and was hoisted over the side of the rink. Pontiac Lech with his long warlocks floating out on the breeze, did great service for the Buffers. Sam Kenner may be a crackerjack at teaching the young idea how to shoot, but when it comes to shooting on goal Sam isn't in it for a minute with Pontiac. The trouble with Sam is that he gets tangled up in the ends of that long moustache. Billy Bradburn was undoubtedly a ringer for he kept the ice in a continual ring during the progress of the game. If he wasn't being dumped on it himself he was performing the same kind office for someone else and gently assisting to lay them out.

Scotty played a star game and to see him skipping around on the ice was reminiscent of the old lacrosse days. At his door may Billy Bradburn lay the blame of the majority of his falls. The trouble with Fred. Boundy was that he did not fall often enough. If he had lain down in front of the goal a few times he would have greatly assisted his side.

During the latter portion of the game all the players, with the exception of the goalkeepers, were ruled off for playing offside, and the funniest part of the match was witnessed when Blaine and Guy started for the puck. Jimmy reached it first and sent it whirring into his opponent's territory. Both started after it again and both reached it at the same time. Then there was a scrap for your life" as the two rolled over and over in the snow trying to grasp the elusive puck. Finally it rolled out on the ice with Duffer Guy in hot pursuit. Jimmy started for his goal and tried to defend it but the Duffer goalkeeper was too much for him and shot the goal. The two teams then went out on the ice again, and the Duffers, encouraged by the victory of their goalkeeper scored a game. The match was then adjourned. A resumption of the game takes place to-morrow evening at the Charlotte street rink from ten until eleven o'clock.

DANGER IN RAILROADING.

A Snow-Plough and a Locomotive Run Off the Track.

The following further particulars concerning the recent accident on the Grand Trunk are published in the Campbellford Herald:

Early on Monday morning a snowplough was despatched over the Grand Junction tracks from Belleville to clear the drifts of the preceding twenty four hours, but when it reached Campbellford it was thrown from the rail, and the locomotive went with it and sank into a snowbank.

The accident took place at Centre street at about 5.40, and was caused by the accumulation of ice on the rails crossing the road.

The plough on reaching the crossing was lifted, and the wheels left the rails, and after running about one hundred feet, was turned completely round, so that the locomotive collided with it, and was also run off the track. The snow-plough remained on the track, and was tilted to one side against the locomotive, while the latter plunged into the snow to the left of the track, and one side sank almost to the top of the drive-wheels.

Both locomotive and snow-plough were damaged. The top of the smokestack was torn off, and the "pilot" and headlight carried away, while one of the steam chests was rendered almost useless. The front trucks of both the snow-plough and tender were wrenched off, the "pilot" was smashed to pieces, and one corner of the snow-plough was broken in and splintered.

The engineer and fireman remained at their posts and fortunately escaped injury. They were moving slowly when the accident occurred, and it is somewhat strange that so small an obstruction should cause the plough to leave the track. Two vans which were attached to the locomotive remained on the rails.

News of the accident was wired to Belleville and Peterborough, and an auxiliary train from Belleville arrived at the scene soon after 9 o'clock, and the force of men set to work at once to clear the track, which they succeeded in doing by 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

BIG BARGAINS IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

John McNaughton's Stock Reduced to Irresistible Prices.

Mr. John McNaughton intends leaving town on March 20th, and before that time his stock of boots and shoes must be cleared out to save removal. To do this prices are made that cannot be resisted. As a sample, ladies button boots will be sold for 50 cents, and the same kind of reduced prices will apply to all the other stock. The stock must be cleared, so come to the corner of Bethune and Sherbrooke streets and get your bargains in boots and shoes.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

Yesterday afternoon the North Stars came down to the rink to give the Collegiates a match, and although they put up a creditable game were not fast enough for the rapid combination work of the P. C. I. team. When time was called at the end of the game the score stood 10 2 against the North Stars. The teams lined up as follows:

North Stars.		Collegiates.
McFadden	goal	J Hamilton
Clark	point	P Kelly
Thornton	cover point	N Lewis
Parnell	forwards	C Graham
McWilliams	forwards	H King
Trickey	forwards	R Watt
Simpson	forwards	M Hamilton

The game was a fast and exciting one and the score would doubtless have been closer but for the fact that the recent heavy falls of snow have prevented the North Stars from getting as much practice as they otherwise would.

The Collegiates put up a very fast game, indeed, and a match between them and the Volts would prove interesting. Yesterday King, Graham and Lewis all did splendid work in the way of clean hockey. Of the ten goals scored King "did the necessary" three times, each of the other forwards scored twice and Lewis once.

Pills and Putty play their annual game this evening at the rink.

The second Peterboroughs went down to play the second Norwood team last evening and were successful in winning the match by four goals to one.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Norwood.		Peterborough.
Anderson	goal	E Wasson
Pettigrew	point	W Thompson
Pengelly	cover point	C Pousette
Hendren	forwards	B Belleghem
Blendren	forwards	W Crossley
Cameron	forwards	A Ferguson
Stewart	forwards	H MacGachan
Gowan	umpires	W Phelan

Referee—McGregor.

The game was a hard fought one from start to finish, and the "Dinkies" are deserving of no inconsiderable credit for winning, inasmuch as there were several of Norwood's first team playing against them. The boys are considerably used up to-day, and state that there was a good deal of indulgence in rough play.

CURLIANA.

In the Kendry Cup series Skips J. Connal and Thos. Rutherford played off in the semi-final draw. The former won by six shots and will play off with Skip Sam Ray in the finals on Friday evenings. The rinks last evening were composed as follows:—

T E Bradburn,	R S Davidson,
Ed Brown, sk.....12	H LeBrun, sk.....20

A scratch match was played with the following result:

W H Meredith,	Alf Terrill,
S Ray,	Geo Brown,
W J Thompson,	Jno McClelland,
J S Knapman, sk... 9	D Belleghem, sk.....10

The district gold medal, open to Millbrook, Lakefield, Belleville, Keene and Campbellford, was won by Campbellford, yesterday, in Campbellford, only Keene and the Campbellford teams being present to compete. The game resulted in a victory for Campbellford by 11 shots. The following is the score:—

Keene.	Campbellford.
D Kenneally,	J Dickson,
C Bell,	J R McRea,
W Campbell,	C L Owen,
A McIntyre, sk.....15	C Smith, sk.....20
G Blezard,	D H Douglas,

THE GRAND LODGE AT LONDON.

Grand Master James L Hughes Talks on the School Question—Orangemen Fill the Forest City.

London, March 3.—(Special.)—This city is fast filling up with Orangemen who are gathering here to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ontario West, which commenced in the city hall chambers at 2 o'clock today. Prominent Orangemen on the platform with Grand Master Hughes were: E. F. Clarke, grand treas.; Wm. Lockhart, D.G.M.; D. M. Jermyn, Rev. Wm. Walsh, Wm. Lee, O. T. Wilkins, Wm. Wilson, Rev. P. I. Mignot, Rev. C. E. Perry, Rev. J. C. Madill, James H. Scott, E. T. Essery, F. R. Parnell, J. G. Keys, E. Floody, C. H. Bailey, John Hewitt, John McMillan, W. D. McPherson, E. Medcalf, Capt. Cooper, J. C. Jones, W. J. Sanderson, W. G. Simpson, George Brown Thomas Balfour, R. Watson, John Loudon, Wm. Fitzgerald, C. H. Baillie, R. Burns, Wm. Douglas, Thomas N. Talbot, Mr. Gurd, M.L.A. for Lambton.

A deputation headed by Mrs. McDonald, D.M., from the lady Orangemen of London, presented an address of welcome. A similar address was received from the county lodge of Middlesex.

Grand Master James L. Hughes of Ontario West, in his annual address, alluded to the Manitoba schools question, and reviewed the circumstances which led up to the introduction of the Remedial Bill in the House of Commons. Among other things he said: "I need scarcely remind you that the ancient and honorable Order of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland will ever insist on maintaining the Protestant religion and constitution of 1688 against all foes, foreign and domestic, and that any and every effort put forth by real or pretended friends or open foes to interfere will be strongly and continuously resisted. We trust that amidst all the untoward circumstances which have arisen from time to time in connection with the somewhat intricate and perplexing questions of the Manitoba schools all concerned may be enabled to exercise such good judgment that the final outcome may be in the form of granting special favors to none and dealing out equal justice to all."

After the usual committees were struck the lodge adjourned until tomorrow at 9 a.m.

The reception tendered the visiting Orangement by the local brethren tonight in the City Council Chamber was a huge success. Hundreds were turned away unable to gain admission to the densely-crowded hall. The chair was occupied by ex-Mayor Essery, and the speakers were Grand Master Hughes, who gave a very interesting address. He was followed by Bro. Jermyn, D.G.M., of Wiarton, Rev. J. C. Walsh, Brampton, John McMillan and ex-Mayor E. F. Clarke of Toronto, who made the hit of the evening by his vigorous speech on the Remedial Bill. A telegram was received and read to the meeting by Mr. Essery, stating that Hon. N. C. Wallace was then speaking against the bill, but would be in London to-morrow. A smoker was held in the Duffield Block for the entertainment of the delegates.

The Royal Black Chapter of British America concluded their deliberations to-day, the election resulting as follows: Henry Burnett of Brampton, grand master; Col. James Hiscott, Kincardine, deputy master; Rev. Wm. Walsh, Brampton, grand chaplain; W. G. McAndrew, Hamilton, grand registrar; A. E. Medcalf, Toronto, grand treasurer; Thos. Balfour, Toronto, grand lecturer; Horace E. Bates, London, grand censor; Marshall Thompson, Windsor, second grand censor; W. Lockhart, Alliston, grand standard bearer; John Macdonald, London, second standard bearer; E. J. Miller, Kincardine, grand pursuivant; F. R. Parnell, St. Catharines, deputy grand registrar; George E. Morrison, Sarnia, deputy grand treasurer; John Tulk, Hamilton, deputy grand lecturer; grand committee of seven, James Brodie, Vanddeur, first; J. A. Donaghy, Fordwich, second; G. Brown, London, third; J. Bretaur, Midland, fourth; W. J. Scroggie, Thorton, fifth; S. Carruthers, Toronto, sixth; T. H. Loney, St. Thomas, seventh, and a large number of other delegates.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

WHITNEY'S LITTLE GAME

To Help His Friends at Ottawa to Lengthen the Session—It Failed.

Toronto, March 3.—The Conservatives at Ottawa are in a desperate plight. They fear they will not be able to pass the Remedial Bill before April 25, the date upon which the Parliament expires. Mr. Whitney, it seems, was primed and put up in the Local Legislature yesterday to try and get Sir Oliver Mowat to give an opinion that would give the Dominion Government an excuse to sit until June next. Whitney utterly failed to make out a case. He failed to secure an opinion from such a high authority as Sir Oliver, that would comfort his Ottawa friends, but was told on the contrary that in Sir Oliver's opinion the term of the Dominion Parliament would expire on April 25 by law, as provided by the B.N.A. Act. Mr. Whitney introduced the subject as a matter of priviledge, and, though he was clearly out of order in doing so, Sir Oliver did not object. The spokesman for the Dominion Government stated that the same question arose in the Ontario House in 1879, when it was decided the House had the right to sit for four years after the return of the last writ. He quoted Sir Oliver as authority for this and stated that since the Algoma writ for the Dominion House had only been issued in June, 1891, the Dominion Parliament, upon the same authority, had the right to sit until June, 1896.

Sir Oliver did not hesitate to give his opinion. He said that properly the matter was not one to be dealt with by the Ontario Legislature, but since it had been introduced he would deal with it. (Cheers.) In his opinion Mr. Whitney had introduced the subject in the hope he might say something which would do his friends at Ottawa some good. (Cheers.) In the first place he desired to say that the facts in the two cases were quite different. The Ontario Legislature had power to make the Algoma writ returnable at a later date than the other writs, the Dominion Government had not. This fact he ventured to think put the whole question at an end.

Mr. Whitney—Certainly; if that is the fact, that ends the matter.

Sir Oliver, continuing, said the writs for Ontario were not all returnable upon the same day. At Ottawa they were. The Dominion House had no right to decide how long it should endure beyond five years. The Ontario Legislature had the right to say that they might endure longer than four years, its present term. (Cheers.) The Dominion Parliament had no right, in his opinion, to name a later day for the return of the Algoma writ while the Ontario House had.

The matter ended there and the Conservatives may take what consolation they can find out of what Sir Oliver said.

Mr. Howland asked: Has the attention of the Government been called to the operation of the Act respecting the solemnization of marriages, in respect to marriage ceremonies performed by license by clergymen not residents of this Province, and does the Government intend to introduce an Act to legalize marriages which have been so performed.

Sir Oliver said no such case had been drawn to his attention. It had always been the custom to require residence in the Dominion upon the part of the minister, otherwise frauds might be perpetrated. If there were any worthy persons who had overlooked the law in the matter, however, he was prepared to listen to their cases with the view to granting relief in case there should be a good reason given.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

What Transpired in Sir Oliver's Parliament Yesterday.

Toronto, March 4.—The budget debate was continued at the Local Legislature yesterday. The galleries were comparatively empty, however. The public, as well as members of the House, seem to be tired of the subject and takes little interest in the speeches, which for the most part are nothing more than repetitions of the arguments used by the big guns during the early stage of the debate.

The chief subject of interest yesterday was the examination by Colonel Matheson, of Mr. W. T. R. Preston before the Public Accounts Committee. It seems the Opposition was not satisfied with the knock-out blow dealt by Mr. Clarke last week and decided to see what they might be able to peck out of the Parliamentary librarian. Mr. Preston was prompt. He admitted he had been elected an alderman for the city of Toronto at the last election. He proved that his duties as a civic official interfered in no way with his duties as librarian. It had never been called to his attention that Sir Oliver Mowat was opposed to civil servants occupying municipal offices. He was then asked a number of impertinent questions, propounded with the view to making it appear that Mr. Preston had taken part in election campaigns. Col. Matheson failed in every instance, however, to show that Mr. Preston had done any wrong or gone beyond his right as a civil servant and citizen.

Death of Rev. Dr. Boyle.

Many old Methodists will regret to hear of the death of Rev. Dr. Boyle of Brampton. He had reached an advanced age, beyond the Psalmist's limit of three score years and ten. He had long been on the superannuated list and was most highly esteemed. He leaves a widow and a grown-up family of six children. The interrment takes place at Brampton on Saturday afternoon.

FOR TIRED FEELING,

Exhaustion is Waste—Overwork Means Shorter Life—Dodd's Kidney Pill Mean Rest for the Kidneys.

Overwork is what you do after common sense tells you to quit.

Overwork of any kind does more than tire, it exhausts you.

Just a little more after you thought to quit is the "too much" that uses you up.

The blood goes out to all parts faster than usual when you overwork.

If the kidneys are not in perfect filtering order, more poison is injected through them to all parts of the body than usual, and then work to say nothing of overwork, is harmful.

As soon as your kidneys commence doing good work there is less and less poison in the blood every minute.

This explains why Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so promply and permanently.

A Deep Snake Story.

"The wife of a well-known selector in the Narrabri district had a startling experience the other day with snakes. At different times two large brown snakes had been seen about the home and garden, but they had always managed to effect a retreat before they could be killed. The fact that these unpleasant neighbors were so close caused the lady no small anxiety on behalf of her only son, a boy of four years. One day she left the boy asleep in his cot upon the verandah, and was busying herself about her household duties, when she was attracted to the back door by a curious buzzing noise, and to her horror she saw the brown snake there, standing almost straight up, waving to and fro, and giving forth the noise which had attracted her attention at first. The snake seized hold of the woman's dress, and she, being too terror-stricken to resist, was dragged forth from the house and across the yard. When they arrived at the underground tank, about 100 yards from the house, the woman saw the reason of this strange visit; for there was her little boy (he had strayed from his bed and fallen in the tank), the other snake holding him by the hair of his head, straining every muscle to keep the child from drowning, while his mate brought help."

Sawing Wood.

A TORONTONIAN OF 85 YEARS WHO CAN STILL HANDLE A BUCKSAW.

To find a man of 85 sawing and splitting wood without any trouble would surprise most of us to whom such vigorous exercise is—to say the least—distasteful, but to hear the circumstances under which it took place, but increases the wonder.

"Our representative visited Mr. John Clyne, 174½ Sackville st., City, a sufferer from kidney trouble for the past 10 years, having undergone two operations during that time. Mr. Clyne was for some 30 years engaged in the express and cartage business for such well-known firms as Swan Bros., Hugh Miller, J.P., Wm. Rennie, etc., and having been a resident of Toronto for 50 years, is well known. Mrs. Clyne was interviewed at their residence and said: 'Mr. Clyne was in a very bad state, his urine almost black with sediment and he was expecting to have another operation such as he had before. The pain in his back was at times very severe and kept him from doing any work. Mr. Clyne got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. R. Lee's drug store and was relieved from the first dose; the urine is now clear, no trouble or burning sensation, and to-day you would say that although 85 years old, he has taken on a new lease of life.' Mrs. Clyne then took our reporter to the yard, and to his surprise found Mr. C. sawing wood for over Sunday. He emphatically endorsed every word Mrs. Clyne had said. 'From the very first they did me good; I am well known here and you can use my name as reference. Two weeks ago I expected to be operated on, perhaps to die—to-day I am well and strong, better than I have felt for a score of years.'"

Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.

New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business in Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894	$24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared	$8,041,000

or equal nea y 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

THE pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, nor when he chooses. He is a slave to the weakness of his stomach. Frequently he doesn't even know whether the thing he eats is going to agree with him or not. The things that please his palate most are often the worst for him to eat. Even the simplest food is likely to cause him misery and sleeplessness. His first trouble was very slight—very simple—very easy to cure. He ate something indigestible and it stuck some place in his digestive system. He ate more things and they stuck. Part of his digestion stopped altogether—that is constipation.

Constipation is so common that more than half the people in America are troubled with it. It is so serious that nine tenths of the sickness of the world is traceable directly to this common cause. A man's health and strength depend upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Constipation stops digestion. Anybody can see that. The commonest kind of common sense will tell you that. When digestion stops, nutrition stops, and the whole body is thrown out of order.

The way to start digestion is to remove the obstruction. The way to do that is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ills—headaches, sour stomach, flatulence, dizziness, biliousness and "heartburn." They are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping, nor discomfort of any kind.

You can get a free sample of from 4 to 7 doses, by addressing World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

If a druggist tries to sell you something "just as good," transfer your trade to another store. He is sacrificing your interests to his own pecuniary advantage.

THE EMBLEM OF WIT.

NANCY MANN WADDLE TELLS US ALL ABOUT THE CARNATION.

A Flower That Will Prevent Floral Tiredness—How These Exquisite Plants Are Grown—Some of the Most Attractive Varieties and Colors.

There is a very pretty, and, of course, authentic legend of a story-book princess, who looked across her tall white garden Lilies, and vivid, flame-dashed Gladioli and lightly-poised blue "loops of Larkspur," and sighed: "I tire of them all; but yesterday I passed the cottage of an old village woman, and the wind that blew over her garden was laden with spice. That is what my garden lacks." Every flower-pot which is without the spicy, individual Carnation is open to the same criticism, says Nancy Mann Waddle in Ladies' Home Journal.

Dear to the hearts of our grandmothers were the old-fashioned clove and snow Pinks, and from the reticule of many a Puritan Priscilla peeped the feathery, pink heads of the fragrant May Pink. The sight of an immense bed of the snow Pinks, when they begin to bloom early in the month of May, is very well worth a pilgrimage. They are flowers of elderdown, and their petals, bear strong resemblance to so many silky feathers.

Mr. Ellwanger, in one of his delightful floral essays, calls the snow Pink a charming subject when well grown, and says that he once saw a patch of them in front of a country home, growing so luxuriantly that their fragrance drifted far out on to the highway. He continues: "I stopped to inquire how they grew them so profusely and so finely." "I pinch them, give them plenty of water, and keep up a fresh stock from cuttings every year." "The old story"—comments Mr. Ellwanger—"care."

Perhaps it would be as well to mention here that the Dianthus are a sub-order of the large Pink family, and to this sub-order belong all of the garden pinks. The Dianthus Barbatus includes the buch Pinks, the Sweet Williams; and the Dianthus Caryophyllus is the original of the clove Pink, from which has been evolved the spicy Carnation freaked with passion." Florists and growers, however, do not classify the Dianthus and Carnation together, but make a distinction between them.

The Dianthus, then, of the growers, are truly garden flowers, and are exceptionally easy to grow. Any one procuring a package of mixed seed will have no difficulty in raising a large number of plants. Seed sown the first of April will produce plants which will bloom throughout the summer, and that without any great amount of care. One of the handsomest of the Dianthus is the Crown of Perfection. The flowers are very large and extremely double; the colors are white and various shades of red. Some of the varieties are curiously marked. Fireball is as brilliantly carmine as if it had stolen the flame of that torch of the woodland—the Cardinal Flower. Midnight is very odd; the leaves are dark green, the stems and buds black and the flowers darkly crimson. White Frill is attractive; the centre of the flower is a very deep purple, contrasting strongly with its fringed white border. One of the novelties in color is the Dwarf, Copper Red, which is all that the name implies. The single Dianthus are lovely. The flowers are large an dperfect, and each point seems to follow its own caprice in the arrangement of colors. Snowflake has immense, pure white flowers. Eastern Queen runs a gamut of color from pink to lavender, and the rich red of Crimson Belle is positively imperial.

But, after all, it is rather useless to particularize, for the same high authority that I have quoted before has said: "The Dianthus are all of them pretty. Leave them alone and they will sow themselves. They vie with the Auriculas in their merry eyes, and are as brilliant and as fourfold as the Poppies."

In mentioning garden favorites one must not forget the Sweet Williams. In tiny German gardens, which could be completely covered with a sheet, I have often seen more varieties than I could count. There is something quaint and sturdy about hem; they are so varied in color and lavish of bloom that their place in the garden can never be usurped by more gorgeous and more capricious blooms. Undoubtedly the highest type of the Pink family is the Carnation.

But alas! this mondaine of the pink family is subject to diseases which appall even the stout heart of the inexperienced amateur grower.

The carnation is the "Flower of Wit." The literal-minded will at once exclaim, in the words of a famous quotation, "Since you say you are so witty I must really trouble you to make a joke," and the poor carnation, for which I have claimed so rare a gift, can only hang its head. But we have the authority of Mr. Justin McCarthy to prove that wit "lies not all in the spoken word, the written phrase." He has said recently: "It finds its expression in a certain subtlety of simplicity, a certain discretion of daring, a certain airiness, daintiness, lightly-soaring insolence." Surely the floral symbol of wit, as it is here described, is the carnation.

ON THE RAIL.

How a General Passenger Agent Whiled Away Dull Time.

"By the way," said the General Traveling Agent from Buffalo, "considerable fun can be had this cold weather by getting into an ordinary car with an unlighted cigar in your mouth. I tried it the other day with immense success. At first, when I entered, the travelers all scowled at me, and seemed disinclined to shift themselves; so as to make room for me; but, by sheer weight, I forced them to. Once seated, I puffed forth a huge volume of breath, which, in the fog hanging on the air, looked exactly like smoke. At first, I was afraid there was no one present with sufficient public spirit to champion the rights of the non-smokers; but at the second puff, a gentleman in the opposite corner, who wore black shiny leggings, and had a gold locket hanging from his chain, said, "This is not a smoking carriage, sir." "You are very right," I answered, at the same time emitting another puff of breath. "I said this was not a smoking carriage," he repeated. "Ah, I thought that was what you said," I replied. "You are no gentleman, sir," said a thin, sour-looking lady next to him—apparently his wife. "No more are you, madam," I retorted. Then a female on the other side began to cough. "Oh, dear; oh, dear—that horrid smoke—it always brings on my cough," she moaned. I continued to breathe heavily. Then a gentleman with spectacles, who looked as if he knew lots about finance, took up the cudgels. "Ve vill haf him turn out ze nex' station," he said. To which I replied that I did not understand German.

The next station was duly reached, and then the foreign gentleman and two others called for the guard. He came up. "What is it?" "This person insists on smoking." "'Mornin', guard," I said, "kindly examine that cigar, and tell me if it has been lighted." The guard looked at it, returned it with a "No, sir," and slammed the door, and someone muttered something about it being a silly monkey's trick.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

SIR OLIVER ON TOP.

The Attempt to Throw Ottawa Troubles

INTO THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

Proved a Dismal Failure—Mr. Crawford's Resolution Discussed in the House—The Premier's Amendment Was Carried by a Majority of 14—Mr. Marter's Admission.

Toronto March 5.—The Conservatives submitted through their leader, Mr. Marter, last evening, practically that they had made fools of themselves in touching the Manitoba school question in the Local Legislature. He said, whatever glory would be gained by the discussion and vote would go to the Liberals. The joke of the occasion was that Mr. Crawford voted with the Government and against his own motion.

Mr. Crawford then moved his long-looked-for anti-Remedial resolution. It was in these words:

That the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario feel deep interest in all that concerns the well being of every part of the Dominion of Canada.

That the people of this province, believing in the principle of provincial rights, rejoice that the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council of Great Britain declared that the Legislature of the Province of Manitoba acted within their judicial rights in abolishing the dual system of schools, and establishing a single National system of education in lieu thereof in the Province of Manitoba.

That we regard the legislation now being contemplated by the Dominion Government, known as the Remedial Bill, the object of which is to abolish the National system of Manitoba and restore the old dual system in its place, unfavorably.

That this Legislature cannot but look upon the legislation which is being promoted at Ottawa as an attack upon the legislative rights of a sister province, and as a measure fraught with grave danger to the peace and prosperity of Confederation, and consequently we hope, even yet, that the Dominion Government will decide to abandon the course it is at present following, and leave to Manitoba to manage her own educational affairs in the way that seems best to the people of that province.

Speaking to his motion, Mr. Crawford said that he fully recognized his position in assuming the responsibility of the motion. He did not, in making the motion, represent any party. But he felt he voiced the views of those who had elected him. He could go further, and claim to voice the views of the people of this province. He disclaimed any desire to make capital or to give offence to any one; he was moved by an honest intention to get from the House a frank expression of disapproval of the Remedial legislation now before Parliament. That legislation was fraught with danger, and the results were likely to be against the best interests of the Dominion, and especially against the Province of Manitoba. The legal aspect he was prepared to leave to those who were versed in law.

The speaker proceeded to review briefly the steps leading up to the present situation. He thought it was a very pertinent question, why this House should be anxious to defeat the bill. It was born in haste; it was an infringement on provincial rights. It was a coercive measure, and every other means should be exhausted before it was resorted to. If it did become law it would be a serious matter for the growth and prosperity of Manitoba. The end would be that the minority would suffer. Other denominations have rights, and we may have in that province a large number of sectarian schools. Would there not, too, be a repetition from some of the other provinces? Supposing the Manitoba Government should refuse to put the machinery in force, what a deplorable state of things would be brough about! Even Confederation itself might be affected. If there was a grievance, and redress was necessary, that redress should come through the Provincial Parliament of Manitoba. If, after all proper means had been resorted to, the minority still had a grievance, he would be the first to attempt a remedy. But until all such means had been exhausted, he was in favor of allowing Manitoba to manage its own educational affairs.

Sir Oliver Mowat was loudly cheered when he rose to reply. He said that all question as to the right of the Dominion Parliament to deal with the question had been set aside by the second decision of the Privy Council. There was one aspect of the case that seemed to have been lost sight of. The people of Ontario, or at least the great majority of them, were as much against Separate schools as were the people of Manitoba, but, notwithstanding this, they felt it their duty to faithfully carry out the constitutional bargain, which was incumbent upon them. (Cheers.) It would be an unfortunate thing to have a struggle between the Dominion Parliament and the Legislature of Manitoba. Coercion would probably be resisted, but he wished to remark that it would be a more important, a more unfortunate matter if the consciences of the Manitoba Catholics were coreced. He thought Remedial legislation by the Dominion Parliament should be a last resort. The Dominion Government had been coercive in the matter from the very beginning. The course taken had been unstatesmanlike. He could imagine nothing that would be more in its effect like treason. He read the promise of the Manitoba Government to redress any wrongs that might be established after a thorough investigation, and stated that this was the course the Government should had adopted. The Dominion Government should have known better than to have introduced such a bill at a time when the whole country was excited. Very important amendments to the Separate school law of Ontario had been passed by the Ontario Legislature, with the unanimous voice of the House with good results, but it would not have been proper to have introduced such legislation, no matter how good it was, at a time when passions were up and the tempers of the people heated. He concluded by moving this amendment:

"That by the British North America Act the matter of education (subject to certain provisions therein specified) belongs to the Provincial Legislatures and not to the Dominion Parliament;

"That the Act of the Manitoba Legislature abolishing Separate schools has been declared by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to be within the authority of the said Legislature, and therefore in point of law a valid act;

"That the said Judicial Committee has further decided that the provisions of the said act 'affected rights or privileges in relation to education' in a manner which constitutes (in the language of the judgment) a legitimate ground of complaint 'which should be removed by supplemental or other provisions which would remove the grievance';

"That while probably the great majority of the people of Ontario do not favor Separate schools, yet they have always recognized the constitutional duty of giving effect by Provincial legislation and otherwise to the provisions in the constitution on the subject;

"That it will be extremely unfortunate if the remedy for the alleged grievance in Manitoba is to be accomplished by the action of the Dominion Parliament instead of the Manitoba Legislature; that in the judgment of this House, remedial legislation by the Dominion is only to be thought of, if at all, as a last resort; that the Legislature of Manitoba has protested against the hasty action which is proposed by the Dominion Government, has asked for a thorough investigation by Dominion authority of all the facts bearing, or believed to bear, on the subject before any action is taken, and has declared that 'in amending the law from time to time and in administering the system it is their earnest desire to remedy every well-founded grievance and to remove any appearance of inequality or injustice which may be brought to notice,' and has stated that 'with a view of doing so the Government and the Legislature will always be ready to consider any complaint that may be made in a spirit of fairness and conciliation';

"That in view of these statements this House is of opinion that any proposal of remedial legislation by the Dominion should not be entertained until after the request of the Manitoba Legislature for a thorough investigation on the part of the Dominion of all the facts is acted upon and all reasonable and proper efforts for conciliation have been made and have failed;

"That no more delicate matter can be dealt with by the Federal Government or Legislature than the matter of Separate schools during a period of excitement upon the subject;

"That it is in the common interest that it should not be dealt with hastily and that hasty action by the Dominion Parliament is, in the judgment of this House, fraught with great danger to the best interests of the Dominion as a whole, including the interests of the Roman Catholic minority for whose benefit the proposed remedial legislation is designed."

Messrs. Howland, Whitney and German also spoke, and Sir Oliver's amendment was carried on the following division:

Yeas—Barr, Baxter, Bennett, Biggar, Blezard, Bronson, Burt, Campbell, Carpenter, Chapple, Charlton, Cleland, Conmee, Craig, Dana, Davis, Dickenson, Dryden, Evanturel, Farwell, Ferguson, Field, Flatt, Garrow, German, Gibson (Hamilton), Gibson (Huron), Harcourt, Hardy, Harty, Haycock, Hobbs, Loughrin, McKay (Oxford), McKay (Victoria), McLean, McNish, McPherson, Middleton, Moore, Mowat, Mutrie, O'Keefe, Pardo, Richardson, Robertson, Robillard, Stratton, Taylor, Truax, McKee.—51.

VERY PLAIN WORDS.

The Claim of a Great Treatment — "For Kidney Disease Only."

Ninety Per Cent. of all Sickness Due to Faulty Kidney Work—If Uncertain as to an Ailment—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The truth in a few words is always easily understood.

The natural, the most effective kidney treatment ever known is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For Kidney disease only" is very plain and to the point. This has been our motto from the first line ever printed concerning Dodd's Kidney Pills.

But where do kidney diseases begin on the list?

What proportion of the diseases that kill adult persons are really kidney diseases?

One of the most eminent and well-known doctors in the world answers this question and says: "Ninety per cent. of all serious disease arises from imperfect kidney work.

Then, if this be true, a good way to decide an uncertain ailment would be to take Dodd's Kidney Pills.

For, you see, nineteen times out of twenty you would be cured, while you were deciding what it was that ailed you.

In this way a great many people have been cured and only know their trouble to be kidney disease by being cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

But having decided on kidney treatment do not make the mistake, so easy now to make, and buy any of the many substitutes or imitations of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions, that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc.; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line:—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of ours, has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns, in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our pointed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

OUR DRESS-MAKING DEPARTMENT

Was re-opened for the season on Monday, the 2nd inst. and from the number of orders for Dresses and Costumes received on the opening day the coming season promises to be the busiest in our record.

The popularity of this branch of our business grows year by year. It is in charge of a lady who stands at the head of her profession and will not allow a garment to leave our store that is not fully up to order and perfect in every particular, and this is the secret of our success.

Our display of New Spring Costumes is admired by all who have seen them.

Our showing at the present time embraces all the Newest Effects up to the time of our last shipment, and our stock will be augmented from time to time as new ideas are produced.

New Spring Mantles and Capes are to hand.

The latest creations in these Garments are to be found in them. There are many changes and cuts this season that characterises our stock, very different from what you will see elsewhere this year, and all marked at such close prices that we expect to do an enormous trade in our Ready-Made Mantle Department.

New Prints and Ginghams.

Many were the surprises to our customers last Saturday when they learned the low prices at which we were selling our New Spring Prints and Ginghams.

At 8c you can buy the loveliest range of American Prints—colours guaranteed absolutely fast.

27 inch American Ginghams, worth 15c, selling at 10c. Every piece warranted fast colours.

For 15c you can buy from us a heavy 2 yard wide Cotton Sheeting, the 20c kind.

Have you seen our Bleached Cottons? If not you are just paying perhaps 10 per cent. more for them elsewhere.

We placed on sale to-day 1 case of 12½c and 15c English Prints, to be cleared out at 8c the yard.

This line embraces some of the choicest patterns for the coming season, and were imported to sell at the former prices.

THIRD DAY OF TALK.

MR. CRAIG IS WITH MR. LAURIER

In His Opposition to the Coercive Measure—Also Dr. Sproule, Another Well-Known Conservative Member—Why Mr. Beauvoliel Will Support the Bill.

Ottawa, March 5.—(Special)—The Hon. Mr. Ives, resuming the debate on the Remedial bill, said that as the representative of the Protestant minority of Quebec he had naturally given a great deal of study to the manner in which the position was affected by the present question. He gave a resume of the school laws of Ontario and Quebec at the time of Confederation, showing that the Catholic majority in Quebec really controlled the machinery by which the Protestant schools were conducted and therefore had it in their power to destroy the usefulness of their schools by imposing objectionable text-books, etc., upon them. In the school laws of Ontario the same defect was observable as regards absence of safeguards for the preservation of the Roman Catholic character of the Separate schools. Then the Legislature of the Province of Quebec, in pursuance of the promise of Sir Hector Langevin and Sir George E. Cartier, passed an act establishing the composition of the Council of Public Instruction, the board to be composed of a certain number of Protestants; and to these Protestants was left the entire management of the dissentient schools. More than that, the fund for higher education was divided proportionately as to the population between the Protestants and Roman Catholics. So that instead of the Protestants of Montreal getting but one-fourth and of Ontario but two-thirds of their contribution, they were given the whole of it. It would be seen, therefore, why he was concerned for the maintenance of the constitutional rights.

He proceeded to justify the action of the Government in the course it had taken. If Mr. Greenway had been anxious to remedy the Catholic grievance he could have done it long ago. (Hear, hear.) What need was there for investigation? The French Liberals do not want any investigation, because they have already made up their minds that the present bill is not strong enough. The Government do not require any investigation; they are satisfied. They have rendered their judgment and that judgment is in accordance with the judgment of the Privy Council. The irreconcilables in this House do not want any information, because if you were to pump information into them for a hundred years they would still be opposed to Separate schools; and would not want anything done. Then who wants further information? For what reason should further information be obtained? We know, on the other hand, that if this question is not settled in this House at this session it becomes a question in the next general election; and if it does, does not that increase a hundredfold the danger to the fabric of Confederation?

Does Mr. Laurier want for any political purpose to keep this sore open, this question unsettled? Is he gaining by it? Does he find his present position happy when he has actually to dragoon some of his followers into supporting him? Does he want to go to the country with this question unsettled?

Mr. Laurier—No.

Mr. Ives—I do not think he does. I do not think he is wise if he wants this question kept open. Surely Mr. Greenway can afford a remedy. Mr. Greenway's Legislature is now convened; Mr. Greenway is there; Mr. Greenway can adopt any remedy he thinks justifiable and right and proper and can pass it long before we get out of committee on this bill. The Government of this country are not anxious to interfere with this question. I admit with Sir Oliver Mowat that our interference should be the last resort; but we do not think, from anything we have seen, that either Mr. Greenway or Mr. Laurier or the Liberal party who have been making a football of this question for the last five years are anxious to have it settled. We think the responsibility rests upon us to do justice to the minority in Manitoba who have waited five years for justice. (Cheers.)

We do not propose to make those people a football of the politicians for another year or two, and if Mr. Laurier's policy is further investigation why did he move the six months' hoist, during which there can be no investigation? Why did he not come out with his own motion based on the opinion of Sir Oliver Mowat and move for his commission? Why indeed? Because his irreconcilable supporters in this House would not vote for it. When the two great parties in Parliament so nearly agree upon this matter as to regard it as merely a question of when—whether now or a few weeks or months hence—we should settle this question, I say it is the duty of all parties to join together and agree upon a settlement of the question. (Cheers.) Mr. Laurier the other day referred to questions that have divided us in the past. What was the result in the case of the Jesuits' Estates Act? The combination of wise men on both sides resulted in limiting the number of those who united against that bill to 13; and when it was found that the two parties united to settle the question—to do the proper thing in regard to it—there was no excitement in the country and the whole matter was settled. (Cheers.) If the leader of the Opposition and his followers would do as their consciences tell them they ought to do and as many of them are begging permission to do, that is, join us in settling this question—they would find themselves a great deal more comfortable when they go home at Easter and we shall have this vexed question removed from the sphere of current politics. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. McNeill asked if there was not a compact between Quebec and Ontario that if Separate schools were granted to the minority in Ontario Separate schools would be granted to the minority in Quebec.

Mr. Ives—I am not aware that there was ever any compact. They were granted long before Confederation.

Mr. McNeill—Is it not a fact that when Sir Alexander Galt proposed Separate schools for the minority in Quebec the reply was that if the minority of Ontario received Separate schools, Separate schools would be granted to the minority at Quebec?

Sir Adolphe Caron—No; it is not.

Mr. McNeill — I have always understood that there was something in the nature of a compact of that kind. I have heard it stated in this House and it has never been contradicted before.

Mr. Craig said he had declared each session that while he would support the general policy of the Government, still if remedial legislation was introduced, he would oppose the measure. Was the House in honor bound to pass such legislation? There were no schools established by law in Manitoba previous to the union. After the union Separate schools were instituted and in 1890 the same power which created them abolished them. The Government was bound to hear the appeal of the minority but was not obliged to grant the appeal or issue a remedial order. It was their duty to consider all the circumstances of the case. If the intention of the Manitoba Act was to prevent the abolition of Separate schools why did it not say so? There was nothing to that effect in it. The effect of the arguments advanced in favor of the measure was that if the Province had Separate schools before the union they could not be abolished. Placing the case in this way it was convincing to him at least. (Applause.) Mr. Geoffrion had said he would vote against the bill and wait for the better one from Mr. Laurier. He would be sorry if that day came.

Mr. Foster—What if you are helping to get that leader into power?

Mr. Craig—I would be sorry to get him into power and sorrier if he introduced a second bill.

Proceeding, Mr. Craig said the bill was a mild one. In fact, it was as mild as could be and be a bill at all. (Laughter.) However, it contained the principle of the re-establishment of Separate schools in Manitoba and that was sufficient to condemn it. The case of Protestant Separate schools of Quebec was not parallel with the present case. The public schools of Quebec and Ontario and Manitoba were widely different. In Ontario many Catholics went to the public schools and had no conscientious scruples, but the public schools of Quebec devoted a large part of the day to the teaching of Catholic doctrines. It would be an outrage to compel Protestants to go to such schools, but the case was different in Manitoba, where there was practically no religious teaching. The grievance complained of was not such as would warrant Parliament in forcing Separate schools on Manitoba and Parliament was not bound in honor to exercise the power it possessed to give redress.

What had the minority lost? Not the right to educate children as they saw fit but the privilege of state aid to give religious education. If they wished to give religious education they could do so, but at their own expense. Did the minority suffer? No. Judging from our own Province, in which many Catholics attended public schools he did not think these Catholics suffered any with regard to conscience. The schools were not Protestant schools but simply public schools. The minority wished to manage and control their own schools and the teaching of religion, but the state was not called upon to teach any religion. If the bill was passed it would cause great strife and faction, not only in Manitoba, but also in Ontario, which would be indignant if Separate schools were forced on Manitoba. Parliament did not require Parliament to act, but required that Manitoba should be left alone. If the minority in the first case had trusted to Manitoba itself instead of coming to the Dominion authorities, the question would have been settled amicably long ago. The bill would prove of no benefit to the minority, for it would arouse the hostility of the majority, who had most to do with the administration of educational affairs. In conclusion, he said he opposed the bill because he was opposed to Separate schools in all cases; because the grievance was not one that called for redress; because it would be of no real benefit to the minority and would make a still greater grievance for the majority; finally, because he was a Conservative and did not want the odium attached to the party of forcing Separate schools on Manitoba. (Applause.) He knew what the consequences of defeat of the bill might involve with respect to the Conservative party, but he considered these less objectionable than the odium attached to the bill (Applause.) He regretted he had to vote against the Government, whose general policy he supported.

Sir Hector Langevin quoted the B.N.A. Act to show it was the duty of Parliament to exercise its power in such cases as this. He contended that Archbishop Tache, who conducted the negotiations on behalf of the Catholics at the time of union, had been promised Separate schools, and that even if this was not clearly expressed in the Manitoba Act, the intention was there. The bill before the House was acceptable because it restored the rights taken away by the Act of 1890. He thought the granting of such justice would restore harmony and peace in the country.

Dr. Sproule made a vigorous attack on the bill. He regretted he had to vote against his party, but he owed it as a duty to the country as well as the party. In all cases of public policy the Government held meetings and otherwise gauged public opinion, and then acted on this opinion How could the Government justify its course with respect to the bill or attempt to say that public sentiment favored its policy? Where was the press of the country—the Conservative press? Scarcely any important Conservative papers from the Atlantic to the Pacific defended the Government's attitude. Those which did could be counted on five fingers. The Mail and Empire only gave a half-hearted support, and advanced ineffectual arguments. Where was The Toronto World? Arrayed against the bill, and so were all the other leading papers. Wherever public meetings were held, what was the expression of opinion? Unanimously against the bill. How had public opinion been expressed in the elections? In North Ontario the candidate did not dare to say he would support the bill, but told the electors they knew the course he had always taken on such matters, and that he would follow the same course. Had he said he would vote for the bill he would have been simply buried. (Cheers.) The Government's course had been repudiated in Cardwell, Montreal Centre and Vercheres. Even Cape Breton had been won only by Herculean effort. When the Government went to the country they would get an unmistakable verdict, one which would show that the Government had hopelessly misunderstood public opinion on the question. (Cheers.)

After recess Dr. Sproule continued his speech. He again asserted that public opinion was emphatically against the policy pursued in the matter by the Government and said if the Ministry found their friends leaving them they should not blame their friends but themselves. Parliament should do everything possible to avoid interference with the rights of the Provinces. Ontario M. P.'s stood by Quebec, though the stand was not popular in their constituencies on the Jesuits' Estates question. They did so because it was held that disallowance of the bill would be a direct interference with the rights of the Province. The House was now asked to stand by a principle directly opposite to the principle advanced then. In all the civilized countries the majority ruled and should rule, but it was now asked that the minority should be made to rule. The discussions at the time of the passage of the Confederation Act showed that while Separate schools in the old Provinces were to be continued still it was never contemplated that every Province that came into the union afterwards should have Separate schools. (Cheers.)

If, after union, a new Province should have a Separate school system engrafted on it, was that Province never to be able to remove it? Once Separate schools were established must they exist for ever? (Cheers.) The Manitoba Act provided for the protection of the rights held by the minority "by law or practice" previous to the union, but previous to the union there was no law establishing Separate schools and Separatae schools were not in existence. They had parochial schools and could still have them. This was the decision of the courts and so the school laws of 1890 did not interfere with any rights the minority had previous to the union. They got Separate schools after the union. The support of the bill was claimed on constitutional grounds, but constitutions were not unchangeable. They were the only compacts between men and nations and good only so long as suitable to the conditions and the age in which they existed. At one time a Catholic could not hold office under the British crown, but that had been changed. The United States changed its constitution with respect to slavery.

The dual system of schools was particularly undesirable in a Province like Manitoba, where the settlement was so sparse that it required united efforts to keep up a single system. Out of the lists of the school in Manitoba nine had an attendance of only ten pupils. What would the result be if such sections were divided?

Moreover, the public schools gave a better secular education and religious exercises in them were simple and not secular. The tendency throughout the world was to place the control of schools entirely in the hands of the state. In Europe the control was passing entirely from the clergy to the state. When the trend everywhere was towards state schools, why should Manitoba be forced to take the step backward? The fact that there was a grievance did not justify the bill. What law did not create a grievance? Moreover, when the New Brunswick school case arose and Sir John Macdonald was appealed to, he told them Parliament could not interfere, but to go back to the Legislature of our province. If the minority appealed to Manitoba, the case would be finally settled as the Maritime Provinces had settled their school question

It was not the people of Manitoba who were clamoring for Remedial legislation, but it was chiefly the hierarchy. They went so far as to say that whoever refused to follow them could no longer be Catholic. This would be putting a man outside the pale of the church, the only church in which he might think he could find eternal salvation. It was most unfortunate that the hierarchy should act so, and he expressed admiration for the stand Mr. Laurier had taken with respect to the attitude of the clergy. The result of pressing through the bill would be the defeat of the Government either here or in the country. They had been appealed to often to go to the country on the question, but they would not. If they did so and were endorsed by the people, they would then be justified in passing the bill, but not till then. The bill marked but the beginning of the fight, and if not stopped now the Northwest and other provinces would be the scene of similar fights. It was in the interests of the harmony of the entire Dominion that the question should be put out of the House, and he would vote for the six months' hoist for that purpose. The Government might see fit to read him out of the party for his course. That was their privilege. But he would ever continue to deem it his duty and his right to vote on every question as his conscience and judgment directed.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1896.

THOSE frisky octogenarians the Ottawa senators are now in raptures—the divorce bills are beginning to come on. In love it is said "there is no fool like an old fool," and it is said to be true that there is nobody that enjoys the risque details of a divorce bill like the grave and reverend seigneurs of the Senate.

THE Hamilton Times says: Mr. Hardy's bill to reduce the number of county councillors is all right as far as it goes, but what this country would probably say, were a plebiscite taken, is that our Dominion and Provincial Parliaments could be reduced 50 per cent. without taking away the ability or legislative capacity of either. We are over-governed.

DEFENDING its course in exposing the true effect of Tupperism upon Canada, the Hamilton Times says:—"It is enough to sicken a horse to see the Tories hailing the Great Stretcher as a leader and deliverer. Most of them detest him—and with good cause. He has been the chief offender in all the schemes that have been hatched at Ottawa to rob the people and injure the country. He never cared how fast the public debt was increased, nor how high the taxes were raised. It was he who proposed the infamous iron duties, which have been a sore oppression to manufacturers and have caused the partial or total closing of many factories. He was ever the man of big promises, and he has the cheek to come back here and resume his boasting, in the face of depressed industries, idle workmen, starvation wages and an empty Northwest."

THE DURATION OF PARLIAMENT.

(Montreal Witness.)

Sir Oliver Mowat, whose opinion in regard to all constitutional questions has been proved before the Privy Council to be the soundest that can be obtained, declared in the Ontario Legislature, in answer to a question by a Conservative member, that so far as he understood the facts it was clear that the term of the present Dominion Parliament expired on April 20. If the Dominion Parliament sits longer it will not only raise the question of the legality of its acts after that date but the legality of its acts in the early part of the first session of this parliament. Parliament is limited to five years, and if it legislates during a longer period, then its legislation during the extra period, either at the beginning or the end, must be illegal. Mr. Samuel Hughes the Conservative member for the west riding of Victoria, who is an Orangeman and opposed to remedial legislation, declares that even if the remedial bill does not pass its second reading, which he declares to be doubtful, it cannot reach a third reading before the expiry of parliament, so that it appears that in at least one section of the Conservative party it is taken for granted that the period of parliament's existence is April 26. Still, the more desperate of the party organs and some of the leaders contend that the session can be prolonged until the middle of June. One thing is obvious, and that is the unwillingness of the Conservative party to face the country.

[One thing is pretty certain—if Sir Oliver says that the Dominion Parliament's life expires on April 26th, it is so. This venerable statesman has a habit of thinking before he speaks; and when he does speak his opinion is entitled to respect. He has plied his knowledge of constitutional questions repeatedly against the best intellects of the Dominion and ultimate investigation has proven that he has been invariably right in the positions he has assumed. So when Sir Oliver says that that the Dominion Parliament dies on April 26th it is practically a very dead duck.

RESTRICTIONS RECOMMENDED IN THE PRESERVATION OF GAME.

Deer in Danger of Extinction—Unreasonable Slaughter of the Noble Animal—Three Thousand Estimated to Have Been Killed in Muskoka Last Season.

Hon. J. M. Gibson brought down the report of the Ontario game and fish commissioners for 1895 in the Local Legislature last Friday. The commissioners report that although the enforcement of the game laws has had an undoubted effect in preserving the game during the last three or four years, the act might be made much more protective by restricting the number of birds to be taken or killed by any person in a day or a year. For instance, in the case of duck, if it were enacted that not more than twenty should be taken in a day or 300 in a season it would have a good effect. The same plan might be adopted with reference to the other game birds, quail, snipe, woodcock and partridge. They report further that, although the open season for deer was last year shortened by ten days, greater numbers than ever have been killed during the past season. It is estimated by the wardens who had charge of Muskoka and neighboring districts that fully three thousand deer were killed there during the fifteen days' open season. The chief factor in this unreasonable slaughter is the use of hounds, which to the number of about eight hundred, were let loose upon the deer this season. If dogs were stopped there would be little or no slaughter in the water. They go on to say that they are disgusted with the wanton slaughter of the noble animal, and are confident that if greater restrictions are not imposed the deer will in a short time become extinct.

The commissioners complain, too, that too many permits are issued for the killing of insectivorous birds and the collection of their eggs. Complaint is also made that although there are 460 deputy wardens, some of them are indifferent, because when they fail to secure convictions they have to pay costs. The hounding of does is especially condemned.

Owing to the divided responsibility the deputy wardens are unable to enforce the fishery laws, and there is consequently great distruction of this article of food.

Among the suggested amendments to the law is one preventing the use of any floating battery or other device for concealing the gunner in the shooting of water fowl; also the use of any decoy or blind at a greater distance than fifty yards from the shore. Another suggestion is that every deer hunter shall take out a license to which two coupons are attached, and that one of these coupons shall be attached to each deer, or part of deer, shipped by said hunter.

THE HORSE MARKET.

Quite an Improvement—Breeding Fine Animals Always Profitable.

"If the farmers will raise the right kind of horses they will not have any difficulty in finding a market at home for them." This remark was made the other day by a horse-buyer, who is well posted in the business of buying and selling horses. He has been engaged in this trade for many years. The idea that horses are not as valuable as they were ten years ago, is a false conception of the market for horses, and should be overcome as soon as possible. While it is true that the introduction of electricity as a motive power on street railways has lessened the sale of horses, there is still a market for good coach or carriage horses. What are needed are high actions, sound in wind and limb—horses that show themselves prouly when in harness. Fast horses are not in very great demand, but good looking animals are wanted. First-class driving horses of the right height and weight, free from blemishes, can be sold at good figures.

There could be disposed of in Peterborough now 200 horses of the class referred to. The buyers have standing orders for car-loads of good horses, but they are hard to get. If farmers would take an interest in this matter they would make money in raising horses that would look well as carriage horses, and were gentle and kind.

The question is asked; Where do all the horses go? The horses in question are sold in the principal cities in Canada and in the United States, but the majority are shipped to Europe via Montreal. They are sold on foreign markets at high prices to men of wealth and position, as well as to speculators.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From our own Correspondent.

J. B. MacWilliams, of Peterborough, was in town on Wednesday of last week.

W. Hampton attended the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the A. O. U. W. at Toronto as the representative of the Norwood Lodge.

Miss Eaton went as Norwood's delegate to the annual meeting of the Women's Presbyterial Missionary Society, held at Cobourg, Feb. 11th and 12th.

Dr. Eason and E. G. Porter, of Keene, were visiting friends in the village for a couple of days this week.

D. M. Hunter, teacher at Westwood, paid his parents a visit for a day or two this week.

A. Brethen, who is employed as teacher in the South Dummer school, was home a couple of days this week.

H. Kidd, of Warsaw, who formerly attended High and Model Schools here, was renewing old acquaintances around town this week.

Jos. Middleton, of Peterborough, who attended the Model School here last fall, was in town this week.

Last Friday afternoon two teams of curlers from Keene came down to engage in a friendly game with some of Norwood's throwers of the stone. Keene won the game by seven shots, the score being 33 to 16. The teams were:

In the evening the second grand masquerade carnival was held. There were about seven hundred people present, about one hundred and seventy five being in costume. The costumes were the best ever seen on the ice here, and all were well chosen, many being strikingly original. The only drawback to the evening's fun was the condition of the ice, which owing to the softness of the weather was covered with slush. The prizes for the costumes were awarded as follows:

Best dressed lady—Miss C. Calder as Blue Bells of Scotland—fancy clock.

Gentleman—A. J. Fitzgerald, as Drum Major—silver jewel case.

Girl—M. Becket, as Evening Star—silver chain bracelet.

Boy—Chas. McKelvie, as George Washington—clock.

Comic—R. Patterson as Toronto frog—silver napkin ring.

The races were especially interesting and, considering the state of the ice, they were fast. For the mile race a gold medal was put up, and the following entered: McGuire, Havelock; Ridpath, Lakefield; Bell and Jackson, Peterborough, and Robertson, Norwood. At the word 'go' McGuire took the lead, Ridpath following, Bell coming third and Jackson fourth. They kept in this order until the ninth lap when Ridpath dropped out and Bell closed in on McGuire, but just as he was about to pass him he tripped on the back of McGuire's skate and fell. McGuire took the lead and finished about a quarter of a lap ahead. F. Hendren, W. Brown, A. Anderson, Russel Pearce, R. Smart of Norwood, D. Ford, W. McAuley, E. Graham of Havelock and J. Insley, of Trent Bridge, entered the half mile race, the prize being a silver medal. Hendren, Brown and Anderson took the lead on the start and held it by about a quarter of a lap for the first two rounds. Gradually Pearce, who was about eighth on the start, drew away from the crowd behind and closed in on those ahead, gradually lessening the distance between himself and them. In the fourth round Brown dropped out and Hendren fell, leaving only Anderson ahead of Pearce. In the fifth round Russell spurted and, passing Anderson, won the race by about one-eighth of a lap. The crowd cheered itself hoarse and young Russell was the hero of the hour. There were only two entries in the girl's race, Winnie Pengelly and her sister, Grace. Winnie had an easy victory, winning a pair of perfume bottles.

A week from Friday a night of races is to be held. Jackson, Bell, Ridpath and McGuire have all said they would be here and a good night of sport may be expected.

D. A. Fraser is able to be at work again this week.

S. L. Forrest, of Smiths Falls, former manager of the Union Bank here, was in town Sunday.

H. Andrews, of Young's Point, was home visiting his parents, Saturday and Sunday of this week.

Mrs. Tully, of Midland, was the guest of her brother, M. McGregor, Sunday of this week.

R. J. Potter, the sailors' missionary, will address the members of the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening.

Miss Florence Howson, daughter of Rev. W. G. Howson, is visiting relatives in the village.

Rev. Messrs. McCamus and Sommerville will exchange pulpits next Sunday evening.

On Tuesday evening, in the Methodist church, Miss Scott gave a report of the Epworth League convention held in Belleville.

The Norwood II hockey team go to Peterborough next Monday to play a return match with the P.C.I. They will be materially weakened by the loss of Anderson in goal.

C. Crowe, of Stony Lake, has obtained the appointment of mail carrier between here and Stony Lake.

A. Anderson, Norwood Hockey Club's star goal tender, leaves this week for Cleveland, Ohio.

H. G. Buck has gone to Parry Sound this week.

F. H. Birt is travelling east this week.

Court Rob Roy, of the Canadian Order of Foresters, went from here Tuesday night to organize a new court at Trent Bridge.

A load of young people drove to Havelock on Monday evening. They enjoyed themselves at the home of Dr. Jeffs for a couple of hours.

Two or three loads drove out to the tea meeting given in South Dummer church last Monday evening.

MR. LAURIER'S SPEECH

Was a Masterpiece in Every Direction.

HE STATED HIS POLICY CLEARLY,

Showing Why There Should be an Enquiry Before the House Passed the Remedial Bill—How the Government Received a Black Eye From Supporters.

Ottawa, March 5.—(Special)—This is the fifth anniversary of the last general elections, and the Government is in a worse position than at any time since that day, and they received to-day some of the severest blows from prominent members of their own party in Parliament. Dr. Sproule has been prominent enough to be put forward for a portfolio in the Cabinet. To-day he unsparingly denounced the policy of the Government on the school question and warned them that they were about to meet an enraged electorate. Mr. Craig, another Conservative, was almost as emphatic in condemning that policy and predicting the most disastrous results from it.

Mr. Laurier's speech on Tuesday is still the talk of the corridors. Mr. Craig unconsciously paid a high tribute to it in his remarks in the House this afternoon, and, moreover, testified by his admission of want of information on crucial points to the wisdom of Mr. Laurier's policy. He said he did not know whether the Manitoba schools came in conflict with the consciences of the minority. He was not positive as to whether they were Protestant schools or not. If they were, he agreed with Mr. Laurier that they should not be imposed on the minority. He held the bill to be inadequate and ineffective as a remedy. Sir Hector Langevin declared that the bill was a complete remedy and restored the old condition of things. Mr. McNeill held that the dissentient schools of Quebec existed by virtue of a certain agreement of compact with Ontario, and as a quid pro quo for Separate schools in Ontario, a proposition stoutly denied by Sir Adolphe Caron. All these disputations and doubts furnish the strongest evidence of the necessity for an enquiry into the position of this whole subject as advocated by Mr. Laurier and Sir Oliver Mowat.

Events are rapidly establishing the statesmanlike character of Mr. Laurier's position on the school question, but whatever doubts may exist in the minds of some as to this, there are no two opinions as to the character of Mr. Laurier's speech. It has never been excelled and seldom equalled in the Canadian Parliament. For loftiness of tone, breadth of view, patriotic fervor and courage, it was the speech of a generation. A distinguished person remarked at its conclusion that it would have been worthy of the Imperial Parliament. It was a great speech, both in the manner of its delivery and the matter it contained. It was courageous, bold to the point of rashness from a Quebec point of view, unequivocal, and concluded with the straight motion for the six months' hoist. Most significant of all, it evoked the wildest enthusiasm from the Liberal leader's following. They punctuated the speech with cheers, and at its close they cheered for several moments, and upon the Speaker leaving the chair a minute or two later at 6 o'clock their enthusiasm broke bounds again and they cheered loud and long. Such a scene has not been witnessed in the House of Commons for many years, and the enthusiasm used to be mostly on the other side of the House, Mr. Laurier's opening sentence was a remarkable one. It occupied 30 lines in Hansard, but was so constructed as to be very clear and proceeded to a telling inflection to a perfect climax. Never before was such a sentence constructed in English by one whose native tongue was not English. Another remarkable thing about it is that his whole speech was merely an amplification of that opening sentence. It was delivered in a most eloquent manner and with that dignity characteristic of Mr. Laurier, and its conclusion was greeted with loud cheering. The line taken by the Liberal leader is very easy to understand. He reviewed the history of Canada since Confederation, and dwelt on the severe strain to which the country had been subjected on various occasions since 1867 on account of religious and racial agitations and by reason of infringments on Provincial rights by coercive Federal legislation. He instanced the fierce conflict over the New Brunswick school Act in 1871 and following years; the dangerous agitation over the Jesuit estates act in 1889-90, and the agitation in Ontario on account of the veto of the streams bill in 1882, and the agitation in Manitoba a few years later, which went to the verge of rebellion against the attempted coercion of that Province in regard to its jurisdiction over railways. He laid down the doctrine that under a free government the remedy of the minority is to agitate and win over the majority to their way of thinking. To transfer the question outside and appeal to the Executive at Ottawa was to import into the Dominion at large the bitterness of local strife. All these agitations worked great mischief, and he took it to be the part of statetsmanship to repress rather than encourage the demon of discord. He reminded the House that Manitoba possessed the admitted right to establish Separate schools in 1870, and that it was admitted that in repealing the act establishing those schools the Province again exercised an undoubted constitutional right. There only then remained the question as to whether an appeal to Ottawa should be allowed, first, on the ground that the Crown entered into a compact guaranteeing Separate schools; second, that the school act of 1890 was repugnant to Roman Catholics, and, third, that the Public schools were Protestant schools and violated rights of conscience. There were several other questions disputed as to the fact, and the three questions named were questions as to fact. Now, said Mr. Laurier, my policy is to investigate these questions and discover the facts. The Manitoba Government have invited investigation, and that means negotiation, and with a friendly purpose this negotiation will result in a settlement accepted by all parties. This is Mr. Laurier's policy as stated by himself.

WHY MR. GREENWAY'S RUSH?

Is the Premier Going to Ottawa or is He to Help Mr. Laurier?

Winnipeg, March 5.—(Special.)—The politicians here are inclined to believe there may be something in the reported statements emanating from Ottawa that the Premier is going to the Capital to confer with the Government and the hierarchy with a view of effecting a compromise on the school difficulty. What appears to justify this assumption is the sudden determination of the Local Government to rush business before the Legislature, so that prorogation may be reached next week. Others, however, say that the Government hastens business so that preparations may be made for the general elections. Now that Mr. Laurier has taken the bold stand in defence of Manitoba, it is said to be the purpose of the Greenway Government to give all the aid possible to secure the return of a solid delegation from this province to support the Liberal leader at Ottawa.

IS IT A BIG AMERICAN STEAL?

The Imperial Authorities are Investigating This Assumption of Territory.

London, March 5.—The Colonial Office has called for further details respecting the United States assumption of three million acres of British territory of high commercial and strategic value on the Pacific Coast, opposite Prince of Wales Island. Despite the denials of Gen. Duffield of the United States Survey, the official records here fully confirm the statements. The Colonial Office is inquiring as to how far the joint Canadian and United States commission dealt with this section of the Alaskan boundary, below the 56th parallel, which the officials here hold to be of greater importance even than the boundary above the 56th parallel.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 5.—The record in the Holmes case was received at the Executive Department to-day. This afternoon the Governor signed the death warrant, and Herman W. Mudgett, alias Holmes, will be executed Thursday, May 7.

Collided With a Trolley Car.

London, March 5.—Joseph Sherry, who drives Newman's bread delivery wagon, attempted to cross a trolley car on Dundas-street this afternoon, but he mistook the speed of the car and the wagon was struck fairly in the middle, tossing it to one side, and landing the driver on his head on the street. Sherry was rendered unconscious and badly cut while the wagon was badly smashed.

HIS FUR COAT SAVED HIM.

John Armand Pinned Down by a Load of Logs All Night—Badly Frozen.

Arnprior, Ont., March 5.—Mr. John Armand of Fitzroy Township, near Pakenham, met with a terrible accident in Sandy Hook, a suburb of Arnprior, last night. While at Malloch's mills, about 5 o'clock, engaged in loading his sleigh with logs, the load fell on him, and he lay on the bank of the Ottawa River pinned down by the logs all night, until 7 o'clock this morning, when he was found by Mr. Malloch, who noticed the team of horses still standing in the tracks of the evening before. Owing to Mr. Armand's heavy fur coat he was not frozen to death, although his feet and one arm were. Drs. Scranston, sr., and jr., were early on the scene this morning, and fear he will lose at least one of his arms.

BISMARCK WANTS A GRANDSON.

The Iron Chancellor is Tired of the Introduction of Girls Into the Family.

Berlin, March 5.—Countess Bismarck, wife of Count Herbert Bismarck, has given birth to a daughter. Prince Bismarck is keenly disappointed because the child was not a boy. Countess Marguerite Bismarck was formerly Countess Hoyos. She was married to Count Herbert at Vienna in June, 1892, and in November, 1893, gave birth to a daughter, who was named Jeanne. Count William Bismarck, the Princess' second son, has three daughters. This accounts for the Prince's disappointment, for as yet there is no male of the third generation to inherit the Bismarck name and properties.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigourous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

New York's Fish and Game Laws.

Albany, N.Y., March 5.—The State Fisheries, Game and Forest Commission to-day passed a resolution informing the Fish and Game Committees of the Senate and Assembly that the commission had recommended no bill changig the game laws in this state. The commission refused to grant licenses for nets in the Niagara River for catchinf white fish.

Sealim Sing Bounced.

London, March 5.—In the House of Commons this evening Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India, announced that Sealim Sing, Maharajah of Jhalawar, had been deposed for abusing his powers.

Eight Killed in a Street Fight.

Constantinople, March 4.—A quarrel between two members of the municipal council at Istib, European Turkey, one a Bulgarian and the other a Turk, occurred at that place to-day, resulting in a street fight in which eight persons were killed. A detachment of Turkish troops have gone to Istib, to preserve order, as it is feared the disturbance will be renewed.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

A Boy's Life Saved

One day my little boy, aged 7, got a fall and hurt his knee. Inflammation of the knee joint set in and the decay of the bone of the leg rapidly followed. Doctors removed over a hundred pieces of decayed bone, but the process of decomposition continued. All attempts to stop it failed. The boy had but a few days' life before him according to all human expectations. Mr. Denham, druggist, Petrolia, advised me to try Scott's Sarsaparilla, I did so, and not only saved but completely cured my boy."—JOSEPH DUNCAN, farmer, Lambton County, Ont.

Miss Ventress, who has for some time been a faithful teacher in the George street Methodist Church Sunday School, was last night pleasantly remembered by her former pupils on the occasion of her leaving to reside in Arnprior. She was called upon at her residence, 213 London street and presented with the following address:

Dear Miss Ventress:

We, the members of your Sunday school class, desire to show our appreciation of your faithful services. We regret very much your removal from our midst. We shall miss your presence and friendly helpfulness. We have learned to love you for the sterling qualities you possess. We now ask you to accept this gift as a small token of our love and esteem for you and trust that whatever sphere in life you are called upon to enter, the richest blessings of our Heavenly Father may rest upon and abide with you.

MASON VERSUS PETERBOROUGH.

THE TOWN'S APPEAL DISMISSED WITH COSTS.

Thus the Supreme Court Decided Yesterday—Four out of the Five Judges Concur in the Judgment—A Brief History of the Case—The Costs Including the Verdict, Amount to About $2000.

On the morning of Feb. 23rd, 1892, the late William Mason, while on his way to business, slipped and fell upon an alleged defective sidewalk on the slope of the hill on Murray street, leading from his residence, a little east of College street, and sustained severe injuries.

Subsequently Mr. Mason wrote to the town council asking compensation in respect of such injuries, and this having been denied, he, in March, 1892, entered suit against the town claiming damages and the case came up for trial at the Fall Assizes of that year before Mr. Justice Falconbridge, Mr. D. W. Dumble appearing for the plaintiff and Mr. E. B. Edwards for the town. At the trial the latter, on behalf of the town, moved for a non suit on the grounds that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant sending the case to the jury. This motion the trial judge refused and suggested to Mr. Edwards that, if he were dissatisfied with this decision he could bring his motion for a non-suit before the full court. The result of the trial was the disagreement of the jury.

Consequently Mr. Edwards moved in the Common Pleas for a non-suit. Mr. Dumble showed cause and the motion was dismissed with costs.

Mr. Edwards then appealed from this judgment to the Court of Appeal and after argument the appeal was dismissed with costs. The court was not unanimous, but a majority of the court concurred in the finding.

At the Spring Assizes of 1893, consequent upon the disagreement of the jury in the previous trial, the case came up for the second trial before Mr. Justice Rose. The counsel for the town again moved for a non-suit, which was refused and the case given to the jury, which again disagreed. It was afterwards discovered that eleven of the jury were in favour of a verdict for Mr. Mason, against one for the town.

At the following assizes the case came up again for trial before Mr. Justice Ferguson and a jury. On account of the disagreement of two previous juries, the counsel for both parties requested and agreed that the judge sitting as a jury should try the case. The judge accepted, and the result of the three days' trial was a verdict or judgment for the plaintiff. The judge found that the sidewalk in question was out of repair through the negligence of the corporation; that the corporation had had notice of the unsafe condition of the walk; that the plaintiff was not guilty of contributory negligence; that the accident happened in consequence of the state of the walk and that the town was liable. He assessed the damages at $750 with costs.

From this judgment Mr. Edwards appealed to the Court of Appeal. At the hearing of the appeal Chief Justice Haggarty, expressed himself, it is said, to the effect that the evidence sustained the verdict and Justice Moss stated that the evidence in the last trial was stronger than in the preceding one and the whole Court decided that, as, in the previous appeal, when they had less evidence, the plaintiff should not have been non-suited, they were bound by their previous decision and dismissed the appeal with costs.

From this judgment Mr. Edwards, doubtless influenced by the advice of Mr. Moss, Q.C., carried the case to the Supreme Court and it came up for argument on Wednesday. Mr. Moss began his argument at 3 o'clock in the afternoon; the Court rose at 4, and the following morning at 11 o'clock Mr. Moss continued his address, speaking till one o'clock. Mr. Edwards then followed in a brief address. From the beginning of the argument, Chief Justice Strong, it is said, appeared by his words to be strongly in favour of the town. The other Judges—Girouard, Sedgwick, King and Taschereau did not seem to show the same leaning as the Chief Justice.

Mr. Dumble began his argument at 1 o'clock and concluded at three, half an hour of this time being occupied by recess for lunch. At the close of his argument judgment was at once delivered by Chief Justice Strong, who stated that his then impression was in favour of the town, and if he had then given judgment it would probably have been in favour of the town, though on a careful consideration of the evidence he might change his opinion in common with his brother judges. However, the other four judges, he said were of the opinion that the appeal should be dismissed, and no matter what his personal opinion might be, the judgment of the Court was that the appeal must be dismissed with costs.

This is is probably the end of this cause celebre, and from what can be learned the result is endorsed by public opinion.

This case has been a rather costly affair for the town, though the costs have been very much exaggerated. A liberal estimate places the costs at the outside, including the verdict of $750, damages at $2,000. Mr. W. H. Moore, who was present at the argument of the appeal in Ottawa, is authority for the statement that the appeal costs, will not amount to more than $500 or $600.

Mr. Edwards, counsel for the town, says that the total costs, apart from the award of damages, will be about $1,000. The costs of the three trials and proceedings prior to the appeal have been taxed at $600. The costs of the Court of Appeal will be about $120, and of the Supreme Court about $275, a total of $975. Mr. Dumble, counsel for the Mason Estate, thinks these figures will about cover the costs of conducting the litigation.

A peculiar incident of the appeal was that a deputation of the town council was present in Ottawa and heard the first part of the argument, when the town's prospects seemed so favourable. They left the court with the intention of enjoying a good dinner, their appetites whetted by the hopes of victory, and under the circumstances they felt generous. Some of them expressed the greatest sympathy with Mrs. Mason and suggested (without prejudice) that it would be a graceful thing for the town to pay Mrs. Mason's costs. But the judgment was a great surprise to them, and, as the counsel for the respondent suggested, they will now have a chance of carrying their generous idea of paying the costs of the respondent, without the responsibility that would have rested upon them in a like event, if the result of the appeal had been as it at one time promised to be—in favour of the town.

WEDDED IN HURON COUNTY.

A correspondent sends the EXAMINER the following:

One of those happy events which draws forth the warmest congratulations from friends and acquaintances consisted in of the nuptials of Mr. John Jamieson, jr., of Ashfield township, Huron, and Miss Ida C. Finlay, on the afternoon of Thursday, 13th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. T. E. Finlay, Ashfield. At 3 o'clock p.m. the assembled guests witnessed a strikingly pretty scene. The bride, escorted by her father, preceded by the groom, entered the parlour, where Rev. Mr. Whaley, of St. Helens, performed the ceremony. The bride was tastefully attired in a light lavender, trimmed with lace and cream ribbon, and wore a pretty spray of orange blossoms in her hair. The hearty responses of groom and bride, together with their calm, modest bearing, was charming in the extreme. About thirty guests were present and took part in the pleasantries and good cheer of the occasion. Many beautiful and costly gifts were made to the contracting parties which testified to the high esteem in which the bride was held by everyone. After an elegant and substantial repast had been partaken of, the happy couple left for their future home in Amherley, amid the affectionate adieus of those assembled.

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. Leaving for Peterborough.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—"It will be a case of very general regret to our citizens to learn that Mr. R. D. Conger, who for thirty years has been one of our most respected merchants, has decided to go to Peterborough to reside. The removal of a gentleman of such a sterling character as Mr. Conger has always possessed is a loss to any community, for Mr. Conger's name stands for all that is honourable and upright. He will be missed in the ranks of the Masonic Brotherhood; the Ancient Order of United Workman will part with one of its charter members, whose devotion has done much to make it a success here, and Bridge street Methodist church will lose not only one of its official members, but one whose life has been an honour to it."

Accident to a Chopper.

James Armstrong met with a severe accident on Saturday last while working with two others in the bush on Paul Kingsley's farm, 7th con. of Dummer. They were chopping down a tree which was leaning in an opposite direction from the way in which they wanted it to fall. Armstrong and one of his companions, Stewart Lennox, chopped the tree partly off, while the third man pushed against it with a pole. After cutting the tree almost through Armstrong put his axe up against the tree to help push it over, while Lennox proceeded to finish the cut. In some way the chopper missed his stroke and the keen blade caught Armstrong's elbow and took the cap bone completely off. A surgeon was sent for, who dressed the arm and advised Armstrong to go to a hospital for treatment. He went to St. Michael's hospital, Toronto, on Sunday.—Norwood Register.

Resolution of Condolence.

At the last regular meeting of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F., the following resolution of condolence was passed:—

To Mrs. Joseph Phillips and family, Peterborough:

Since it has pleased Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, to remove from our midst your husband and father, our brother, Joseph Phillips, we desire to extend to you our most heartfelt sympathy in this hour of your sad bereavement. We have lost in him a kind and faithful brother, and though he has gone from our sight, yet we will always keep his memory green in our hearts. We pray that you may have strength to look above to Him, who doeth all things well, for strength to say:—"Thy will, O Lord, be done." We trust that when our course of life here is finished, we may all meet in that Grand Lodge above—that home not made by hand, eternal in the heavens.

Signed on behalf of Otonabee Lodge No. 13, I.O.O.F.

D. E. YARNOLD, Noble Grand. JAS. A. TULLY, Secretary.

PILLS VS. PUTTY.

The Druggists and Hardware Men Play Hockey.

In other years when it was announced that teams representative of Pills and Putty were to come together on the ice and try conclusions at hockey one of the funniest and most laughable matches of the season was looked forward to. The fun was increased by the fact that the teams generally played when there was two or three inches of water on the ice and at the conclusion of the match it generally took half an hour's work before their respective friends were able to identify them.

Now, however, all this is changed and those who witnessed last night's game saw a clean and very fast article of hockey put up. The teams were composed as follows:

Pills.		Putty.
C Poussette	goal	Thos Connal
R J Fife	point	Brown
D Davidson	cover point	Higgins
Rielly	forwards	Fred Ferguson
Frost		Dumble
A Thompson		Ackerman
Crossley		Burnham

H R H Kenner, Referee.

As "Ad" Ferguson was unable to play the Hardware men took on Ackermen, who did good work. The druggists, in the absence of their goalkeeper, pressed Court Poussette into service, and on him the Harware men blame their defeat, for they were defeated by eight goals to four. So sure are the Putty team that they can win from a seven composed purely of pill representatives that another game is on the tapis, with an oyster supper spoken of as a tribute to be levied on the losers.

At the end of the first half the score was 4—2 in favour of the Druggists, but having recovered their wind after half time the Hardware men got "down to their knitting" and evened the score. They had shot their bolt, however, by this time, and the Druggists scored four goals in succession. For the Putty men "Dot" Brown, Fred Ferguson and Ackerman put up a strong game, whilst the stars on the Pill team were Dickie Davidson, Shorty Crossley, Andy Thompson and George Frost. The forwards of the two teams were about even, but the Pill defence was too much for the Putty team.

The Buffers and Duffers play a return match on the Charlotte street rink, this evening, from ten until eleven o'clock. This is the funniest match of the season. The teams will be composed as follows:—

Duffers.		Buffers.
J Bisine	goal	M Costello
Geo J Horkins	point	Harry Neil
Joe Begley	cover point	Scott
H R H Kenner	backwards	R M Glover
W E Lech		Alf Carrill
W H Bradburn		Charles Calcutt
R A Hay		R H Hartley

Referee—Carese LeBrun.

The Hardware men are not in the least cast down by their defeat of last night and have already challenged the Printers. They will be given a dash next week.

"Bob" Fife was watching to see how Dickie Davidson lifted the puck so neatly last evening, and unexpectedly received it in the eye with stunning force. He is laid off for repairs at present.

HOCKEY.

A great match will be on between the Printers and Clothiers on Monday evening next. Their laughable efforts in playing will be remembered by those who witnessed the games last year at the close of the season. The printers will put the following team on the ice Monday evening: Goal, Dobbin; point, Bradburn; cover point, Terrill; Forwards, McWilliams, Glover, Milne and McWilliams.

The Business College has a hockey team and is open for challenges. They would like a match with either the Buffers or Duffers.

The Junior Northern Stars would like to play a return match with the Central Colts on Friday, March 13th, a week from to-day.

The Wine Clerks have challenged the Riverside Park seven to a game of hockey on Tuesday afternoon next. The challenge has been accepted and the game will be a hot one while it lasts. The Riversides know a thing or two now.

A CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

The boarders of the Huffman House do hereby accept the challenge of the boarders of the Morgan House for a game of Hockey to be played on the Charlotte street rink within one week from date. All communications addressed to A. F. Vanorman, Huffman House.

LOCAL DEPUTATION DOWN IN OTTAWA.

THE MINISTER OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS INTERVIEWED.

The Town Wishes to Secure Control of the Water Power Furnished by the Lower Dam on the Proposed Trent Valley Canal System.

Councillor W. H. Moore returned from Ottawa, this morning, where he formed one of a deputation from the town, which waited upon the Minister of Railways and Canals for the purpose of endeavouring to obtain from him an assurance that the request of the town would be granted, regarding the control of a portion of the water power furnished by dam No. 5 on the Peterborough-Lakefield division of the Trent Valley Canal.

The deputation was composed of Mayor Yelland and Councillors, Moore, Phelan, J. White, Weir, Best, Graham, Mills and Denne, Town Engineer John Belcher and ex-Councillor Thomas Cahill.

The deputation having examined the plans, in the office of respecting the division of the Canal extending from Peterborough to Lakefield, attended upon the Minister of Railways and Canals, Hon. John Haggart, in pursuance of their appointment, and were most cordially and courteously received.

THE CHIEF ENGINEER,

Mr. Moore and others addressed the Minister, urging that the town be granted, at a nominal rental, such an amount of power for water purposes and electric lighting, etc., not less than 500 horse power, as the town should need for these purposes.

The deputation also asked that the town be permitted to take this power from the lower dam, which will have, as well as the next adjoining, a head of fourteen feet.

Mr. Haggart expressed himself as most favourable to the application, saying that he would do all in his power to secure the town in this respect, and gave the deputation to understand that would result from their visit. In addition he stated, if for any reason the power could not be furnished from the lower dam, it could be taken from the next above, but he could not see any reason why this should be as there would be an immense amount of power going to waste after the purposes of the canal had been served.

The favourable position the town occupied as against any individual applying for the favour was also strongly pressed upon the Minister, and he appeared to appreciate the point.

The deputation was introduced by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., who treated the deputation with every kindness and attention during their stay in Ottawa, obtaining seats for them in the Speaker's Gallery, where they heard a portion of the debate on the Remedial Order.

The remaining members of the deputation are expected home this evening or to-morrow morning.

TO PROTECT RAILWAY EMPLOYES

An Endeavor to Provide That Railway Companies Shall Equip All Trains With Automatic Couplers.

Ottawa, March 4.—(Special.)—The Railway Committe this morning made short work of Mr. Casey's bill concerning drainage on the property of railway companies. The constitutional objection was raised and Mr. Haggart stated that if Parliament was to legislate at all on this subject it should be by amendment to the Railway Act. The bill was thrown out.

Mr. Casey's second bill to secure the safety of railway employes was next taken up. The railway companies had ranged their forces in opposition to the measure, among those present being Messrs. Tait and Clark of the Canadian Pacific, Wainwright and Bell of the Grand Trunk, Chamberlin of the Canada Atlantic, and Nicol Kingsmil, representing the Michigan Central. The first clause required that cars fitted with air brakes should be provided with an automatic device in the hose coupling of such brakes. It met with strong opposition, Mr. Ingram, M.P., saying that the trainmen themselves were strongly opposed to the clause.

Mr. Maclean (York) sought to secure in place of Mr. Casey's clause the provision of his bill now before the House and made a motion to that effect. The clause is as follows :

"On and after the first day of January, 1900, it shall be unlawful for any railway company :

"(a) To use any locomotive engine that is not equipped with an air brake in proper working order, or to run any train a sufficient number of the cars of which are not so equipped with an air brake that the engine driver on the locomotive can control its speed without requiring the assistance of the hand brakes; or

"(b) To use on its lines any locomotives or cars not equipped with automatic couplers in proper working order, so that such locomotives and cars can be coupled and uncoupled without it being necessary for men to go in between the ends of cars."

Mr. Haggart wanted to know by what authority Mr. Maclean proposed to make the change when it was already on a bill before Parliament.

Mr. Maclean said he had a perfect right to introduce any amendment that he pleased. The legislation which he sought to have enacted had received the approbation of railway employes and it would be to their interests to have it become law.

Mr. Temple—Have the railway companies approved of your bill ?

Mr. Maclean—I don't care whether they have or not. They are here to speak for themselves.

Col. Tisdale was inclined to rule Mr. Maclean's amendment out of order, but Messrs. Sproule, Martin and Cockburn protested against this.

Mr. Amyot was against any interference with railway companies.

Mr. Lister strongly supported Mr. Maclean's proposition.

Mr. Ouimet thought the railway companies should be compelled to use the best devices in order to protect their employes, but he did not see that Mr. Maclean's proposition could well become law, as these devices were changing every year. The hour of adjournment having arrived, it was decided to consider the question again at the next meeting.

TRUE PHILOSOPHY.

It is a good thing to be able to take a cheerful view of what happens. Now there are some men who would grumble if they ran across a million in gold in the street—yes, grumble because it wasn't two millions. But here is a fellow, who hails from the South, who proposes to look at the bright side every time. Frank L. Stanton says of him :

When the sun was blazin, and blisterin' down
He'd cross his legs an' say :—
"Here's what I hold:—If the weather was cold
We wouldn't be makin' hay."

When it rained three weeks, with never a stop,
An' folks for the sun went wishin',
He'd sorter smile, and say, "Arter awhile
Thar'll be powerful lots o' fishin' -"

When the engine jumped an' the train was ditched,
An' the folks by the wreck surrounded,
He says, says he, "If we'd been at sea
Reckon we'd all got drowned-"

An' when they told him the jug was up
An' he'd die some time or other.
He says, says he, "Mighty glad it's me.
Fer it might er been Molly an' mother!"

In British Guiana.

The plain, hard fact is that these forty thousand British colonists in the myths. There is practically no British disputed territory are forty thousand immigration into British Guiana, nor has there been for many decades. The total population of British Guiana is approximately 300,000. Considerably more than 100,000 of these people are negroes, while a much greater number constituting almost the entire effective labor population, is made up of East Indian and Chinese coolies. The number of these coolies now approaches 150,000. The total number of people of European birth in the whole of British Guiana at the last census was 2533. We might guess that the 2500 are in British Guiana proper, and the thirty-three (instead of the forty thousand) are in the disputed area. The importation of coolie laborers has been an official policy and it has been managed at much expense through governmental agents sent to Calcutta, Canton and elsewhere in India, and China. These laborers are brought out under contract, and are held practically as slaves under five-year indenture terms. As for the "forty thousand British voters in the disputed district alone," until a comparatively recent date the entire number of voters in the whole of British Guiana was less than eight hundred. Owing to a considerable recent extension of the franchise, there were, according to last year's returns, 2238 voters in the whole country. It must not be supposed that these are all people of British descent; for in British Guiana, as in the British West Indies, the negroes and half-breeds are becoming voters and property holders; and, moreover, there are numerous Dutch descendants of the original colonists, Portuguese immigrants, Spanish-Americans, Canary Islanders and men of various other races, included in the 2383 people who are intelligent and responsible enough to be permitted to exercise the right of suffrage.—Review of Reviews.

The Season in England.

There has been no winter in England; the gardens and parks are bright with violets, crocuses, snowdrops and aconite; the furze is in full bloom, and the birds are singing as alone an English spring can make them sing. There is growth and greenness everywhere, especially in the water meadows—that distinctive feature of the English country—in which every stream and runnel overflows, although no rain has fallen for a week. A few first impressions of England revisited after many years were the darkness of London, where electric lights are not; the wonderful cleanliness of the streets, be they macadam, wood or asphalt, and be the weather what it may; the little carriages and tiny engines which, though they look like toys, yet go so fast; but the impression which strikes one more than anything else is the politeness, the true amiability of the lower classes—of servants of all descriptions, whether public or private. A long residence in America has hardened one to the contrary, and the courtesy of the guard and porter, of the hotel clerk and waiter, of the policeman, the ticket seller, the lift boy, the shop man and the shop girl, strikes one every hour with fresh surprise and new pleasure. The barmaids alone are sometimes pert, but who would not prefer their pertness to the familiarity of their be-diamoned male prototype in America? Even the London cabman is no exception to the general rule of good manners. He wants sixpence more than his fare, but when he gets it his "Thank ye, sir," and the touch of his hat are ample return for the small douceur. A future letter will treat of the changes that have been noticed in the customs and manners of the men about town, and will be specially concerned with what is being worn to-day by end-of-the-century London.—Boulevardier, in Toronto Sunday World.

FOR TIRED FEELING.

Exhaustion is Waste—Overwork Means Shorter Life—Dodd's Kidney Pill Mean Rest for the Kidneys.

Overwork is what you do after common sense asks you to quit.

Overwork of any kind does more than tire, it exhausts you.

Just a little more after you ought to quit is the "too much" that uses you up.

The blood goes out to all parts faster than usual when you overwork.

If the kidneys are not in perfect filtering order, more poison is injected through them to all parts of the body than usual, and then work to say nothing of overwork, is harmful.

As soon as your kidneys commence doing good work there is less and less poison in the blood every minute.

This explains why Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so promply and permanently.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

Patron Leader Hancock.

A man sure to be listened to days when a vigorous use of language seems to be the only essential qualification of a fighter, Mr. Gurd should have no difficulty in carrying off the belt from all comers. Another man who is always sure to be listened to is Joe Haycock, the Patron leader. As a stump speaker, Joe ranks high. He has always got one or two ideas laid away for use, and is never lacking in language to give them expression. He has always, too, a select stock of anecdotes in reserve, and the story loses nothing from his telling of it. He has the nose, by the way, of a warrior. Hannibal, Caesar, Napoleon and others who were mighty on the battle-field had such noses. And what is not generally known, he is somewhat of a poet. One of his gems, at least, deserves to live, both because of the genuine sincerity of the theme and the picturesque simplicity of its treatment. Here it is:

Lives of farmers all remind us,
Honest toil don't stand no chance;
The more we work we wear behind us
Bigger patches on our pants.
Sunday World.

How the Kidneys Talk.

They have a Language of their own.

Kindeys can't talk, but if you don't treat them rightly you will hear from them. They have a language of their own, and this is how they speak to you; You stoop or strain, ride too far, walk too much, work too hard and rest too little; then your back aches, and your head aches, and you ache all over.

Oh! you say, it's because I'm tired out. Now, this isn't true. It's because your kidneys are tired.

They can only do just so much and the lifting, stooping, straining or exciting has retarded their action.

The heart has pumped the blood into them faster than they could filter it. The filter is overtaxed and becomes clogged. They cry for assistance in the many symptoms that follow.

There is dull headache, backache, pains in various parts of the body, scalding of the urine, high colored urine, puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the legs and all the other conditions that go with kidney disorders.

Why do the kidneys thus tell you their troubles in language so plain as to be unmistakable?

So that you may be warned in time. Will you heed the warnings?

If so, you will use Doan's Kidney Pills. Nothing starts the kidneys working so quickly. Remember "Doan's." It is the original kidney pill, the most reliable kidney pill, and the pill you can place full confidence in to cure you. For sale by

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows :—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894 . . . . . $24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared . . . $8,041,000

Cupid breaks his bow at the sight of a face full of pimples and blotches. Hollow cheeks, sunken eyes, and a sallow complexion will defy his best intentions. Beauty is more than skin deep. The skin is merely the surface on which is written in plain characters the condition of the body. The skin is not a thing by itself, and skin diseases are frequently not skin diseases at all. All the lotions and bleaches and creams and powders in the world won't make a good complexion if the digestion is wrong. If the stomach is sour, and the liver torpid, and the bowels constipated, the skin will show it. No use trying to treat the skin for such a condition. The only way to relieve it is to cleanse the system and purify the blood. As long as the heart is pumping impurities to every part of the body, just so long these impurities will show through the skin.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is good for the complexion because it makes the whole body healthy—because it clears and purifies the blood, makes the digestion strong and clears out impurities of all kinds By increasing the ability to assimilate nutritious food, and by the infusion of its own ingredients, it enriches the blood and so makes solid, healthy flesh. It fills out the hollows, rubs out wrinkles and substitutes for sallowness a rosy, healthy glow. There is no mystery about it. It isn't a miracle. It is merely the result of a combination of rational, natural common sense with expert medical knowledge. It cures diseases of the lungs, liver, stomach, bowels, skin and scalp, simply because all these diseases spring from the same cause—a disordered digestion and consequent impure blood. Don't let prejudice and scepticism cheat you out of your health. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will positively cure you, if suffering from diseases named above.

If you want to know hundreds of great medical truths, send 21 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and we will send you FREE a copy of Dr. Pierce's 1008 page book, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE NORTH POLE.

What Science Will Gain if Dr. Nansen Has Succeeded

IN HIS DASH FOR THE POLE.

A Timely Paper That Will Answer the Questions Now Puzzling the Lay Reader Concerning the Objects of Arctic Polar Exploration—The Appearance of "The Pole"—Valuable Astronomical Conditions.

The scientific world is interested and the popular mind is excited over the announcement that the daring explorer Nansen has succeeded in his bold dash for the North Pole. After many years of attempts to explore the polar regions by the usual means of travel, we had just heard of a proposition to reach the North Pole by means of a balloon, when the announcement of Nansen's success was made. The history of previous voyages into the land of "eternal ice and snow," has been a record of manly energy and indomitable courage, from the time of Other the Norwegian, written of by the British King Alfred, down to Lieutenant Peary, who reached these shores again not very long ago. Men like Hudson, Baffin, Barrow, Scoresby, Franklin, Ross, Parry, Kane, Nordenskjold, De Long, Greeley, Nansen and many others too numerous to mention, are worthy of enrollment in the annals of any nation. This paper, however, has nothing to do with the history of the explorations, but rather with the object of them.

"The Pole's" Appearance.

"What is the North Pole like?" has been asked more than once; as if, when it is reached, there will be seen some kind of an end to the spindle or axis, on which the earth is said to turn in its diurnal rotation. People seem dissatisfied when they are told that when the successful explorer reaches the North Pole he will see nothing beyond either open sea, or frozen icefield, or ice-bound land, and will not be able to ascertain whether he has reached the right point or not, until he has taken an observation or two of the stars with some astronomical instrument with which he is provided.

When men began to penetrate the polar regions it was with no hope of finding the North Pole, but with the expectation of meeting with other lands and sailing in other seas. Now that so much has been accomplished effort is directed rather toward solving geographical than physical questions. Under existing conditions it is not probable that astronomers and students of the physics of the earth will establish observations on a spot where latitude ceases and you may traverse the whole 360 degrees of longitude by simply turning upon your heel.

Martian Knowledge of Our Pole.

Still there are some questions of surpassing interest involved in this North Pole, which it may be worth while to glance at. In the first place, the unknown tract in which it lies is not nearly so great as is commonly supposed. Ordinary maps show a large area, as compared with the rest of the world, which is spoken of as unexplored. This is owing to the way in which maps are usually constructed, as showing a portion of a sphere on a plane surface. The real state of the case will be readily understood, if we take a pair of compasses and placing one leg on the pole and the other on the eighty-fifth degree of latitude, describe a circle round the globe. It will be seen that the area enclosed is not large compared with the rest of the world; in fact it may be roughly represented by a circular tract having the distance between Philadelphia and Chicago as its diameter. The difficulty does not lie in the space to be investigated, but in the conditions under which that investigation has to be accomplished. Those conditions, however, as experienced at present, are such that if it be true that Mars is peopled with an intellectual race capable of executing marvelous engineering feats, Martian astronomers could probably tell us more about our own Polar regions than we ourselves know.

What the Explorer Will Find.

Modern science, nevertheless, has worked out so many problems, connected with the polar regions that in some matters we know exactly what the explorer will find when he stands over the pivot of the earth or hangs over it in his balloon. We cannot tell what the terrestial landscape will be like. That the geographical investigators have yet to disclose. It may be land with a not unbearable climate. It may be sea—a continuation of the Atlantic ocean. Certainly Arctic explorers have seen in the distance "a water sky." Kane and Hayes saw tidal waves; and Parry, to his disappointment found that the ice-field on which he was traveling drifted southward as fast as he progressed northward. But for a solution of this mystery we must wait with patience.

Startling Celestial Phenomena.

We can, however, describe the celestial phenomena, and they are sufficiently startling. If the time be that between the Autumnal and vernal equinoxes, that is from about September 22 to about March 20, there will be no sun to interfere with the observation of the stars at any hour of the twenty-four. It will be continuous night. Each star seen from the voyager's standpoint at the Pole will appear to move round in a horizontal circle, the centre of which will be directly overhead. There will be no rising and setting. Each month the moon will come above the horizon, and corkscrew up and down the sky in a strange fashion. A little before the vernal equinox, there will appear a twilight spot which will move round the horizon every twenty-four hours, increasing daily in size and brilliancy, until it assumes a day-break light.

About three days before the equinox the rim of the sun will appear in the midst of the dazzling brightness, and day by day the orb will creep up the heavens in a spiral without ever setting, until it has reached its highest point of 23 1-2 degrees above the horizon, at midsummer. Then, for a few days, the circuit of the heavens, which it makes daily, will appear to be a horizontal circle, and after that the reverse spiral descent begins. Lower and lower each day will see it until it touches the horizon, about the time of the autumnal equinox, and in a few days its disk will no more be seen. But, just as its appearance had to be heralded by day-break light followed twilight, so, as if in commiseration at leaving the region to a six months' night, it vouchsafes a sunset light for days, followed by twilight merging into darkness.

Stars in Horizontal Circles.

It has been said that the stars appear at the pole to move round the heavens in horizontal circles, of which the centre would be overhead. That centre is the pole of the heavens—the celestial pole. In this latitude there are stars whose apparent course is a circle, the whole of which is visible to our eyes because no part sinks beneath the horizon. A photograph of the heavens brings out this very plainly. When the sensitive plate is exposed to receive the images of the stars, single points of light are not imprinted, but, as the exposure must necessarily be some four hours long, the impression photographed is that of a track of light, and this track is a portion of a circle whose centre can easily be determined. This centre for the paths of the stars which never set in our latitude, as for those of the whole northern Celestial hemisphere, lies near that bright star called by us the "Pole Star," easily ascertained by means of the pointers in the constellation of the Great Bear or the Dipper. Here the altitude of the Pole Star is equal to the latitude of our locality. At the North Pole it is over head.

Similarly there is a Southern Celestial Pole, which would be overhead to a person attaining the South Pole of the earth in the Antarctic Regions. A line joining the two celestial poles would be the axis of the heavens.

The Area of the "Unexplored."

To go back to our position at the centre of the earth: If we are to watch the pole traveling around so large a circle in the heavens we shall also have to mark out a circle on the earth. That is, the pole of the earth is not a fixed point upon its surface, but, whatever point the earth's pole marks to-day, it must in time describe a circle which shall correspond to the circle among the constellations. A very fair question, then, will be, How large an area in these unexplored regions may be supposed to be covered by these "wanderings of the north pole?" When we remember how near the end of our protruding tube at the earth's surface is to our eye, compared with the distance of the stars, we shall see that any motion necessary to follow the wanderings of the celestial pole is almost infinitesimal. We cannot, therefore, be surprised at Sir Robert Ball's words in dealing with this subject:

"The north pole of the earth, as it existed in the time of the Pharoahs, appears to be practically the same as the north pole of the earth now. It seems perfectly certain that at any time within the last 10,000 years the north pole might have been found within a region of the earth's surface not larger than Hyde Park (300 acres). Indeed, the limits might be drawn closely. It is quite possible that many an edifice in London occupies an area sufficiently great to cover the holes that would be made by all the posts that might be driven to mark the precise sites of the north pole on the earth, not only for the last 5000 or 10,000 years, but probably for periods much more ancient still. It is very likely that the north pole at the time of the glacial epoch was practically indistinguishable from the north pole now, in fact the constancy—or sensible constancy I should perhaps rather say—of the situation of this most critical point in our globe is one of the most astonishing facts in terrestrial physics."

Exact Calculations.

The calculations of astronomers are so exact that if the line joining the north and south celestial poles had made an apparent movement of sixty feet at the point of its emergence from the earth at our North Pole, since the establishment of our great astronomical observatories, a difference in latitude would have been detected and there would have been an outcry from every great centre of observation. Whatever movement there has been is governed by laws so perfectly understood that calculations can grasp it. The principal involved is readily appreciable to us who are not personally engaged in dealing with the exceedingly minute reckonings involved. Our solar system is but one among myriads composing the stellar universe, and from our position in that system the basis of movement is not the celestial axis, but the axis of the plane in which the earth moves round the sun, that is the line at right angles to the plane of the ecliptic. This line, when projected among the constellations, gives us two points, one to the north, the other to the south, known as the poles of the ecliptic. We may call the line joining these axis of the ecliptic, which, like that of the earth and that of the heavens passes through the centre of the earth.

A Long Journey.

As we are on the earth, the apparent movements of the axis of the heavens will be around the axis of the ecliptic. This need not surprise any one because when we are in a moving railroad train the surrounding objects appear to move while we ourselves and not they are in motion. As it is well known that the plane of the ecliptic is inclined 23 1-2 degrees to the plane of the equator, if we take a celestial globe, and place one leg of a pair of compasses on the pole of the ecliptic, which we shall find marked there, and with a radius of 23 1-2 degrees describe a circle we shall get the celestial pole among the constellations. And it may be stated that the time required for the apparent journey is about 25,000 years.

Considerations like these show that while it will be interesting to know how the earth looks up in that far north region, more can be done in the way of useful knowledge in the more congenial quarters of an astronomer's room.—Robert Blight.

UNLIKE ANY OTHER MEDICINE,

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH

South American Nervine.

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It.

Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record.

Cures at the Nerve Centres and Thus Cures Permanently.

A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility.

Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but, by scientific methods, he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main-spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health only when the nerve centres are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centres. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centres, from which come these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centres are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished, and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

SELWYN CONFERENCE ON SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

A SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION AT SELWYN.

Brief But Comprehensive Report of Proceedings — Addresses by Prominent Sunday School Workers — Officers Elected.

The eighth annual convention of the Township of Smith Sabbath School Association was held in the Baptist church, here, on Friday of last week.

The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises and service of song, led by the pastor, Rev. C. E. McLeod.

The convention then commenced the business with the President, Mr. J. Sucee, in the chair.

The Nominating Committee was appointed as follows :—Messrs. G. W. Mann, Rev. A. R. McDonald, H. Sanderson, A. Northey and Jas. Roberts.

Very favourable and encouraging reports were received from the following Sabbath Schools : — North Smith Presbyterian, Young's Point, Bridgenorth, Selwyn, Gilmour and Lakefield Baptist.

Mr. James Roberts then conducted a conference on "What shall we do this year to advance the work in our township," in which the following points were brought out, viz. :—

(1) Home influence. (a) Home study, supervised by the parents. (b) Attendance and example of parents.

This was heartily endorsed by Rev. A. L. Macdonald.

Rev. Mr. Lewis recommended a more careful grading of the school, with personal visitation of homes by superintendent and teacher.

Rev. C. E. McLeod recommended a separation of adults and children where possible.

(2) Study of the Word. (a) Not studied in church. (b) Get it studied at family worship. (c) In the Sunday school.

(3) More use of black board and maps. (a) Teach through the eye.

Dr. Harrison recommended outline maps progressively drawn on the blackboard, and a blackboard for each class where possible, or the following substitutes for a blackboard : wrapping paper or slate.

(4) Teachers' meetings.

Rev. C. E. McLeod delivered an excellent paper on "The Interval between the Old and New Testament."

Dr. Harrison gave one of his deeply interesting and instructive normal lessons on the Laws of Teaching.

The nominating committee made their report as follows :

President—Mr. Alex. Northey.

Sec.-Treas.—Mr. J. H. Sanderson.

Next place of meeting—Lakefield.

The report was on motion adopted. The meeting then adjourned until 7 p.m.

EVENING SESSION.

After the opening devotional exercises there was an interesting Conference on House to House Visitation once in each year, led by Rev. A. C Reeves. In house to house visitation there should be given an invitation to the Sabbath school and church services, and an engagement in prayer and Bible reading. This visitation should be done in order to reach families who lack interest in Sabbath school and church. By so doing you get them aroused to their duty. The visitor appointed should be a person of character and worth and who has an interest in Sabbath school work.

There would be no need for house to house visitation if parents did their duty. In a Christian community there ought not be any need for such action and in closing he urged all to take a deeper interest in Sabbath school work.

Rev. C.E. McLeod thought that by visiting it would show that the teachers and the school were interested in the scholars, and that the work of the teacher was not only teaching, but to visit and show their sympathy and interest in the scholars.

Rev. W. Limbert considered there was a benefit in pastoral visitation and would suggest a yearly visit at least. By so doing they would learn the circumstances and condition of the scholars and thereby adapt themselves to the scholars' needs.

Mr. Kennedy—The absolute duty of every teacher is to visit his scholars and show his interest, recognize them everywhere and thus win them.

A conference on "Home Classes" was next taken up and elicited considerable discussion, but which, on motion, was laid over for future consideration.

"The Church and the Children" was the next subject, and was the subject of an excellent address by Rev. J. E. Trotter, Peterborough. He based his subject on the following passages : Deut. 6, 6 7 ; Matt. 9, 13-15 ; John, 21, 25. He considered there was a lack of interest taken in the training of the young, which is a woful lack on the part of God's people. A deeper interest should be taken in the spiritual welfare of the young.

1st. Juveniles constitute the most important factor in the community ; they are the most numerous ; with them lie the greatest possibilities. The church is short sighted that fails to see in them the hope of the race.

2nd. No class is so easy to reach and to win as the young. They are eager to know and to learn, and most impressive as child nature is most plastic. Let the rays of God's light be brought to bear upon them. Neglect them and what are the consequences?

3rd. Impressions produced upon the juvenile mind are the most lasting. Let the impress divine be made upon the child's mind, and time and events will not obliterate the early impressions. As an instance, he cited the case of Moses, who chose to suffer with the people of God than enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season. Impressions that were made on his mind before the age of 7. Also Samuel and Daniel.

4th. What instrument used in dealing with them? The word of God only. To give conviction. To build up character. What a book? The pentateuch. Where is to be found such a panorama of glories and wonderful events as are to be found in the Bible. Some call it lifeless and dry ; that is because of their lack of interest in the Bible. He appealed to all to make it more fascinating to the children.

5th.—By what means shall the work be carried on, which is so essential?

He considered the church responsible. At present the Sabbath school is the most promising field. The education of the young was left with the church and a few workers. If the Sabbath school was worked as it should be there would be no need of so much organization. We are organised to death. There were also wrong ideas of Sabbath school. He closed by giving his ideas of a model Sabbath school.

The retiring president, Mr. J. Sucee, in his address gave an encouraging word to teachers.

The question drawer was then answered by Rev. A. R. McDonald.

The vice-president and secretary treas. were introduced, after which the meeting was brought to a close by singing the doxology, after which Rev. A. C. Reeves pronounced the benediction.

Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Throat and Lung Troubles.

Perfectly well established is the value of cod liver oil in the various diseases of the air passages, and combined with maltine and the hypophosphites, its remedial value is vastly enhanced. In the elegant and palatable preparation, Maltine with Cod Liver Oil, are combined the valuable tissue building oil, and that sustainer of vitality and digestive, maltine. No emulsion can compare in remedial value with this preparation, for in addition to disguising the unpleasant taste of the oil and rendering it more easily digested, the maltine plays a most important part in maintaining adequately the process of nutrition so essential in wasting and pulmonary diseases. This it does by rendering the starchy foods in a form which assures its assimilation, with the result that emaciation gives way speedily to plumpness, the irritated bronchial tubes are soothed, rest grows natural and health becomes an assured fact. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, medicine and digestive.

No REMEDY cures coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, etc., so well as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It heals, soothes and strengthens the lungs and throat.

THIRD DAY OF TALK.

Mr. Beausoleil (Liberal) declared he would vote against Mr. Laurier's amendment. He proposed to vote for the bill because he believed in Separate schools and believed every father of a family should have the privilege of bringing up his children in his own faith. Moreover, he believed the rights of minorities should be protected. The same good faith should be kept with the minority in Manitoba that was kept towards the Protestant minority in Quebec. He feared that if a stop was not made now the next step would be the abolition of Separate schools in Ontario and then the abolition of official use of the French language. He felt that Manitoba would never restore Separate schools and opposed the proposal to appoint a commission of inquiry because the minority had suffered long enough and should be given relief as speedily as possible. The only method of restoring the rights of the minority was to pass a bill and he held it was the duty of Parliament to pass the measure. He would endorse Mr. Laurier's motion if he could see there was any chance of the Manitoba Government extending relief, but he saw no prospect of such a thing. It would not be wise for the minority to give up their constitutional rights with a view to accepting concessions which Mr. Greenway was prepared to make if the remedial order was withdrawn. There was no guarantee as to those concessions as they would depend merely on the good will of Mr. Greenway. The declaration of Mr. Prendergast of Manitoba was evidence that the bill was acceptable and he hoped it would be pressed through by the Government in spite of the threats made against it. However, the bill afforded a minimum of justice, and personally he regretted it did not afford more effective relief. He was prepared to support the bill whatever the result would be with respect to his political career.

Mr. Langelier (Liberal) declared the Remedial bill a mockery and a sham and would vote for the six months' hoist.

Mr. Moncrieff moved the adjournment of the debate.

The House adjourned at 12.15.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

What Transpired Within the Halls of the Provincial Buildings Yesterday.

Toronto, March 6.—There was not much talking done at the Local Legislature yesterday, but considerable solid work was transacted. A number of important public bills were advanced a stage and estimates were passed for a large amount. The most important measure of the session, Mr. Hardy's bill respecting City Councils, passed its second reading and will be thrashed out thoroughly in committee next week.

Hon. Mr. Dryden moved the second reading of his bill to improve the Agriculture and Arts Act. The bill provides that district societies of Toronto, Ottawa, London, Hamilton and Kingston may receive the Government grant. It also makes provision for the equitable division of the grant between the Township and Horticultural societies in each district, the basis being the number of paid-up members of the previous year. The bill passed its second reading.

Hon. Mr Hardy moved the second reading of his bill respecting City Councils. It provides that aldermen shall retain office for two years; that in cities of 100,000 population and over a Board of Control, consisting of the Mayor, and three aldermen, shall have power to prepare estimates, award contracts, inspect works and appoint officers of the corporation. The bill also provides that the Court of Revision in cities of 50,000 shall consist of three members, one to be appointed by the City Council and one by the Board of Trade, and the third shall be the official arbitrator or sheriff.

Mr. Crawford opposed the bill. He feared mad results from a two years' term of office. He thought before the Government passed the bill it should obtain an expression of opinion upon it from the cities it would affect. He said the bill vested too great power in the Mayor.

Mr. Howland said he had received a large number of petitions from Boards of Trade and labor organizations, protesting against the bill. He advised the Government to carefully consider the advisability of passing it.

The bill was then read a second time and sent on to the Municipal Committee, where its various clauses will be thoroughly discussed.

The story goes that Mr. Haycock did not get a chance this year to refuse his railway passes. Last year he returned the passes that had been sent by the G.T.R. and the C.P.R., and then brought in a bill to prohibit all members receiving passes. This year Mr. Haycock received no passes, although the other Patron members received theirs as usual. It is said Mr. Haycock was very angry when he found he had not been given the opportunity of refusing the pass. He vowed he would get even, and yesterday made the first step in that direction. He was present at the meeting of the Railway Committee yesterday and proposed to add a clause to all railway charters, compelling the roads to carry all members of the Legislature free while in the discharge of their duty. The Patron leader could find no one, even in his own party, to second his resolution, and the matter was allowed to drop, much to his disgust. One of the members of the committee was heard to remark after the meeting, "when Haycock gets a pass again, he will keep his mouth shut and the pass in his pocket."

These bills passed the committee, giving the Grand Valley Railway Co. power to alter its proposed route from Berlin to Brantford, so that it may meet the T.H. & B. at a point between Galt and Copetown. Another was passed giving the Pembroke Southern Railway the right to change its proposed route.

The balance of the afternoon was given up to considering the estimates. Upon the item of $1800, the salary paid to Librarian Preston, Mr. Matheson asked Sir Oliver if he was aware Mr. Preston occupied a dual position as alderman for Toronto and librarian, and if he would give his consent to this state of affairs.

Sir Oliver answered that he saw no reason why a civic servant should not be elected by the people to serve them in case his civic duties did not interfere with his duties as a servant of the Government, as was the case with Mr. Preston.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc. ; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line :—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

OUR DRESS-MAKING DEPARTMENT

Wa re-opened for the season on Monday, the 2nd inst. and from the number of orders for Dresses and Costumes received on the opening day the coming season promises to be the busiest in our record.

The popularity of this branch of our business grows year by year. It is in charge of a lady who stands at the head of her profession and will not allow a garment to leave our store that is not fully up to order and perfect in every particular, and this is the secret of our success.

Our display of New Spring Costumes is admired by all who have seen them.

Our showing at the present time embraces all the Newest Effects up to the time of our last shipment, and our stock will be augmented from time to time as new ideas are produced.

New Spring Mantles and Capes are to hand.

The latest creations in these Garments are to be found in them. There are many changes and cuts this season that characterizes our stock, very different from what you will see elsewhere this year, and all marked at such close prices that we expect to do an enormous trade in our Ready-Made Mantle Department.

New Prints and Ginghams.

Many were the surprises to our customers last Saturday when they learned the low prices at which we were selling our New Spring Prints and Ginghams.

At 8c you can buy the loveliest range of American Prints—colours guaranteed absolutely fast.

27 inch American Ginghams, worth 15c, selling at 10c. Every piece warranted fast colours.

For 15c you can buy from us a heavy 2 yard wide Cotton Sheeting, the 20c kind.

Have you seen our Bleached Cottons? If not you are just paying perhaps 10 per cent. more for them elsewhere.

We placed on sale to-day 1 case of 12½c and 15c English Prints, to be cleared out at 8c the yard.

This line embraces some of the choicest patterns for the coming season, and were imported to sell at the former prices.

Remedial Order Ought Not to Have Been Issued.

THE BILL IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Because it Was Not Submitted to the Manitoba Government First—What the Prairie Province Believes in—Justice Would Have Been Done if Properly Asked.

Ottawa, March 6.—(Special.)—Mr. Moncrieff led off to-day in the debate on the Remedial Bill. At the outset he referred to the great importance of the question. One of the chief objections raised to the bill yesterday was that it was no good; but, surely, it was the minority in Manitoba that ought to have the say in this matter, and their three representatives in the Legislature had pronounced in favor of the bill. He would be unworthy of being called a Protestant if he held in less esteem a fellow-citizen simply because his religious convictions were not the same as his own. (Hear, hear.) Dr. Sproule yesterday had said he was opposed to Separate Schools, and that was the reason he opposed this bill. If that was a reason why, then he pitied the doctor's intelligence. His mind had evidently not thoroughly grasped the position of affairs. This was not a question of Separate Schools—it was the redressing of the grievances of the Catholic minority of Manitoba. Dr. Sproule was following the lead of Mr. McCarthy. That gentleman had led the House astray before, and if he was not watched he would do so again. (Hear, hear.) He believed Mr. McCarthy was responsible largely for the present agitation; seemingly he held a brief to keep agitation alive. The Toronto World now supported that gentleman, but only a few months ago that paper designated Mr. McCarthy as a strife-maker.

Mr. Somerville—When was that?

Mr. Moncrieff—In October, 1893. Mr. Laurier in moving the six months' hoist had stolen Mr. McCarthy's thunder. Evidently Mr. Laurier wanted to ride into power on the religious prejudices of the people. Continuing, Mr. Moncrieff proceeded to review the legal aspects of the school question. If the minority in Manitoba happened to be Protestant, would Dr. Sproule, who last night opposed interference, have taken the stand he did?

Dr. Sproule—Yes.

Mr. Moncrieff—If the minority was Protestant would you not support the bill?

Dr. Sproule—I say emphatically, I would not.

Mr. Moncrieff—Well, then, if the Protestants of Quebec were deprived of rights he would not support the appeal they might make for relief?

Dr. Sproule—That is not the same at all.

Mr. Moncrieff—Yes, it is.

Col. O'Brien—Will the hon. gentleman say in what the cases of Quebec and Manitoba are analogous?

Mr. Moncrieff—A man must be blind who cannot see they are exactly the same.

Col. O'Brien—Would you define the rights of the Protestant minority in Quebec?

Mr. Moncrieff—Everybody knows them.

Col. O'Brien—The hon. gentleman does not know them.

Mr. Moncrieff—You bet I do. All the rights of practical value in both provinces have been acquired since the union. Any act repealing these rights would be intra vires of the Quebec Legislature, and so Quebec could take away all the rights of the Quebec minority.

Col. O'Brien—What then would become of the minority in Ontario?

Proceeding, Mr. Moncrieff said he had something he would like Mr. Laurier to hear, and as Mr. Laurier was not in the House, he would like some Liberal who had nothing to do to go and bring him in. (Laughter.) He concluded by announcing he would vote against Mr. Laurier's amendment and in favor of the bill. If voting so was to err, then he would have erred in favor of the constitution, would have erred in favor of the Protestant minority in Quebec, as well as the Catholic minority in Manitoba, would have erred on the side of peace and harmony, would have erred on lines calculated to bind together the provinces of this great British colony.

Mr. Martin (Winnipeg), author of the Manitoba school laws, opened by scoring Mr. Moncrieff, who, he said, while now talking of justice to Catholics, supported Mr. Gurd, the P.P.A. candidate in Lambton in the last Provincial election. Proceeding, he asserted that the case of Quebec was not analogous. Quebec could refuse the Protestants representation on the Board of Public Instruction, but that was not a matter of very great importance. If all the text-books of the schools were chosen by the board the case would be important; but, so far as text-books dealing with morals were concerned, had not absolute authority, but the choice was free. This entirely destroyed the Government's argument that if the Protestant minority lost their representation on the board the result would be serious to them.

The House took recess at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Martin continued the school debate after recess. He said the portion of the Imperial Order in Council which orders action in accordance with the Judicial Committee, was purely formal and was contained in all the orders in council, and that the allegation of some that it would be treason if the Government did not carry out the order was baseless. Sir Charles Tupper had based his argument on the idea that the minority had privileges prior to the union, but the Barrett case had decided that the minority had no rights prior to the union, but got whatever rights they had through the school laws of 1871. The question was: Could a change never be made with respect to the rights granted since union? Must the act of 1871 be binding forever? The effect of the judgment of the Privy Council was that a case arose which gave the Dominion jurisdiction to hear and determine the appeal of the minority, and the first duty therefore of the Government was to get complete information on the subject. Therefore, in pursuing the present course the Government was not carrying out the constitution. Had they considered whether it was right or fair, or good for the country to carry out the measure? If, as the Government had claimed, it must act mechanically, then the bill should have been couched in terms of a Remedial order. But this had not been done. If it was open to look at the circumstances of the case in framing the bill, why was it not so when the Remedial order was passed? And this was the important point in question.

Manitoba believed in upholding the constitution, and there was absolutely nothing to indicate that they would not maintain it. The stand taken previous to 1894 by Manitoba should not be considered, because then there was no judicial decision, and the utterances of Manitoba after the judgment were very moderate. There was nothing to show that Manitoba, if approached, would not have agreed to negotiations. Instead of doing so the Government passed the Remedial order which ordered the restoration of the statutes of 1871 exactly, without any regard to the efficiency of the schools or any matters of detail of the schools thereby established. Manitoba, so interpreted the order, and its drastic terms precluded the chance of negotiations or compromise. The whole difficulty the Government now found itself in arose from the drastic, far-reaching order passed without exercising any discretion. Now, when the Government finds itself unable to propose the bill on the lines of the order, they begin to think of a compromise. However, the time for enquiry was before judgment was rendered, not after. The Government was now on its knees imploring Mr. Greenway to come here and get them out of the trouble. If he should come, it would be no sign of hope. Nothing would come of any attempts at negotiations, unless the Government first repealed the Remedial order. Manitoba considered the order a harsh judgment, passed in their absence, and so refused to obey it, but they never said they would not do justice.

If religious exercises in the schools were the only objections of the Catholics, no doubt an agreement could be come to to do away with the exercises which, anyhow, were purely formal. It was a mistake that the Act of 1890 did not eliminate religious exercises entirely. If these exercises constituted a grievance it was of the slightest sort. In his judgment, the Remedial Bill was unconstitutional and ultra vires. The constitution required in case of remedying the grievance for the Governor-General-in-Council to pass an order and send the bill to the province for the province to pass. Parliament could not act till the province had refused to enact the bill sent. The Remedial Order did not carry out the law in this respect, and, therefore, Parliament had no jurisdiction. It got jurisdiction only when the law had been carried out and the province refused to carry out the bill sent it by the Governor-General. He was in favor of an investigation, not because it was Mr. Laurier's policy, but because Manitoba had asked for it. If the passing of the Remedial Order had prevented Manitoba entertaining proposals on the part of the Dominion re negotiations and compromise, how much more effective would a Remedial Bill be in the same direction. What benefit, moreover, would Separate schools organized by the bill be, when the province, as a result of the exercise of the Dominion's coercive power against it, would be inclined to obstruct the carrying out of the law? The people of Manitoba were law-abiding and understood the position the judgment of the judicial committee put them in, and if the Remedial Order and bill were withdrawn they would be prepared to do justice in the premises. The Government was responsible for the entire trouble, having tried to use the question for political purposes. Mr. Laurier had taken the statesmanship stand and would, if he got into power, be able to settle the question without any coercive laws. (Hear, hear.) He concluded by declaring that when Mr. Laurier became Premier, which he soon would, there would be no more heard of Remedial bills, but the House would give to the business of the country the attention which it deserved, but of which it had been getting so little this session.

Mr. Daly moved the adjournment of the debate. The House adjourned at 10.40 p.m.

YOUNG NEWMAN'S AWFUL DEATH.

Fell Against a Circular Saw and His Body Was Almost Severed.

Carp, March 6.—Last night a dreadful fatal accident occurred at Woodlawn, 13 miles from here, by which James Newham, aged 18, lost his life. He was working in Vance's sawmill and in some way came in contact with the circular saw, which struck his foot, cutting it off. He then fell against the saw, which again struck his hip, cutting nearly half way through his body. Dr. Groves, Carp, was summoned, but the young man was dead before he arrived. He was a member of the I.O.F at Woodlawn.

IN THE LOCAL HOUSE.

Mr. Stratton's Bill Was Read a Second Time.

WILL PROTECT PROPERTY OWNERS

Many New Bills Were Introduced—Cost of Government House—A Deputation of Magistrates. The Agricultural College—A Bill to Regulate Bake Shops.

Toronto, March 7.—Business is humming at the Local Legislature these days. The Public Accounts Committee has got down to solid work, and all legislation in the House is rapidly advancing. A lot of important business was pushed through yesterday. The Public Accounts Committee have ordered Mr. H. K. Smith, Belleville, a game inspector, to appear before them Tuesday next; also the production of the traveling expenses accounts of Mr. Noxon, Central Prison, and Inspectors Christie and Chamberlain.

Mr. Stratton, when the House met, moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act. He said the tendency of municipalities of late years had been to increase taxation, which had the effect of depreciating the value of property. Under the old law municipalities were not allowed to tax at a greater rate than two cents upon the dollar. In many municipalities a much greater rate than this was at present current. He quoted from a judgment of Mr. Justice Harrison, showing that this was dangerous to the interest of property owners. He wished by the passage of this bill to compel municipalities wishing to tax over two cents to come to the Legislature for that power. If there were no good reasons for such a course the request might not be granted.

Hon. Mr. Hardy favored allowing the second reading. He said he entertained some doubt as to the power of the Legislautre to pass such a bill, but this could be thoroughly investigated when the bill went before the proper committee. The bill was read a second time.

Mr. Stratton moved the third reading of his bill to amend the Assessment Act. He said that in cities and towns at certain periods certain lands were sold for taxes. In many instances these lands were sold without the owner knowing anything of the transaction. Persons holding mortgages upon such lands were also in many cases ignorant of the fact that the taxes had not been paid. The bill provided that the County Treasurer should have the power to notify such persons by registered letter before the sale of the lands. The cost would not exceed in any case 28 cents.

Mr. Matheson said he thought that if the provisions of the bill could be carried out the result would be good.

Mr. Hardy advised that the bill should go on to the committee for full discussion. It passed the second reading.

Mr. Matheson moved for an order of the House for a return of copies of all agreements entered into between the Government and Hazelwood & Whalen, and the Government and G. P. Cleaner, James Whalen and others, respecting the cotton and pulp wood, or other timber, in the territory north of Lake Superior, together with copies of all correspondence in connection with the same. He said he had been informed that the persons referred to had a monopoly under its contract with the Government. He had been informed they had the sole rigt to cut pulp timber on 800,000 acres.

Hon. Mr. Hardy said there was no objection to bringing down the papers asked for, since they would prove that someone had been imposing upon Mr. Matheson and that he had believed a child's story. (Laughter.) As a matter of fact, others had the same right as those persons referred to, who had the same right to cut upon 40 miles only.

Mr. Haycock moved for an order of the House for a return showing the cost of the machinery, the cost of repairing and maintaining the same in order, and the cost of raw material used in connection with the manufacture of binder twine in the Central Prison, giving the aggregate amounts for each year from the beginning of said industry, to date; the amounts annually paid as commissions for the sale of the product; the cost of packages, freight, salaries of extra officials and all other expenditures incurred in connection with or occasioned by the said manufacture. The annual receipts from sales of binder twine during said period, and the estimated value of the machinery, plant, material and stock on hand when the said industry was transferred to its present managers.

Mr. McLean moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Election Act. It provides that persons who move within six months before an election shall be entitled to vote when their names appear on the voters' list.

Hon. Mr. Gibson asked that the bill should stand. It was an important matter anud should be well considered by the members.

Mr. Cleland thought it would be better to permit the returning officer to issue a certificate and grant the right to the voter to cast his vote where he lives at te time of the election.

The bill was allowed to stand.

The following bills were introduced into the House yesterday:

An Act to amend the Registry Act, Mr. O'Keefe; provides that where the office of a registrar is situate in any city having a population of 30,000 or over, the office hours on Saturday shall be from 10 in the forenoon till 1 o'clock in the afternoon, instead of from 10 to 4, as on other days.

An Act to amend the Municipal Act, Mr. Garrow; to enable municipalities by by-law to provide means for ascertaining and determining what real property fronts or abuts upon or extends to within six feet of the street upon which local improvements are constructed, and provides that the county judge on appeals to him shall not so extend this by-law.

An Act respecting the assessment of the real property of incorporated companies, Mr. Garrow; provides that companies may furnish the clerk with a list of shareholders showing the names and shares held by each and request the assessor to place the names of

DURING MARCH

Colds and chills are prevalent, and unless the system is strong enough to throw them off, serious illness, often ending in pneumonia and death, results.

THE CAUSE

Of colds, chills and attendant dangers is found in the blood, poisoned by uric acid, which should be expelled by the kidneys.

THE EFFECT

Of this kidney-poisoned blood is far-reaching. Health and strength are impossible while it exists. The system is being continually weakened, leaving it open to the ravages of colds, chills, pneumonia and fevers.

THE CURE

For such a diseased condition is found in Warner's Safe Cure, which will restore the kidneys to health and enable them to properly perform their functions. There is no doubt about this. The record of the past is

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1896.

THE Welland Tribune remarks that the present Dominion Parliament was elected five years ago March 4th. It is time we had a new one.

THE Marham, Ont., woollen mills have closed down because the employees refused to accept a reduction of wages. The mill owners wanted to take 25 per cent. off the wages of those receiving over $1 a day and ten per cent. off wages of $1 or less per day, and date the reduction back to Jan. 1. Under protection mill owners can make enaugh in half the year to afford to take a holiday the other half, unless the employees consent to work for starvation prices. With an open market manufacturers would be forced to accept moderate profits and keep their mills open full time to make it pay. The condition of affairs at the Markham mills just now afford an excellent illustration of how protection is a curse instead of a benefit to the working people.

IMPERIAL NAVAL PREPARATIONS

Although eight battleships, twenty-three cruisers and forty torpedo-boat destroyers are now under construction for the British navy, the naval programme for 1896, submitted to Parliament by the First Lord of the Admiralty contemplates the immediate laying of the keels of five additional battleships, thirteen cruisers and twenty-eight destroyers. Three new docks are to be constructed at Gibraltar, and the navy's personnal is to be increased by 5,400 men. This programme will entail an expenditure of $110,000,000, of which nearly $37,000,000 is to be appropriated for the new ships, docks and guns. The establishment of the proposed fast steamship service between Great Britain and Canada is, to a certain extent, connected with the question of Imperial naval defence.

Short Sketches of Great Men.

Æsop—Continued.

It is not to be supposed that Æsop was absolutely the inventor of fable. Under this form, more or less developed, the earliest knowledge of every nation—at least of every Eastern nation—has been handed down. The East has been the land of apologue and allegory.

The physical peculiarities of nature are the powerful moulds in which are cast the forms of intellect. Beneath the sunny skies of the East, surrounded by images of abundance and elated by warmth and brightness, man surrenders himself involuntarily to the fulness of their reaction upon his mind; his language participates in this richness; in the relations of life he illustrates by apologue, in poetry by fervid metaphor, in narrative by digression. There such fertility smiles around, such varied forms of life attract, such groups of animated beauty beckon, that language becomes highly figurative and ornamental. In a climate in which the chief part of life is spent beneath the vault of heaven or under the shelter of the spreading tree or tent, the tendency of narrative is now historic. Hence that love of fable, that delight in marvellous adventure which characterizes the Eastern story-teller even at the present day. The "Arabian Nights" and the preponderating number of works of wild fiction and romance that swell an Eastern library, show the continued tendency towards tales similiar to those which Æsop used. "Fables," says Addison (Spectator No. 183), "were the first pieces of wit that made their appearance in the world." Thackeray in his introduction to his novel, "The Newcomes," after giving several fables, concludes thus: "So the tales were told ages before Æsop; and asses under lions' manes roared in Hebrew; and sly foxes flattered in Etruscan; and wolves in sheep's clothing gnashed their teeth in Sanscrit."

The Creator to instruct mankind, by the very prospect of nature, has endowed the brute part of it with various instincts, inclinations and properties, to serve as so many pictures in miniature, to man of the several duties incumbent upon him and to point out to him the evil qualities he ought to avoid. Thus He has given us, for instance, a lively image of meekness and innocence in the lamb, of fidelity and friendship in the dog, and on the contrary of violence, rapaciousness and cruelty in the lion, the wolf and the tiger. This is a dumb language, which all nations understand; it is a sentiment engraven in nature, which every man carries about with him.

In later times when neither kings nor mobs would bear to look upon naked truth, resource to the style of primitive wisdom furnished an effective garb with which to clothe it. It flattered by its appeal to national antiquity and by exercising without tasking intellectual accuteness. Thus fable in those days was not a child's plaything but a nation's primer. Tyranny and rebellion were alike stayed by this, the only word of the wise that passion would listen to.

Æsop may be styled the inventor or at least the most prominent user of this application of the fable to political purposes. It was this circumstance, namely, the danger of free speech, during the epoch of the tyrants, that raised the fable from folklore into literature. When free speech was established in the Greek democracies, the custom of using fables in harangues was continued and encouraged by the rhetoricians, whilst the mirth-producing qualities of the fable caused it to be regarded as a fit subject for after-dinner conversation. This habit of regarding the fable as a form of the jest, intensified the tendency to connect it with a well-known name. Hence Æsop's name has been connected with almost all the fables that have appeared in the Western World.

The Greek fable forms a literature of itself and is marked by its own separate and distinguishing features. It is, in the words of Prof. K. Mueller, "an intentional travesty of human affairs." The Æsopean fable invariably takes this form. Men are the subject of it. Human actions, projects, thoughts, follies and virtues are delineated under the veil and emblems of animals endowed with the faculties of speech and reason. Thus human motives are dissected, human infirmities exposed, and human conduct described, in a method recommending itself to the conscience more forcibly than would the adoption of any definite reproof or any direct condemnation. This is indeed the excellence of a fable that it conveys advice, without the appearance of doing so, and thereby saves the self love of those to whom the counsel it conveys is applicable. Their novelty, their liveliness, and their strict analogy to real life are their main attraction; features of the genuine fable which under every form of its development are a tribute to the imperishable charms of truth.

Addison in Spectator No. 183 tells us that the oldest fable on record which we know to have been practically applied is that of the Trees and the Bramble as found in Holy Writ, Judges IX and VIII. Nathan's parable of the poor man and his lamb is likewise more ancient than any that is extant, except the above and had so good an effect as to convey instruction to the ear of a king without offending it and to bring the man after God's own heart, to a right sense of his guilt and his duty with the terrible application, "Thou art the man." Addison calls the above a fable but it is strictly speaking a parable, the difference between the two being this: The parable is drawn from events, which take place among mankind and therefore requires probability. The fable is founded on supposed actions of brutes or inanimate things and therefore is not limited by the strict rules of probability.

The fables in our modern collections must not of course be considered as the veritable words of Æsop. The date of his life and the nature of the composition alike, forbid us to suppose that his fables were committed to writing. We have in the main, as Rev. T. James says, both the spirit and the body of Æsop's fables, if not, as they proceeded from the sage's own lips, at least as they were known in the best times of Greek literature.

The history of Æsopean fable seems to be this, Æsop was one of the first and most successful in adopting this mode of instruction. Being striking in point and easy of remembrance, his stories were bandied about from mouth to mouth and handed down from generation to generation with such alterations as are ever attendant upon oral narration. In later times writers, equally with speakers, preserving the traditionary outline of the fable, filled it up in their own words while all the good stories afloat upon the surface of conversation became, naturally enough, referred to the great master in that style of composition. About 300 B. C. Demetrius of Phalleron whilom tyrant of Athens and founder of the Alexandrine Library, collected together all the fables he could find. This collection, running probably to 200 fables after being interpolated and edited by the Alexandrine grammarians, was turned into neat Latin iambics by Phædrus, a Greek freed man of Augustus, in the early years of the Christian era. As the modern Æsop is mainly derived from Phædrus the answer to the question, who wrote Æsop? is simple, Demetrius of Phaleron.

The influence of the fables of Æsop, the most popular moral and political class book of more than 2000 years, has been very great. Such seeds of reason and philosophy, implanted, as they generally are, in childhood, cannot but bear good fruit. Our speech has been influenced by them. How often do we hear the expressions, you have the lion's share, it is a case of sour grapes, the mountain's in labour, a wolf in sheep's clothing, you are a dog in a manger, put your shoulder to the wheel, and count not your chickens before they are hatched, and many others.

So much for the past of the Fable. Has it a future as a mode of literary expression? Scarcely, its method is at once too simple and too roundabout. Too roundabout, for the truths we have to tell, we prefer to speak out directly and not by way of allegory. And the truths the fable has to teach are too simple to correspond to the facts of our complex civilization. Its rude graffite of human nature cannot reproduce the subtle gradations of modern life. But as we all pass through in our lives the various stages of ancestral culture there comes a time when these rough sketches of life have their appeal to us as they had to our forefathers. The Allegory gives us a pleasing and not too strenuous stimulation of the intellectual powers; the lesson is not too complicated for child-like minds. Indeed in their grotesque grace, in their quaint humour, in their trust in the simpler virtues, in their insight into the cruder vices, in their innocence of sex, Æsop's fables are as little children. They are as little children and for that reason they will forever find a home in the Heaven of little children's souls.

GOOD KIDNEY WORK.

Good Health—Life Itself Depends Upon Healthy Kidneys.

The Lessons of Experience—Thousands Have Learned and Testified—Dodd's Kidney Pills Never Fail in Curing Kidney Disease.

Each particular organ in the body is put there to do a special work.

The lungs, the liver and the kidneys all have their functions.

The stomach and bowels receive and digest the food on which we live.

Not everything in the food should go into the blood as blood material.

There is a separation effected by these organs.

But the chyle may have germs and poisonous matter in it which would wreck life if once in the blood, so it must be taken out.

The kidneys are at once and always filters.

Nineteen times out of every twenty when we are sick, it is because of weak kidneys. If anything goes wrong look to the kidneys first. Fast living, overwork, colds, or injuries may any of them weaken the kidneys so that they do not perform their important—their indispensable work.

It has been found that Dodd's Kidney Pills at such a time are exactly what is wanted to help the kidneys. If you have headache, restless feeling, tired feeling, chills, sallow skin, aching across the loins, coated tongue, rheumatism, cloudy urine, loss of flesh, shortness of breath.

Then you will find that one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills is worth more than its weight in gold, for they always cure.

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.

South American Rheumatic Cure, for Rheumatism and Neuralgia, radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. The first dose greatly benefits. 75 cents. Sold by H. S. Macdonald

Spring, A Season of Great Danger!

The Weak, Nervous, and Run-down Should Build Themselves Up and Become Strong.

Paine's Celery Compound a Sure and Certain Health-giver.

Prescribed and Recommended by Some of the Ablest Physicians.

Mrs. Benoit Montreal, Says: "Paine's Celery Compound Saved My Life."

There are many professional men, business men and mechanics, who attend daily to their duties because they are not confined to a sick bed, but who are nevertheless, wofully "out of health."

There are many wives and mothers who still attend daily to their household duties, who are really not in a fit condition to work. They are pale weak, run down, nervous, sleepless, dyspeptic, neuralgic, rheumatic, or tortured by kidney and liver troubles, and life is made a burden.

Spring time is the season of danger for all such. The present is the time for the sick to cast off their loads of disease. Paine's Celery Compound is the only cure the only life-giver for the diseased. It perfectly regulates the nervous system, purifies the vitiated and disease-charged blood, and arouses to perfect and healthy action every organ of the body. Appetite is increased, sleep made sound and sweet, digestion is made easy and regular, and life will he made worth living.

Read the testimony of Mrs. Catharine Benoit of Montreal, who declares that Paine's Celery Compound saved her life:—

"Trusting that my experience with Paine's Celery Compound may prove of benefit to those who are sick and ailing, I wish to make the following statement:—

"About seven years ago I found myself in a very weak condition physically, and completely run down. I was attended by four city doctors, but their treatment did not in any way improve my health. My condition was so bad that my eyesight was affected and I thought blindness would be the result. A lady friend, just in time, recommended me to use your Paine's Celery Compound, as she had been cured by it. I used several bottles of Paine's Celery Compound with grand results. To-day I find myself a different woman. My appetite is good, my sleep is sound and natural, and my strength for one advanced in years, is all I could hope for. I can say truthfully that Paine's Celery Compound saved my life. I urge every sufferer to use it."

shareholders on the assessment roll as joint owners of the company.

An Act to further amend the Act respecting sheriffs, Mr. Biggar; provides that sheriffs' offices situate in cities shall close at 1 o'clock in the afternoon during the months of July and August, instead of 4 o'clock.

An Act to amend the Election Act, Mr. Gamey; provides that no sheriff, county crown attorney, clerk of the peace, registrar of deeds, clerk of the Surrogate Court, clerk of the Division Court, bailiff of the Division Court, license inspector, registrar, clerk, or other officer attached to the Superior Court, no permanent official employed in any of the departments of the Government of Ontario, or any prison, hospital, asylum or institution of the Government of Ontario shall actively engage in any contested election to the Legislative Assembly by canvassing, speaking at public meetings, or acting as agent or otherwise on behalf of any candidate at such election, or by collecting funds for the conduct of such election or in any other manner. Any person violating the provisions of this Act shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $200 for each offence, such penalty to be recoverable in any court of competent jurisdiction by any person who may sue therefor, and shall, in addition, at the discretion of the judge presiding at the trial of such action, be liable to forfeiture of his office.

An Act as to certain proceedings under the Act respecting assignments and preferences by insolvent persons, the Attorney-General; makes provision for filing assignments in the districts of Algoma, Muskoka, Rainy River, Thunder Bay, Manitoulin and Nipissing. The largest dividend possible is to be paid by the assignee within 12 months after the assignment and every six months thereafter.

An act to secure the payment of wages for labor performed in the construction of public works, the Attorney-General; enables the Crown to pay out of any money deposit, or security given for the due performance of public contracts for public works, claims filed within two months after they become due, for labor performed thereon by foremen, workmen or laborers in the employ of the contractor or of any sub-contractor. In case of aid granted out of the public moneys to any railway or other work, the Crown may retain sufficient of the sum voted to pay claims for labor performed. Every company hereafter incorporated is to be liable for the payment of wages by contractors and sub-contractors if the claim is served on the company within two months after the debt is payable.

An Act to amend the Assessment Act, Mr. Mutrie; to remove doubts as to the liability of private lunatic asylums, gold cure institutions, etc., for taxes, and to make them taxable.

An Act to amend the Municipal Act, Mr. Meacham; provides that where a disclaimer has been filed by a person elected a member of the council, there shall be a new election instead of the next highest candidate taking the place of the disclaimant.

Some Hamilton Matters.

Several bills referring to the City of Hamilton were before the Private Bills Committee yesterday morning. The creditors of the T., H. & B. Railway ask that the bonus voted to that road by the City of Hamilton be paid into the Bank of Hamilton in trust for them. The amount of the bonus was $225,000. The creditors ask, also, for a lien on the road. Mayor Tuckett and Ald. Colquhoun was among those who addressed the committee on the matter. No decision was arrived at. The bill extending the time for completing the smelting works was passed.

They Want Explanations

Mr. H. K. Smith, game inspector, Belleville, has been summoned before the Public Accounts Committee on Tuesday. The committee also decided to have detailed statements produced of the following accounts: For traveling expenses, Mr. Noxon, $200; Inspector Christie, $183.26; Inspector Chamberlain, $1050.

To Regulate Bake Shops.

The following is a summary of the Hon. Mr. Dryden's bill with reference to bake shops:

All bake shops shall be constructed, as to lighting, heating, ventilation and drainage, in such a manner as not to be detrimental to the health of any person working therein, and shall be kept at all times in clean and sanitary condition, so as to secure the protection and preservation of all food products thereof in a wholesome condition. Washrooms, closets and other conveniences are to be provided, entirely separate from any direct connection with the shops. Sleeping places, entirely separate from the shops, are also to be provided; also proper fire escapes. No employer shall require or permit any employe to work more than 60 hours a week, except by the permission of the inspector. All inspectors appointed under the Ontario Factories Act are appointed inspectors under this Act. Any employer who violates any section of the Act or who refuses an inspector admittance or who neglects to comply with any requirements of the inspector, shall be liable to the following penalties: For the first offence, a fine of not less than $20 and not more than $40; for the second offence, a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $100, or, in default, 30 days in jail; for the third or any subsequent offence, imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months.

Kingston Dairy School.

A Kingston delegation yesterday asked the Minister of Agriculture to take over the Dairy School in connection with the Kingston School of Agriculture and Mines, and run it as a Government institution on the lines upon which the Dairy School at Strathroy is conducted.

The Agricultural College.

Yesterday afternoon Hon. J. M. Gibson brought down the report of the Ontario Agricultural College and Experimental Farm.

The number of students at the college in 1895 was 250—150 in the general course and 100 in the dairy school. Of those in the general course, exactly 80 per cent.—nearly all farmers' sons—were from the Province of Ontario. Six of the 100 dairy students were non-residents—four from Quebec and the eastern provinces, one from the United States and one from Wales. Of this number, 45 were free students.

The total net expenditure on all the departments for 1895 was as follows: (1) College and Government buildings, $31,235.53. (2) Farm—(a) Farm proper, $2977.70; (b) experimental plots and feeding, $6111.96; (c) dairy department—experimental dairy, dairy school and traveling dairy, $9518.17; (d) poultry department—wages, stock, etc., $1054.34. (3) Horticultural department—garden, greenhouses, orchards, lawn, arboretum, etc., $4609.37. (4) Mechanical department—construction of buildings, repairs, etc., $1406.65. Total, $56,913.72. Unexpended balances on the year's operations in all departments, $6222.28. The amount paid by the college to students for work in the outside departments in 1895 was $3321.89. This was done by crediting on board bills the sums allowed to students from week to week by the foremen under whom they worked.

Reports are given on all the branches of the work.

HOW CREIGHTON LOST HIS FOOT.

He Was Engaged in Felling Timber and a Large Tree Struck Him.

Kingston, March 6.—Matthew Creighton, aged about 18 years, was brought to the city last night from Bancroft Station. He was engaged in felling timber in the woods, and a large tree in falling lodged against another and shot backwards from the stump, the sharp end striking Creighton's leg just above the ankle, nearly amputating it, and smashing the bone in a horrible manner. Gangrene having set in the limb was amputated to-day.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigourous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

TAIL-TWISTER DE BARRY,

Backed Up by Labor Demagogues, Is Trying to Chase Away Canadians.

Buffalo, N.Y., March 6.—A coterie of British tail-twisters, headed by United States Inspector John R. DeBarry and members of the Central Labor Union, many of whom are not yet United States citizens, have induced Representative Mahany to introduce in Congress a bill to further restrict immigration from Canada. This bill is now before the Committee on Immigration, and will Mahany says, be favorably to the house, and in all likelihood while the jingo spirit prevails will be passed. It is the most unfriendly measure yet introduced.

PYNY-PECTORAL
The Quick Cure for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, etc.

Mrs. Joseph Norwick, of 66 Scrauren Ave., Toronto, writes: "Pyny-Pectoral has never failed to cure my children of croup after a few doses. It cured myself of a long-standing cough after several other remedies had failed. It has also proved an excellent cough cure for my family. I prefer it to any other medicine for coughs, croup or hoarseness."

H. O. Barbour, of Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "As a cure for coughs Pyny-Pectoral is the best selling medicine I have any customers will have no other."

NERVOUS DEBILITY,
VARICOCELE, NIGHT LOSSES,

AND ALL WASTING DISEASES should write to me for advice. I have been a close student for many years of the subject of weakness in men, the fact is, I was a sufferer myself. Too bashful to seek the aid of older men or reputable physicians I investigated the subject deeply and discovered a simple but most remarkably successful remedy that completely cured me and fully enlarged me from a shrunken, stunted condition to natural strength and size. I want every young or old man to know about it. I take a personal interest in such cases and no one need hesitate to write me as all communications are held strictly confidential. I send the recipe of this remedy absolutely free of cost. Do not put it off but write me fully at once, you will always bless the day you did so. Address,

A Mouthful of Pearls.

The teeth, perhaps more than any other feature, enhance or destroy that intangible, because complex, thing we call beauty. What more repellant than ill-kept, discoloured teeth? What unsightliness more needless and inexcusable? Ivorine is delightful, whether as a cleanser or in its property of imparting to the teeth that dazzling whiteness so much desired and admired, and as efficiently does it render the breath sweet and fragrant. Ivorine is simply incomparable as a toilet requisite, which accounts for its recommendation and use by leading dentists.

BURTON BROOKS BADLY BURNED.

In Trying to Extinguish a Fire he Gets Scorched—An Unfortunate Accident.

The many friends in town of Mr. Burton Brooks, son of Mr. Thomas Brooks, Reid street, who is attending Cornell University, will be grieved to learn that, through the occurrence of a fire in his room, he has been severely burned.

The accident is a particularly unfortunate one, as it was preceded by an illness from which he had not quite recovered.

An Ithica exchange in commenting on the fire says:

"Just about the time the companies returned to quarters there was a small but exciting fire at the residence of B. E. Lent of Lent & Moore, on the corner of Buffalo & Parker streets.

"The fire started in a lounge in a room on the second floor, spreading quickly to portieres and window curtains, and in a moment almost the whole room was in flames.

"Messrs. Brooks and Sticht, who were in the rooms at the time, with rare courage and presence of mind, first attempted to smother the fire with blankets but finding the lounge very combustible had to throw that out of the window, which they did without hesitation, notwithstanding it was a mass of flames.

"They were both severely burned and Dr. White had to be called in to alleviate their sufferings.

"Damage to the house and furniture was not heavy."

A FIGHT FOR A GIRL.

Rivals Enter the Fistic Arena and the Victor Carries off the Damsel.

On Thursday evening a fight occurred at the corner of Charlotte and Park streets which created amusement for quite a number of spectators.

A well known young man was walking in company with another young fellow's best girl. And, as fate would have it, he ran up against the other fellow at the spot mentioned.

The lonely swain would not stand being slighted in this manner and challenged his rival to a fistic duel. They both entered the ring and for fifteen minutes struggled for the victory and for temporary possession of the fair damsel. At the end of fifteen minutes the slighted young man had the best of the fight. He claimed the victory and also claimed the girl, who stood aside watching with keen interest the issue of the contest. She was quite content to walk off with the winner.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, March 7th.

At the police court this morning several cases occupied the attention of the Magistrate.

Thomas Coursey was charged with being disorderly in a house on Simcoe street. It seems that in company with some other fellows he called at a certain hotel, and after a while a quarrel ensued. P. C. Adams was called down and arrested Coursey. He was fined $2 and costs.

John James Fletcher Peacock McDonough again figured at the Police Court, this time, however, as plaintiff. He charged a hotel-keeper with assault. Although it was shown that McDonough had made himself very obnoxious to the defendant, still an assault had been committed and the lowest penalty was imposed, namely $2 fine. McDonough is said to be a "whisky informer" and therefore his presence is not relished in any respectable hotel. He has a record on file at the Toronto Police Court.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Norman Pichey, of London, has been visiting friends in town.

Mr. E. J. Hartley gives an exhibition of fancy skating at Bethany this evening.

Miss S. Collings and Miss L. Gunsolus, have returned to town after a month's pleasant visit to friends in Bobcaygeon.

Mr. C. B. Routley has sufficiently recovered from his recent severe illness to be able to attend to business for a few hours each day.

Mrs. McGillivray, wife of Mr. J. A. McGillivray, Q. C., M. P., Uxbridge, is in town visiting Mrs. (Rev.) A. Clarke, Stewart street.

The Millbrook Reporter says.—Walter Collins left on Monday morning to accept a position in the Bank of Commerce, Peterborough. Walter will be missed by a large circle of warm friends, not only among the younger class, with whom he was very popular, but the older ones also cannot but be sorry that he has left our midst. With the sporting boys in curling and cricketing he will have left a gap not easily filled, and the young ladies may be expected to drop a tear on account of his absence from lawn tennis and all social circles. But it is the inevitable destiny of the young to cut loose and sail out on the sea of life and we wish Walter every success, in his new position.

For Sweet Charity's Sake.

A charity concert was held last evening at the residence of Mr. Thomas Rutherford, by his daughter, assisted by a number of other young ladies living in the neighbourhood. A most pleasing programme consisting of vocal and instrumental selections was presented, and the funds realized were devoted to assisting a poor family in whom the young ladies had become interested.

S. Patrick's Day Concert.

At the grand concert in the Opera House, on March 17th, Mr. Jos. A. Devlin, B.A., B.Sc., B.C.L., will deliver a lecture on "Ireland, its Patriotism and its Future." Prof. Mounteer will give recitations; Mr. T. H. Baker, Toronto, comic vocalist, and Miss Monaghan and local talent will contribute to the splendid programme. Admission 25c. and 50c. SONS OF ENGLAND.

Next week, beginning with Monday, Peterborough will be honoured with the visit of the Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England Benefit Society, and in the name of our citizens The Examiner extends a most cordial welcome. Peterborough is paid a practical compliment in being selected as the annual meeting place of so important a body, and it is also important that we should as a town, while discharging to the fullest measure the duties of hospitality, create as good an impression as possible. It is expected that there will be in town some two hundred delegates, and as these are representative men, the best doubtless that could be selected from the membership of the order in the towns in which the respective lodges are situated, it is to be assumed that the delegates present will be in every way representative of the best citizenship of the Dominion, and the impressions they take away with them will no doubt have, in the future, an important practical bearing upon the relations that will hereafter exist between Peterborough and the places they represent. Delegates are expected here from every part of the Dominion—from the farthest east to the ultimate west; and some of the other colonies may send delegates. At the last meeting of the Grand Lodge there were representatives present from distant India. In view of the important character of the representation of the Sons of England which will peaceably invade our town next week, special efforts should be made to render their stay agreeable and productive of pleasant memories to look back upon when home is reached. No doubt the civic authorities, headed by the Mayor, himself an Englishman, will extend the freedom of the town to the visitors. But that is not all that is required. Our business men should also co operate and put their premises in the most attractive garb possible, so that our commercial activities as well as possibilities may result in the visitors carrying away a good report. It would seem that the Board of Trade might take advantage of the opportunity of bringing to the notice of our visitors the unrivalled manufacturing resources of the town, a course that might in the future result in practical benefit.

We have no doubt that all grades and nationalities of our citizenship will vie with each other in extending the warmest courtesies to the visitors with whom they may come in contact, so that in all capacities our guests representing old England's hearts of oak may feel that they have had a royal welcome in Peterborough, of which they will long have pleasant memories and feel that the first town of the first colony of the first empire on earth has a warm corner in its breast for sons of the great heart of that Empire—England.

A PLEASANT EVENT.

A Former Peterborough Citizen's Success in the United States.

Under the above heading the Beaver Falls, Pa., Daily Tribune of Feb. 19th, has the following in reference to a former resident of Peterborough, J. P. Armstrong, brother of Mr. Geo. Armstrong, at Mr. J. C. Turnbull's, and who formerly was employed with Mr. M. McFadden:—

"At the prayer meeting at the First M. E. church last evening, Rev. J. B. Risk in a short address, appropriate to the occasion, presented J. P. Armstrong with a beautiful gold watch, as a gift from his friends in the church and town.

During Mr. Armstrong's stay in this town he has been very active in church work, and the gift which he received last evening speaks of the high esteem in which he is held by his friends. In a few well chosen words Mr. Armstrong responded to this address and expressed his gratitude to the donors. The beautiful gift is appreciated not only for its material value but also for the good will which prompted its bestowal.

The event was a happy one to all concerned and the memory of it is most pleasant."

The same paper the following day says.—J. P. Armstrong, who has been secretary of the Y. M. C. A. since June 13, 1895 will leave to-morrow afternoon for Chicago where he will enter the Moody Institute, to take up studies preparatory to entering the gospel ministry.

During his residance in this town Mr. Armstrong has made many friends, who will be sorry to see him leave. He has been a conscientious and efficient officer, and during his administration the work of the association has been very successful. The membership of the association has been doubled during the last eight months and the attendance at the rooms and at the gospel meetings has greatly increased.

Mr. Armstrong leaves this town with the best wishes of his many friends for a successful career in the future.

ST. MARK'S CHOIR.

The Members of it are Hospitably Entertained—Pleasant Evening's Outing.

The choir of the Mark street Methodist church have been twice entertained lately by hospitable friends. Two weeks ago on the invitation of Miss Eva Weir, one of the members, they were taken to the home of Mr. F. Weir, and spent a very pleasant evening.

Last evening the choir was again entertained. This time at the home of Mr. Joshua Smithson in Zion neighbourhood.

The choir and a few of their friends, to the number of twenty-five, were taken to Mr. Smithson's and given an oyster supper.

The evening, on both occasions was pleasantly passed in social amusements, and in the rendering of an impromptu programme. Much credit is due to the friends who so kindly entertained the choir.

SOMERVILLE VS. PETERBOROUGH.

Appeal Abandoned by the Plaintiffs' Solicitors.

It will be remembered by our readers that a suit was recently disposed of in which the Township of Somerville, and practically the County of Victoria, endeavoured to compel the County of Peterborough to assist in the maintenance and rebuilding of the Kinmount Bridge.

The action was tried at the fall assizes at Lindsay, and judgment was reserved. Subsequently Mr. Justice Meredith gave judgment dismissing the plaintiffs' action and relieving the County of Peterborough from any liability.

From this decision the Township of Somerville appealed to the Divisional Court, and the argument was set down for a hearing next week, but the plaintiffs' solicitors have given notice of having abandoned the appeal.

The County of Victoria or Township of Somerville will now have to repair and maintain the Kinmount Bridge and pay Peterborough County's costs.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." Jacob Wilcox, St. Thomas, Ontario.

BIFFS VERSUS NIFFS.

Young Ladies Have an Exciting Game of Hockey.

A lively, interesting, exciting and most unique game of hockey was played on the Charlotte street rink ice, yesterday, between the hours of six and seven.

The opposing teams were composed of young ladies—the Biffs and the Niffs, comprising the most skilful of the young lady skaters who patronize the rink.

Unfortunately the doors were closed against the public and, therefore, all but a favoured few were debarred from the pleasure of witnessing the game, which was replete with graceful play and most creditable rushes. The young ladies certainly showed the result of having closely observed the different games which have been played here, and displayed a most thorough knowledge of the game and seemed to be well posted on all the points and tricks resorted to by players of the sterner sex. The two teams were composed as follows:—

Niffs.		Biffs.
Miss L Hall	goal	Miss B Connal
Miss M Bradburn	point	Miss A Hall
Miss Pearl Lundy	cover point	Miss Holdsmith
Miss A McHain	Forwards	Miss B Menzies
Miss M Cook	Forwards	Miss M Hall
Miss N McKee	Forwards	Miss K Ferguson

The two teams were evenly matched and during the hour's play each side scored three goals. The young ladies who participated are quite enthused over hockey and the probability is that during the rest of the season many pleasant games will be enjoyed.

Ladies' Hockey clubs have been formed in a number of the towns and cities in Ontario and the pastime is found to be a most healthy one, taking the place, most acceptably, of lawn tennis, when that game is out of season. The custom is for the gentlemen players to use the left hand only in playing matches against the young ladies, and the left-handers are often "left."

PLATE GLASS MILLINERY ROOMS.

Miss Rudkins' New Millinery, Mantle and Dress Making Quarters in the Crystal Block Nearly Ready for Opening.

Miss Rudkins' new, commodious and well lighted show rooms, which have been in process of preparation for the past month, are now nearly ready for the inspection of the ladies. Occupying, as they do, the whole of the second story of the Crystal Block, with its plate glass front on George street, extending the full width of two double stores, the situation of these show rooms might be said to be second to none in Peterborough.

The show rooms over Miss Rudkins' dry good store is occupied by the millinery department. Here workmen have been busy fitting up the premises in a attractive manner and putting in new, neat and appropriate furnishings. The floors have been laid with oilcloth, and new mirrors, lace curtains, portiers and other hangings combine to give a very effective appearance to these attractive quarters.

A large portion of Miss Rudkins' new spring millinery stock has already been received and opened out, and it is not too much to say that the display, when fully arranged, will be well worthy the attention of those ladies desirous of seeing the decrees of fashion up to date.

Miss Rudkins has been fortunate in securing as head milliner, Miss Teggert, of Toronto, late under engagement with Messrs. McKendry & Co., of that city. This lady was also assistant principal trimmer for the splendid display at the spring millinery opening of Messrs. S. F. McKinnon & Co., which took place recently in Toronto. Miss Teggert comes highly recommended by both these well-known firms. She was the recipient of a substantial token of Mrs. McKendry's appreciation of her valuable services and of the respect in which she was held by the ladies of this firm. The Methodist Sunday School, of which she was a zealous worker, also made her a suitable presentation on leaving for Peterborough.

The dress and mantle making rooms in connection with Miss Rudkins' business is situated on the same story, immediately over the dry goods store of Mr. W. W. Johnston. This department is, as formerly, under the careful management of the Misses McConnell and Wall. The show rooms occupy the well lighted front portion of these cheerful quarters, with fitting and work rooms situated in the rear.

Entrances to and from the different departments are very convenient, and the privacy and comfort afforded reflects great credit on the sagacity, foresight and enterprise of Miss Rudkins.

SONS OF ENGLAND SUPREME GRAND LODGE.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE RECEPTION OF THE DELEGATES.

The Programme Arranged for the Occasion—A Church Service in St. John's With the Band in Attendance—A Special Form of Worship Prepared—The Reception.

It is expected that a number of delegates to the meeting of the Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England Benefit Society, which assembles in Peterborough on Monday next, will begin to arrive this evening.

It is expected that 200 delegates from all parts of the Dominion will be present and the following programme will be carried out during their stay in town next week:

Programme.

MONDAY, MARCH 9TH.

AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

Arrival of Supreme Grand Lodge Officers.
Meeting of Committee on General Purposes at Court House.

TUESDAY, MARCH 10TH.

FRIDAY, MARCH 13TH.

Session of Supreme Grand Lodge at Court House (if required.)

The headquarters of the Supreme Executive will be at the Huffman House and the delegates will be lodged at the Croft House, Grand Central, Huffman House, Morgan House, Oriental Hotel and Snowden House.

The Entertainment Committee is composed as followed:

Bro. T H Martin ..... D D G P
" E A Peck ..... W P
" Rev H Symonds, M A ..... Chaplain
" D Curtis ..... P P
" W Saxby ..... P P
" G Carpenter ..... P P
" W Taylor .....
" G K Martin .....

T H Martin, chairman. G K Martin, Hon Sec.

The holding of a church service is a new innovation in the history of S. O. E. Grand Lodge meetings, but appears to be a most commendable feature to introduce. The delegates will march to church headed by the band of the local lodge. A special form of service has been prepared by the chaplain, Rev. Bro. H. Symonds, M.A., and special music has also been arragned for the occasion. The band will assist the choir in the church service.

The non-commissioned officers of the 57th Battalion have kindly extended the freedom of their mess rooms to the visiting delegates, and on every hand is evidenced the strongest desire to make the visit of the delegates to Peterborough a pleasant and memorable one. It is unfortunate in this connection that there is no street car service to enable the visitors a better opportunity of being favourably impressed with the town.

A capital programme has been prepared for the smoking concert on Wednesday evening, and it is expected to be of a most interesting and amusing, as well as musical character. Amongst those contributing to the programme will be a number of the visitors, who have more than local reputations in this line of entertainment.

The big reception on Thursday night will be in charge of the ladies. We understand that Lansdowne Lodge has secured a large amount of space in the block in which their apartments are situated, and the decorations for the occasion will be profuse. The Court House is also being decorated for the business sessions of the order.

The list of speakers for the Thursday night reception is not yet fully completed, but it is understood that in addition to the Supreme Grand officers the members of the Local and Dominion Houses of Parliament are expected to make addresses. Other speakers will also be present on behalf of sister organizations. Remarks will also be made by prominent professional and business men of the town.

Col. Prior, M.P., a prominent member of the order in British Columbia, was expected to be in attendance at the meeting, but will be unable to leave the House on account of the discussion on the Remedial Order now being on.

Far Nova Scotia has asked Rev. H. Symonds to act as her proxy and delegate at the meeting of the Supreme Grand Lodge.

BIG BARGAINS IN BOOTS AND SHOES.

John McNaughton's Stock Reduced to Irresistible Prices.

Mr. John McNaughton intends leaving town on March 20th, and before that time his stock of boots and shoes must be cleared out to save removal. To do this prices are made that cannot be resisted. As a sample, ladies button boots will be sold for 50 cents, and the same kind of reduced prices will apply to all the other stock. The stock must be cleared, so come to the corner of Bethune and Sherbrooke streets and get your bargains in boots and shoes.

The finals in the Kendry Cup series were played off last evening between rinks skipped by Messrs. Sam Ray and J. Connal, and after a close contest resulted in a victory for Skip Ray and his men by three shots. This is the second rink which Mr. Ray has skipped to victory this winter, as he won the single rink competition here in the big bonspeil last month. The rinks last evening were composed as follows:

W E Lech,	R Kerr,
G N Brown,	J W Wylie,
Jno Stanger,	E Rutherford,
S Ray, skip 15	J Connal, skip 12

The Kendry cup will now pass into Skip Ray's possession until the close of next season.

A scratch match was played last evening with the following result:

F D McKay,	Dr Greer,
W H Meredith,	H A Hay,
Jno McClelland,	H Snowden,
J S Knapman, skip..12	A Blade, skip 6

Mr. J. S. Knapman to-day received a letter from Mr. J. C. Harstone, of the Lindsay club, asking if arrangements can not be made for a twelve rink match to take place between Lindsay and Peterborough—six rinks playing in each town. The proposition will be brought before the two local clubs immediately and the match will in all probability be arranged.

HOCKEY.

The Printers and Clothiers play Hockey on Monday evening next at 10 p. m.

The Printers have accepted the challenge of the Hardware men for a game on Wednesday evening at 10 p. m.

The Norwood Colts play the Collegiate Institute team here on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Buffers and Duffers met at the rink, last night, to play their return match, and a big crowd was in attendance to see the fun. The game was fully as hysterically ludicrous as anticipated, and the old rink rang again with the laughter of the spectators. The match was not as evenly contested as was expected, on account of the town playing a ringer in the person of Sam Ewing, of the town club. With this one exception none of the participants have done any practicing. The teams were composed as follows:—

Duffers.		Buffers.
J Blaine	goal	Guy
J Begley	point	Chas Calcutt
W H Bradburn	cover point	Harry Nell
H R H Kenner	forwards	R M Glover
Geo J Hopkins	forwards	Alf Ferrill
S Ewing	forwards	R H Hartley
R A Hay	forwards	Scott

Referee—Carese LeBrun.

The game ended in a score of 13 to 7 in favour of the Buffers, but the Duffers have protested the game on the ground that Goalkeeper Blaine moved the sticks of his goal in too close together. The referee has taken the evidence in the matter, and announced that Jimmy played "crooked." The game therefore will be played over again.

THE WHEEL.

Quebec is straining every nerve in the effort to land the big C. W. A. meet on the first of July, and Peterborough, to win the race, must leave no stone unturned. The membership of the local club, this year, is not quite up to the mark and so canvassers will start out on Monday, soliciting subscriptions, and the intention is, if possible, to run the membership up to about six or seven hundred. The manifold advantages which would accrue to the town from the holding of the meet here are well known to the citizens and therefore it should only be necessary to mention the fact that subscriptions are needed in order to have all loosen their purse strings.

HOW A HOME WAS LOST.

THE BITTER EXPERIENCE OF MR ELWOOD, SR., OF SIMCOE.

Attacked With Neuralgia of the Limbs He Became Helpless and Suffered Intense Agony—Spent His Home in Doctoring With Specialists Without Avail—Dr. Williams Pink Pills Come to the Rescue When Other Means Have Failed

From the Simcoe Reformer.

The many virtues of Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People have so often been published in the columns of this paper, that they are widely known to the residents of Norfolk county, and it is as widely conceded that they have brought joy into more than one household, and their merits are spoken of only in words of praise. In this instance the facts are brought directly home to the residents of Simcoe, a gentleman who is glad to testify to the benefit he has received from the use of these pills, being a resident of this town. Mr. Wm. Elwood, sr., a resident of Simcoe for about two years, and for years a resident of Fort Erie, a carpenter by trade, is loud in his praise of the benefits he derived from the use of Pills. In an interview with Mr. Elwood, that gentleman told the Reformer that about eight years ago he was attacked with ulcerated catarrh of the head and throat and was obliged to quit work, and since that time has not been able to resume his calling. The disease shortly after he was taken ill, developed into neuralgia of the lower limbs, from which he suffered terrible agony. During his long illness the services of specialists in both Toronto and Buffalo, as well as those of local physicians both in his former home and Simcoe, were called into requisition, but all to no purpose. So bad did he become, and so great were the pains that shot through his limbs, that at times Mr. Elwood had to be held down on his couch. His stomach and bowels were seriously affected, and he was indeed in a deplorable condition. About a year ago he lost the use of his left foot and ankle, and was unable to walk around his home without great difficulty. At one time Mr. Elwood was possessed of a good home, but so long was he ill that he spent all his property in the hope of regaining his health. Last fall Mr. Elwood commenced taking Pink Pills and shortly after he began to feel an improvement in his condition. He continued the use of pills until he had taken thirteen boxes when he regained the use of his foot and ankle and thought he was about cured and discontinued their use. So long had he been a sufferer, however, that it was impossible for him to come convalescent in so short a time. An attack of the grip again brought on the disease, but not by any means so terrible as formerly. Mr. Elwood again commenced taking the pills and is fast regaining his former health and feels certain that the Pink Pills will exterminate all traces of disease from his system. He feels so gratified at what the pills have done for him that he gladly gave the information to the Reformer for publication in the hope that his experience may be a benefit to some other sufferer.

"WAS UNABLE TO WALK AROUND."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excess, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure.

Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schnectady, N.Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

REBELS IN THE ARMY

No Longer Shows a Solid Front in the United States.

MANY WITH BALLINGTON BOOTH

And Will Join the New Religious Movement—The Syracuse Corps and Auxiliaries Leave the Institution—No Transfer of Funds Has Yet Been Made.

New York, March 5.—The Salvation Army no longer presents a solid front. There are serious defections towards the new religious movement to be led by Ballington Booth and his wife.

The movement received impetus last night at Sea Cliffe, when the local corps there, the first to rebel against Gen. Booth, held a rousing meeting independent of army authority. The seceders yesterday telegraphed Ballington Booth assuring him of their devotion to him and offering to take any steps he might suggest. A telegram to Commissioner Eva Booth at the same time severed all connection with the international army.

The Commander replied, asking Capt. Peake to take charge of the corps. "Not for Ballington Booth, but for God."

The meeting at night was held in barracks just rented. The lieutenant formerly in charge called a meeting at the house of Robert Greeves, a soldier, but the corps attended Capt. Peake's meeting in a body. The secessionists cheered rousingly when the change was announced and an outline of the Commander's plans given.

The statement that the movement would probably have a new name, and that the red jersey would be abandoned, was loudly cheered. It was declared that no further mention would be made of the differences, but that the work would be carried on along old lines and with renewed power.

Meetings will be held each night. Capt. Williams, who was in charge of the corps when it rebelled, and who resigned from the army, is expected to Sea Cliffe to-day.

A despatch from Syracuse says that at a meeting of the Auxiliary League there speeches were made denouncing Cols. Eadie and Nicoll and Eva and Herbert Booth for their action towards Commander and Mrs. Booth. Six leading clergymen participated.

There were 32 resignations from the league, and a letter was drawn up offering Ballington Booth free for one year a hall in the principal street, having a seating capacity of 1000.

It was announced that the local Army corps had refused longer to obey orders from headquarters, and, with the approval of the meeting, a letter was sent Col. Eadie asking him to resign and go back to England. A collection, amounting to $1200, was taken up to be forwarded to Commander Booth.

The despatch declares that a revolt is in progress that Staff Captain and Mrs. McFarland can do nothing to stop. Capt. and Mrs. Geddes, Capt. Todd, Ensign Allen and Lieut. Russell have resigned, and the greater part of the local contingent will follow, it is predicted.

Corps No. 2 of the Army at Newark yesterday took a definite stand against international headquarters by refusing to sell The War Cry. In addressing the Newark band last night, Staff Capt. Patty Watkins, one of the most influential members of the Army in America, said:

"I am a Salvationist at heart and always will be. A great many people have asked me whether I have been dismissed. Oh, they won't dismiss me in a hurry. Anyway, I have not resigned. And they know at headquarters full well I am a friend of Commander Booth, solely and distinctly." Capt. Watkins said the one great sorrow of her life was that she had not been born in this country.

Rev. Amory H. Bradford of the First Congregational Church of Montclair, has resigned as a member of the Army Auxiliary, because of sympathy for Ballington Booth.

Commander and Mrs. Booth, their attorney and Staff Capt. Craft, Financial Secretary of the Salvation Army, conferred yesterday at Montclair on the subject of the transfer to Commissioner Eva Booth of the Army funds held by Ballington Booth. The transfer was not consummated owing to the difficulty of adjusting the liabalities.

A conference will be held Friday between Ballington Booth and Brigadier Perry, who is in charge of the real property of the Army, with reference to the steps necessary to turn over the real estate held in the name of Ballington Booth to the Army.

Commissioner Carlton, head of the English Salvation Army's banking and insurance department, will arrive at headquarters to-day to help straighten out matters.

KIDNEY TROUBLE.

The Bane of Millions of Lives, Can be Cured.

The diseases that we so dread do not come upon us at one step. They are a matter of growth. The sad news is only too common of friends who have died of Bright's disease, diabetes and kindred complaints. It is known that in the system of thousands exists the seeds that in short time will develop into these dread maladies. Disease of the kidneys in its mildest form never stands still. The warning is worth heeding that efforts should be promptly taken to eradicate the slightest symptoms of kidney disease, and in South American Kidney Cure is found a sure and safe remedy for every form of kidney trouble. Whether chronic, incipient or in some of the distressing phases so well known, it proves an effective, and, what is pleasing to know, a ready and quick cure. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

A CLOSE SHAVE

A TALK WITH THE MAN WHO EXPERIENCED IT.

People really do not know how often the angel of death hovers over them. Mr. R. P. Watkins, 173 Bay st., is a barber by trade, and gave our representative this short history of his escape from the disorder which was rapidly carrying him to his grave. Mr. Watkins is a skillful and experienced man, and is now enabled to exercise his skill from morning till night, where before he was unable to regularly follow his chosen calling. This is Mr. Watkins' story as related by himself.

"For over three years I have been troubled with what the doctors said was Bright's Disease, was getting rapidly worse, and could scarcely attend to my business. My ankles were swollen, the pain and heat in my back were almost unbearable, the urine was of a dark wine color, and it used to dribble away continually. I had to rise 9 or 10 times each night to void the urine, and consequently lost nearly all my sleep. The scalding heat and pain in passing the urine were painful and distressing beyond my feeble power to describe. People who did not know my trouble used to laugh at my frequent visits to the urinal. My hands and feet were always cold and clammy, and I suffered severely from palpitation, shortness of breath, and was, in fact, almost a total wreck. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills from Messrs. E. Hooper & Co., and improved at once. I have used two boxes and feel like a new man; can now work right along and at 12 p.m. feel like working right ahead. Had I not got those pills I feel that I would not have been working to-day. My words only faintly express the dreadful condition I was in, and the wonderful cure made by Doan's Kidney Pills."

What Fools We Mortals Be.

A few days ago, says The London Gentleman, a man walking on one of the most fashionable streets of Paris came across a lost dog. It was a small toy tarrier, and was clad in an elaborate coat trimmed with costly furs. In this coat was a tiny pocket containing a handkerchief bordered with exquisite lace, a worked monogram and a coronet. Around the dog's neck was a gold and jeweled bangle, and his coat was fastened by a broach blazing with rubies and diamonds. This reads like a very foolish fairy tale, doesn't it? And yet it is the truth, as those who know their Paris well will easily understand. It is quite the fashion among the pretty and smart women of Paris to get up their pet dogs in expensive and elaborate costumes, to cover them with jewels, to engrave cards with their names, and to drench their trembling little bodies with the newest and most pungent perfumes.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. Worry and work and care and anxiety count for nothing against the smoothly dainty, clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Nothing equals that — nothing compensates for the loss of it. The woman who has not borne a child has never come to the real fullness of womanhood. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It serves but one purpose. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates. Thousands of homes have been made happy by its use. Thousands of letters like this one from Mrs. W. P. Cain, of Clinton, Allegheny Co., Pa., who writes: "I was affected with all sorts of female trouble. I tried three doctors, and seven kinds of patent medicine, and found no relief. My husband said 'try Dr. Pierce's medicine.' I told him I might as well throw his money in the fire as to try anything more. I had lost all hope. I had not taken more than half a bottle, when I could eat and sleep well. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and several vials of his 'Pellets.' One year after I gave birth to a fine baby girl. I got along so much better than when my other child was born. Three of my friends are taking your medicines, and are improving." Yours truly.

ON JANUARY 1, 1901.

WILL THE DAWN OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FIRST OPEN.

What Scientists Have to Say About the Beginning of the New Era It will Start Somewhere in the Middle of the Pacific Ocean.

Although the end of the 19th century is still almost five years distant, people who like to calculate queer things have been busy for some time trying to definitely fix upon the date when the 20th century commences. This in itself is not a hard thing to work out, but these people who like to conduct an argument have also been debating the question as to what part of the globe welcomes the oncoming century first. That is, on what portion of the globe does the light of the 20th century first shine?

The 20th century commences at midnight of December 31, 1900, and the first day is thus the first of January, 1901. The day commences far out in the Pacific ocean, on some of the small islands located on the 180th degree of longitude west or east of Greenwich. Starting from this point, as the earth revolves, the dawn of the new era passes on over Australia, Asia, the Dark Continent, enlightened Europe, and, last of all, it reaches America and the United States.

This is the statement as put forward by Prof. Simon Newcomb of the Naval Observatory, who, says the Washington Post, is probably one of the best-informed mathematicians in the world. No doubt many people will prefer to work out the problem to their own satisfaction, which may be at variance with the opinion of the scientists, but that will not affect the reckoning of the calculators who make up the almanacs. In the opinion of the greater public, the 20th century commences on the first of January, 1900, but this is not so.

To arrive at the correct conclusion, it is only necessary to go back, century by century to the end of the first one. A century is composed of just 100 years, and it is obvious that the second one cannot commence until the first is completed. The first century did not end until the last day of the 100th year, December 31, A.D., 100. Consequently, the second century commenced January 1, 101, the third century on the same day, 201, and so on down to the 20th century, which thus commences January 1, 1901.

The arguments of those who persist in saying that the century commences on January 1, 1900, are based on the common idea, that as soon as the figures 18 disappear from the date, all connection with that century is at an end. The fallacy of that argument, however, is apparent to any one after a moment's thought, and it is easy to see that even though a year does bear the number 19, it still is a part of the 19th century.

It seems strange to speak of any particular part of the globe as welcoming the 20th century first, yet that is just the way it is considered by scientists. Since it is not midnight all at once over the earth, it must follow that it is midnight somewhere before it is midnight at other places. Just where this mythical spot is where days really commence cannot be told for the reason that no one knows on just what part of the earth light first shone when it was commenced. "Let there be light."

The division of days might be compared to a certain point on the rim of a wheel that at each revolution passes some stationary point in space. The division of time into days is with us simply the passing of the point where we live, past the sun, and since from time immemorial the earth has been revolving, no one is able to say just what part of the earth the sun shone on first, although it is apparent from the structure of both that it evidently did shine on one side before it became visible to the inhabitants of the other side.

Since it is impossible to tell just where the machine started, scientists in reckoning have found that they would have to designate a spot, which should be universally recognized, where the days might change with convenience and dispatch. As soon, therefore, as the constant flow of light which causes the day has passed all around the earth once and comes back to its starting point, it is immediately christened a day in advance. This point has been fixed by universal agreement at the 180th degree from the observatory at Greenwich, outside of London, and is just half way around the world from this point.

This line runs due north through the Pacific ocean. New Zealand is the nearest civilized country to it, and lies a little to the west of the line. It will, therefore, be the first place where the civilized people will come into touch with the new century, and if the people of that faraway country have a due sense of the honor that is fast coming to them they will make ready to receive it with a royal welcome. At any rate, Americans will receive the era of coming women and bloomers fully 16 hours behind the doughty denizens of the Pacific.

Australia will get the century a little ahead of the government which reigns over it, and the Chinese will come in for their share about the same time. India will be a few hours behind time, and six hours after the dawn of the new century the first rays will shine over Paris and London.

A dreary trip of several more hours and Sandy Hook and New York city will be passed as milestones on the path of the procession. The century will strike out boldly across the Pacific to Honolulu. In a short time it will have returned to its starting point in the Fiji Islands, and the day on which the eyes of the whole world were concentrated, will then pass over the same route again, as the insignificant 2nd of January.

Merry Students.

Assistant Principal Scott was lecturing to the Normal School students this week. In referring to the costermongers and hucksters who peddle in the old country, he said their carts are drawn by donkeys and added: "I can see them before me now." It was some moments before he understood why a shout of merriment went forth from the 120 students.

WORK OF A SINGLE DAY.

Some Startling Facts Concerning the Action of the Heart.

Do people recognize the immense work transacted by the heart in a single day? It equals that of lifting one hundred and fifty pounds to the height of thirty-three hundred feet. And yet, knowingly, or through ignorance, nine out of ten people abuse this hardest worked organ of the body. There is nothing remarkable in the fact that heart failure and apoplexy are among the most prevalent diseases of the day. Happily a remedy is found in Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, which gives relief instantly. This medicine should be kept in every house, so that on the slightest indication of heart trouble it may be taken. It has saved, by its prompt and efficient work, the lives of thousands of Canadians. AN ELECTION LYRIC.

He's a poli—politician,
And the office is his mission.
No matter its condition—
If the door has tumbled down
And the rotten roof is leaking
And the staggering stairs are creaking,
For that office he'll go speaking
From every stump in town.

It's not the profit in it—
Not the cash by day or minute
That makes him fight to win it—
For he doesn't care a rap
For the dollars it is paying—
It is just the joy of braying
And ecstatically saying:
"I have whipped the other chap!"

And for this in country places
He will pat the children's faces—
Say the old maid's full o' graces
And gets younger day by day!
And when snugly placed you wonder
How he rends all ties asunder—
Tells the world to go to thunder!
(That's the politician's way.)

FOR TIRED FEELING.

Exhaustion is Waste—Overwork Means Shorter Life—Dodd's Kidney Pill Mean Rest for the Kidneys.

Overwork is what you do after common sense asks you to quit.

Overwork of any kind does more than tire, it exhausts you.

Just a little more after you ought to quit is the "too much" that uses you up.

The blood goes out to all parts faster than usual when you overwork.

If the kidneys are not in perfect filtering order, more poison is injected through them to all parts of the body than usual, and then work to say nothing of overwork, is harmful.

As soon as your kidneys commence doing good work there is less and less poison in the blood every minute.

This explains why Dodd's Kidney Pills cure so promptly and permanently.

Norway Pine Syrup cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, etc.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

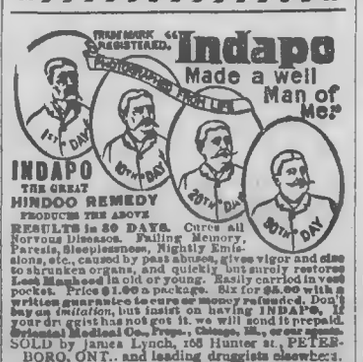
Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam cures coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

Just spend his Four Quarters for a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters as all sensible people do; because it cures Dyspepsia, Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Bad Blood, and all Diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Blood from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.



RESULTS in 30 DAYS. Cures all Nervous Diseases. Failing Memory, Pests, Sleeplessness, Nightly Emissions, etc., caused by past abuses, gives vigor and size to shrunken organs, and quickly but surely restores Lost Manhood in old or young. Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.

New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business in Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894 . . . . . $24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared . . . $8,041,000

or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

ADDRESS TO MR. G. W. MULLIGAN.

His Westwood Pupils Bear Testimony to His Abilities.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan closed his class for the season at Westwood last night, but before the pupils were dismissed for the last time they presented him with the following complimentary address :

DEAR MR. MULLIGAN—As you are about leaving us for the present, we, the pupils of your singing class, in order to show our appreciation of your services as teacher during the last three months, wish to say, that it is with feelings of deepest gratitude we extend to you our most sincere thanks for the great interest you have taken in us, for the patience you have had with us, and for the extreme kindness with which you have always treated us. We have always found you an earnest, painstaking and and trustworthy teacher, who always had the best interests of your pupils at heart. Since your stay with us you have formed ties of friendship and love with your pupils, and people in and around Westwood, which we hope and trust will be permanent and lasting. We all unite in hoping you may be successful in all your future undertakings, that your life may be long and useful, and that in the near future we may again have the pleasure of having you in our midst.

THE PAIN LEFT QUICKLY.

Rheumatism of Seven Years' Standing Cured in a Few Days.

I have been a victim of rheumatism for seven years, being confined to bed for months at a time, unable to turn myself. I have been treated by many physicians in this part of the country, none of whom benefitted me. I had no faith in rheumatic cures advertised, but my wife induced me to get a bottle of South American Rheumatic Cure from Mr. Taylor, druggist, Owen Sound. At the time I was suffering agonizing pain, but inside of twelve hours after I took the first dose the pain left me. I continued until I took three bottles, and I consider I am completely cured. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites for Throat and Lung Troubles.

Perfectly well established is the value of cod liver oil in the various diseases of the air passages, and combined with maltine and the hypophosphites, its remedial value is vastly enhanced. In the elegant and palatable preparation, Maltine with Cod Liver Oil, are combined the valuable tissue building oil, and that sustainer of vitality and digestive, maltine. No emulsion can compare in remedial value with this preparation, for in addition to disguising the unpleasant taste of the oil and rendering it more easily digested, the maltine plays a most important part in maintaining adequately the process of nutrition so essential in wasting and pulmonary diseases. This it does by rendering the starchy foods in a form which assures its assimilation, with the result that emaciation gives way speedily to plumpness, the irritated bronchial tubes are soothed, rest grows natural and health becomes an assured fact. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is a food, medicine and digestive.

THAT "KOOTENAY" WILL CURE CATARRH.

Read the Sworn Statement of Three of Hamilton's Citizens.

Dominion of Canada, County of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, to wit:

I, William G. Cox, of the City of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, flour and feed merchant, at 374 King street west, in said city, do solemnly declare and say that it affords me great pleasure to add my testimony as to the wonderful properties of "KOOTENAY CURE" for catarrh, with which I have been troubled for fully ten years. I tried almost every advertised medicine for this disease, but without success until I began taking Ryckman's "KOOTENAY CURE," in October, 1895, and found after following the directions closely, that it has exceeded my most sanguine expectations, and relieved me from all of the unpleasant symptoms of the disease. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one thus afflicted, and feel confident that if its use is persevered in for a reasonable time, and directions faithfully observed, that it will lead to a positive cure.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act.

(Signed) WILLIAM G. COX.

Declared before me at the city of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, this 18th day of February, A.D. 1896.

(Signed) W. FRED WALKER, Notary Public.

Dominion of Canada, County of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, to wit:

I, Margaret Sovereign, of the city of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, residence 376 King street west, do solemnly declare that I am pleased to make the following declaration: My daughter Lulu, aged 14, was troubled with catarrh for two years, and during that time her health was very poor. Our family physician was called in and pronounced her case inflammation of the lungs and catarrh. Her constitution gradually ran down, and until she commenced taking Kootenay Cure we were alarmed about her. She has now taken one bottle and a half of the medicine and has gained eleven pounds in weight, has rosy cheeks, her general health has been greatly improved, and she feels that she is being cured of catarrh.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath or by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act.

(Signed) MARGARET SOVEREIGN.

Sworn and acknowledged before me at the city of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, this 18th day of February, A.D. 1896.

(Signed) W. FRED WALKER. Notary Public.

Dominion of Canada, County of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, to wit:

I, Josephine Stuart, of the City of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, spinster, residing at 374 King street west, in said city of Hamilton, do solemnly declare and say as follows: That I have been suffering from catarrh for a period of nearly five years past; that during that time I have used various remedies, recommended for that disease, without receiving any relief for it. About two months ago, on the recommendation of a friend, I commenced to take "Kootenay Cure," and have used two bottles according to directions, and have experienced great relief. While I cannot say I am completely cured, I am satisfied am almost so, and shortly will be by the use of this medicine. I cannot too highly recommend it to all patients suffering from catarrh.

And I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada Evidence Act.

(Signed.) JOSEPHINE STUART.

Taken and acknowledged before me at the City of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, this 18th day of February, A. D., 1896.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS CURE

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 28TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc.; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line:—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

OUR DRESS-MAKING DEPARTMENT

Was re-opened for the season on Monday, the 2nd inst. and from the number of orders for Dresses and Costumes received on the opening day the coming season promises to be the busiest in our record.

The popularity of this branch of our business grows year by year. It is in charge of a lady who stands at the head of her profession and will not allow a garment to leave our store that is not fully up to order and perfect in every particular, and this is the secret of our success.

Our display of New Spring Costumes is admired by all who have seen them.

Our showing at the present time embraces all the Newest Effects up to the time of our last shipment, and our stock will be augmented from time to time as new ideas are produced.

New Spring Mantles and Capes are to hand.

The latest creations in these Garments are to be found in them. There are many changes and cuts this season that characterizes our stock, very different from what you will see elsewhere this year, and all marked at such close prices that we expect to do an enormous trade in our Ready-Made Mantle Department.

New Prints and Ginghams.

Many were the surprises to our customers last Saturday when they learned the low prices at which we were selling our New Spring Prints and Ginghams.

At 8c you can buy the loveliest range of American Prints—colours guaranteed absolutely fast.

27 inch American Ginghams, worth 15c, selling at 10c. Every piece warranted fast colours.

For 15c you can buy from us a heavy 2 yard wide Cotton Sheeting, the 20c kind.

Have you seen our Bleached Cottons? If not you are just paying perhaps 10 per cent. more for them elsewhere.

We placed on sale to-day 1 case of 12½c and 15c English Prints, to be cleared out at 8c the yard.

This line embraces some of the choicest patterns for the coming season, and were imported to sell at the former prices.

THEY MUST ALL VOTE

Some Ontario Conservatives are Very Uneasy.

WHAT THEIR EX CT POSITION IS

They Cannot Vote Against Mr. Laurier's Amendment and Save Themselves—Canada's supply of Ammunition—Some Promoters Who Ran Against a Snag in B.C.

Ottawa, March 8.—(Special.)—The situation at Ottawa remains in that condition properly described as critical, and the crisis is near at hand. The vote on Mr. Laurier's amendment to the motion for the second reading of Remedial Bill may be reached on Friday night, the end of this week. The idea which some of the antis from Ontario took possession of eagerly, that they could vote against the six months' hoist and then save themselves in the constituencies by voting no to the main motion, was exploded in this correspondence on Friday, and caused uneasiness among Messrs. McGillivray, Craig, Marshall, Wilson, Pridham, Bennett, Hughes, Smith and others who were considering the suggested compromise. May's Parliamentary authority made it clear that the six months' hoist is a complete negative and kills the bill and does not postpone it, and also proved that it is the only way of completely killing the bill. A vote against a bill, May says, can only be made effective by carrying the six months' hoist, because if the second reading is merely negatived it does not dispose of the bill, except for the day, and the bill may be proceeded with at a later stage. If, therefore, Mr. Laurier's amendment was lost and on the main motion for the second reading there was a majority against the main motion, the bill would not be killed, but might be pressed again at a later stage. Any opponent of the bill must, therefore, vote for Mr. Laurier's amendment, and all who vote against it must be classified as supporting the bill There is no other motion on which they can record their hostility to such legislation.

Messrs. Henry Allan of Glasgow and A. A. Allan of Montreal are in town, and have had interviews with Sir Chas. Tupper and Mr. Ives in reference to the fast Atlantic service. It is expected that the Allans will make a great bid for the contract for the fast line.

An enterprise which threatened to be a great rival to the Canadian Pacific Railway has probably received its quietus. The British Pacific Ry. was projected to run from Victoria, B.C., north to the head of Vancouver Island, thence across Seymour Narrows to the mainland, over the Rockies, via Yellow Head Pass, thence through the Territories to the southern boundary of Manitoba, where it would tap a United States system of railways. The promoters, who are nearly all Victoria men, had succeeded in getting the necessary capital—six millions—in London and Amsterdam, conditional on the British Columbia Government guaranteeing the bonds of the company at 4 per cent. for a term of years. To-day telegrams were received here stating that the Provincial Government refused to give the guarantee, which means that the enterprise cannot be proceeded with.

A very interesting collection of ore has been received at the Geological Survey by Dr. Dawson, director. It is a sample of auriferous ore from Johannesburg, having been taken from the Ferriera Mine at that place. The ore differs from all other that is worked for gold, and will be of special value to the geologists in the survey for the purposes of comparison. It is a conglomerate formation, highly solidified.

Capt. Gaudet, superintendent of the Quebec Cartridge Factory, who has just returned from England, is making alterations at the factory for the introduction of more 303 ammunition machinery. This ammunition question becomes more important with the adoption of a new rifle. It is said that there is but a very small quantity of 303 ball cartridge in the country, and the capacity of the one factory to turn out enough for this year's musketry instruction, etc., is doubted. Other than the addition to the present machinery, it is believed that no steps are being taken towards further augmenting the manufacturing facilities in this country, and a supply may have to be obtained from England.

As musketry instruction is to be a special feature of volunteer drill in future, those at present in training in the school for positions as instructors are expected to become more proficient in this branch that they may better teach the young idea how to shoot.

Col. W. M. Blair, superintendent of the Government experimental farm at Nappan N.S., has resigned, and will be succeeded by George W. Forrest, ex-M.L.A., and a leading farmer of Amherst. Mr. Blair, who has been superintendent of the farm since its inception in 1888, has been advised to discontinue active work for a time on account of ill-health.

Rev. Walter Witten of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church has tendered his resignation. It is a question of the church being able to sustain the present salary, which is the same as was agreed upon when Mr. Witten was first engaged, and as the pastor realizes that the church cannot carry the burden without very serious inconveniences, he has thought it wise to resign.

Ottawa is to be visited to-morrow by the colonel and 25 officers of the 21st Regiment of United States Infantry, now located at Plattsburg.

The new sawmills at Whitney, on the Parry Sound Railway, will be opened up about the middle of next month. They will have a capacity of 200,000 feet per ten hours, and will employ about 500 or 600 men steady throughout the season.

The promoters of the Kingston, Smith's Falls and Ottawa Railway will ask at the present session for an extension of time.

Rev. Dr. Snyder, J. E. Rebstosh of Crystal Beach, Welland County; J. E. Klotz, Preston; Dr. Glasgow of Welland, and others, are seeking incorporation as the International Assembly, limited, to push Crystal Beach as a summer resort and as a school of learning.

To-morrow will probably be the last private members' day this session. Mr. McNeill's motion endorsing the Hofmeyer scheme of preferential trade is the first order, and Mr. McNeill is ready to proceed with it.

Mr. Catellier, Under Secretary of State, has been granted two months' leave of absence, preparatory to his superannuation. Mr. Joseph Pope, for many years private secretary to Sir John Macdonald, will be his successor.

SALVATION ARMY WAR RAGES.

Factions Try to Transfer Property in Peace—Contest for Recruits Goes on in Many Cities.

New York, March 8.—"We are rather pleased that at last Ballington Booth has revealed his intentions to start an independent movement," said Col. Nicol of the Salvation Army yesterday. "It clears the atmosphere and is a great gain to the army. It shows the completeness of his separation from the movement which gave him such prestige in influence. He has gone the way of most ex-officers who have broken their pledge for personal considerations."

Representatives of both factions met yesterday to arrange for the formal transfer of the property held by Ballington Booth to the regular army. The deeds, however, cannot be recorded until a permanent commander for this country is appointed. Although Booth-Tucker and his wife have been named in cable orders, the necessary commissions cannot be made out and legal requirements complied with until the arrival of Gen. William Booth in London next Saturday from Bombay. He may appoint some one else. A visit of Gen. Booth to America is not improbable.

The Bowery corps, barred out of Cooper Union by Ballington Booth's determination to use the hall for his own forces Sunday night, will hold its meeting in the barracks just across the street.

Preparations are being made for a grand tour of the English officers around the country to head off the secessions to Ballington Booth's new movement. Col. Nicol will attend a conference of Mississippi Valley officers next week at Peoria, Ill. Miss Eva Booth will be in Buffalo to-morrow. Brigadier Keppel has telegraphed that the Pacific coast army is standing firm.

Ballington Booth is hard at work planning his organization and will issue an announcement in a few days. Half the corps at Orange resigned yesterday to join him. Capt Patty Watkins of Newark will resign to-morrow. All her own corps No. 1 and nearly all corps No. 2 have seceded.

Commissioner Carlton and several officers from New York made a vain attempt last night at a secret meeting in Newark to get the soldiers back in line.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballington Booth addressed an immense audience at Cooper Union to-night. It was one of the largest gatherings ever held in the building. A few minutes after the doors were opened there was not an unoccupied seat in the hall, and it is estimated that five thousand people were turned away. At 8 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Booth appeared on the stage, and the crowd fairly went wild with enthusiasm. Hats, handkerchiefs, flags, canes and bonnets were waved, and the audience cheered and shouted for fully 15 minutes without ceasing. During this time Mr. Booth stood with bowed head, while Mrs. Booth knelt in prayer.

Some one shouted: "Three cheers for our American commander." The cheers were given and for another interval of 10 minutes the crowd gave vent to its enthusiasm. Cheer after cheer was given for Mr. and Mrs. Booth.

Mr. Booth then led in prayer, and at its conclusion spoke at some length. He ended by saying: "We do not intend to enter into any battle or strife with the Salvation Army. We want no fight." Mrs. Booth spoke briefly, and was cheered enthusiastically. Mr. Booth said in an interview that the name of the new movement had not been chosen.

Buffalo, March 8.—Commissioner Eva Booth addressed crowded audiences in Music Hall afternoon and evening, in which she spoke tenderly of her brother, Ballington, while making an impassioned plea for the principles on which the Salvation Army is founded. "My position as your leader," she said, "my position as a sister of your late commander, with the strong love of sisterhood still burning in my bosom, may fain cause me to refrain from speaking one word on this painful subject, except those I could breathe in the breath of prayer when I kneel down at my Master's feet." Miss Booth will be in the city over Monday.

HOW MR. GREENWAY PUTS IT.

Does Not Think the Federal Government Can Push the Bill on to Manitoba.

Winnipeg, March 8.—(Special.)—In conversation this evening with one of his supporters in the Legislature, Premier Greenway said he had not yet been invited by the Ottawa Government to confer with them, and Mgr. Langevin on the school question, and did not expect to receive such an invitation.

Mr. Greenway further said he hoped for no good from such a conference, if it were held. The Manitoba Government has already intimated a willingness to redress any grievances which were shown after enquiry into all the facts, to exist. They would go no further. If the Federal Government and Mgr. Langevin would not accept this proposition, but consider the Remedial Bill a good thing then, he presumed, they would push it along, but he didn't think they would push it on to Manitoba.

IS IT A COALITION?

Rumors are Again Afloat in Quebec Province.

MAY SPLIT UP FEDERAL PARTIES

And Follow on the Lines Which Have Been Adopted With Success in Ontario — An Interesting Labor Union Case Being Tried at Montreal.

Montreal, March 8.—(Special.)—There is considerable excitement here in local political circles over a rumor that has received more or less credence to the effect that two members at least of the Taillon Ministry have for some time past favored a coalition with leading members of the Opposition, Hon. Felix Marchand being one of the number, for the purpose of carrying on the government of the province on non-political lines. Your correspondent has made enquiries in this matter, and it is not likely that the Ministers themselves have made any move in the direction indicated above, but it seems to be accepted by all who know anything of what is going on in the provincial capital that a good many outside, yet very influential, members of the party are moving heaven and earth to bring about such a union of forces. They hold that a man in Ontario may support Sir Oliver Mowat in provincial politics, yet, when the Dominion elections come round the same elector casts his ballot for the Liberal-Conservative Ministry. Party, they add, is ruining Quebec, and an effort is being made to run the Local Government on other than Liberal and Conservative lines.

Your correspondent has, however, been informed that Hon. Mr. Taillon and a good number of his supporters are totally opposed to any such change in the administration of public affairs.

A case will be pleaded here on the 15th of the month before the Court of Appeals that cannot but interest the whole Dominion. This is the now cause celebre of Perrault v. the Stonecutters' Union. Mr. Phileas Lanctot representing the plaintiff, while Messrs. Geoffrion and Auge, Q.C.'s, represent the defence. Mr. Perrault, who did not see fit to join the society in question, was a good workman, had splendid certificates from his patrons, and, although formerly he had no trouble in earning from $3 to $3.50 per day, work was now refused him by the city contractors, who were threatened with a boycott by members of the union. Finding it impossible to work at his trade, Perrault went to quarry stone at St. Martin, but he was soon discovered and forced out of the business. He continued along for two years, during which members of the union approached him and promised him peace and a good job if he would give up the fight and join the society. Perrault applied to the courts instead. He, however, lost his case before Mr. Justice Davidson; but, going to review, Hon. Judges Jette, Mathieu and Tellier gave him a verdict, with nominal damages and an injunction from further coercion on the part of the union. The Stonecutters' Union determined, however, to make a test case, and carried it to the Queen's Bench, and your correspondent learns that there is every probability of it being taken to the Privy Council. The result will be of interest to all who perform and employ labor. Whichever way the case may go, a precedent will be created that may be followed in other countries. As for the union, their case is being supported by funds from all the trade unions of Canada, and even from the United States, and appeals are also being made in Perrault's behalf, as all appear to be anxious to have the exact rights of the unions defined.

La Presse, which supports quite vigorously the Ministerial policy with regard to the Manitoba schools, complains very bitterly as to the conduct of the Ontario members who oppose the Remedial Bill, and declares that the French Conservatives have been too loyal in the past to merit such treatment from their Ontario allies.

La Patrie pronounces itself favorable to Major Sam Hughes' national school resolution.

Messrs. B. Orr, J. E. Black, James Sargant and M. C. Ellis of Toronto, J. Lachance, H. Wright and W. Reid of Hamilton, and Messrs. Johnson and Burns of Winnipeg will wait on the Canadian Pacific officials to-morrow and ask for the Northwestern Commercial Travelers a reduction on certain portions of the company's line from 2 to 2 1-2 cents. The visitors were entertained yesterday at the St. James' Club by President Massey and others of the Travelers' Association of this city, who will support their western confreres in their request to-morrow.

It looks as if there might be trouble in the selection of the successor of the Hon. Henry Starnes in the Legislative Council. Hon. Mr. Taillon, so it is said, favors the appointment of Mr. Gustave Lamothe, advocate, of Montreal, while others of the Ministers seek the appointment of Mr. F. Benoit.

COMPRESSED AIR AS A POWER.

Some Highly Satisfactory Experiments at the Pullman Car Works.

Chicago, March 8.—Compressed air as a power has displaced steam in three departments of the Pullman Palace Car Company's works, and the results have so far satisfied the officials that in all probability the new force will be in use shortly in all the great shops of the corporation. The change is radical, and marks a revolution in the manufacturing system of the great Pullman plant. With the air system it is claimed that the speed of the machine in use may be graded, something impossible when a belt is used.

Safe Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by imitations and substitutes.

NOTHWEST IMMIGRATION.

(Brantford Expositor.)

Those who say that the most important thing for Canada just now is to get the Northwest filled up as rapidly as possible with people are not far from the truth. Whatever hope there is for a great future for the Dominion is bound up with the increase of its industrial population. As to that all parties and all statesmen are unanimous.

A fatal mistake was made when the Liberal policy of dealing with the Northwest was departed from in 1879 and 1880. The proper way to secure the development of the immense region was to provide cheap means of access to it, on the one hand, and on the other to keep the burdens of the people as light as possible. The Tory ministry violated in the most thorough way both of these sound principles of public policy.

The protective system introduced in 1879 has been a fearful incubus on the Northwest. The heavy tax on agricultural implements alone was an enormous disadvantage, but this was aggravated by customs duties on clothing, on fuel, and on many kinds of food which could then be obtained only from or through the United States. The Canadian Northwest has never recovered from that set-back, and the tariff is still in operation.

The policy of the Mackenzie government was (1) to secure competing lines of railway to Manitoba, and (2) to aid by liberal subsidies the construction of colonization railways within that province and the Northwest. Had this policy been adhered to, the population would have been concentrated within an area of reasonable size; as it is, the people are scattered in petty settlements all over an immense region that will not be continuously settled for half a century.

This has had the two-fold effect of increasing the fiscal burdens of the farmers, and of placing them at the mercy of a single line of railway for a means of reaching the market with their produce. Of what advantage is the Canadian Pacific railway, as a through route, to them? What they need and must have is lower freight rates, and it is not possible for them so long as there is a government kept in office by the Canadian Pacific.

The farmers of Manitoba and the Northwest have the remedy for their troubles largely in their own hands. The have but to unite with the farmers of the rest of the Dominion in turning out of office the party of high taxation and railway monopoly, and in putting into office the party of liberal trade and freedom of traffic. What will they do about it a few weeks hence? If they miss this opportunity they may wait long for another. In any case they cannot be made worse off by a change and may be made much better.

CHILD-RESCUE IN ONTARIO.

The Montreal Star refers in complimentary terms to the noble work being done by the Children's Aid Societies, and pays a high compliment to the paternal solicitude of the Ontario Government for the neglected, and the incidental "scaling of the sources of crime":

Mr. J. J. Kelso, the Superintendent of Neglected and Dependent Children for Ontario, has another good year's work to report for 1895. The chief business of this unique and literally paternal branch of the Ontario Government is to seek out children who have found their path in life an exceedingly rough one, and find for them proper homes, where they will be given a chance in the world. The department works largely through Children's Aid Societies, which Mr. Kelso organizes in the various districts. The number of the societies has, it seems, increased from thirteen to twenty-nine, during the year, and are now pretty well scattered throughout the Province, from Ottawa to Chatham. In reading the reports of the local societies, the need of the work is deeply impressed upon one. Cases of the harshest cruelty to and of the worst environment for children are constantly reported. The Kingston Society, for instance, speaks especially of four cases. In the first, brutal chastisement was proven, and two children rescued. In the second, the report says that:

"The father declined to provide necessary clothing for his wife and children. Threats of murder and suicide were freely made. And on one occasion the father handed his eldest girl a butcher knife with the request to take his life. This home was broken up, and the children were placed in comfortable foster homes in this city and district."

In the third, a boy of nine was compelled to beg from door to door, "insufficiently clothed and uttering falsehoods given him by his mother." The fourth was a case of a drunken mother of a family of little girls. In every instance, the sinned-against children were rescued. Work of this kind is as pure Christian effort as this world can produce. Measured by results, its value is incalculable. The very fountain-head of crime is sealed up; and the enemies of society driven from their best recruiting ground.

HELP FOR ARMENIA.

An Appeal to the People of Ontario—Undenominational, Yet Including all Evangelistical Churches.

The Toronto branch of the Evangelistical Alliance has issued the following circular:

To the Christian Churches and Public of Ontario:

BRETHREN,—We appeal to you in the name of the Toronto branch of the Evangelical Alliance, in behalf of our suffering brethren in Armenia. Because of the brutal persecutions of the past few months there are upwards of 500,000 persons left in a state of absolute destitution and starvation. A cable message of last week says: "Thousands starving—all distributions doubled—immediate aid needed."

These starving multitudes appeal to the sympathies of Christian people in all lands. Relief has been sent from Britain and the United States, but much more will be required. A fund has been started in Toronto known as "The Evangelical Alliance Armenian Relief Fund," and we feel confident that very many will respond liberally when they learn that relief can be sent to the starving multitudes with so little delay. A committee, whose names appear below, was appointed at the last annual meeting of the Toronto Branch of the Evangelical Alliance, under whose supervision the work of collecting this fund has been undertaken. Dr. W. B. Geikie, 52 Maitland street, Toronto, has kindly consented to act as treasurer of the funds which have been, and which may be contributed. One considerable instalment has already been sent by the Treasurer from Toronto, through purely British channels, and others will follow as soon as the funds have been collected. His Excellency the Governor-General has kindly favoured the Committee with valuable suggestions as to the sending of the money, besides taking a warm personal interest in the work of helping the suffering thousands in Armenia.

We trust the many friends who may be able to contribute to the relief of these most cruelly treated people will do so without delay, as speedy action may relieve much suffering and save many lives. It is also suggested that pastors shall ask their congregations for a special collection in aid of this relief fund at an early date, or otherwise to assist this effort as they see fit, as by private subscriptions; also that special prayer be offered in all our churches.

All contributions to be sent to Walter B Geikie, Esq., M.D., Treasurer, Holyrood Villa, 52 Maitland street, Toronto.

S. H. BLAKE, Q.C.,
President Toronto Branch of the Evangelical Alliance.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigourous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

Weak Lungs.

Emaciation, weakness, and that fatal disposition to take cold easy, thus adding little by little to the strain upon the already overburdened body. How many afflicted are trusting to cough mixtures, mustard and poultices for safety? Fatal error. Not by these, but by adding to the nutritive power of the body and the increased strength and vitality which increased nutrition affords, can you hope to obtain relief. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites combines the excellencies of a medicine, a food, and a digestive agency of unexampled power. The full remedial value of the cod liver oil, rendered palatable and of easy digestion, is combined with the nutritive values of wheat, oats and barley. This in itself would render Maltine and Cod Liver Oil of greater value than any emulsion. But it possesses a further quality of inestimable value in its property of increasing the solubility of fat-forming, heat-producing, starchy food, just the elements required for the upbuilding of the emaciated.

GOING WILD OVER HYPNOTISM.

Half of Hazleton, Pa., is Crazy About the Science and Practising on the Other Half.

Hazleton, Pa., March 8.—A hypnotic craze ha staken hold of this city and threatens to develop serious consequences. It is already alarming, and has attracted the attention of the authorities and public men. Dr. J. W. Cole has felt constrained to sound a warning through the newspapers, and to-day Prof Bierly found it necessary to issue an edict making any attempt among the pupils of the Public schools to practice it sufficient cause for expulsion.

The city authorities are considering it, and Mayor Altmiller is inclined to issue a proclamation making it punishable by a fine or imprisonment to experiment. The craze is not confined to the younger folks by any means, but some of the most prominent citizens have become students of the science, and a remarkably large number have mastered it.

A professor three weeks ago concluded a two weeks' engagement in the opera house here, giving lectures on hypnotism, and practical illustrations with local subjects. Crowded houses greeted him each night during his stay, and he took $2500 away in profits. The impression which he created remained. Men and boys throughout the city became students of hypnotism, and the feats that some of them have since performed excel even the professor. Among the most prominent is George Markle, formerly a banker. He was one of the first to master the study. He has exercised the power in a medical way only, however, and some astonishing cures have been made by him.

One case was that of Mrs. Reinhart, mother-in-law of William Dershuck, an editor, who was taken home from a Philadelphia hospital pronounced incurable. She was suffering from abdominal trouble, and, being unable to retain anything she swallowed, was slowly starving to death. Mr. Markle, after plasing her under the hypnotic spell, administered nourishment to her, and under the treatment she has since been able to take food.

A patient at the State Hospital, whose leg resisted all efforts of the doctors to bend, was moved without any apparent difficulty after getting the man under the influence.

Many other experiments of like character have been made by him, but, unfortunatey, all who have studied it do not confine their powers to acts of beneficence. In the parlors, storerooms, workshops, schools, mines and in the streets men and boys find subjects susceptible to the influence.

It is not an uncommon thing to see a dozen young men and boys moving along the streets half dazed, searching for an imaginary article said to be placed by the performer. William Gorman a pupil at the Public school, created the wildest alarm in the school room yesterday while performing with several pupils. One boy was told that a snake was in his shoe, and started through the room yelling at the top of his voice, creating a panic in the building.

Prof. Bierly and Superintendent Harman to-day were obliged to issue the edict prohibiting such amusement. In several instances the subjects have suffered seriously from the effects. Margaret Dolan, a waitress in a restaurant, was thrown into a stupor, and when the operator attempted to arouse her he was unable to do so. The several experts about the city were called in, but despite their efforts the young woman could not be revived, and she was left to sleep it off.

The workshops have suffered to considerable extent, owing to the employes practising on each other. Prof. Dutton, in the business College, in practising on two pupils, was unable to revive them, and they remained in that state for hours.

The entire city has gone daft, and leading citizens are discussing means to discourage the practice but until drastic measures are introduced, very little good will result, so strong has the craze become.

BAD LUCK OF ITALY

In Her Abyssinian Campaign May Bring Changes

IN THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

It May Restore the Entente Between Great Britain and Germany—Italy in Need of Aid and From Friendly Powers—Will England Assist Her?

London, March 17.—It is held in certain diplomatic circles that Italy's disaster in Abyssinia will restore the entente between Great Britain and Germany. The pact that is understood to exist between Prime Minister Salisbury and Prime Minister Crispi regarding common maritime action in the Mediterranean, and the Anglo-Italian arrangement relative to Kassala and the Southern Soudan, gives England special interest in keeping Italy strong, an interest as strong as Germany's, who desires to keep her ally undisabled. Before Signor Crispi concluded to resign, it appears that he telegraphed to Lord Salisbury, asking for some form of effective support in Abyssinia. It is impossible to learn what actual form of support was asked for, but the British Foreign Office certainly received the night prior to Crispi's fall long despatches from him. Rumor has it that he wanted to know whether the British troops in Egypt could be sent to temporarily occupy Kassala and watch the Dervishes, while the Italian garrison at that place joined the main force that is opposed to King Menelek.

The French newspapers concur in the opinion that Great Britain and Germany must aid Italy in some practical way. With very few exceptions, the London newspapers express strong sympathy with Italy.

The Morning Post, of all the papers, suggests that financial assistance should be extended to Italy.

This is just the assistance that Lord Salisbury dare not attempt to give. He might agree to the occupation of Kassala by British troops, and give his assistance to the Italians, using Zeila, a British port on the coast of Somaliland, as a route for a new attack on the Abyssinian province of Shoa, but to deal with the rotten Italian finances would be fatal to the Cabinet.

Signor Crispi's last appeal to European financial houses was futile, but the negotiations ended in secret help being given to Italy through a German syndicate, which received guarantees from the Imperial Government for the repayment of the money advanced.

The Statist says that if Italy confesses that she has been beaten by the Abyssinians and withdraws her troops from Abyssinia, her finances, though they will be worse for the money spent, will not be in a hopeless condition. If she decided to restore her prestige it will involve the expenditure of £24,000,000, and the nation will ultimately sink beneath the overwhelming burden. Until the Italian Cabinet shall be reformed, diplomacy will be quiescent. If the current opinion in the official circles here is right, Lord Salisbury will advise Italy to accept the position and make peace with King Menelek.

New York, March 7.—A London special says: Italy's defeat in the battle of Adua is regarded now throughout Europe as an event of the first magnitude. It is believed that its effect upon the political situation of Europe will be of far reaching consequence. Already the dissolution of the Triple Alliance is discussed in the principal capitals as if an accomplished fact. Some say the old league of the three emperors—Germany, Russia and Austria—will take its place; others, that Italy and France will become friends again. Still others affirm that if England fails to go to the assistance of King Humbert in this emergency, British isolation soon will become more uncomfortable than it ever has been.

It is persistently asserted in Berlin, Vienna and Rome that Germany and Austria have given a very peremptory advice to abandon Abyssinia, and that King Humbert has replied that he would abdicate his throne rather than comply. There is good authority for saying that Italy will, within a few days, test Great Britain's friendship by endeavoring to float a large loan with English assistance. In fact, indications multiply hourly that the regrouping of powers which has been foreshadowed for several months is at length at hand. French sympathy with Italy in her great misfortune is remarkable. It is accounted for partially by the downfall of Crispi and by the fact that the impression prevails in France that Germany and Austria are inclined to throw overboard their unfortunate ally. Russia, in this, as in all other complications of the last few months, is the only power that regards the situation with equanimity. It is scarcely worth while to speculate in the dark what the result of the great secret game will be, but all Europe is again getting on tenter hooks.

The domestic condition of Italy is extremely serious, but probably does not justify the fears expressed in some quarters that King Humbert's throne is in danger. Mob violence was reported to-day in Rome, Milan and Pavia, but in each case the crowds soon were under the control of the authorities. There are many wild rumors afloat, including one of Crispi's assassination, but the situation is not yet desperate.

Milan, March 7.—The Woman's Moral and Intellectual Society of this city has issued a manifesto calling on Italian mothers throughout the country to prevent their sons leaving for Abyssinia. Similar appeals have been issued in Pavia and Turin.

Paris, March 7.—A large number of Italians are reported to have crossed the frontier from Italy into France, with the object of escaping service.

Bilbao, Spain, March 7.—A manifestation of the popular feeling occurred at the Eden Theatre in this city tonight. During the performance the French and Spanish flags were displayed, causing the wildest enthusiasm and vivas, from a Franco-Spanish audience, were repeatedly and heartily given.

Malaga, Spain, March 7.—The sailors of the French warship Drome, at this port, paraded the streets to-day singing the Spanish national anthem and the Marseillaise, and cheering for both France and Spain.

Many of the Missing Men Safe.

Rome, March 7.—Great excitement was experienced to-day through the receipt of a despatch from Gen. Baldissera, the newly appointed commander of the Italian forces in Abyssinia, in which he stated that of the 18,000 men who were missing after the battle fought at Adowa Sunday, 7000 have returned, and others are arriving daily. This relieves the anxiety felt by the families of soldiers serving in Africa, who now build hopes on their relatives having escaped from the Abyssinians. As yet no list of the killed, wounded and missing has been received.

Going From Bad to Worse.

New York, March 8.—The Herald's special from Rome says: The situation is going from bad to worse. Signor Rudini's efforts to form a cabinet have failed completely. The King, encouraged by the ambassadors of Germany, Austria and England, will persist in having the war carried on. The visit paid yesterday by Emperor William to Sir Frank Lascelles, English Ambassador to Germany, had reference to the moral support to be accorded to Italy by the three cabinets.

The revolutionary agitation directed against the monarchy is increasing.

A serious dispute has taken place between the King and the Prince of Naples. The latter is supported by the Queen. The King has decided to carry out the mobilization of nearly the whole Italian army.

A cabinet under Signor Saracco, who has filled the office of Minister of Public Works in Signor Crispi's Government, is again spoken of as probable.

Signor Oreste Corsi, the Nestor of the Republican party, informs me that the King's abdication in favor of the Prince of Naples is becoming more probable every day.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whatsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED.

Terrible Affair Near Penetanguishene on Saturday—Evidently the Result of Youngsters Playing With Fire.

Penetanguishene, March 7.—A fatal fire took place this morning on the opposite side of the bay here, in which three children were burned to death. The father had gone away to work, and the mother locked the three children in the house and went off to her mother's on some errand, and it is supposed that the children must have been playing with the stove and set fire to the house. An Indian, who was first to see the smoke issuing from the house, ran to it, and finding the door locked, was afraid to break it in, and the roof fell in before the door was opened. When the neighbors came they could hear the children crying, but could not get near them. The youngest one was burned to a crisp, and the others were nearly all gone, nothing but the bodies being left. The house was an old one and very dry, and burned rapidly. No insurance.

Later—The name of the man whose children were burned to death on Saturday morning is William Beaudoin. The oldest child, a girl, was 6 years of age, the next was 4 and the youngest was between 1 and 2 years old.

SAVARD DROPS OUT OF SIGHT.

Mysterious Disappearance of an Old Bradstreet's Employe at Rochester.

Rochester, March 8.—Joseph H. Savard, for the past 25 years connected with the Bradstreet Mercantile Agency in this city, has mysteriously disappeared. Mr. Savard left his home at 52 Hudson-avenue on Tuesday as usual, and went to the Bradstreet office in the Granite building. He had been at his desk but an hour, when a clerk told him there was a man in the hall who wished to see him. Savard stepped outside and greeted the man, who was a stranger to all the other employees. Then he returned to the office, put on his hat and coat, and joined the stranger, passing with him out into Main-street. As he was leaving the office the superintendent called to him, but Savard apparently did not hear him. The stranger is described as short and stout, and having a dark brown moustache.

RIGHT IN OUR MIDST.

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND, March 2nd. (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realised my danger. I had found it impossible when tired to stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

ASSAULT ON A ROYAL GRANT.

Campbell-Bannerman's Motion Has Surprised the British People—The Aged Duke's Pay.

New York, March 8.—The Times London special cable says: Much to everybody's surprise, Mr. Campbell-Bannerman last night gave notice of a motion to strike out the additional $9000 a year pension to the Duke of Cambridge in the estimates. This is the first time an ex-Cabinet Minister ever led opposition to a royal grant. It is true that the present case is peculiarly aggravated, because Mr. Balfour gave a specific pledge Aug. 30 that no such pension would be proposed in addition to the $11,000 which the Duke already has as a colonel of the Grenadier Guards, and it can hardly be denied that the Ministry had broken faith with Parliament, but all the same, it is felt that Campbell-Bannerman would hardly thrust himself into the breach if it was not for the uncertainty about the Liberal leadership, which makes it worth his while to play a bold move for the chieftainship of the fighting Radical wing.

Continued Progress.
. . . THE . . .
Canada Life Assurance Co.
Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.
New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000
A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.
Total Business In Force About $70,000,000
Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.
We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—
Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894 . . . . . $24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared . . . $8,041,000
or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.
It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.
ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.
Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

Death of Mr. Hugh Hoyland.

The Sheffield and Rotherham (England) Independent records the death of Mr. Hugh Hoyland, father-in-law of Mr. Robert Hamilton, sr. town. The deceased gentleman, who is known to many Peterborough citizens, who have visited the old country, through letters of introduction given by Mr. Hamilton, was a wealthy and prominent citizen of Rotherham. He was one of the first elected members of the corporation and for several years and at the time of his death, churchwarden. His fine residence, situated in a park of 16 acres in the heart of Rotherham, is one of the most notable in the city. He was 78 years of age at the time of his death.

Died in London.

On Saturday, Mrs. Alex. Martin, wife of Mr. Alexander Martin, of the Central Bridge and Engineering works, died at her home London, England. The deceased lady, who was a sister of Mrs. W. H. Law, expected in a short time to come to Peterboroug to join her husband, who has been a resident of the town for about a year; but she was taken ill about New Year's and death resulted as stated above, on Saturday. Her bereaved husband and Mrs. Law, as well as the daughter, Mrs. Martin leaves behind her, will have much sympathy in their sad bereavement.

A Popular Minister.

The many friends of Rev. J. L. Gilmour, formerly of this town, will be interested in the following news contained in a despatch:—

Brockville, March 8th.—(Special.)—The Rev. J. L. Gilmour, pastor of the First Baptist church, Brockville, who received a unanimous call a few weeks ago from the James street Baptist church, Hamilton, has accepted the same. He sent in his resignation to-night, asking to be relieved after April 12th. After the usual church service a congregational meeting was held, and the resignation very reluctantly accepted. Mr. Gilmour has been located in Brockville for two years, and is decidedly popular with all classes of citizens.

OBITUARY.

The Late James Beavis, of Otonabee.

In the death of the late Mr. Jas. Beavis, on the 27th of February last, the County of Peterborough loses another pioneer settler and a veteran of the war of 1837. Mr. Beavis, with his father and a large family of brothers and sisters, arrived in this country from Ireland in the year 1825. They first settled at a spot still known as Campbelltown, on the bank of the Otonabee river. The elder Mr. Beavis died a few months after his arrival in the country. Mr. James Beavis finally settled on a bush farm in the eighth concession of Otonabee, where he resided until 1866, when he retired from the farm and moved into Ashburnham. During the last four years, however, he and Mrs. Beavis have lived with their daughter, Mrs. Murray, and her husband on Rubidge sareet, Peterborough. Mr. Beavis served the government as a volunteer during the rebellion of 1837, but like many others he has been allowed to pass away without receiving any recognition of his services. In politics he was a staunch Reformer. In religion he adhered to the Bible Christian, and after the union, to the Methodist church until about five years ago, when he joined Salvation Army, in which communion he remained to the last an earnest and faithful member. He has borne the character of a loyal citizen, a good neighbour, a faithful husband, a loving and indulgent father and a firm friend, and he passed away from time into eternity rejoicing in the "faith once delivered to the saints." He leaves a wife, an only daughter and two grandchildren to mourn his loss. The funeral ceremonies were conducted by the Salvation Army, and joined by a long cortege of friends and acquaintances from both the town and country.—A FRIEND.

Broke Through the Ice.

On Thursday last Mr. Sam Brown, of Linden, dealer in musical instruments, had a very unpleasant experience while trying to reach Bobcaygeon on the ice. Having a piano to deliver to a customer in that village who was growing impatient at the delay caused mainly by the condition of the roads, Mr. Brown was informed that the river road was in fair condition—and so it was—as far as the lighthouse. When that point was passed the horses began to break through the snow and shell ice into about two feet of water, and while plunging about trying to regain solid footing one of the animals stepped into a hole in the bottom crust of ice and almost disappeared. Mr. Brown seized his head but was unable to extricate him, and the animal would undoubtedly have been lost but for the timely arrival of Mr. Endicott, who lives about a mile from the scene. When repairs were completed Mr. Brown decided he had had enough of ice travelling, and took to the road, arriving at his destination late in the afternoon.

A TRAIN WRECKED IN ASHBURNHAM.

A Snow Plough, Two Engines and a Van Derailed.

ENGINE NO. 158 ALMOST ENTIRELY TORN TO PIECES.

Fortunately the Crew Escapes Almost Unhurt by a Miracle—The Damage Will run up into Big Figures—Hundreds Visiting the Scene of the Wreck This Afternoon.

Engines No. 158 and No. 611 of the G.T.R., attached to a snow plough, pulled out of the local station shortly after dinner today with the object of clearing the track to Lakefield. A van was attached and in it were a number of sectionmen.

As the engines, under a full head of steam, ran the snow plough over the crossing on the Dickson Co.'s mill property, directly east of the electric power house, the plough left the track with a jump and careened along over the ties for about fifty yards, w' 1 its nose ploughed into the ground. The engines were running at too great a speed to be checked quickly, and No. 158 which was immediately behind the snowplough, was turned completely across and then rolled over as it plunged into the derailed plough.

An engine could hardly be wrecked to a greater degree and bear any resemblance to a locomotive than is No. 158. The trucks are all wrenched completely off, the cowcatcher is splintered into matchwood, the smoke stack, bell and dome are wrenched and twisted until they have been torn away from the boiler. The sides of the cab are jammed in together and all the visible machinery, piston rods etc. have been twisted from their places. The cab is over on its side and the wheels are also torn away, and yet both the driver, Jack Casey and Fireman Smith came through all this safely, the latter without a scratch and the former with only a bruised leg.

Of course all on the train knew in an instant what was the matter when the plough jumped the track and all waited with bated breath for the final plunge. When the train came to a halt the section men sprang out into the snow, horrified at the sight which met their eyes. The wrecked engine lay completely overturned and was a sight of a nature to make the strongest shudder when the fate of the crew was contemplated. The surprise of all can be imagined when Fireman Smith appeared on top of the tender and a moment later Jack Casey crawled out from amongst the remains of the shattered cab and walked slowly over to the van. A hasty examination showed that neither of the men were hurt seriously, although greatly shaken up by the accident.

Engine No. 611, in charge of Driver Granger and Fireman Mills, which was behind No. 158, was also derailed and the pilot and front trucks smashed into kindling wood.

It is thought that the snow and ice had become so packed on the crossing that the snowplough being comparatively light ran up on the ice without breaking through it and was thrown from the rails.

During the afternoon scores and hundreds of the citizens visited the scene of the wreck, and marvelled at the miraculous escape of the crew of Engine No. 158.

Mr. Richard Brennan, clerk for the Point St. Charles Lumbering Co., town, has returned home to Ashburnham for the balance of the season.

Mr. M. W. Matchett, principal of the Ashburnham public school, is very ill from an attack of la grippe. His room in the school will be closed for a few days.

The Sarnia Observer says,—"Wm. Crowe, of Peterborough, arrived in town Thursday night with his wife and child and is visiting at his father-in-law's, Chief Windred. Mr. Crowe is on his way to South Africa, Johannesberg being his destination. He expects to sail from New York on Wednesday next for Southampton, thence to Capetown. He is well-known in Sarnia, having been several years a member of the 27th Batt. band, and we feel sure the bandsmen and citizens will wish him success in his new home. Mrs. Crowe and child will remain here with her parents until arrangements can be made for their reception in Johannesberg."

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 68 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

SONS OF ENGLAND.

THE DELEGATES COMING IN ON EVERY TRAIN.

Meeting of the Committee on General Purposes this Morning—Committees Struck—The Grand Lodge Meets To-morrow Afternoon.

Every train which steams into the local depots is bringing additional delegates to the Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England, which opens here to-morrow afternoon, and the Entertainment Committee of Lansdowne Lodge is kept busy looking after the constantly arriving visitors.

Many flags are already flying in honour of the occasion, and many more will doubtless be flung to the breeze in the morning. Across Hunter street are stretched two giant streamers bearing the inscriptions, "Welcome," and "Welcome to Peterborough."

The following members of the General Purpose Committee have already arrived: George Clatworthy, Toronto, Supreme Grand President; John W. Carter, Toronto, Supreme Grand Secretary; Benjamin Hinchcliffe, Toronto, Supreme Grand Treasurer; W. Handcock, P. S. G. P., Hamilton; T. R. Skippon, P. S. G. P., Toronto; Dr. John S. King, P.S.G.P., Toronto; J. C. Swait, P.S.G.P.; Richard Ivens, P.S.G.P., Toronto; J. W. Kempling, P. S. G. P., St. Catharines; Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, District Deputy Toronto; Richard Patching, Toronto; John Aldridge, Toronto; E. J. Reynolds, Ottawa and John Jackson, Hamilton. The committee met this morning at the Court House to draft a programme of the work to be brought before the Grand Lodge, which opens its sessions to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The committee organized with Dr. King in the chair, and appointed Mr. R. Patching as Secretary. Committees were struck for the consideration of the grand officer reports, and the work brought before the Grand Lodge.

The committee adjourned at noon and will continue its sesions this evening at 8 o'clock, when the following additional members will be in attendance:—E. T. Perry, Montreal; Mayor Elliott, Brantford; S. W. Burns, Toronto; Alderman Parnell, London; Thos. Sargant, Toronto; J. A. Edwards, Montreal; J. Nettleton, Collingwood and Joseph Hook, London.

To-morrow afternoon the reception of delegates will take place and the Supreme Grand Lodge will meet at 2 o'clock, when addresses of welcome will be read from Lansdowne Lodge by Mr. E. A. Peck, W. P. and by Mayor Yelland from the corporation. In the evening the delegates and local members will meet in Lansdowne Lodge rooms, when the work in red, white and rose degrees will be exemplified by Grand Lodge officers, after which refreshments will be served.

The local Sons of England have made splendid preparations for the reception and entertainment of supreme lodge delegates. The Huffman House, the headquarters of the officers, have been beautifully decorated, and the court room of the Court House, where the grand sessions are held, has been made the subject of tasteful and elaborate decorations, being brilliant with emblems and flags appropriate to the occasion, all the work of those well known decorators, Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son.

The Sons of England hall is also artistically decorated for the meetings of a more social character which will be held there. The members have "hung out the flag upon the outer wall," a mammoth Union Jack waving a welcome to and forming a rallying point for the visitors. Mr. Alf. Kingscote did the work of decorating the hall.

The citizens generally on George street have also recognized the occasion and flung out the folds of the old flag to the breeze.

All members of the local lodge, Sons of England, who have not received invitation for the reception and smoking concert are requested to apply at once to Mr. Geo. K. Martin, hon. secretary of the Reception Committee.

THE ETERNAL CITY'S CHURCHES AND RUINS

Bishop O'Connor's Graphic Description of His Trip to Rome.

CONVERSION OF PAGAN TEMPLES INTO CHRISTIAN CHURCHES.

His Lordship States That on Some Future Occasion He Will Narrate the Pleasure He Experienced During the Rest of the Time He Was Abroad—Collection in Aid of the Ladies' Sewing Society.

Although St. Peter's Cathedral is always well filled at the Sunday evening services the congregation last night almost exceeded in extent the seating accommodation of the church. Many of the leading professional and business men from the other churches were also in attendance, in order to hear His Lordship Bishop O'Connor speak on "Rome."

His Lordship stated in opening that he would give his whole attention during his address to the Eternal City, its beautiful churches, its picturesque monuments and its magnificent ruins that he had the pleasure of seeing during the occasion of his recent visit abroad. Upon some other occasion he would discourse upon the Catacombs and the other cities which he had seen in his trip.

Among the many cities of the world, said he, there is one which by universal consent receives the title of the "Eternal City," as, whilst all trace of other cities contemporaneous with it at the time of its origin have almost entirely disappeared, whilst this city, notwithstanding that it has been besieged, pillaged and fired, is yet existent, and many of its oldest buildings still rear their heads to the sky in their original grandeur, outrivalling the more in their costly magnificence and beauty of design. This city is Rome, Rome the Eternal, formerly the capital of the whole world and to-day yet holding that profound distinction in relation to the portion of the world which is Christianized.

History tells us, continued he, that the Romans were so all-conquering in battle that at the close of the century in which the city was founded, the pagan emperor had already acquired an influence over the whole of the known world, and had laid its rulers under tribute.

The great ambition of the emperors and rulers of ancient Rome appear to have been to preserve their name to posterity by the erection of the most magnificent temples, palaces and monuments, and now in visiting Rome the tourist of the present day sees the remains of many of these palatial erections. Only the crumbling bricks and broken pillars of some of these remain, but even in their decay they are still beautiful, and in their broken outlines can be discerned traces of a great architectural genius.

His Lordship then gave brief descriptions concerning a few of the most remarkable of the picturesque ruins. The great Roman Forum was the first mentioned. History tells us of its grandeur, but only a few columns of it remain. We read of its being used as a temple, as a seat of justice and as a legislative hall, but only a dim idea of its general outline can now be gained. History tells us of the beauties of the Palatine Hill, with its statues of Apollo, Jupiter and Venus. Of these only the ruins remain, yet Rome in its ruins is still sublime. Of all the ancient buildings the most stupendous was the Coliseum. It was erected in the first century of the Christian era, about the year 72 and was built by the Jewish slaves brought from Jerusalem by Titus. It is the largest monument of pagan times that exists to-day, and covers six acres of land. It is elliptical in form and in circumference is one-third of a mile. It rises up to 160 feet and had eighty entrances, consisting of large arches. These arches sustained galleries which ran around each of the four stories of the building. On the galleries were seats of marble, still in existence, though other seats of brick had crumbled away. This great building was erected as a place of amusement for the Roman emperors and the populace. Here were the gladiators brought to fight each other and the wild beasts. This arena has for Christians a great memory attached to it, for within that circle the faith of the early followers of Christ was tested. For three centuries Christians who would not renounce their faith were thrown to the wild beasts to battle for their lives, and thousands of them were sacrificed to the Roman lust for blood. One cannot but admire, continued His Lordship, the lofty courage and faith that filled the souls of these Christians who allowed themselves to be torn to pieces in order to avow their faith in Christ Jesus.

THE SEATING CAPACITY of the Coliseum was 87,000. About one-third of it still exists, and the genius of the architect of so noble a pile of buildings was greatly to be admired. One could understand Byron's words—

"While stands the Coliseum, Rome shall stand;
When falls the Coliseum, Rome shall fall;
And when Rome falls—the world."

Close to the Coliseum are other ruins in which great interest is also centred. The Mamertime Prison, which was used chiefly for political prisoners, demands interest as in its loathsome dungeon St. Peter and St. Paul were confined for eight months. The prison is underground and the dungeon is beneath that again. Formerly the prisoners used to be cast into this dungeon through a hole a foot and a half in diameter. The cell itself was 6 feet in height and about 8x12 in size and the prisoners were generally cast into it to die, and but few ever came forth from it again. The Bishop had the privilege of saying mass in this dungeon, into which a staircase now leads and in commenting on its terrors expressed the opinion that if when we suffered little crosses in the present day we should not be disheartened but simply think of what these apostles suffered that they might spread the seed and preserve the faith of Jesus Christ. His Lordship also celebrated mass in another Roman prison in which St. Paul was confined for two years.

The great number of baths which were erected by the Romans, were next given the Bishop's attention. The largest of them, he stated, had apartments to allow 1600 people to bathe at once. The water was brought from hills over 20 miles away. The tunnels were built on top of these acqueducts and many of these were still intact for hundreds of yards, so substantially were they built.

Of all the old Pagan monuments the best preserved at the present day is the Pantheon. It was built 30 years before Christ and is 140 feet in diameter. The light is admitted to it through a great cupola, and the walls are 20 feet in thickness. The niches in it formerly contained images of heathen gods but are now transformed into altars.

In speaking of Christian Rome, the Bishop stated, that is was not until the fourth century, in the time of Constantine, that the Christians were allowed to openly worship as they chose.

Rome was besieged and pillaged by the Lombards in the seventh century and many of its grandest temples despoiled and destroyed. It was from this time forward that the Pope attempted to rebuild the city and regain for it its ancient prestige and grandeur, and soon they became temporal rulers as well as spiritual. For century after century the greatest geniuses of the world were invited to make Rome their home and given an opportunity of making themselves even more famous by converting the pagan temples into Christian churches. Rome became the acknowledged centre of civilisation and then the arts and sciences were nutured by the Popes, who encouraged talent in every possible way. This fact, the Bishop stated, in itself of the statement that the Church of Rome preserved her power by keeping her people in ignorance.

WAS A REFUTATION

Over 400 temples were transformed into churches. The costly porphyry columns of the magnificent baths of Diocletian had been used in the construction of the Church of Our Lady of Angels and the same had been done with many other churches.

The Pope's Parish Church was one of the grandest in Rome. The altars and great stations were superb. The pillars represented the twelve apostles and were of marble and in every way was this church of St. John de Lateran fit to be known as the Pope's Parish Church. It was provided with bronze doors which, as they swung, gave forth the most delightful music. They had been removed from the temple when Constantine was baptized. The Church of St. Mary Magdalene, or The Lady of Snows, was another beautiful church, which was built by a Roman as a result of a vision. There were many beautiful altars in the chapels running in from the sides. Two of these were especially worthy of mention—those of the Holy Covenant and the Borgias. The altar of the latter was studded with emeralds and pearls, and supported by marble columns.

The church of St. Paul, outside the walls, was the second most beautiful in the city. Its pavement was of costly mosaic, and it had a double row of most beautiful carved pillars. The large transept over was supported by four porphyry columns brought from Egypt, and the jewels with which they were covered were the gift of the Emperor Nicholas of Russia. The mosaics were made of the most rare stones, and were five feet in diameter. Each pope was represented, and the respective pictures cost $7,000 each. By this an idea might be gained of the encouragement given the arts by the popes when so much money was given for the purpose of fostering genius.

The first church in grandeur in the Eternal City, and in the world, was St. Peter's. The large piazzas were surrounded by a most magnificent colonnade of pillars and in the square thus formed there was room for 400,000 people to stand. The colonnade contained three hundred pillars consisting of four rows on each side and so perfectly were they arranged that by standing on a stone placed as the focus of the radii only four pillars could be seen. A slight step to one side revealed the three others behind each. Above the colonnade was a continual row of statues of the most delicate construction. Looking into the door of the great edifice one would scarcely think that it was 600 feet in length and the transepts 400 feet in depth. It was only after going through the church that its immensity and grandeur could be realized. Its sculptures, monuments, paintings, pillars and altars were magnificent beyond description, as was the beauty of the great gilded ceiling rising to a height of 160 feet. Three quarters of the way up the church the far famed dome rose up high to the height of 448 feet. This dome alone was 140 feet in diameter, and was supported by four immense columns. Michael Angelo, as the architect, is deserving of tribute for the great nicety with which he calculated the strength and position of pillars to up-hold such a structure, which is in reality the Pantheon raised in the air.

The mosaic work in the church is most beautiful. Within the dome stand the four evangelists, appearing about eight feet in height, but being actually twenty-six feet. The quill in St. Luke's hand appears no longer than an ordinary one, but a measurement would show it to be seven feet in length. These mosaics are made only in the Vatican, where the secret of the art has been carefully preserved. Fully 20,000 shades of colour are used in the construction of a figure, which at first glance appears to be an oil painting, but a closer examination shows the great work which is entailed in preparing one of these mosaics.

Closely adjoining St. Peter's is the Vatican Palace. It consists of a great row of buildings used for various purposes. A portion of it is used by the pope, cardinals and church dignitaries for residential purposes, but by far the greater part of it is used for museums. There can be found paintings of great value from the brushes of the old masters and some equally as valuable from the artists of more modern days. The work of the sculptors which is collected here is magnificent. There is also a library of thousands of volumes—manuscripts and books, which are sought by the great literati of all countries. Here can be seen the result of what the pope's have done for literature, and it can be seen that their whole time was not donated to the spiritual, but that the arts were also carefully fostered. In conclusion His Lordship drew the attention of his large audience to the entire disappearance of all the ancient cities with the exception of Rome, and stated that the Eternal City owed its preservation to the efforts of the Popes, without whom it would have fallen like Babylon.

The collection taken up was for the augmentation of the funds of the Ladies Sewing Society, which devotes its attention to providing clothing for poor children in order that they may attend school, and amounted to the handsome sum of about $70.

MR. GREENWAY'S HELP

Sir Donald Smith Anxious That He Should Go to Ottawa

TO ASSIST IN A COMPROMISE DEAL

And Thus Get Rid of the Troublesome Remedial Bill—The Matter Was Discussed at the Cabinet Meeting Yesterday—Sam Hughes Has an Amendment.

Ottawa, March 6.—(Special.)—Again the talk of compromise was rife round the lobbies to-day; again report was current that Mr. Greenway will be here soon. From all that your correspondent can learn, it seems likely that the division on the second reading of the Remedial Bill will not take place until the week after next, if then. By that time the Manitoba Legislature will have concluded its labors, and Mr. Greenway will be free to leave Winnipeg. If the Remedial Bill receives its second reading, then it is more than likely that Mr. Greenway will come to Ottawa and talk compromise. The foregoing statement is confirmed by a private telegram received from Winnipeg this morning, which says: "The impression prevails here that Premier Greenway will go to Ottawa, but he will say nothing yet. It is understood that the Legislature here will conclude its business within two weeks."

The Cabinet was in session all forenoon, and none of the Ministers were able to attend the meetings of the different committees. It is said they were considering the advisability of sending for Premier Greenway and some other members of his Cabinet, so as to have a conference regarding the Remedial Bill. This view has been strongly impressed upon the Government by Sir Donald Smith.

There were only two speakers in the Remedial debate to-day—Mr. Moncrieff from Lambton and Mr. Martin from Winnipeg. From the standpoint of the Government, Mr. Moncrieff made an excellent speech. Mr. Martin was as emphatic as of yore, and with great vigor pressed the point that the bill was unconstitutional and ultra vires.

On the second reading of the bill Major Hughes will move for the repeal of section 93 of the B.N.A. Act, and section 22 of the Manitoba Act, and to substitute therefor the following: "In and for the Dominion there shall be one system of national education, embracing (1) the intellectual branches, including mathematics, history, geography, English and other languages, literature, the arts and sciences; (2) the principles of morality, and (3) political and sanitary science. But in and for each province the Legislature may exclusively make laws in relation to the same, subject to the following provisions: 'Religious instruction shall not officially form part of national education, but nothing in this act shall prevent those legally controlling school buildings and premises from granting the use thereof for religious purposes after conclusion of educational exercises of the day.'"

The meeting of the Railway Committee this morning was characterized by some lively proceedings. Hugh Sutherland's familiar project, the Hudson's Bay Railway bill was the first order taken up, and, after some discussion was ordered to be reported. The object of the bill is to extend the time for constructing the road. The next measure considered was a scheme for opening up navigation from Winnipeg to Hudson's Bay gby a series of canals and utilizing the Hudson River. Mr. Martin strongly opposed the proposal. During the course of the discussion Mr. Martin and Mr. Cochrane fell out and some high words passed between them. The latter called Martin a "liar," and had to apologize. Mr. Martin had to take back an imputation against him that he was making the question a political one.

It is said to be the intention of the Government to grant $200,000 towards the improvements of the St. Andrew Rapid, near the City of Winnipeg, the expenditure of which will be left in the hands of this company.

In the Senate this afternoon Sir Mackenzie Bowell nitroduced a bill to amend the Act respecting the Supreme and Exchequer Court. The first clause gives the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court the title of Chief Justice of Canada. The second clause enables four judges of the Supreme Court to hear a case by the consent of the parties. The present quorum necessary before a case can be heard is five. The Premier also introduced a bill respecting the revision of the statutes which enables the Governor-General-in-Council to appoint thre commissioners to consolidate and revise the statutes passed since the last consolidation and revision in 1886.

The project known as the Equitable Benefit Association will not do any business this year. So strong has been the opposition encountered by the promoters in the Banking Committee that this morning the bill tof incorporation was withdrawn by Mr. Chapman of Minneapolis, head pusher of the enterprise.

The deputation from Kingston and Ottawa which wainted upon Senator Desjardins on Tuesday have to thank the Minister for promptly acceding to their request for the establishment of a special class of instruction for infantry officers at Kingston. Two classes of this character are to be formed, one at Kingston on March 17, and one at Montreal, commencing this week. The course of instruction will last for three months and the special course certificate will be awarded, based on results of examinations.

Mrs. Lewis, wife of the Bishop of Ontario, delivered an address in the Speaker's Chambers this afternoon on the subject of the establishment of the Home for Canadian Girls in Paris. Their Excellencies, Lord and Lady Aberdeen were among the large number present.

MURDERED AT VANCOUVER, B.C.

Joseph Wright, Formerly of London, Ont., Killed by His Friends.

Vancouver, B.C., March 6.—Joseph Wright, son of the late John Wright, of Wright & Durand, who built most of the big buildings in London, Ont., was killed in a quarrel with friends here last night. The murdered man's brother is a very prominent architect in Duluth.

Joseph Wright's companions held him up, took $10 from his pocket, with which all got drunk. Wild orgy followed in which, it is said, Wright was set upon by the others, badly beaten and then put him into bed in the house where the drinking occurred.

When found Wright was bruised and had been dead several hours.

London, March 6.—The correspondent of the United Press in Constantinople telegraphs that The Washington Post and Evening Star and New York Tribune, World and Life have been permanently prohibited by the Porte from entering Turkey.

MANY HAMILTON TOPICS.

Promoter Pew Proposes to Establish a Car Building Factory—Will the C.P.R. Get There?

Hamilton, March 6.—(Special.)—Mayor Tuckett has received a communication from Erie Aqueduct Constructor Pew, the well-known promoter stating that he is seriously considering the advisability of locating the J. G. Brill car building company of Philadelphia in this city, and thinks the old Wanzer factory would be suitable premises. The company, he says, employs 250 hands and has supplied cars for nearly every city in Canada. Its object for seeking a location here is to hold this trade and save the duty of 39 per cent.

A report is current to-day to the effect that the C.P.R. is coming to Hamilton by way of the Grand Trunk company's tracks from Toronto. The report has it that the G.T.R. and C.P.R. have almost concluded a deal whereby the latter may use the former's tracks between Toronto and a point in the west end of the city. The idea of the C.P.R. is to build a short track from the Valley Inn to connect with the T., H. & B., thus coming through the city on the T., H. & B. tracks. The report is said to have come from an authentic source.

Harry Kime, whose family resides near Carluke, has been missing from his home for nearly two weeks.

Nesbitt, Gauld & Dickson have served notice on the city that they intend beginning an action against the corporation for damages on behalf of Whitfield Kirby, whose leg was broken on Feb. 28 last, by his falling on the slippery highway at Mary and Kelly streets.

Mrs. Henman, the King-street coat milliner, had a narrow escape from being suffocated from coal gas last night.

William Mercer, at one time a highly respected citizen, was sent to jail for six months this morning on a charge of vagrancy.

In connection with the Uncle Tom's Cabin Company garnishee, John G. Gauld to-day moved before Judge Snider to dissolve the garnishee, on the ground that the defendants were beyond the jurisdiction of the court. W. A. Logie opposed the motion and judgment was reserved.

GONE TO FLY TO HEAVEN.

Atlanta Negroes Marching for Stone Mountain so as to Get a Good Start To-Day.

Atlanta, Ga., March 6.—The two hundred and fifty negroes who are firmly convinced that to-morrow will be judgment day, have caused a great deal of excitement among the negroes not only of Atlanta but of other parts of the South. Atlanta seems to be the storm centre, but to-day the band of faithful has been receiving accessions from other Georgia towns, and more are expected.

The rumor that "Brother Smith," their leader, had disappeared, was verified this evening, but his followers say that he is simply hiding to keep away from a warrant sworn out against him by some non-believer. The charge against Smith and the others is creating a public disturbance. The warrants were sworn out by persons residing in the neighborhood where the "flyaways," as they have been irreverently called, have been holding their meetings. It is feared that some of the negroes who have been worked up to a frenzy will go crazy to-morrow.

A large part of the Atlanta crowd left their headquarters to-night and started on foot toward Stone Mountain, which is 20 miles below here. Their avowed purpose is to get on top of the mountain so that their flight heavenward cannot be obstructed in any way. The headquarters of the "flyaways," a little house in the Fair-street district, is besieged to-night by a curious crowd, a large number of whom declare their intention of staying up all night to see the ascension.

Many negroes have given away or sold everything they owned and will be in a sorry plight if they fail to leave this land of cane and cotton on schedule time. They are completely under the spell of their leader.

WHIRLED BY HIS WINDMILL.

Cyrus Rister Had an Exciting and Nearly Fatal Experience in a Gale.

Lambertville, N.J., March 6.—Cyrus Rister, a farmer nearly met death yesterday while attempting to repair his windmill. The high winds had blown the weather vane off the windmill, leaving the wheel uncontrolable. Rister climbed the ladder, and, in attempting to stop it had his clothing caught on a screw. His coat, shirt and undershirt were torn from him and twisted around his neck, nearly choking him. The wheel whirled him around in the air and finally drew him over the pulley wheel and down into a feedbox, wedging him in so tightly that his body stopped the wheel. For 15 or 20 minutes he was held in this position, every gust of wind choking him the more. He was nearly exhausted and was black in the face when his son, James, happened in, and, seeing his father's peril, threw the wheel out of gear and extricated him. Rister had three ribs fractured, the ligiments of the neck were severely strained and he suffers greatly from general contusions.

"And age is a time of peace
So it be free from pain."

Old Age AND ITS Infirmities.

The descent of the hill of life should be gradual and easy. The decline of life should be free from care and sickness and pain. So it would be in the great majority of cases were the prime of life lived according to Nature's rules. But in the struggle for wealth and fame, swimming against the strong tide of competition, health is neglected. We live too fast, work too hard, drink too much, sleep too little, keep our nerves on the jump all the time.

Then the Kidneys give out. They can't stand the terrible strain to which they are being subjected.

As a result the blood is not properly filtered. It passes through the system unpurified, and carries disease to every organ of the body.

That terrible affliction of old age, Rheumatism, seizes on the joints and makes life unendurable with suffering.

Muscular weakness, tiredness, depression, irregular heart action, and shortness of breath follow in its train.

Perhaps there is suppression of urine, frequently it scalds, and often there are brick red deposits in it.

The remaining years of life instead of being peaceful, happy and free from pain, are one continuous round of suffering.

Is there no help or hope this side the grave?

A thousand times YES.

Doan's Kidney Pills are the great remedy for all those ailments that arise through diseased or disordered kidneys.

They're the old people's friend. They relieve their sufferings, cure their diseases, and infuse new health and hope and happiness into their life.

But always see that you get Doan's; other pills are almost sure to disappoint. For sale by

Weak Women

In the spring suffer more severely that at any other season. Scott's Sarsaparilla would soon make them healthy, strong, active and vigorous. A weak, debilitated, played out, run down, suffering and complaining woman can build herself up so that her friends will hardly know her. Her sprightly carriage, cheery laugh and snappy conversation will make her welcomed, admired and appreciated wherever she goes.

MADE STRONG

by Scott's Sarsaparilla, the blotches and pimples cleared from her complexion, that tired feeling gone, no longer nervous, irritable and cross grained, she becomes a real new woman.

"I was so run down that I could not attend to my work," writes Miss M.J Gould, Lloydtown, Ont. Mr. W.S. Bond, our storekeeper, recommended Scott's Sarsaparilla. I tried it. One bottle cured me and I am again strong and vigorous, wholly made so

NOWADAYS, when women are trying to do everything it is not strange that many things are over-done. It is not strange that there are all kinds of physical and mental disturbances. If the woman who is a doctor, or a lawyer, or a journalist, or in business would not try to be a society woman too it might be different; but the woman who knows when she has done a day's work has yet to be born. Usually a woman's way is to keep doing until she drops.

Working in this way has manifold evils. As an old colored Aunty used to say: "There's always somethin' the matter. If it isn't one thing it's two." The most common trouble resulting from over-exertion, either mentally or physically, is constipation of the bowels, with all its attendant horrors.

There is no human ailment that so saps the energies, so deadens the ambitions, as that coming from the bowels forgetting their vocation, or the liver only working about eight hours out of the twenty-four.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most effectual remedy in the market. They work upon the system easily, naturally. There is no unpleasant nausea after taking them. No griping—no pain—no discomfort. They are composed of materials that go through the system gradually, collecting all impurities and like the good little servants that they are, disposing of them effectually.

MRS. ROSANNA M. BLISS, of Colosse, Oswego County, New York, says:

"I had suffered much with dizziness, sometimes faintness from too much mental work. Over exertion physically caused constipation of the bowels. I tried liver pills. They gave temporary relief. Two years ago I began using Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have, at intervals, used three bottles, and I am now enjoying uninterrupted good health."

Yours truly,

Rosanna M. Bliss.

A COLUMN OF "X" RAYS

THE POSSIBILITIES IN SIGHT BY THE ROENTGEN CATHODIC PROCESS.

The Poverty of a Suitor Betrayed by an Unseen Ray Photograph—An Apprehensive Darky—Took No Chances—Kelly's Goat.

INTERIOR OF KELLY'S GOAT.

BETRAYED.

A Modern Romance of Wealth and Love in Three Chapters.

Mr. Ponpon Mortgage, the renowned financier, sat in his sumptuously furnished office in Wall street, thinking bitter, hard thoughts. Deep lines furrowed his brow and his fingers twitched nervously as he turned a letter over and over in his hands and read again the lines therein.

"Never have I tried to thwart my daughter's slightest wish," he said at last, "but this thing is too serious. Upon it depends her whole future happiness. This letter from Reggy Van Ordinaire tells me that he loves her and that she returns his affection. Hah! Is it so? Then I must and shall cure her of this absurd passion. Boy!"

A youth entered the private office and bowed to the great financier.

"Go to this address and tell the professor to call at my house to-night at 8 o'clock and to bring a Rumkorff coil and a Crooke's tube with him."

The youth bowed again and left the office.

"Once more will I save my fortunes by the use of the cathode rays," muttered the banker. "Hah! Reggy Van Ordinaire, I doubt me if you can stand that test!"

CHAPTER II.

Reggy Van Ordinaire and Mildred Mortgage sat in the yellow drawing room of Banker J. Ponpon Mortgage's palatial mansion on Murray Hill. Reggy was in faultless evening dress and Mildred wore a charming gown. The skirt was of plain black satin, well made and perfectly hanging. The bodice was of pale blue soft silk, with the genuine 1830 sleeve, beginning to puff low on the shoulder. It ended in a deep cuff of olive green velvet. The bodice proper was of silk under chiffon, with three simulated box plaits of olive green velvet beginning at the short, square yoke. The high stock collar fastened in an olive green rosette.

Suddenly the lights went out and the subtile cathode rays from a Crooke's tube were directed full on Reggy. Neither he nor Mildred noticed it because they were too deeply submerged in the sweet dreams of perfect love.

CHAPTER III.

"Mildred, darling, hear me. I swear to you that"——

"Stop!" The beautiful girl raised her genuine 1830-sleeve-beginning-to-puff-low-on-the-shoulder arm with an imperious gesture.

"Stop, Reginald Tabledote Van Ordinaire! It is useless for you to attempt to deny the evidence of a Roentgen process cathode photograph. See for yourself!" and the proud girl held out a large photograph.

Reggy looked at it, and then turned as white as he conveniently could. There, in the horrible cathode picture, was his face and form in evening dress, but, standing out with startling clearness, were the pictures of three of his other girls, which he had in an inside pocket—five love letters written by Mildred's rival, 15 cents in coin in his vest pocket, nine pawn tickets, a half-used commutation ticket for a Bowery eating house and a dunning letter for his room rent. He also noticed with horror that the outlines of his dickey, or false shirt front, were standing out with cruel distinctness in the photograph.

"I could have, perhaps, forgiven the rest," cried Mildred, with a proud toss of her shapely head, "but the dickey—never!"

And Reginald Tabledote Van Ordinaire swankled out into the cheerless night—a broken man.—N. Y. World.

A Apprehensive Darky.

"'Scuse me, suh," he said, as he approached one of the attaches of the Smithsonian Institution, "but I wants ter ax yoh sumfin'."

"What's the matter?" was the inquiry. "Are you looking for something to eat?"

"N'indeed. I ain' hungry. I wants scientific infohmation. I wants ter know 'bout dese hyah X rays dat dey's talkin' de phortygrafs wif. Dey done tells me dey kin take picters right fro yer; dat when dey goes after ye wif one er dem, yer skin an' yer clo's ain' no 'tection 't all."

"That's what they claim."

"An' ef I dun hed chickin' foh dinner, I s'pose dey could jes fro me down an' take a picter ob de chickin."

"I believe the theory is something like that."

"Da's whut I thought. Da's whut I thought. But yere's whut I done come ter ax yer. Does yer b'lieve dat dey could git er good nuff likeness ob de chicken ter inable de ownah ter reco'nize 'im?"—Washington Star.

Took No Chances.

"And you tell me," the modern girl murmured, thoughtfully, "that your heart has my name, and mine alone, engraved upon it?"

"Yes," he answered; "and it is the truth."

"You can also call to mind the financial resources such as to warrant you in undertaking to supply me with such a home as that to which I have been accustomed?"

"Of course."

"Would you mind going up to the next corner with me?"

"Certainly not. But for what purpose?"

"They are conducting some experiments with the cathode ray, and, if it is all the same to you, I'd like to have what you say verified."—Washington Star.

Escaped in Their Night Clothes.

Exeter, Ont., March 6.—This morning about 5 o'clock the frame dwelling house of Ralph Keddy, third concession of the Township of Usborne, was totally destroyed by fire, with all of the contents, except an organ. Mr. Keddy and family had a narrow escape from being burned in their night clothes. The fire is supposed to have started from the parlor stove. Insured in the Hay Township Fire Insurance for $500.

AN ITCHING HEAD

IS a source of great discomfort. It's annoying to yourself and disgusting to your friends.

Most times dandruff, scurf, or scales cause it, and these, if neglected, produce baldness. By using Hairene you can clean the scalp, relieve the itching, nourish the hair roots, and produce a vigorous growth of hair.

A Consul's Retort.

It happened at a dinner given at the hospitable home of an eminent lawyer in Toronto. A dessert spoon had fallen on the knees of a well-known citizen, who is consul for a powerful empire and to whose quickness in repartee just a tinge of accent adds a pleasantry. As the men were rising, the spoon fell from the clothing of the consul. "Now, look here," said the host "when I asked you to dine, I never expected you to carry off the plate." The consul picked up the spoon and looked at it closely, "Ah, I thought it was silver."

A Bye-Election at Collingwood.

Collingwood, March 6.—The bye-election for the vacant seat on the Council took place in the First Ward to-day. Three candidates—Messrs. Geo. Moberly, whose resignation caused the vacancy; Mr. Dan Wilson and Mr. S. L. Smith—were in the field. Mr. Wilson was elected with a plurality after a hard fight. He will take the seat Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Council.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

The following letter has been received by a citizen from Mr. Angus C. Dickson of South Africa, who was for several years a student in the Canadian General Electric Works here. His many friends in town will be pleased, doubtless, to hear how he is getting on in his new home, therefore the following extracts are published from his letter, which was mailed just one month ago :

"The newspapers have been all received and are much appreciated by all, although we are bound to admit that already a very large number of the names appearing in the personal items are becoming unfamiliar. As I suppose you already know, we have been having most exciting times of it here, owing to the troubles in the Transvaal. Of course it has partly subsided, though the demands of the Boer Government are daily assuming greater proportions. The prisoners, 'the gallant Jameson' amongst them, have been sent on to Natal to be forwarded from there to England, where they are to be dealt with by the British Government, and of course we are anxious to know what fate awaits awaits them. By the way, Fred Lingham of Belleville is one of the prisoners, and to-night's paper speaks of him as 'The cute American who came out on top.' However all will be confiscated under their law, if he has not previously disposed of it. Every person here sympathises with Jameson and the feeling against the people of Johannesberg is very bitter, especially against the Cornish miners, who actually forced the women and children from their seats in the trains in their terror and hurry to get away from the place. Jamieson, poor chap, was simply led into a trap and betrayed. He was asked to go to their assistance by all the leading citizens of Johannesberg, and they promised to meet him at a given point with 2,000 armed men, whereupon he made a forced march of several hundred miles, his men four days and four nights almost without food or sleep, and fought his way to Konigsdorp, within a very few miles of the city, when he was completely surrounded by the Boers, and notwithstanding the fact a large number of Bettinger's horse were eye-witnesses of the fight, they would not go to his assistance ; besides the fact that they could have had 1,500 armed men in Johannesburg. This, I expect, will be old news to you, but could you have seen the excitement that was here in and around the newspaper offices during the time that the telegrams were coming in and the extras being issued, I am sure that you would have been stirred as we were.

I am now, I am glad to say, at the work I am most familiar with electrical engineering—and we are putting in a road, double track, of about eighteen miles on the most improved system. In fact, there will be nothing to beat it in the world. It will certainly be a grand piece of work when completed. The influx is still as great as ever, though what they are going to do is really a mystery. Heretofore the great majority have gone straight away up country. Now everything is simply dead there, the mines all closed and in most instances full af water, so that in any case it will again be in working order, and Johannesberg without the mines of course is nothing, in fact it like a man without a backbone.

To-night at dinner we were talking of home and saying we felt sure you would all enjoy some of the fresh fruit we were having—grapes, pears, peaches, bananas and tomatoes in abundance ; quite a contrast I imagine, to your usual bill of fresh fare at this time of year in Canada.

H—— S—— is as cheery and original as ever. On New Year's day when going over the Kloof and up Table mountain, it was very hot indeed and Harry was much struck with the idea that it was the first of January and he arrayed in his lightest cricketing flannels, and not all of those. His oft repeated remark (copiously illustrated for the benefit of the Matabeles) was "Well, if this does not take the fruit cake, here I am in all my summer clothing and all the poor wretches at home nearly frozen to death," Harry is hard at work and I think will get on well. As you no doubt have heard, he was presented with a medal on his way over in recognition of his services as chaplain.

The troop ship "Victoria" on her way home from India with some regiments, homeward bound, is now in port, having called to take on the 42nd (Black Watch), which is also "off for merry England," (as they sing), and another regiment whose name I do not know. These, together with the regiment from home that take the 42nd's place, make the locality decidedly lively and military. Add to this the arrival in the bay of three war ships just come down from Ashantee and you have the picture complete.

Believe me, yours faithfully,
ANGUS C. DIXON.

"After all, if we hunt vice and crime back to their lairs, we will be pretty sure to find them in a gin mill. Drunkeness is the prolific mother of most of the evil doing. Drunkeness is the prime cause of all the trouble."—Police Superintendent, New York city.

"I do not overstate it when I say the two hundred thousand saloons in this country have been instrumental in destroying more human lives in the last five years than the two million armed men did during the four years of the civil war. Whisky is a more deadly weapon than shot or shell or any of the implements of our modern warfare."—Hon. William Wyndom, secretary of the treasury, United States.

There has been a good deal said about the necessary increase of taxation in case the public revenue now derived from the liquor traffice should be cut off by prohibition. A valued exchange puts the case in this way : "How can prohibition increase taxation ? Is it not for policemen, judges, sheriffs, courts, jails, almhouses, asylums, etc.? Then if we do away with 85 per cent. of the work of these forces, how does that increase taxes ?"

Abraham Lincoln was one of the broadest-minded and most far-seeing statesmen of his country. He successfully headed the great abolition movement and made it a success. We believe had he lived a few years more he would have led as successfully the prohibition movement. His mind was fully made up, as will be seen from the following quotation : "Whether or not the world would be vastly benefitted by a total and final banishment from it of all intoxicating drinks, seems to me not now an open question."

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

A HATCHERY FOR BASS.

It is Badly Needed on the Back Lakes —Salmon Trout Should be Exterminated.

The following petition has been placed for signature in the stores of nearly all the Peterborough owners of Stony Lake cottages, and when sufficiently signed will be forwarded to Ottawa :—

To the Honourable the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa :

SIR,—Your petitioners, resident of the Midland District, Ontario, respectfully show :

That the chain of lakes and waters on the Trent River extend over an extensive range of country in the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Ontario, Northumberland and Durham, and are, by reason of their picturesque character and their abundance of gamey and valuable fish, the resort of large numbers of persons who frequent them for pleasure and health. These waters originally contained maskinonge and bass, fish of not only most excellent quality for the table, but fish which afforu to the angler the highest pleasure. About two hundred persons have erected summer cottages on Sturgeon, Chemong, Rice and Stony Lakes, and the residents of these cottages, and many American and other visitors expend annually large sums of money on these waters to the great benefit of the people generally.

Stony Lake was formerly stocked by the Government with salmon trout, which have multiplied are now abundant, but unfortunately are not to be caught either by trolling or with the rod, and to catch by seine is not permitted by the fishery regulations.

These salmon trout, while affording neither sport nor food, consume vast quantities of other fish and are simply a nuisance. They are only caught in the fall of the year, when on beds, at a time when they are not fit for food, and by persons who violate the law.

The supply of fish for local use is largely provided by these waters, and it is of much consequence that the supply should be kept up, but unfortunately it is found that the bass and maskinonge, which alone it is possible to catch by lawful fishing, are rapidly decreasing, and fears are entertained that they will soon be practically exterminated.

Your petitioners believe that an abundant supply of fish, for the purpose of relieving the people who are so remote from the sea, and for the purpose of securing to them the pleasures of the angler, is of sufficient importance to justify the erection of an establishment at some central point on these lakes for the propagation of maskinonge and black bass.

Your petitioners also suggest the desirability of exterminating from Stony Lake the salmon trout, which are so destructive to other fish, and so impossible to catch save by the seine.

Your petitioners desire to call your attention to the fact that the erection of dams for the purposes of the Trent Canal will make available for breeding purposes large bodies of water in the shape of ponds, but unless the dams are so constructed that fish may pass up and down, their usefulness as fishing grounds will be destroyed.

Since the stoppage by your Department of the saw-dust from the mills being deposited in the River, there has been a very marked improvement in the river fishing.

Your petitioners therefore pray ;

1. That a hatchery for propagating bass and maskinonge may be established at a central point on our back lakes.
2. That it may be lawful to catch salmon trout by seine until they are exterminated.
3. That proper provision may be made on all dams on the Trent waters for the passage of fish.

And your petitioners will ever pray.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To Add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said :—

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help ? If death is preventible, how ?

The timely answer is : By scientific and successful kidney treatment — by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc. ; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line :—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

HE WAS A DEAD SHOT

One Man Killed, One Dying and Eight Wounded.

CRAZY MAN'S DEED IN BROCKVILLE

Mr. Peter Moore, Formerly of Hamilton, Dead—Lapointe, the Murderer, Had a Breech-Loading Shot Gun Which He Fired and Loaded for More Victims.

Brockville, Ont., March 9.—Never in its history of nearly a century has the town of Brockville been so convulsed and thrown into such a terrible state of excitement as it was to-day at noon by the enactment in broad daylight, and on one of its leading thoroughfares, of one of the most awful tragedies ever occurring in the Dominion of Canada. The total result of the tragic affair was one man shot dead on the spot, the Chief of Police mortally wounded, another member of the force seriously injured, an Indian badly hurt, and six others suffering more or less from wounds inflicted by a single man armed with a breech-loading shotgun; and the cause of all the terrible destruction and suffering is himself lying at the point of death from wounds inflicted by shots fired at him in order to put a stop to his death-dealing work and effect his capture.

The town clock had just struck the noon hour, and the streets were thronged with people on their way to dinner. Suddenly the sharp crack of a gun was heard in the western end of the town, which caused the hurrying crowd to stop and ascertain the cause. This was followed by other reports in quick succession. Soon the news spread that several persons had been shot, and the excitement became intense. The cause of all the trouble was a man named Lapointe, who resides about six miles north of the town on what is known as the Perth road. He has usually been looked upon as of not very sound mind, but generally inoffensive, except when under the influence of liquor. He was a noted fox-hunter, and usually carried a gun in his rambles about the country. He was in town on Saturday, and had been drinking some. He left his horses at an hotel here and must have walked home that night. His movements during the early part of to-day are not known as yet, though it is supposed he walked into town. At all events, just about noon he made his appearance on Perth street, walking in the direction of King street, the principal business street of the town. He was accosted by several parties on his way in, and he then talked quite rationally and seemed to be quite sober.

As he neared King street he suddenly threw his head back and gave vent to several loud yells such as fox-hunters often use in calling their dogs, and at the same time fired a couple of shots in the air. When he had got within about 20 yards of the corner of King and Perth streets he took up his position alongside a high billboard on the west side of Perth street. Just at this time, Chief of Police Rose happened to come up to the opposite corner, and Lapointe, taking deliberate aim, fired, the charge of heavy buckshot lodging in his chest, throat and head. In falling to the ground the Chief pushed an old man named Moore forward past the corner of the building.

Lapointe fired again, and Moore fell dead. Alonzo Serviss was almost alongside Moore at the time, but he escaped the effects of the shot altogether. But an old Indian named Dickson, who was also close by, was not so fortunate. He received a portion of the charge in his face and head, staggered, and fell heavily to the ground. By this time, as might be supposed, the wildest excitement prevailed, the sharp reports of Lapointe's gun, his occasional wild yells, the horrified exclamations of the spectators and the mad rush on the part of the latter to escape from the dreadful carnage, going to make up a scene horrible in the extreme. But brave men were not wanting in the crowd, and as soon as they had collected themselves plans were set on foot to capture the murderer.

The latter was all the time standing at the point where he had first stationed himself, and at each discharge of his murderous weapon could be seen calmly taking loaded cartridges from his pocket and reloading. Constable Tinsley, who was in the police headquarters, only a few rods away, came out, and from behind the weigh scales close by was firing at Lapointe with a revolver. The range was too long and his shots proved ineffective. All this time Lapointe was firing as fast as he could, and several persons were more or less injured.

Finally, Tinsley secured possession of a shotgun and crossed over to a grocery store kept by Mrs. Murphy, entering by a side door on King street. In order to get at Lapointe, Tinsley stepped out on the sidewalk, and just as he raised his arm Lapointe fired, and the constable had to retreat, covered with blood.

In the meantime two or three parties armed with guns and revolvers had got to the upper windows of adjacent buildings and fired at Lapointe. All at once Lapointe was seen to drop his gun and fall to the ground. One of the shots had struck him in the abdomen and another in the leg. The angry mob made a rush for the murderer the moment he fell. Seizing him they dragged him to the centre of the road. Cries of "Shoot him!" "Lynch him!" were heard above the din. By the efforts of some of the more cool-headed, the mob were prevented from carrying their threats into execution, and Lapointe was taken to the police station and locked up in a cell.

When quiet had been somewhat restored, the scene presented was agonizing in the extreme. The body of the old man Moore lay on the sidewalk cold in death. In a store adjoining Chief of Police Rose lay suffering terribly from his wounds. The old Indian lay on the sidewalk covered with blood. Policeman Tinsley was carried into the fire station so covered with blood that no person could tell how badly he was hurt. Others who were not so seriously injured were nevertheless besmeared with blood, and it was difficult to estimate the extent of their injuries.

Those injured but not so seriously are: Fred A. Stagg, George W. Stagg, Samuel Kilborn, Robert McCormack, Thos. Devereaux and J. Boyd. Chief Rose was removed to his residence as quickly as possible; Constable Tinsley and Dickson, the Indian, were removed to the General Hospital, and J. Boyd to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. All the city doctors were promptly in attendance and did everything in their power for the unfortunate sufferers.

Lapointe was also removed to the General Hospital. He is terribly wounded and cannot recover. A charge of heavy buckshot had lodged in his stomach and bowels, and up to the present writing 16 shots have been extracted. Chief Rose is awfully mangled about the head and chest. He is still alive, but no hope is entertained that he will survive. Constable Tinsley is doing as well as can be expected and will recover, as will also the Indian. The other victims are all suffering considerably, but no danger is anticipated in any of these cases. Besides those who were hurt, a great many had hairbreadth escapes.

Lapointe, the murderer, belongs to a respectable family. His father was a wealthy man, owning nearly a thousand acres of land close to Brockville at the time of his death. He left all his family in good circumstances. The murderer, now lying at the point of death, was always of a morose, gloomy disposition, and would go for days without speaking to anyone. When he came to town he would sometimes get the worse of liquor, and when in that condition was dangerous and seemed to have a sort of mania for human life. Last summer he got on a spree and was arrested and lodged in jail for some days. Since then it is said he has entertained a grudge at the police, which may account for his selecting the chief as his first victim. Lapointe is about 35 years of age. He is unmarried and lives on his farm, a sister keeping house for him.

Peter Moore, who was shot dead, came here from Hamilton five or six years ago, and has been employed most of the time with Mr. Heather, a florist. His first wife died in Hamilton, but a family of several sons and daughters still reside there. One of his sons holds an important and responsible position in The Hamilton Spectator. Moore married again after coming to Brockville.

Chief Rose came here five years ago from Dundas, where he held the position of chief of police. He is one of the best officers in Canada, and commands the highest respect and esteem of all classes in the community.

Constable Tinsley is a son of E. Tinsley of Hamilton, Chief Game Warden of the Province of Ontario. He was for a number of years on the Mounted Police, and came to Brockville last year as a guard at the asylum. He joined the police force last summer and had proved himself a most efficient officer. The gun used by Lapointe was a breechloading, No. 12, Richards, and the cartridges contained three and a quarter drachms of powder and one and one-eighth ounces No. 5 shot. The whole affair has cast a sad gloom over the town, and so deep is the feeling among all classes that business has been practically suspended ever since it happened.

BALLINGTON BOOTH IS AT WORK.

He is Now Busy Organizing His New Religious Movement.

New York, March 9.—The new religious movement on similar lines to the Salvation Army, to be led by Ballington Booth and his wife, may now be said to be fairly started. Ballington Booth appeared at his new headquarters in the Bible House this morning and at once began to get the work of organization under way. Upon his arrival, he at once entered his private office and denied himself to a hundred or so of persons, who called to pay their respects and wish him success in his new work. The name of the new movement has not been decided on. There is also doubt as to just what uniform will be adopted. The indications are, however, that dark blue costumes and black slouch hats for the men will be chosen.

The motto of the organization will be "Jehova Nisi! the Lord My Banner!" Mr. Booth also stated that he and Mrs. Booth would address a meeting in Carnegie Hall in a few days.

Mrs. Booth said: "Mr. Booth and I are gratified and encouraged by Sunday's meeting. We had not hoped for such a reception. Our lives are now consecrated to the service of bringing America to Christ. If we win success, as I am sure we will, our hearts will go out to God for His blessing, and to the American people for their encouragement, their sympathy, and their love."

FELL ON FIRST VOTE.

Sir Charles Tupper's Scheme Did Not Carry.

THE CHIGNECTO MARINE RAILWAY

Will Get No Extended Time for the Completion of the Work The Ill-Starred Scheme Will Have to Sink or Swim Without Further Aid.

Ottawa, March 9.—(Special)—At the opening of the afternoon session Dr. Weldon, member for Albert, called attention to a statement which appeared in The Toronto News of Saturday, stating that he (Dr. Weldon) was willing to go into the Bowell Administration a few weeks ago, and to accept the Remedial policy and office together. He said he had sent a copy of this extract to the Prime Minister, requesting from him an answer which he might communicate to the House, and to-day he has received Sir Mackenzie's reply, as follows:

Ottawa, March 9, 1896.

Dear Dr. Weldon,—I have to acknowledge your letter of the 7th inst., calling my attention to a paragraph which appeared in The Toronto News to the following effect. (Then comes the quotation.) The Premier concludes: "This statement is entirely without foundation."

Dr. Weldon added: "I wish to say, Mr. Speaker, that it may be a question of practical politics within our party as to whether at an early date The Toronto Mail and The Toronto News should not be read out of the Liberal-Conservative party." (Cheers and laughter.)

On the Jockey Club Bill, Mr. Martin said it seemed to him that the 12 original members of the Club Committee to be appointed by the shareholders would really control the affairs of the association, and as it was intended that the club should control racing in Canada, it was a matter of considerable importance. He asked that the bill should stand over in order that he might have an opportunity of consulting interested parties.

Mr. Edgar also called attention to the extensive powers given to the club by section 5, and suggested that it would be necessary to modify them.

Col. Tisdale said he had had a conference with some of the gentlemen who had objected to the measure on previous occasions, and was prepared to make amendments which would cover the points in dispute. He had no objection to the bill standing over so that members could be able to study them.

Mr. Powell (Westmoreland) moved the second reading of the bill respecting the Chignecto Marine Transport Railway, the object of which he explained was to extend the time for the completion of the road and empowering the company to issue bonds.

Commodore Welsh said he did not like the look of this bill. (Laughter.) As early as 1882, when the measure first came before Parliament, the only man in the House connected with shipping who gave his opinion regarding it said the project was not practicable. If the bill passed and the enterprise were completed it meant a cost to the country of five million dollars. In his judgment the project was nothing but a wild-cat scheme. In his characteristic manner, the Commodore proceeded to read and comment upon speeches delivered in past debates regarding this project. Directing his observations at Mr. Dickey, he remarked, amid great laughter, "I owned steamers long before you were born, my hon. friend." He thought this bill should not be passed until it was known what the Government intended to do regarding the subsidy. If the enterprise was completed it would be a monument of parliamentary folly as long as there was a rail on the road. (Laughter.)

Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., pointed out that in 1870 a royal commission was appointed to enquire into the projects necessary for the improving of the Canadian waterways. Across the neck of land where this railway was to run a canal was projected, the estimated cost of which was five million dollars, and a later estimate gave it as nine million dollars. Parliament approved of the project, and when at a later period it was proposed to substitute a railway instead of a canal, the subsidy voted by Parliament, capitalized, amounted to $2,343,000, or over six million dollars less than the canal would have cost. Referring to the obligation on the part of Parliament to pass legislation, Sir Charles pointed out that by an amendment to a railway act in 1888, just at the time when the company were prepared to float their bonds, they were prevented from going on the market, as the amended statute provided that no bonds provided for a public work could be issued until a certain amount of expenditure had been made. But for that amendment the company would have got all the capital in London long ago. They had expended over three million dollars already, and their bonds were held by leading capitalists in England. He felt that it would be a fatal blow to Canadian enterprises, however sound and valuable they might be, if the Parliament of Canada did not keep good faith in this matter and allow the company to issue additional bonds and to extend the time for constructing the road. If this permission were given, he had every reason to know the work would be energetically pushed.

Mr. Baird said he had deep sympathy for the unfortunate stockholders of the company and knew of no more tangible way of expressing it than by discouraging them in the scheme, and thus preventing their suffering further loss. There was no future for the company, and the enterprise had no possible chance of success. This was largely due to the transformation in methods of ocean carriage that has taken place since the scheme was first mooted. Prices have been very much reduced. There is practically no trade between the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Bay of Fundy. The trade of the

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

History is being made very rapidly in Europe just now. The lines which for years have been so tightly drawn between nations have loosened in every way, and new associations, or even entanglements, seem to be on the eve or formation. That the Emperor William's foolish quarrel with Britain shook the Triple Alliance to the point of dissolution was tacitly admitted at the time of the first outbreak of British hostility consequent upon the Kaiser's message to President Kruger, and it is possible that the alliance may no further stand the overwhelming shock of Italy's defeat in Abyssinia. Instead of strengthening his power by ignoring the feelings of Austria and Italy for the cultivation of friendly relations with Russia, the Emperor has lost the moral support which Britain was always supposed to give the Dreibund. France can now become Germany's ally only by the cession of Alsace-Lorraine, and the world is now treated to a sight of Madame la Republique looking coquettishly across the channel of her ancient foe, John Bull, while John, good soul, seems to be rapidly finding out that Madame is a remarkably fine woman, despite all her old quarrels. An Anglo British alliance, for offence and defence, is probably out of the question, but the reaching of an understanding by which the varying conflicting interests of the two nations all over the world may be harmonized is not merely possible, it is extremely probable.

The wise course pursued by British statesmen in recent years in avoiding entanglements with continental nations has had too good results to be deserted now. Britain's isolation has been now shown to be a source of some great strength. Britain holds the balance of power. A combination of European nations against her is impossible without re-adjustment of old-time settlements—a course which would tear the very heart-strings of Frenchman German, Austrian, Russ and Italian alike. Britain has no need to make alliances, nor will she do so, but the formation of a close friendship between Britain and France, and even with Russia, seems well within the range of practical politics, and a display of mutual confidence might do much to bring about such a good result.—Montreal Herald.

SIR Adolphe Caron's name is mentioned in connection with the High Commissionership. Whoever the present Government sends ought to buy a return ticket, the Hamilton Times thinks.

CANADA'S five million people carry five hundred million dollars of life insurance. Can any other country on the earth give a similarly strong proof of the sense, providence and self-reliant nature of its people?

THEY must be preparing for the elections. The Conservative members have ordered 100,000 copies of Sir Charles Tupper's speech on the second reading of the Remedial Bill to be printed for distribution throughout the country.

THE PLANTING OF TREES.

Hon. John Dryden Proposes to Make Changes in the Law.

Mr. Dryden's bill revising and consolidating the acts relating to the planting and growing of trees, makes a number of changes. Section 2 of the tree-planting act, which provided that section 3 of that act, should not apply to cities, towns and villages, unless declared to be in force by bylaws, is repealed, and section 3 now applies to all municipalities. This section provides that the property in trees planted on highways or boundary lines between lots, shall be vested in the owners of adjoining lands, and gives such owners the right to plant such trees for shade or ornament. The provision that the treasury of the province should refund half of any bonus paid for tree planting is repealed, subject to claims with respect to trees planted prior to the passing of this act. The original act set apart $50,000 for the purpose of meeting these claims, but so few municipalities availed themselves of the power to encourage tree planting by granting bonuses that it has been deemed wise to do away with the Ontario Fund.

IN THE IMPERIAL HOUSE.

What England Will Pay Towards the Fast Steamship Service Across the Atlantic Naval Estimates.

London, March 9.—In the House of Commons to-day, Right Hon. R. W. Handbury, Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury Department, replying to John Henniker Heaton, M.P. for Canterbury, said that the Imperial Government had not consented to contribute £75,000 towards a subsidy for a steamship service between Canada and England, but have intimated to the Canadian Government their readiness, under certain conditions, to make some contribution. They suggested to the Canadian Government that by calling for tenders they might ascertain the probable cost of a service. The Imperial Government would then decide the amount of British aid to the scheme. This confirms previous cablegrams stating that the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain had promised to contribute one-third of the total subsidy found necessary.

Replying to Sir John Leng, member for Aberdeen, Right. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said he had just received a strong protest from the Canadian Government against the Cattle Exclusion Bill. He said it would be carefully considered.

The House resumed the discussion of the naval estimates on the vote for more men. John Dillon, the leader of the anti-Parnellites, and William Redmond both contended that the naval proposals were intended as a menace to the United States and for that reason every Irishman would oppose them.

The vote was carried by a majority of 216, the division showing 261 members in favor of it to 45 against.

HE WAS KNOCKED SENSELESS.

Charles Wagner Struck by a Package Fired From a Moving Train.

Collingwood, March 9.—Charles Wagner, a brakeman on the G.T.R., met with an accident at Newmarket Station to-day. While he was standing on the platform the Nort Bay train passed at a very rapid rate of speed. While it passed the mail clerk threw out a number of bundles of paper, one of which struck Wagner on the back of the head, knocking him senseless. He was brought to his home here on the mixed train. Dr. Stephen, G. T. R. physician, who is attending him, expects he will be able to be out in a week or ten days.

THE S.O.E. GRAND LODGE.

Delegates Arriving in Peterboro to Attend the Twenty-First Annual Session.

Peterboro', March 9.—(Special.)—The 21st annual session of the Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England opens at the Court House here at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, and to-day delegates began to arrive. H. H. HOLMES BEARS HIS FATE.

Sheriff Clement Reads the Death Warrant to the Condemned Scoundrel.

Philadelphia, March 9.—The death warrant which Governor Hastings signed for the execution of H. H. Holmes on May 7 was received by Sheriff Clement to-day from Harrisburg. The sheriff accompanied by his solicitors, A. S. L. Shields and Attorney-General Crew and Lawyer S. P. Rotan, of counsel for Holmes, went to the county prison, where the warrant was formally read to the condemned man by Sheriff Clement. The latter declined to allow reporters to accompany the party. The sheriff announced that the number of witnesses at the execution would not be in excess of that at less important hangings.

Another Forger Comes to Canada.

Presque Isle, Me., March 9.—Augustine Macconville, a farmer of Washburne, Me., during the last few months forged his brother's name to notes amounting to $1500 or $2000, which notes were placed in circulation. The forgery was discovered about Feb. 29. Macconville left for Canada March 2, and no trace of him has since been found.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigourous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't an experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND, March 2nd. (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I had found it impossible when tired to stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

Dishonest Dealers!

A Special Feature Adopted in Their Business.

YOU TRUSTINGLY ASK FOR PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

The Dealer Often Gives You a Common Substitute.

As the sun rises in the east to brighten and enliven the day, so the mighty fame of Paine's Celery Compound spreads from day to day, giving comfort and gladness to all weary, sick and diseased people.

All popular and fast selling articles are imitated from time to time. Liquid preparations, using the name "Celery Compound," are on the market, and are often dishonestly foisted on the unsuspecting customer, who asks for nature's great healer, Paine's Celery Compound.

There are, unfortunately, too many dealers who work this miserable deception, actuated by a greedy desire for large profits. The imitations and worthless medicines pay such immense profits, that Paine's Celery Compound is held in the background, simply because it pays a small profit.

It is positively cruel to thus deceive the trustful and confiding customer. The sick and suffering who ask for Paine's Celery Compound, knowing it to be the best, and their only hope of cure, should never be treated in such a heartless manner.

If every intending purchaser of Paine's Celery Compound but examines the bottle and outer cartoon, he or she will certainly avoid deception. The genuine Paine's Celery Compound, "the kind that cures," has the "stalk of celery," and the name "Paine's;" all others are frauds and deceptions.

SKYLARKING RESULTED IN DEATH

The Unfortunate End of Leslie Gray, a Member of "A" Battery.

Kingston, March 9.—Leslie Gray, discharged from "A" Battery in consequence of injuries to the spine received in "skylarking" with a comrade in his quarters at Tete Du Pont Barracks, died at the General Hospital yesterday. Recently the surgeons informed him that nothing could be done towards curing his complaint. To relieve his excruciating agony, however, he was operated upon some days ago.

Cecil Rhodes is All Right.

London, March 9.—In the financial articles to-morrow two papers will allude to a rumor that Mr. Rhodes would be arrested at Beira, at which port he intended to land en route to Rhodesia, and this is given as the explanation of the decline in the prices of South African mining securities. Beyond these rumors there is nothing to show that the Government intends to place Mr. Rhodes under arrest.

The Baronet's Statement in the Commons.

THEY WILL INVITE MR. GREENWAY

To Go to Ottawa to Confer on the Remedial Bill, But the House Must Go on Towards the Second Reading—A Fraud and a Sham.

Ottawa, March 9.—Private members' day in the House is usually devoid of incidents of importance, but this was an exception to the general rule. Two events of extraordinary moment marked the proceedings. One was the defeat of a piece of private legislation supported by Sir Charles Tupper, and the other was the presentation of a statement that Premier Greenway would be invited to confer with the Dominion Government after the Remedial Bill receives its second reading. The division upon the motion for the second reading of Mr. Powell's bill to extend the time for the completion of the wild-cat enterprise known as the Chignecto Marine Railway, by which it is proposed to connect the Straits of Northumberland with the Bay of Fundy, was a severe shock to the Tupper boom. The influence of Sir Charles may be measured by the fact that, though he made an earnest appeal in behalf of the bill, the House rejected it by a vote of 54 for to 55 against. Ten Ministerialists, with Dr. Weldon at their head, enrolled themselves with the Opposition against the leader of the House. The measure in itself was not particularly objectionable, but in view of the refusal of Sir Charles to say that it is not the intention of the Government to propose a further subsidy to the company, which was originally voted $170,000 a year for 20 years, and of the implication that the grant will be renewed, the House determined to give no further encouragement to the ill-starred enterprise with which the name of Tupper is indissolubly associated. It is ominously significant that in the first division upon a question in the consideration of which Sir Charles Tupper has taken any part a decision should be reached adverse to his wish.

This has been a bad day for the Government, a very bad day, but a good day for the country. Sir Charles Tupper's announcement on the school question is an acknowledgment that the Remedial Bill is a mistake and a confession that if persisted in the Government's policy will result disastrously to the party. It is a simple question between defeat in the House or defeat at the polls. A defeat in the House can only be averted by a number of the others voting for the bill, and in that case they sacrifice themselves at the polls. The Government have managed to use Sir Donald Smith so as to get an official statement from the Manitoba Government that they would agree to a conference on the invitation of the Government at Ottawa. The Ottawa Cabinet announce their intention to hold a friendly conference with a view to a settlement, but, in the meantime, to press a hostile measure to the second reading. This means that coercion and conciliation will go hand in hand. They intend to say that they tried Mr. Laurier's policy and failed. It won't do. Mr. Laurier would never approach Mr. Greenway with a gun pointed at his head and say, "If you do not come to time I will shoot." Under such a threat a man is not likely to be in a mood to negotiate. An olive branch does not hang well on a threat. Sir Charles Tupper's announcement is ostensibly for a friendly attempt, but it concludes with a distinct threat. He is not only going to keep the shotgun pointed at Mr. Greenway, but he is going to let him know that it is loaded. Nothing can come of such a course and the Government know it; their announcement is a sham unless they suspend the debate and withdraw the motion for the second reading. No self-respecting Government will enter a friendly conference under a threat. The idea of the Ottawa Government is to appear to make a concession so as to induce doubtful supporters to vote for the second reading. The scheme is, however, a clumsy expedient, because if a settlement is to be reached why should Conservative members be handicapped on returning for re-election by the record of their votes for a useless and uncalled-for bill? To ask Ministerial members to vote through the bill simply that Sir Charles Tupper should use it as a club with which to pound Greenway into submission is to ask them to perform an act of supreme folly, speaking from the standpoint of supreme votes at the polls. Unless the second reading debate is at least postponed, the Government's announcement is, like their bill, a fraud.

Sir Charles Tupper said: "Mr. Speaker, I desire to make the following statement to the House. Since answering the question asked a few days ago by the member for North Simcoe (Mr. McCarthy), the following telegram has been received by Sir Donald Smith:

"Winnipeg, March 2, 1896.

"Your telegram has received most careful consideration of myself and colleagues. While fully appreciating all you say, it is quite clear to us that we can only proceed to Ottawa for the purpose of holding a conference upon the official invitation of the Dominion Government. I fully appreciate your very kind offices in this matter.

"(Signed) GREENWAY.

"In view of the assurance that the Government of Manitoba are willing to have a conference, the Government propose, so soon as the second reading of the Remedial Bill is carried, to have a conference with Mr. Greenway's Government with a view to arrive at a settlement of this question on terms that will be satisfactory to his Government and the minority of Manitoba; but in the meantime to proceed with the question before the House, de die in diem, as previously arranged."

ELECTRICITY

Its marvellous advances.

An interview with a prominent electrician and inventor.

Mr. D. C. L. Ferguson, of the Eclipse Electric and Manufacturing Co'y, 211 Church st., Toronto, consented to be interviewed by our representative the other day. Mr. Ferguson said: "To see me now you would not fancy that I had undergone severe hardships and battled with disease, yet such is the case, and were it not for the events I am about to relate I would not now be able to prosecute further scientific researches.

"I have been troubled with my kidneys and liver for the past 10 years. During the last 4 years I have been growing worse rapidly, until I was almost unable to work. I have been treated by doctors and taken a large variety of medicine without benefit. I had constant pain across my back, at times almost unbearable, especially at night. My urine was wine color as if mixed with blood, and with much sediment, burning sensation when venting. I felt tired and dragged, and it was with the utmost effort I was able to work at all. Seeing the Doan Kidney Pill Co. advertisement, I thought I would try one box of their pills on the principle that it would do no harm to try again, so I got one from W. S. Robinson, Druggist, 532 Yonge st. I have not quite finished that first box, but am happy to say it has proved the best experiment of my life. I improved from the start and there has been a rapid improvement daily, until I am to-day a well man. Pain all gone. Urine natural in color, no sediment. I am stronger, and able to work as well as ever I did. I cannot be too thankful for the result of my trial of Doan's Kidney Pills. I would be glad to tell anyone who suffers as I have done, how I was before, and how I am after taking Doan's Kidney Pills, if they will call at my place."

IS THE RIO DE JANEIRO SAFE?

The Pacific Mail Steamship is Now Long Overdue.

San Francisco, March 9.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s big liner, the City of Rio de Janeiro, which left this port for the Orient, heavily laden, on the 6th of last month, should have arrived at Yokohama on the 23rd of February, yet not a word has been heard from her. The Rio left here with 150 people on board all told. Of these four were cabin passengers and there were in the steerage ten Europeans, ten Japanese and twenty-two Chinese. The crew consisted of thirty white people and nineteen Chinese.

It Was Not a Murder.

Chicago, March 9.—The bodies of the man and infant found in an alley last night in a mutilated condition have been identified. There was no murder as was supposed, but the bodies were dumped into the alley by a medical college to save the expense of burial.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business in Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894	$24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared	$8,041,000

or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

Uninvited Guests.

Several young men were charged at the Police Court this morning with raising a disturbance at a house on Simcoe street last Friday evening. It seems that a dance was going on at the place and these fellows hearing the music went over and made themselves obnoxious to those present. The evidence was all against one of the fellows in particular, who is somewhat of a bully, and the magistrate imposed a fine of $10 and costs or 15 days in gaol. The other defendants were discharged.

Out of Fashion—Out of the World.

No sane man now wears low shoes and silver buckles, silk stockings and knee breeches. "They are out." No woman wears Elizabethan skirts or poke bonnets. "They are out." Neither does man or woman, who knows "they are ont," use old fashioned cough syrups and lung cures. Chemical and medical progress, like time, wait for nothing. The most highly prized remedies of gone-by years are mercilessly cast aside, and superseded by more effective remedies. Pinesalt is in the new way—antigerm, antiseptic, and healing to diseased surfaces, soothing to irritated parts, and promptly relieving sore throat, cough hoarseness, la grippe, and all the distressing symptoms caused by ailments of the throat and chest. Sold by druggists.

Algoma Mission.

Mr. Geo. Buskin, of the Algoma and Northwest Evangelical and Colportage Mission is making his annual visit to Peterborough in the interest of the work in that district. During the twelve years of its operation 14,450 Scriptures and Scriptural books have been supplied there in seventeen languages by its agency, and many thousands in several languages have also been supplied outside the district. Twenty-two editions of small elementary publications have been printed for the work by the Mission in five languages, numbering 60,000 copies. Religious services also accompany the work, and hundreds of miles of the district is annually travelled in disseminating the Holy Scriptures and helpful Christian literature and publicly and privately constraining those visited to believe the Gospel and cultivate the God-like character. The contribution of Peterborough to the work last year was $34.90, which the missionary gratefully acknowledges and again respectfully renews the appeal to continue to enlarge and improve the work and honourably to meet its many liabilities. The missionary can be addressed care of secretary Y.M.C.A., town.

A TRIP THROUGH LABRADOR.

Interesting Address by Mr. R. Max Dennistoun.

Last evening there was a good attendance present at the Catholic Literary Association rooms to hear Mr. R. Max Dennistoun deliver a lecture on "A Trip Through Labrador." The following gentlemen were seated on the platform,—Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Messrs. L. M. Hayes, T. Cahill, J. Bogue. Mr. L. R. Keogh, Principal of the Separate School, acted as chairman. After Mr. Keogh had made a few remarks expressing his pleasure of having such an able speaker as Mr. Dennistoun present, he called upon him to deliver his lecture. Mr. Dennistoun hoped as this is the season of Lent, that his address would in no way interfere, for as it was a kind of a penalty to keep Lent, so it would be a penalty to his audience to listen to his eddress on such a subject as he had chosen. He said it would merely be an account of a pleasant fishing trip. To the majority of people who have never been Labrador it is merely a triangular peninsula, painted with colours, which the map-makers think best. Such was the case with him before he paid a visit to that country. He said the sight of the same old huts of various sizes and shapes reminded one of the time of the old traders. He thought that the Hudson Bay Company deserved great credit for the honourable way in which they carried on their business with the inhabitants of Labrador and the surrounding country. In the United States the Indians had been cheated and robbed of their lands on every hand both by the government and land agents. Consequently since the company has treated the Indians so fairly, the Indians respect the members of the firm very much. While he was at Esquimaux Point, the English church clergyman paid a visit to that place. He makes two visits a year, once every six months. He dined with the speakers one day and they gave him some of the last of their beef-steak. It was the first he had tasted in three years and the very smell of it made him homesick. During the rest of the day they noticed he was very downcast, and on inquiring the reason why, he told them that a young Methodist minister had arrived at the station where he was, and before very long had carried off all his congregation but one old lady, who was an invalid, and as deaf as could be. Mr. Dennistoun had seen 1,150 salmon taken in one day. This is a superior salmon to that which is caught in British Columbia. He thought salmon fishing was both an art and a science, and no matter how expert the ordinary fisher of other kinds of fish might be, he had to begin at the beginning and learn how to catch salmon. The speaker had spent an hour and thirty minutes in landing a 21 pound fish. He then gave some details about the nature and habits of salmon. All the Indians were good Catholics, and observe all the holy days as taught them by the priests. The priests do active police duty. Some of the Indians are still very superstitious, and any man that has a delirious disease they destroy either by shooting or strangling. The priests seldom fail to bring the murderer to justice. They arrest the one suspected and hand him over to a British cruiser, and he receives a fair British trial.

At the conclusion of the address, Mr. Keogh, the chairman, called upon Rev. Fitzpatrick for a fish story. However, the reverend gentleman did not give any fish story, but made a few remarks, and than moved that a vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. Dennistoun for his very interesting address. It was seconded by Mr. L. M. Hayes and carried.

A vote of thanks was also tendered to Mr. L. R. Keogh for acting in such an efficient manner as chairman.

Short speeches were made by Mr. Cahill and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, and a short programme, consisting of the following, was given:

"THE FRENCH REVOLUTION."

Rev. W. R. Young's Subject Last Night at an Open Meeting of the Fortnightly Club—A Most Excellent Paper and a Large and Appreciative Audience.

The Fortnightly Club held their fourth open meeting of the year in the County Council Chamber, last evening. Again the chamber was taxed to its utmost capacity by the presence of a large and appreciative audience. The subject of the evening was "The French Revolution," on which Rev. W. R. Young read a most excellent paper, moderate in tone and broad and comprehensive in view. He enumerated the several causes of this mighty movement, outlining the history of France during the reigns of Louis XIV, XV and XVI, and discriminated clearly between the legitimate work of the revolution and its lamentable excesses. The paper was, from every point of view, of high merit, and held the undivided attention of the audience for seventy minutes. Apt remarks on the subject were subsequently made by W. J. Drope, Rev. H. Symonds, Rev. Carl Smith and Mr. D. W. Dumble. A synopsis of the paper will appear in the Fortnightly Club column, beginning next Saturday evening.

The next meeting of the Club is a private one, Tuesday evening, March 31, when Rev. Carl Smith will deliver a paper on "In Memoriam."

A BOLD BURGLAR SPEEDILY CAUGHT.

A SACRILEGIOUS SCAMP BREAKS INTO ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL AND THE PARSONAGE.

He Makes Himself at Home and Makes off with Some Light Booty—Caught and Convicted.

Last night a burglar operated in town on an extensive scale with, fortunately, small results. At three o'clock this morning the housekeeper of the Roman Catholic parsonage was awakened by the presence of a man in her room and from the momentary glance at the culprit's face she recognized him as a tramp that had been kindly fed at the parsonage kitchen on Saturday, when he was noticed taking particular note of the modes of ingress and egress. She at once gave the alarm, but before the priests could get to the scene the wretch had made his escape. Investigation showed that the thief had gained admission by prying the kitchen door on the first floor open with an axe till the bolt slipped past the catch. Once inside the man must have gone deliberately to work, as every drawer in cabinets and desks that he could get at were opened and ransacked, but nothing of important value was missed. He took some handkerchiefs, scarfs, two pairs of gloves and a pair of overshoes, overlooking or ignoring a fine fur-lined coat and a fine otter cap. He was not vulgar in his tastes for he took several photographs, including one of Rosa D'Erina, the great songstress, and emptied a box of cigars, that was nearly full the night before. The scoundrel was evidently tempted by the large offering made in the cathedral on Sunday night. Before he visited the parsonage he had paid his respects to the cathedral. He is supposed to have concealed himself in the building before it was closed for the night. He broke open the poor box, and finding nothing in it was evidently irritated, for he smashed this receptacle of pious offerings in pieces. He found no money and philosophically solaced himself with the sacramental wine. A flagon containing nearly a quart was emptied and doubtless the tough's person was the receptacle. With an eye to future operations, the sacrilegious scamp took a candle from the altar, for on several objects in the parsonage the drippings of wax indicated the kind of illuminant the thief employed. The matter was at once reported to the police who acted promptly.

Surmising that the housebreaker would endeavour to leave town on a passing freight, the Chief and Constable Stewart repaired to the C. P. R. Station and soon got their eye on a man dodging among the cars. The Chief took one side of the track and Stewart the other, and as they instituted a thorough search, Stewart scared up the quarry, who in trying to evade the constable, ran right into the chief's arms which promptly closed around the man, and in another minute the "bracelets" were on him.

There was no doubt that the right man had been captured, as he confessed to the crime without hesitation.

He gave his name as James McDonald, of Kingston, and stated that he had been at the priests' house in the afternoon trying to get sufficient aid to reach his home. On not getting sufficient funds to reach Kingston he determined to return and burglarize the place after nightfall, which he accordingly did.

When searched at the police station he had on a pair of overshoes belonging to one of the priests, as well as two pair of gloves, two neckerchiefs, several silk handkerchiefs and a great many other small articles. The prisoner also confessed to breaking into the Cathedral, rifling the poor box and drinking the communion wine.

On appearing before the magistrate this morning McDonald was remanded for a week until more is learned concerning his previous record.

CHANGES IN THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

Mr. F. Rogers, of Deseronto, Succeeds Mr. F. W. Taylor as Manager of the Local Branch—Mr. Taylor Becomes Manager at Deseronto—A Decided Promotion.

Several important changes are being made in reference to the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. F. W. Taylor, who has performed the duties of manager for nearly three years past, has been promoted to the managership of the branch at Deseronto, being succeeded by Mr. F. J. Rogers, who has recently been manager at that place. Mr. Taylor's transference to Deseronto, one of the most important branch agencies of the Bank, almost as important as Peterborough, is a decided promotion. Mr. Taylor came here three years ago as accountant and on Mr. Lewis' illness was put in the position of acting manager, and he has so won the confidence of the directors that his promotion is a recognition of the excellent manner in which he has discharged his official duties. Mr. Taylor is said to be the youngest manager in the employ of the Bank. He will be much missed in business circles, where he was held in high esteem and also in social circles, where his genial affability made him hosts of friends.

Mr. F. J. Rogers, the new manager, comes with excellent qualifications and a banking experience of about 25 years, and will no doubt make friends as readily in Peterborough as he did in Deseronto.

It has been previously announced that Mr. F. J. Lewis, who has for the long period of 21 years been manager of the local branch has, on account of ill health, been promoted to the head office department, Montreal, where the duties will be of a less onerous character than those of manager. Mr. Lewis' many friends will greatly regret his removal from town which will be in about a fortnight.

Mr. A. E. Finnemore, of Chicago, succeeds Mr. C. L. Benedict as accountant in the local branch, and will assume his duties at an early day.

It is a rather remarkable coincidence that the letters F. and F. J. distinguish the initial letters of the names of the managers of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. First, Mr. F. J. Tait, then Mr. F. J. Lewis, and Mr. F. W. Taylor, and now Mr. F. J. Rogers.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realised more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

DAILY MOTTO.

Tuesday, March 10th.

Our present circumstances are to be looked upon as advantages which the great Disposer has afforded us, and not as we are apt to think impediments which he has thrown in our way. They are the materials with which we are to begin to build, and not a heap of rubbish, that must be cleared out of the way before we lay the first stone in the edifice of our lives.

THE PRINTERS VICTORIOUS.

The Greatest Match of the season for Off Sides and Sore Sides.

"It was a game for your life." This was the expression used by a gentleman who witnessed the hockey match between a composite seven from the Review and EXAMINER office, and a seven made up from the different clothing shops of the town. Such swiping and off sides will seldom, if ever, be witnessed again. Tommy Meredith was a swiper from Swipersville, and was a great help to the tailors. Fred Logan and "Pat" Kelly also played a great game for the boys with the red tassled tuques. But they were not fast enough for the Printers, who put up a great game. The two McWilliams boys, Terrill and Glover, were a great wing four. Norman Bradburn played a great game at cover, but you talk about goal keepers, Dobbin was a corker. Not only satisfied with keeping out the rubber from the printers home, he made a magnificent rush and succeeded in scoring the last game of the match for the compositions: seven. Milne also played a strong game.

Mr. C. LeBrun, who refereed the game, was a star. No offsides ever passed his eagle eye. The number called down was not remembered. The following were the teams:

Printers.		Clothiers.
Dobbin	goal	Hobbins
Milne	point	Dolan
Bradburn	cover point	Kelly
McWilliams	forwards	Roadhouse
Glover		McPherson
Terrill		Meredith
McWilliams		Logan
Bellegham	umpires	Buchanan

Referee—Sam Adams.

The games were scored as follows:—1, printers, L. McWilliams; 2, printers, Lorne McWilliams; 3, printers, Lorne McWilliams; 4, printers, L. McWilliams; 5, tailors, Hobbins; 6, printers, Glover; 7, printers, Glover; 8, printers, Terril; 9, tailors, Kelly; 10, printers, L. McWilliams; 11, printers, Lorne McWilliams; 12, printers, Terrill; 13, printers, Dobbin.

Score—Printers 11; Tailors 2.

BASKET BALL.

Our Collegiate Institute Makes an Early Start in Athletics.

The Collegiate Institute pupils are again to the fore this season in athletic circles, and the organization meetings of the different clubs will be held at once. Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the pupils was held for the purpose of organizing a Basket Ball Club, and the greatest enthusiasm was displayed. The following were elected the officers for the season:—

Honorary President—Mr. C. Fessenden.
President—Mr. W. J. Drope.
Vice-President—C. Bear.
Secretary-Treasurer—T. J. Wallace.
Captain—J. Hamilton.
Vice-Captain—Geo. Burnham.

The Executive Committee will consist of the officers and Messrs. J. Weir, J. Black and A. Lang. Practices will be held during the cold weather every Wednesday and Friday evenings, in the Drill Shed.

Basket Ball is a comparatively new game and has been introduced from the American universities. It is of the nature of Rugby, but does away with the roughness which has made that game so unpopular in certain places. The formation of this club will no doubt start several others.

Mr. Wm. Hancock, one of the visiting delegates to the S.O.E. Grand Lodge, and who is a Hamilton Thistle, skipped a rink against Mr. T. Rutherford last night, and won by two shots, as follows:

HOCKEY.

There was a very clean article of hockey put up at the rink last night between the Norwood Colts and the local Collegiate Institute team. The visitors were heavier than the Collegiate boys and were perhaps faster and better skaters, but they lacked the beautiful combination which the home team has reduced to so fine a system. The teams were composed as follows:

Peterborough,		Norwood,
J Hamilton	goal	T Clancy
C Pousette	point	W Stewart
N Lewis	cover point	C Pearce
C Graham	forwards	R Smart
H King		C Pengelly
J Watt		F Hendren
M Hamilton		Ross Cameron

Referee, Sam Adams.

At the start it looked as if Norwood was going to have everything its own way, as the home team seemed to be relying on individual play to win the match for them. At this style of game the Norwood team was far too fast for them. Presently, however, the Collegiates settled down to combination work, and rapidly overtook their opponents score, finally beating them out by eleven goals to five.

For the visitors, Hendren, Cameron and Smart on the forward line and Stewart at point put up a good game. Hendren played a very fast and neat game but was not well used by the Collegiate forwards, who body checked him in a manner entirely uncalled for. If the Norwoods had been inclined to play rough they could have badly used up the local team, being much heavier.

For the P. C. I. team Norman Lewis, at cover point, played a star game. His cool, steady work, skilful dodging and long lifts did much to win the match for the Collegiate boys. With a little more weight "Norm" will make a great player. Pousette and Hamilton made an almost impregnable defence, whilst on the forward line King, Graham, Watt and Milt. Hamilton all played a fast game after once settling down to combination work.

On the whole the match was one of the neatest seen on the rink this season.

POOL.

Messrs. James Gordon and Geo. Green have been matched to play pool on Thursday evening next at the Pullman billiard parlours.

The Peterboroughs have just received word from the Wellingtons, of Toronto, that they will be down for a game of hockey to-morrow evening. The Wellingtons are a very strong team and are the champions of the City League, winning from the crack teams of Upper Canada College and the Granites in this series. The puck will be faced off at 8 o'clock sharp and a fast game is anticipated.

Weak Lungs.

Emaciation, weakness, and that fatal disposition to take cold easy, thus adding little by little to the strain upon the already overburdened body. How many afflicted are trusting to cough mixtures, mustard and poultices for safety? Fatal error. Not by these, but by adding to the nutritive power of the body and the increased strength and vitality which increased nutrition affords, can you hope to obtain relief. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites combines the excellencies of a medicine, a food, and a digestive agency of unexampled power. The full remedial value of the cod liver oil, rendered palatable and of easy digestion, is combined with the nutritive values of wheat, oats and barley. This in itself would render Maltine and Cod Liver Oil of greater value than any emulsion. But it possesses a further quality of inestimable value in its property of increasing the solubility of fat-forming, heat-producing, starchy foods, just the elements required for the upbuilding of the emaciated.

THE GRAND LODGE SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Twenty-first Annual Session.

REPORTS OF THE GRAND OFFICERS SUBMITTED.

The Visiting Delegates Welcomed by Ex-Mayor Kendry on behalf of the Town, and by Mr. S. A. Peck on Behalf of Lansdowne Lodge—Reply of the Supreme Grand President.

As a new constitution was only adopted last year and has been barely six months in operation, it is not thought that any very important business will be brought before the Grand body in the way of change in this respect, the pervading opinion appearing to be, not to make any change at all, even passing over the trifling inconveniences occasioned by insignificant clauses rather than make any change whatever until the system which has so far given great satisfaction, is given a thorough trial.

The question of establishing an official organ is not new, having been brought before the Grand Lodge several times. Its need, however, is now so greatly felt that in all probability the matter will be pushed to an issue concerning it this year.

It is thought that many of the delegates may be inclined to discuss

THE REMEDIAL ORDER.

If such proves to be the case the session of the Grand Lodge will probably be prolonged until Saturday.

The election of officers will be the first order of business on Thursday morning. The present Grand President, George Clatworthy of Toronto, not seeking re-election, and there is practically no doubt that the unanimous choice of the brethren will fall upon John W. Lowdon of Belleville, the present Grand Vice-President. No opposition is anticipated to the re-election of John W. Carter, Grand Secretary, or Benj. Hinchcliffe, Grand Treasurer, who have each held their respective offices for fifteen years. The only contest that is likely to prove exciting, will be for the Grand Vice President's chair, for which several well known brethren are mentioned. The prime favourite, however, seems to be Dr. Chas. A. Hodgetts, of Toronto.

This morning was entirely occupied by the delegates in committee work and those who were not on the committees spent the time in becoming better acquainted with one another and in viewing the town.

THE FIRST SESSION

of the Supreme Grand Lodge was opened at two o'clock, prayer being offered by Rev. H. Symonds, Supreme Grand Chaplain. A welcome to the delegates was then expressed by Supreme Grand President Clatworthy, after which Mr. E. A. Peck, Worthy President of Lansdowne Lodge, was introduced on the floor, and read the following address:

To the Supreme Grand President, Officers and Brethren of Supreme Grand Lodge, Sons of England:

BRETHREN,—It is with very great pleasure that the members of Lansdowne Lodge welcome the delegates of their sister lodges to Peterborough on the occasion of the holding of here the great annual parliament of our Order.

The occasion is one which we have long looked forward to, and we hope and believe that this meeting will tend much to advance the progress of the Order in this district.

We trust that this the first meeting of Grand Lodge in this town will be looked back to with pleasure by the delegates, and that the town—standing in the centre of the province, and so conveniently situated for such a meeting—may often in the future be selected as the point for the annual convention of the Order.

We are aware that the matters submitted to the Lodge will be considered calmly and judicially. May all the decisions come to at this meeting be for the good of the Order; may they serve to increase our numbers, to increase our usefulness and to bind us together the more closely in support of the principles which we uphold.

Signed on behalf of Lansdowne Lodge,
E. A. PECK, Worthy President. H. T. BEAL, Worthy Secretary.
Peterborough, 10th March, 1896.

Mr. Peck at the conclusion of the address expressed sorrow at the absence of the Mayor of Peterborough from the town, as the Chief Magistrate had expressed the hope that he might personally have the pleasure of offering the freedom of Peterborough to the visiting delegates. "Instead of the Mayor, however," added Mr. Peck, "we have with us ex-Mayor Kendry, who has just recently vacated the chief magistrate's chair.

Ex-Mayor Kendry was then introduced to the Grand Body and read the following address:—

To the President, Officers and Members of the Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England:

GENTLEMEN—In the unavoidable absence of Wm. Yeland, Esquire, Mayor of the Town, I have been requested by him to represent him on this occasion, on account of being his predecessor in office, and on his behalf and on behalf of the town to give you a hearty welcome to Peterborough. It is with pleasure that I comply with request. We are always pleased to receive this and welcome visitors, and especially who represent a distinguished society and benevolent institution such as the Sons of England is. This is an age when the duty of caring for the sick and providing for the helpless is becoming more and more clearly recognized, and in which that sacred duty is being cheerfully as well as more carefully and thoroughly performed. We hope, therefore, that your labours on this occasion, as members of the chief legislative body of the Sons of England, will result in advancing the interests of the society and in enabling it to carry on its work even more efficiently than in the past.

We hope, also, that your visit to Peterborough will be a pleasant one, and that your work will be lightened by the pleasures that you will derive from your stay among us.

I am pleased to know that the society is prospering, in Peterborough, as well as elsewhere throughout the country, and founded as it is on the great principle of benevolence it usefulness will no doubt go on increasing so long as man requires assistance from his brother man.

We again give you a hearty welcome, with our best wishes for a harmonious, successful and pleasant meeting of your Supreme Grand Lodge.

JAS. KENDRY,
Ex-Mayor of Peterborough.

The Supreme Grand President then invited Mr. Peck and Mr. Kendry to take seats by his side on the dias. He then turned to the Worthy President of Lansdowne Lodge and stated that it afforded him great pleasure to hear from progressive Lansdowne in terms so cordial. He knew that the local lodge had spared no pains to provide for the comfort of the visiting delegates and the delegates already appreciated the efforts which had been made in this direction.

To Mr. Kendry, the Grand President stated that it was with exceeding pleasure that he saw him on the floor of the Grand Lodge as the representative of the pretty and thriving town of Peterborough. The corporation had assisted Lansdowne Lodge and the Grand Lodge appreciated this action on the part of the town. Mr. Clatworthy expressed the hope that when the delegates departed it would be with the kindliest remembrances of their visit to Peterborough.

On motion of Mr. Richard Ivins and Mr. Richard Patching, it was decided that the appreciation of the Grand Lodge concerning these addresses should go on record, and a special committee was appointed to draft a fitting reply.

The Committee on Credentials was granted leave to retire, and the Grand President then read his annual report as appended:

THE REPORT OF GRAND PRESIDENT,

George Clatworthy, referred to the fact that the Society had been working during the past year under the new constitution and the result had been, in his opinion, most gratifying both in the improved finances and generally in the better tone of the subordinate lodges. Particularly was this the case in the beneficiary or insurance department, in which though the number of new members was slightly less than in the previous year, the condition of the funds had greatly improved and the death rate had also decreased. Referring to the various amendments to the constitution, special attention was called to the suggested foundation of district lodges and the establishment of an official journal. The Grand President strongly disapproved the proposal to form district lodges upon the grounds that they would naturally add to the governing machinery and expenses without producing commensurate improvement. He warned the Grand Lodge against adding to the governing machinery unless there is a very clear necessity for such action. With respect to the official organ, the necessity of establishing it is urged and an opportunity promised for full discussion of the question, and there is very little doubt that this matter which has been before the grand body for several years will result in being taken. In reporting upon the official visits to subordinate lodges which he had made during the year the Grand President spoke in warm terms of the enthusiasm and loyalty which was apparent in all sections of the country and urged the necessity of such arrangements being made as would enable the grand officers to come into closer personal touch with the subordinate lodges. With this end in view and also for the better carrying on of the work of the Grand Secretary's office, and the insuring of greater safety of the official records therein, the report recommended improvements and extension of the Society's headquarters in Toronto and additional office assistance. It is also strongly recommended that a travelling organizer and superviser be appointed to foster the interests of the order in all points of the Dominion. The condition of the Juvenile department was referred to, with the remark, that it is unnecessarily the principal recruiting ground for the order and if properly encouraged will form a great source of future strength. In conclusion the report fittingly referred to several prominent brethern who have died during the year and acknowledged the harmonious nature of the relationship, which has existed between the Grand Executive and the rank and file during the last twelve months.

SOME DEFINITE ACTION

The report was received and referred to the General Purpose Committee, which in turn referred it to the proper committees.

JOHN W. CARTER,

Supreme Grand Secretary, presented his 15th consecutive annual report and financial statement, which was as usual a voluminous document presenting a great mass of statistics and general information. It shows that there are now 205 lodges in good working order in Canada and 5 in South Africa. Of the former seven were instituted during the past year. 1200 new members have been received, making the present total membership over 12,000, with 20 lodges to hear from. In the higher degree there are nearly 5,000 members. The financial standing of the lodges has greatly improved under the working of the new constitution. The receipts of the subordinate lodges during the year have been $78,000. During the year $22,500 has been paid back in sick benefits, $13,700 to the doctors for attendance upon members and $49,000 invested, which with cash in hand makes a cash balance to the credit of the lodges of about $60,000. In the funeral benefit department $9,500 has been received and $11,190 paid out upon the death of members, their wives and children. The excess of expenditures over receipts is owing to the fact that a year ago the levy upon subordinate lodges was reduced 20 per cent., but in spite of the falling off in receipts there is still a balance to the credit of the fund of over $13,000. An interesting table in this connection shows that in the last nine years some $60,000 has been paid in benefits to members or their heirs.

THE BENEFICIARY

or insurance department carries insurance upon the lives of 2,409 members to the amount of $2,709,000. During the year $20,000 have been paid out in matured claims, the total amount dispensed by the department in the ten years of its existence having reached the respectable total of nearly $100,000. Satisfactory details, to which attention was called, as the result of the improved constitution were the remarkable decrease in the number of lapses and the steady growth of the reserve fund.

This report was also received and referred to the General Purposes Committee, who sent the different clauses to the respective committees, whose work was most directly affected by them.

To-morrow morning the visiting delegates, headed by Lansdowne Lodge and its band will march from the Court House to St. John's church, where a sermon will be delivered to them by Rev. H. Symonds. In the evening a smoking concert will be held in the local lodge rooms for the entertainment of the visitors.

AFTER THOUSANDS OF YEARS.

Dr. Koehl's Important Archæological Discovery at Worms—The Stone Age.

London, March 8.—An important archæological discovery was made a few days ago at Worms by Dr. Koehl. It is a burial ground of the later stone age. About 70 graves have been examined, and the numbe of vessels found, most of them tastefully ornamented, exceed one hundred. Not the slightest trace of metal has been discovered. Arm rings of blue and grey slate were found in the graves of women. Three arm rings, made of slate, were removed from the upper arm of one skeleton, four from another, and six from the lower arm of a third. In a man's grave there was on the neck of the skeleton a small, conically polished ornament of syenite, not perforated, but provided with a groove for a string. Other ornaments consist of pearls and mussel shells made in the form of trinkets, perforated boards, tusks, and small fossil mussels. These ornaments were worn by men and women alike. Ruddle and ochre fragments, which were used in tatooing and coloring the skin, were also frequent.

In hardly a single case was missing from the women's graves the primitive corn mill, consisting of two stones, a grinding stone, and a grain crusher. The men's graves contain weapons and implements, all of stone, with whetstones and hones, for sharpening purposes. That there was no want of food is shown by many vessels, often six or eight in one grave, and the remains of food found near them, the latter being the bones of various animals. Several photographs have been taken of the skeletons as they lie in the graves, their appearance being perfect after a repose of thousands of years.

FIRST OF "THE GRAND DUKE."

Gilbert & Sullivan's New Opera Presented at the Savoy Theatre, London.

New York, March 8.—A London special to The Sun says: Messrs. Gilbert & Sullivan's latest opera, "The Grand Duke; or, the Statutory Duel," was performed for the first time to-night at the Savoy Theatre. It is by no means the best of Gilbert & Sullivan's productions. In fact, it is disappointing, judged by the standard which its authors themselves have imposed, but it was so brilliantly presented that it scored a good success. It comprises two acts of fun and dancing. It is a mad, merry burlesque. It is less operatic, and has fewer original melodies than any of its predecessors, but it is captivating withal. The libretto is characteristically suggestive both of "The Gondoliers" and "Utopia, Limited." The Gilbertian humor may be a trifle strained here and there, but absurdities, frivolities and topical hits follow each other with such a rush and profusion that they are quite irresistible. The plot, such as it is, is sufficiently simple and absurd.

THOSE BEHRING SEA CLAIMS.

It Looks as if the Canadians Would Not Live to Realize on Them.

New York, March 8.—Ballard Smith cables from London to The World: Though the treaty of arbitration of the Behring Sea claims was recently ratified by Great Britain, I understand that an obstacle of a somewhat serious kind has arisen against carrying out its provisions. It is claimed here that the Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate has taken action intended to eliminate certain specified claims from the purview of arbitration, and its proposals to that effect have actually been presented to the British Government. It is deemed absolutely certain in official circles here that Lord Salisbury will decline to accede to the proposal of the committee. Meanwhile the negotiations in connection with the new arbitration have been brought to a standstill. The importance of this, if true, consists not so much in the intrinsic gravity of the questions in dispute as in the fact that the failure of the second arbitration treaty on the same subject would undoubtedly strengthen Lord Salisbury very considerably in his obstinate stand against arbitration of the Venezuelan boundary.

CANADIAN HORSES LEAD.

Interesting Facts Shown From the Trade Returns of Great Britain.

New York, March 8.—A table of the horse trade of Great Britain shows that the importation of horses during 1895 numbered 25,106 head, of which 5424 were from Canada, that colony supplying more than any other country, the United States, Germany and Russia following in the order named. In 1895, the imports of horses reached 34,147, and the Dominion led again, furnishing 12,908. There were but few from Russia, while there was a considerable decrease from Germany and from the United States there were 10,351, as compared with 4823 the preceding year.

NEGRO ART.

Mattie Williams, the Young Colored Clay Modeler of Alabama.

Mattie Williams lives in Montgomery, Ala., and is now only 18 years old. She was studying at the State Normal school in Montgomery three years ago when the art manual training department was added as one of the industrial branches, and she at once showed signs of great talent in clay modelling, giving life and expression to everything she touched. Her teacher, Prof. Henry Talbot, said of her recently:

"From the moment I put the modelling tools in her hand she seemed a changed and inspired creature. Up to that time she had been considered one of the worst and most incorrigible scholars, who seemed to think that the rules were made for no purpose save to be broken."

He went on to speak enthusiastically of how the girl's talent grew, and how, being so absorbed in her new-found vocation, she worked diligently all during her holiday. The papers were filled at that time with pictures of Columbus, it being the year of the World's Fair, and the girl made several statuettes and bas-reliefs from the cuts. A bas-relief of the figures of three little negro newsboys is splendid.

Her modelling of animals is excellent, and she is especially fond of copying the Greek statues and bas-reliefs. Professor Talbot says she has a passion for Greek mythology and fairy tales and folklore. She loves the woods and fields, and has, in fact, the artistic temperament to a marked degree. She has no drop of white blood in her veins, and this also makes the expression of her artistic gifts more worth studying.

In a quaint little autobiographic composition of hers, which her teacher showed me, she tells how she first began modelling forms out of the bits of biscuit dough left by her mother on the block. She was born in Florida, and she speaks of her life there in the beautiful flower-filled woods with poetic feeling and appreciation. "My mother," she said, "had to cook, and so I was left to the care of one of her friends, an old woman named 'Benie.'" Of her the girl writes:

"She was not a queer old woman at all after you had learned all about her. She knew just exactly what to do and how to do it. She was just a good old mother, in other words—had a head full of good, common sense. She was as good a friend as anybody needs, and you would always find her so when you needed her. She did not know anything in books, but simply had a lot of good old slavery time sense."

The girl is very anxious to perfect her talents under the best advantages and then become a teacher, for she, like many others of her own and the white race also, believes that the highest artistic possibilities for development for the negro lie in clay modelling and pottery. Up to this time they have, as a race, evinced great taste and originality in the making and coloring of pottery, and their opportunities for education in this line are as yet very limited.

MAUDE ANDREWS.

The White Glove.

It is curious the vogue which white gloves manage to preserve. They came into general use for other than festal wear three years ago, and in spite of determined efforts to oust them from favor have been constantly worn every season since that time. This winter sees no chance of their declination in favor.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventible, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment — by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They cure constipation, and sick headache

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,

When a man owns a blooded horse he is always careful of its health. He looks after its diet and is particular that the feeding shall be regular and right. While he is doing this it is likely as not that he is himself suffering from some disease or disorder that if left to itself will go on and on till it develops seriously.

When the trouble gets so bad that he cannot work, he will begin to give himself the care he gave the horse at the start. The time to cure a disease is at the beginning and better than all is to so watch your health that disease will never come. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against disease of any kind. Almost all diseases come from impure or impoverished blood. Keep the blood pure and strong and disease can find no foothold.

That is the principle on which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery works. It cleanses, purifies and enriches the blood; it puts and keeps the whole body in perfect order. Makes appetite good, digestion strong, assimilation perfect. It brings ruddy, virile health.

"I got a cancer on my tongue and had it cut out. I consulted fifteen different physicians without deriving any benefit. At last I turned to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I persisted in its use and my health is better than ever before. Formerly every accidental wound I received began to fester, would not heal; now, such lacerations heal themselves."

Respectfully yours,

Peter J. Stocker

THE SPRING COATS.

AN AIR OF JAUNTINESS MARKS ALL THE MODELS SO FAR.

Smooth Clothes of Delicate Shades of Color, the Materials Mostly Used—Some February Frocks — About End-of-the-Season Bargains.

The coat intended for early spring wear is marked by an air of jauntiness. Unlike the elaborate wrap designed for service at receptions, it bears the imprint of the intention of the maker, i.e., street wear. It is oftenest smooth cloth, and beside the regulation mode shades there is shown a dark blue, a faint steel with a blue tone hovering over it, dove-gray, Lincoln green, and of course, dark blue and black. The absolutely new color is that light shade of pearl, very, very close to white, which is peculiar to gloves. Naturally a coat made of smooth cloth in this faint shade seems very delicate, but the well-dressed woman has learned the art of so caring for her belongings that much wear can be gotten and little wear shown even upon faint-hued garments.

Materials like those which are used for gowns are again seen in coats, and it is no longer uncommon for skirt and bodice to be unlike while the coat matches the skirt. This rule applies not only to the mixed suitings in cloth or flannel, but also to the black light-weight materials, such as Eudora cloth in the silk and wool mixtures, corded silks and satins.

After an era of glove-fitting coats, which are too often assumed with the assistance of a shoe-horn, the semi-loose coat is received with approbation. Some show a fitted back with a ripple skirt, and a loose front which may button over to the extreme of one side, down the shoulder and under the arm to the end of the jacket; or with the fitted back the more simple double-breasted effect is as often seen. Sometimes the loose front has its fastening in the centre, but the hooks and eyes are concealed and a decoration of straps and buttons is arranged. It would seem from their appearance as if the sewing-machine were only utilized to make the seams firm, for every other part of the coat presents invisible stitching that is done by hand. Fancy silk linings, especially those of Persian and brocade designs, are liked, but I think, says Elizabeth A. Mallon in Ladies' Home Journal, it is rather better form to have the silk lining of one tone.

Buttons are large and small; they may be the size of a sixpence, of a sovereign, or of the miniature of some famous beauty as depicted by the court painter. Raphael's cherubs, one on each button, are noted, and so is the head of Josephine, that of Marie Antoinette, of Marie Louise of the gay Pompadour and of Henriette of England. When these very large miniature buttons are used two are frequently counted enough, and then they are arranged like brooches, fastening straps or collars. Many of the very large buttons are framed in Rhinestones, but the smarter ones have no framing at all.

FEBRUARY FROCKS.

Nina Fitch's Impressions of Bargains at the End of the Season.

Winter winds continue by moments to blow fiercely, but here and there spring is heralded by a balmy day that will cause a run on the spring and summer novelties exposed so temptingly in the big shops.

Then old winter will open his mouth for one last howl; and lo! the new things have taken on a wan, faded look, and one turns lovingly to the winter bargains so lately harvested, and that will come in finely for the beginning of the next cold season.

The buyers of these bargains may well be likened to the ants of the fable. In many cases they have bought rich garments at less than a tenth of their real value, and when the time comes round to wear all these smart things again they will be the envy of their less provident sisters. Meanwhile, however, the grasshoppers are having a good time of it with the spring dance.

The calendar has told them they are on the heels of March, so the earliest birds of fashion are blooming out in smart street gowns that are as springlike as buttercups, themselves. These costumes run in majority to the tailor order, which seems to indicate that the dressy French confections so much seen in the winter are going out for street wear.

As to material, plain French broadcloth is much in vogue, and a stunning novelty in this is a military blue known as "bleu soldat." There are also several new and wonderful shades of violet in the cloth, and all combine handsomely with black braids and gimps. An ornamental stitching of white or gold-colored silk will also be seen sometimes on a cloth costume.

Handsome vests, for the most dressy toilets, are made of white satin ribbon and tucked batiste or yellow lace.

The front proper will be made of the lace or batiste, and down the centre of this will run the ribbon in two full ruffles that narrow down to nothing at the waist. At the bust they stand out with a pouter effect, which, with a slender figure, is extremely becoming. A splendid gown recently seen, of eminence purple cloth, had a vest of this sort, the seams of the skirt matching with narrow pipings of white satin.

A novelty in serviceable street materials, is a species of homespun called Bavarian cloth.

Among the smooth surface, Amazon cloth is something new, and a delightful color in this is a bright moss green that any of the heavy black braids trim beautifully.

All of these gowns designed for serviceable use, are made plainly, with trim gored skirts and short loose or snug jackets.

The latter, show, too, in many instances, an entire absence of the stiff, flaring revers so long in favor.

Again the revers will be a mannish smallness, and in almost all of the strict toilets there has been a decided reef in the size of sleeves.

For tastes that object to the tailor-fied costume there are some very Frenchy little confections realized in serge and velvet.

In these dark blue and a sparkling mossy green, is a late and elegant color combination.

A cocky little Lenten rig, rejoiced in this daring arrangement of color and was sported by a slender Diana of the pale, grey-eyed type.

Tilted over her eyes this young woman wore a darling hat.

It was a squat sailor shape of black straw and satin braid, trimmed widely with black chiffon and big loops of plaited straw. Under the brim, from ear to ear around the back, nestled a wealth of primroses in a warm butter yellow, which made the grey-eyed beauty appear as if spring had indeed crowned her lovingly.

Primroses, by the way, will be much seen on the first spring headgear, and never did artificial blossoms seem more exquisitely made.

Delicate petunia tints, ranging from a reddish tone to palest violet, are much in favor, and some of the primroses in these tints are wonderfully natural. The white ones and those in pale green with crumpled whitish edges, also combine charmingly with black.

Odd bodices in plain French poplin are being shown by the smart dressmakers and some of them are very beautiful. The colors introduced in these poplins, which are in a soft gros sort of weave, are royal purple, moss-green, and black; these tones in wide mellow stripes are crossed by lines of white and gold, which gives a high sharp finish to the softly treated background. These plain French poplins come in 44-inch widths and sell at $4 the yard. Two yards, however, is all that is needed for a bodice, and, since there is so much color already, the only trimming should be a stock, belt and sleeve twists of white or black satin ribbon. If the ribbon is white, a front of white tucked mousseline de soie with entre deux or yellow valenciennes, will be found an elegant and becoming finish.

There are also plaid Irish poplins, in single widths, that are being used instead of silk for fancy bodices. These sell at half the price of the others, and though the colors are the same, the weave of the Irish affairs is not the wiry mohair order. This promotes a hard glistening surface that will be found very trying to the best half of the world.

A few blooming checks, however, may take to the Irish poplin with safety.

POINTS THE WAY TO PERFECT HEALTH

South American Nervine.

The Great Health Restorer of the Century.

Sickness Cannot Cope With It.

Has Cured the Worst Cases on Record.

Cures at the Nerve Centres and Thus Cures Permanently.

A Wonderful Specific in All Cases of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Nervousness and General Debility.

Has No Equal as a Spring Medicine.

There is a great deal of uncertainty in the methods adopted to remove disease. Doctors are not free from this kind of thing themselves. The poor patient has to put up with a good deal of experimenting. The discoverer of South American Nervine takes too serious a view of life to play pranks of this kind. He does not think that these human bodies of ours should be fooled with. He has recognized that they are subject to disease, but, by scientific methods, he has learned that just as the watch is to be put in perfect repair only when the main-spring is kept in running order, so with the individual, he remains in perfect health only when the nerve centres are kept healthful and strong.

What disease is more distressing than indigestion or dyspepsia? Some simple remedy may be given to cause relief for the moment. Nervine is an indisputably successful remedy for the worst cases of indigestion, because it reaches the source of all stomach troubles—the nerve centres. Indigestion exists because the vital forces have become diseased and are weakened. Nervine builds up the nerve centres, from which come these forces, removes the causes of indigestion, and then builds up the health completely.

How many systems are run down through nervousness. A stimulant may give ease, but it will not cure nervous troubles. Nervine has cured more desperate cases of nervousness than any other medicine anywhere. And it does so for the same reason that it cures indigestion. The nerve centres are deranged, or there would be no victims of nervousness. Nervine rebuilds and strengthens the nerve tissues, and hence its marvellous powers in diseases of this kind.

In the spring of the year the strongest suffer from general debility. The blood, through neglect, has become impoverished, and the whole system gets out of order. We speak of it as a spring medicine. Nervine restores the exhausted vital forces that have led to this tired, don't-care, played-out, miserable condition. No one can take a bottle of Nervine at this season of the year without disease quickly giving way to abounding health.

The moral is plain, simple and readily understood. If you would not trifle with disease, then you will take South American Nervine, which will not trifle with you.

FELL ON FIRST VOTE.

Gulf goes to the United States, and it would be an unwise mariner who would cradle a ship and thread the course through the Fundy when he could get a course on the open ocean. Moreover, the Gulf was prohibited water in insurance policies between Nov. 1 and May 10, and the upper end of the Bay of Fundy was closed in winter by floating ice. If the scheme was encouraged and further loss suffered there would likely be a reaction against the Dominion's credit. The shareholders had met fate by force of circumstances, and if Parliament wished to be kind to them in any way it should discourage the enterprise.

Mr. Weldon (Albert) had no objection to the bill in the present form, but held it would make a difference if the bill was to be supplemented later on by a grant of public money. He asked for a statement on this point.

Sir Charles Tupper said he was not in a position to give the assurance that the Government would not submit such a measure.

Mr. Weldon then said if a grant was to be made he shared the views of Mr. Baird on the question. If refusal to aid the scheme would injure Canada's credit in London, would not worse injury be done if the shareholders were encouraged to go on and lose more money? By declining to act the Government would really be strengthening the credit for good public works. If a grant was made, Parliament should see that there was no ambiguity in the terms of the contract in order that the subsidy should not be payable unless a normal amount of work was done.

Mr. Davies said he never found a man who considered the scheme practicable. However, if the credit of the country was to be affected, if aid was not granted, the question deserved the greatest consideration. He had no objection to the private bill before the House but on the matter of a grant he would keep an open mind. While knowing the scheme would not pay, still if the credit and honor of the country was pledged to it, Parliament would vote a grant.

Mr. Edgar proposed putting a clause in the present bill to the effect that it was not to have the effect of reviving the lapsed grants.

Sir Charles Tupper said he had no objection to the clause.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Mulock and McMullen.

At 6 o'clock the House took recess.

Speaking after recess, Mr. McMullen held it would pay the company better to complete the scheme at the additional outlay, run it for 20 years and thereby earn the subsidy, than to let their present expenditure be lost. For at the end of the 20 years they could tear up the rails and sell them for old iron.

After Mr. Lister had stated the scheme as involving a useless expenditure of public money, the House, a thin one, divided on the motion for a second reading, which was lost by 54 yeas to 55 nays.

It was not a party division. Among those who voted for a second reading was Mr. Davies (P.E.I.) the Liberal leader from the Maritime Provinces. The negative votes included those of Messrs. Putnam, N.S., and Baird, N.B., both ship owners; Weldon, Ingram, Roome, Wilson, Boyle, Guillet, Craig and Stevenson.

Sir Charles Tupper then made the announcement referred to elsewhere, in regard to negotiations with the Manitoba Government.

A large number of questions by members were put and answered.

Mr. Lister was informed that the voters' lists would not be revised this year.

In reply to a question by Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Dickey said the writs of the general election were made returnable April 25, 1891, and no special mention was made of a date for Algoma.

Hon. Mr. Costigan, in reply to a question by Mr. Corbould, said that the Government intended to introduce lobsters and oysters from Eastern waters into the waters of the Pacific in British Columbia, instructions having been sent to the Maritime Provinces to prepare for the shipment of both.

Mr. Dickey laid upon the table the order-in-council, setting apart lands in the Northwest for a halfbreed settlement.

Replying to a question by Mr. Campbell, Mr. Ouimet said the Ottawa Gas Company had the contract for supplying gas to the Government buildings here at $1.50 per thousand cubic feet, the quantity used last year having been 9,700,000 cubic feet. The Government intended gradually to substitute electricity for gas in the Parliament buildings, but not in other buildings.

Dr. Landerkin was informed by the Controller of Customs that Thomas Sargeant is in arrears to the Toronto customs in $2750 upon a false invoice of silks. He fled the country and, having no material assets, the sum had not been collected.

A large number of motions for papers were passed, after which Sir Charles Tupper moved the adjournment of the House.

Mr. Mulock took occasion to complain that the railway companies had decided to charge freight on pedigreed bullocks at an estimated weight of 4000 pounds for each animal, and he invoked interference of the Government.

Mr. Haggart replied that he was unaware of any such change in the schedule, but would have the matter enquired into. The House adjourned at 10.20 p.m.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

Norway Pine Syrup cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, etc

A FEW STRONG STATEMENTS.

Extracts From the Letter of a Toronto Lady.

The ladies always appreciate quality and genuine merit in goods used in the home. The popular Diamond Dyes are a source of comfort and satisfaction to all housewives. This fact is strongly proven by the grateful letters that are sent in every week by users of Diamond Dyes. Mrs. Rice, 161 Franklin Ave., Toronto, says:—"I have been using Diamond Dyes for the past year with great success; would use no others. I am sure if there were more people that knew how much they could save by using Diamond Dyes, the dyers would have to close up their establishments."

There are no failures when Diamond Dyes are used; they are always reliable, sure, brilliant and unfading. Ask for the "Diamond" and do not accept any substitutes.

HARSH COUGHS, heavy colds, hoarseness, asthma, and bronchitis are cured by Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The best lung remedy in the world.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc.; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line:—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

DID HE MURDER HER?

Tragic Death of a Young Lady at Gravenhurst.

MISS TOUGH'S SECRET MARRIAGE

Ended in Her Dying in the Snow, and Her Young Husband, William Jas. Hammond, Who Was a Toronto Drug Clerk, is Charged With Murder.

Gravenhurst, March 10.—(Special)—The inquest on the death of the young woman, Kate Tough, who was found dead here Friday evening under suspicious circumstances, was concluded this afternoon, and is the first stage of what promises to be a sensational murder trial.

The inquest opened yesterday afternoon before Coroner Bridgeland of Bracebridge. Several witnesses were examined, and found that the deceased had left her parents' home about 8 p. m. Friday, having first been up town for a few minutes.

Shortly after 9 o'clock she was found lying in the snow on the road between Mr. Hammond's residence and her own home. Life was nearly extinct, and she expired almost before she could be carried home.

The first testimony of a startling nature was elicited from Dr. Campbell, who swore that on Friday afternoon William James Hammond bought one ounce of prussic acid at his drug store, ostensibly to kill cats. Hammond on Saturday informed the witness that he had thrown away the poison without using it. It was brought out in evidence that two bottles were found secreted in the dead girl's bedroom, and that one was labelled and contained half an ounce of prussic acid.

It was also shown that Hammond had been secretly married to Miss Tough last November, in Buffalo, and that since her stay at home of about three weeks they had been corresponding, he signing his letters with initials. Hammond was married under the assumed name of James and their relations had been kept a secret. Their marriage, however, had been suspected, but both parties denied the relation.

The medical men called in to see deceased were of the opinion that she had been in perfect health. This, coupled with the fact that a faint odor of prussic acid had been detected in her breath just before her death, pointed to poison as the cause of her sudden demise. The theory of suicide could not be made to fit the facts of her habitual cheerfulness and freedom from all morbid feeling.

The Coroner, after hearing the available evidence called Hammond and informed him of the grave nature of the suspicions aroused against him by the evidence produced and asked if he wished to make a statement. Hammond replied that he was anxious to do so and after the usual caution was sworn.

Hammond told his story in a perfectly cool way and seemed not at all to realize his position. He related that he had known deceased for years and had paid her attentions off and on. Last November or December, he could not remember which, they were married in Buffalo under an assumed name. He simply dropped his surname and took his second Christian name instead. This was done to ensure secrecy, his parents and her parents being opposed to their union. For the same reason he had corresponded with her anonymously.

After the wedding they spent a few weeks in Buffalo and New York, returning to Toronto, where they did not live together. His wife came to Gravenhurst three weeks ago, and he came here a week ago and met her secretely by appointment on Tuesday last. Their next meeting was accidental at 8 p.m. the day of her death, when they made an appointment to meet again in a few minutes, she meanwhile going to her home for a short time. The second interview lasted over half an hour and for the last 15 minutes they were alone together in his father's house. He had no idea of the cause of death and knew of nothing in their relations to make her despondent, as they had always been on the best of terms.

He admitted buying the prussic acid from Dr. Campbell. It was in a small sealed bottle, which had never been opened. He wanted it to kill a dog which had greatly annoyed him by following him and his wife in their walks. Immediately after his wife's death he had thrown the unopened bottle of poison away. It never occurred to him that under the circumstances he should have kept it. He admitted that he suspected his wife had poisoned herself at the moment, however, of throwing away the poison. He attributed her death to apoplexy.

An adjournment of the enquiry took place until to-day, the jury desiring a post-mortem examination. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the inquest was resumed, when Dr. Grant made his report on the condition of the corpse. A report fully concurred in by Dr. Cornell, who was present at the post-mortem. The medical testimony proved that the organs of the body were in a remarkably healthy and quite normal condition, excepting a patch of unusual redness in the stomach. An odor of prussic acid was detected. In the cavity of the chest the doctors testified that the drug would leave almost imperceptible traces, and that there was nothing to indicate death from natural causes.

Dr. Bridgeland summed up the evidence concisely and with a strong presumption against the innocence of Hammond. The jury deliberated over an hour, and brought in a verdict that deceased died from the effects of prussic acid, and that the evidence pointed to Hammond as the one who administered the drug.

This evening Hammond was arrested by Chief Constable Sloan and brought before H. Castle, J.P., for a preliminary hearing on a charge of murder. After the putting in of the formal record of the inquest, the case was remanded for eight days to allow of further enquiries being made. Constable William Sloan conveyed the prisoner to the district jail at Bracebridge on the 11.45 train to-night.

The town and neighborhood is greatly excited over the affair. The young woman whose life is thus so tragically ended was brought up here, and her parents are highly respected residents of the town. She bore a good character, and was a most amiable young person.

The scene at the funeral this afternoon was very affecting and the heartfelt grief of a large number who attended was plainly apparent. The bereaved mother, father, and family are almost heartbroken by the terrible event which has turned a happy home into a house of mourning. In another home, too, there is heartrending grief and Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, who have long lived in town, have the sympathy of a host of friends in the terrible ordeal through which they are passing.

The accused is their only son, a young man just past his majority. They have made sacrifices to give their boy a good education and a start in life and he had given promise of becoming an unusually intelligent man. For some time he was employed as a clerk in Hargreaves Bros'. drug store in Toronto, but of late has been studying law in the Queen City. In spite of the fact that he has exhibited at time undescribable traits of character, the hope is general that he may be able to establish his innocence. The immense number of people who attended the inquest are, however, almost unanimous in the opinion that he is in a most serious position.

Crown Attorney Johnson of Bracebridge has the case in hand for the Crown and further developments will be eagerly watched for. There is nothing so far to directly implicate the prisoner as guilty of administering the poison. Judging from the funeral cards issued to-day the parents of the dead girl ignore the alleged marriage, her maiden name only being used in the announcement.

NO EXPEDITION THIS YEAR.

The Government Will Not Send a Vessel to Hudson's Bay.

Ottawa, March 10.—(Special)—In the Senate to-day Sir Mackenzie Bowell said it was not the intention of the Government to send a vessel to Hudson's Bay this season. The Departments of Marine and Fisheries and Customs were considering the advisability of maintaining a vessel in the Bay continually for the protection of customs revenue and to prevent American fishermen from poaching in Canadian waters. That vessel would also make an investigation extending over years with a view to settling the question as to the navigability of the route. The Government in the past had sent vessels to Hudson's Bay with that object in view, but it was found that little reliable information could be obtained in a short visit, owing to the varying of the seasons.

The Premier stated to-night that there was every likelihood of the Supreme Court being asked to give an opinion as to the date of the expiration of the present Parliament.

The delegates of the Western Canadian Immigration Association who arrived in the city yesterday had interviews with some of the members of the Government to-day. They will confer with the Manitoba members to-morrow and then formulate their demand on the Government.

Mr. George Phillips, shipbuilder of Rat Portage, has been appointed inspector of steamships and hulls for Manitoba, Northwest Territories and Keewatin, vice Robertson, who has been dismissed. It is said that the inspection of steamships has been very lax in the districts named, hence the change. Mr. Phillips has passed a highly satisfactory examination before the board.

Mr. Gilbert, poultry manager of Experimental Farm, appeared before the Agricultural Committee this morning and made an interesting statement in respect to experiments with different varieties of poultry on the farm.

Your correspondent hears to-night that it is as good as decided not to ask Mr. Greenway to come to Ottawa, but that, on the contrary, Mr. Dickey will proceed to Winnipeg and confer with the Manitoba Government. It is not unlikely that Sir Donald Smith will be asked by the Government to accompany the Minister of Justice to Winnipeg.

There was a meeting of the Senate Divorce Committee this morning, when the Pearson case was under consideration.

The Railway Committee made a pretty good sweep of the order paper this morning. About the only measures now remaining are ones to incorporate certain electric roads. In regard to which the Government is considering whether or not it will leave these roads entirely to the jurisdiction of the Provinces.

Sir Adolphe Caron is indisposed and was not in the House to-day.

Clarke Wallace will probably attend the meeting in Mr. Moncrieff's riding, East Lambton, on Thursday.

Why do judges of good Chewing Tobacco insist on getting genuine Beaver Plug. It has no equal. Refuse cheap imitations.

A PRIVATE MESSAGE

From Mr. Greenway to Sir Donald Smith

USED BY SIR CHARLES TUPPER

As If It Had Been Addressed to the Government—Mr. Greenway and His Colleagues are Indignant—Manitoba Will Never Yield to Coercion, Says The Tribune.

Winnipeg, March 10.—(Special)—Although the announcement by Sir Charles Tupper in the Commons on Monday that Premier Greenway would be invited to a conference with the Federal Government on the school question, after the second reading of the Remedial bill, caused a good deal of talk here, there is, on second thought, not much importance attached to the matter. Indeed, it is generally regarded as a petty political trick.

A strong supporter of the Greenway Government in the Legislature pointed out to your correspondent that Mr. Greenway's private telegram to Sir Donald Smith does not mean anything, nor does it indicate any change of opinion by the Manitoba Government; and for Sir Donald Smith to betray confidence in the manner he did is most discreditable to him. Sir Donald has all along asserted that his mission to Winnipeg was purely personal and assured Mr. Greenway so when here. Sir Chas. Tupper made the same statements for publication, but now Sir Charles parades Sir Donald as an agent of the Federal Government and produces a private telegram to Sir Donald as though it were sent to the Government. Mr. Greenway and his colleagues are indignant at the noble knight's action towards them, but, of course, they will not allow this feeling to interfere with any negotiations the Federal Government may open for the settlement of the school difficulty. Sir Charles Tupper's announcement in the Commons cannot be regarded as an official invitation to a conference and as yet there is no other intimation to that effect.

The Tribune, the Greenway organ, in an editorial to-night, says the whole proceeding has trickery stamped on its face, and it is predoomed to failure. It concludes: "It has been suggested that the request for the conference after the second reading is passed is designed for the purpose of bringing unusual pressure upon the Greenway Government and forcing it to compromise. It is hinted that the Dominion Government see in the second reading of the bill a most potent argument to compel Mr. Greenway to capitulate. They evidently think that the Parliament of Canada, having passed the second reading of the bill and thereby affirmed the principle of Separate schools, will never hesitate a moment to go the full length and pass the third reading if the Greenway Government does not capitulate. If the Ottawa Government had desired to inspire public confidence in its proposition and had in reality at heart an earnest desire to reach an amicable settlement, it would have acted in such a way as to place its motives far above suspicion.

"That the Greenway Government will see through the trick it is impossible to doubt. It is difficult for its members not to recognize that Sir Charles has at the very outset placed an almost insuperable obstacle in the path which might have led to a settlement. Manitoba will never consent to yield at the point of the pistol what she is not willing to concede for the purpose of solving a knotty problem.

"In speaking as it does The Tribune is not influenced by any brief from the Local Government. It believes that it represents the views of nine-tenths of the peole of Manitoba, and it is confident in asserting that whatever may come of the proposed conference, our Government will never consent to the establishment of Separate schools in the province, and will never sacrifice the great principles of national schools as embodied in the school act of 1890."

It is pointed out that Hon. Messrs. Greenway and Sifton were once in Ottawa, and came away again without having yielded, and it is more than likely that the same result will follow any further visit.

DR. JAMESON AGAIN IN COURT.

Major Coventry and Captain Gosling Added to the List of the Accused

London, March 10.—Dr. Jameson and the officers who accompanied him in the Transvaal raid were again arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court this morning. Major Coventry and Captain Gosling were added to the list of accused.

Sir Richard Webster, Attorney-General, and Sir R. B. Finlay, Solicitor-General, conducted the prosecution, and Sir Edward Clarke, E. H. Carson, M. P., and Sir Frank Lockwood, M.P., appeared for the defence.

Sir Richard Webster said that Jameson's expedition into the Transvaal had long been planned, but the rank and file of his party were led to believe that they were to proceed against a native chief. Major Coventry informed the men that they were not going to fight the chief, but were going straight to Johannesburg. Dr. Jameson said to his followers that they were going to the assistance of the English women and children in Johannesburg, whose lives and property were in danger.

Sergeant Hay testified that several of his comrades in the Bechuanaland police at first refused to join the expedition, not knowing its object or destination, and asked their superiors whether the movement was in obedience to the orders of the Queen or the British South Africa Company. To these questions Col. Grey replied: "I cannot say that we are going by the orders of Her Majesty the Queen, but I will say that we are going to fight for the supremacy of the British flag in South Africa." Further hearing was adjourned for a week.

THE FIRST DIVISION.

The First Vote in the House of Commons Against the Government—A Blow for the War Horse.

The vote Monday night on the Chignecto Marine Railway bill was a slap in the face to Sir Charles Tupper that will resound throughout the country. It was a notice to him that he can no longer force wild-cat schemes through Parliament or saddle them on the taxpayers. The bill itself would have carried except for Sir Charles Tupper's speech intimating that the Government would, later on, supplement the bill by a resolution renewing the lapsed grant of $3,200,000. This excited hostility, and ten Ministerial members gave the leader of the House notice that he could not be trusted. The fact that Sir Charles had so little judgment as to make an uncalled for speech which led to a defeat, proves that the old man has lost his grip and has no political sagacity. His influence is gone, his political instinct is wrong and his political past is rising up in judgment against him.

THE CLOSE VOTE.

After a short debate the motion came up for vote. The result was a very exciting quarter of an hour. As the taking of the vote proceeded and it was seen that the motion which Sir Charles Tupper had espoused and the scheme for which he stood sponsor might be condemned, the ordinary interest increased until when the last member had been counted and it was whispered that Sir Charles and his scheme were defeated the chamber was in a state of excitement. Ten Conservatives had bolted, while two Maritime Liberal members voted with the Ministers. After the Clerk had toted up the vote he stepped over to Mr. Speaker and whispered something. Mr. Speaker thereupon announced that the member for Peterborough West (Mr. Stevenson) had voted on both sides. He asked the hon. member whether he wished to vote for or against. The House, knowing now that the vote was a tie, strained its ears for the answer. "For, for!" whispered Sir Adolphe Caron across the seats to Mr. Stevenson. But that gentleman spoke up in an unterrified way, "Against." Then the Clerk, after further toting up of names, declared that the yeas numbered 54 and the nays 55. Mr. Speaker pronounced the motion lost.

The Opposition, cheered, laughed and pounded their desks with delight, while Sir Charles Tupper pulled his silk hat down over his forehead and examined his desk.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

By Methodist Young People—Resolutions of the Belleville Convention.

1. We emphatically express our sympathy and co-operation with all who labour in the Temperance Reform, and we urge our Leagues and Societies to hold temperance meetings, and suggest that all our members become pledged temperance workers.

2. In view of the efforts being made to secure changes in the law permitting the desecration of the Sabbath Day, and also in view of the desecration caused by excursions, the violation of the liquor law, bicycle-riding, visiting, etc. We earnestly exhort our young people to resist every encroachment upon the privileges secured to society by its proper observance.

3. Realizing the importance of Junior Societies, we would suggest that more Junior League literature be given out, and that each Senior League shall organize as soon as possible a junior department. We would also recommend correspondence with our Superintendents of junior work regarding organization.

4. We recognize with thankfulness the fact that within this conference alone we have an army of 10,500 pledged members in our societies. We would remind ourselves of the strength that develops wherever there is fidelity to the pledges taken. The pledge is a continued blessing to a faithful member, and marked fidelity to it will make our societies everywhere helpful factors in church work and for the betterment of society.

5. To awaken and foster a missionary spirit, we recommend that regular Missionary Meetings be held, suitable literature be circulated and that a regular or systematic plan be adopted for the raising of money for the extension of the Redeemer's Kingdom. It is important that the missionary department be organized in all our societies, and that correspondence be had with our Missionary Vice President, or with the Mission Rooms, or the Women's Missionary Society regarding missionary objects and funds. We are hopeful of having deputations appointed from our District meetings to visit the Leagues in the interest of missions.

6. We believe that the Scriptural method of raising money is by systematic and proportionate giving, and we suggest that in all our societies time be allowed for the discussion of the principle of systematic beneficence, that we discourage giving by proxy, such as parents paying for children, and that the giving of, at least, one-tenth of our income be urged upon all.

7. A resolution of sympathy with Armenia was passed, and it was determined that after paying the expenses of the convention, the balance of the collections should be given to the Armenian fund. The amount forwarded was $8.00.

SUDDEN DEATH.

J. J. Skeffington Expired on Thursday Morning Last.

The death of Mr. Jas. J. Skeffington, formerly of Peterborough, occurred in Sarnia on Thursday last. The deceased was born in Peterborough, his father being employed at Ryan's tannery. Mr. Skeffington left Peterborough in 1858 to join the 100th Regiment which served in the great Indian mutiny.

Concerning his death the Sarnia Observer:

"One of the most familiar figures in Sarnia, Jas. J. Skeffington, messenger of the Bank of Commerce, died suddenly at his quarters over the bank, about 4 o'clock this morning. He had been attending to his duties in the bank yesterday as usual and after closing hours, while talking with some of the juniors, he complained of a headache and was seen to totter on the chair on which he was seated. A glass of water revived him somewhat, and he was assisted up stairs to his rooms. Dr. C. L. Vall was sent for, and attended to the case but nothing serious was anticipated. Shortly before 4 a.m., he fell into a stupor and the doctor was again summoned by telephone, and he called on Drs. Johnston and Merrison for consultation, but before they arrived Skeffington was dead. Death resulted from hemorrage of the brain. Deceased was well known to almost every resident of the town, young and old, and the news of his death was everywhere received with expressions of sad surprise and genuine regret. He was an exceedingly amiable, kind hearted man, on good terms with everybody and his death comes as a personal loss to nearly everyone in the town. He had been in the service of the bank for over fifteen years, discharging his duties to the entire satisfaction of the bank officials and customers, with all of whom he was deservedly popular. In musical circles his services were always available and his loss will be felt by the musicians and musical organizations of the town, more especially by the 27th Batt. band and the Orchestral Club. In 1858 Mr. Skeffington was one among the thousand or more of young Canadians who formed the 100th Regiment, for service in India, to quell the great mutiny which was then at its height. After learning his drill and duties as a soldier he joined the band of the regiment and learned to play the clarinet, upon which instrument he was a performer of no mean skill. He served with the regiment in England, Gibraltar and Malta, from which latter station he returned to Canada, the regiment have been ordered to this country on the outbreak of the Fenian Raid in 1866. On the expiration of his ten years service, he took his discharge and shortly after made his home in London, where he entered the Advertiser office and learned the printing business. He was among the first to join the 7th Batt. Band, organized about that time under Mr. St. John Hyttenrauch, and was for several years a prominent members of that crack military band. Over fifteen years ago he was engaged as messengar for the Bank of Commerce here, mainly through the influence and exertions of citizens who took an active interest in promoting the efficiency of the 27th Batt. Band, then being organized under Mr. A. A. Clappe's leadership. Here, too, he proved to be a valuable acquisition to the band, and he remained, up to his death, one of its chief mainstays. He had a wide acquaintance among the militia bandsmen west of Toronto, all of whom will hear with regret of the death of their old comrade.

Deceased leaves a wife and two children of tender years. He was insured for $1,000 in the Catholic Order of Foresters, and had also an insurance of $1,000 in one of the stock companies. The funeral will take place on Saturday. Service at the Catholic church at 9.30 a.m.; interment at the cemetery of Our Lady of Mercy. The funeral will, we understand, be conducted by the military, deceased being an active member of the 27th Battalion."

SAM SWANTON SUICIDES AT COBOCONK.

A Well Known Lumber Dealer Ends His Life With a Pistol Bullet—No Cause Assigned.

(Lindsay Post.)

On Thursday last Mr. Sam Swanton, the well know dealer in telegreph poles, paving posts, ties, etc., who removed his family from Lindsay to Toronto last week, arrived in town and informed his friends that he was on his way north over the Coboconk branch to inspect a quantity of forest produce drawn out for the firm he had represented during the past year or two. Taking Conductor Greave's train the same evening, Swanton reached Victoria late at night, and on Friday afternoon drove over to Coboconk, stopping at Mrs. Pattie's hotel, where he transacted considerable business next day. During the evening he declared he was very tired, and about seven o'clock went to his room at the head of the stairs. About 4.30 on Sunday morning, Miss Eliza Keyes, who is an invalid, awakened her mother and told her she fancied she had heard a shot, but as it was a cold night she was easily persuaded that the noise she had heard was due to the action of the frost. Next morning the household rose at a late hour and it was not until dinner time that the non-appearance of Mr. Swanton was noticed. The bartender was sent to arouse him, but returned soon after, saying he could get no reply. Upon the news being verified the door was broken open and Swanton was found lying on the bed cold in death, with a 32 calibre revolver lying on the floor close by. It was apparently a case of premeditated suicide—the body was partly dressed, but the vest and shirt had been opened so that the muzzle of the revolver might be pressed fair against the breast, which was discoloured by the burning powder. Dr. Laurie was at once summoned, but found life extinct. A messenger was then despatched for Dr. Graham, of Fenelon Falls, coroner, but owing to the terrible state of the roads the latter had not succeeded in reaching the village when the train left there this morning. It is probable that the body will be brought to Fenelon after the coroner's investigation. Few men were better known throughout the north country than the deceased, who has paid out many thousands of dollars to the settlers for various kinds of forest produce, and genuine regret will be felt by many upon hearing of the above sad ending to a useful life. No reason can be assigned for the rash act.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, billiousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

WEAK AND EXHAUSTED.

FROM THE RESULTS OF NEURALGIA AND NERVOUS HEADACHE.

Five Years of Almost Constant Agony Endured by the Sufferer—A Strong Letter From Her Husband Testifying to Her Cure.

"Neuralgia," says an eminent writer on medical matters, "is the cry of the nerves for better blood." This undoubtedly expresses the whole truth, and the first duty of those who are in any degree afflicted with this exceedingly painful malady, is to create pure and healthy blood, and thus drive the disease from the system. The following strong letter from Mr. T. W. Johnson, Hemford, N.S., will show how this can be done. Mr. Johnson writes: "My only interest in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the gratitude I owe for the cure of my wife, and my desire that others may obtain similar relief. My wife has been a sufferer for many years, and had been under different treatments without permanent results until 1893, when she was induced to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. At that time she had been suffering from neuralgia and nervous headache in their worst form for over five years, the trouble gradually growing worse each year. She had a dreadful pain in the head most of the time, and her eyes were so weak that she could scarcely sew or read. Her nights were almost sleepless, and the trouble spread from her head to her body, and she suffered from an intense pain in her back. The trouble was wearing her away and she became so weak and exhausted that she could scarcely stand upon her feet. Sometimes she obtained temporary relief from the different treatments tried, but afterwards the trouble seemed to be more severe than before. I had read a great deal concerning Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and at last determined to give them a trial. She found relief before the first box was entirely used, and after using about half a dozen boxes she was as well and strong as ever she had been in her life. I believe that had it not been for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she would not be comforting my life now. It is almost two years since she discontinued using the pills, and in that time she has been free from the disease and in good health, so that it is reasonable to say that the cure is permanent. I know that many of our neighbors who have seen what Pink Pills have done for my wife, have used them with equally beneficial results. In conclusion let me urge the thousands who may read this to obtain Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as I can heartily recommend them and feel that I am doing my duty to the afflicted by doing so."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are offered with a confidence that they are the only perfect and unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer and when given a fair trial, disease and suffering must vanish. As a spring medicine, they are unsurpassed, purifying the blood, driving out the seeds of disease and fortifying the whole system. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail on receipt of 50 cents a box or $2 50 for six boxes, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schnectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and refuse trashy substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

Stick Out YOUR TONGUE!

What for?

Because it may save your life!

How?

It is the barometer that indicates the state of your health by its shapes, coatings and colors.

For example?

Well, a pointed tongue indicates irritation and disorder in the stomach and bowels.

The full broad tongue shows want of proper digestive action.

The dry, pinched tongue is the tongue of acute disease.

The fissure tongue proves inflammatory action of the kidneys.

A dry tongue is evidence that the stomach and intestines cannot do much digestive work.

Coating of the tongue is the result of intemperate eating and drinking. The Liver is deranged.

The broad, pallid tongue shows a want of alkaline elements in the blood. It is a danger signal.

The deep red tongue, generally dry, shows acid.

Dryness always indicates nervousness, and diseases of the nerve centres.

Extreme moisture shows the reverse.

DEFIANT AND ABUSIVE

Is the Government's Attitude Towards Manitoba.

MR. DALY'S SPEECH HAS SHOWN IT

On the Contrary Mr. Laurier's Policy, One of Conciliation, Has Been Endorsed in All Parts of the Dominion—Congratulations From Quebec—Doings at Ottawa.

Ottawa, March 10.—The Government did their best to-day to prove that in accepting Mr. Greenway's offer to come to Ottawa and confer on the school question they are acting in bad faith, and are determined to maintain their coercive attitude. Mr. Daly is the Manitoba member of the Cabinet. His speech to-day followed the announcement of a proposed conference with Mr. Greenway. That speech one would expect under the circumstances to be moderate and conciliatory in tone. On the contrary, it was defiant and abusive. It described Mr. Greenway's action as cruel and heartless, and expressed the hope that he would now "come to time." This is not the language of conciliation, yet it was made by a Cabinet Minister with the apparent approval of the leader of the House. Its tone would warrant Mr. Greenway in reconsidering his offer to negotiate. If it represents the spirit in which the Government are entering on the proposed conference nothing can come of that conference but bad blood. It is the temper of a bully, and is a fitting sequel to Sir Charles Tupper's official announcement, which ended in a threat.

The fact is that the Government have been compelled by the force of public opinion to make a show of negotiation, but the essential element of conciliation is conspicuously absent. Mr. Laurier's whole policy is based on conciliation, and he would begin by abandoning coercion and by finding out just where all parties to the controversy stand. That this is the sensible method is shown by the news from all parts of the Dominion. Visitors to the capital, private letters and public and press utterances are all to the effect that Mr. Laurier's policy is the one approved by the people, irrespective of race or creed or section. It is a national policy of peace and good-will. Premier Fielding, one of the most able and popular leaders, is at present voicing this feeling in the Province of Nova Scotia, and it is meeting with a hearty response in all his crowded meetings. In Quebec Mr. Laurier's policy is endorsed by nearly all classes. It is not a case of Quebec v. Ontario. Advices of all kinds from the Province of Quebec satisfy the Liberals in Parliament that their course is the most popular one. The old school Liberals of Quebec are with Mr. Laurier to a man. The Young Liberals of Quebec are enthusiastic in their support of the attitude of the Opposition in Parliament. The view of the Irish Catholics in Quebec is well expressed by Dr. John C. Howe, a prominent Irish Roman Catholic of the city of Quebec, who has addressed the following letter to Mr. Laurier: "In the name of many of your Irish Catholic friends let me congratulate you on the high and noble stand you have taken in opposing the Ministerial remedial bill. At the same time I must also thank you for the pleasure I have received in the perusal of your great speech, every word of which tells for peace, justice and conciliation. And if ever all the eloquence of your public career, save it, should by some means or other be destroyed, history would find therein ample means for placing you in the ranks of such men as William Ewart Gladstone and Edmund Burke."

Notwithstanding that the Imperial Judicial Committee of the Privy Council decided that the B.N.A. Act did not apply to the Manitoba school question, but the Manitoba act alone, Mr. Ives and Mr. Daly ring the changes on the danger to the minority in Quebec, who are under the B.N.A. Act. The day Mr. Ives spoke in the name of the Quebec minority the members of the Orange Grand Lodge of Quebec, a portion of that minority, adopted a resolution by a standing vote pledging its members to support "all constitutional opposition to the obnoxious legislation." The real trouble is that one-half of the Ottawa Cabinet are hanging on to office rather than relinquish a bill to which they are at heart opposed.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Many Matters Dealt With by the Local House Yesterday.

Toronto, March 11.—It is the intention of the Government to conclude the business of the session not later than Easter. Sir Oliver Mowat, answering Mr. Whitney yesterday, said he intended bringing down his bill dealing with County Courts within three or four days.

Mr. Whitney asked if it was the intention to close the session by Easter.

Mr. Harcourt said by the first of April if possible.

Hon. G. W. Ross moved the second reading or his bill to consolidate and revise the High School Acts. It provides for the union of High and Public School boards under the name of "Board of Education" members of High School Board to be High school trustees; provides for military instruction, and defines duties of trustees.

Mr. Matheson thought that where the Public and High School Boards united but one building should be used for both schools.

Mr. Ross said there was nothing to prevent this under the act.

Mr. Haycock said the act should make clear the law with respect to withdrawals of High schools. It appeared there was doubt at present, where a High school was once established, whether it could be withdrawn. The bill was then read a second time.

These bills also were read a second time:

Hon. Mr. Ross—To consolidate and revise the laws respecting the Education Department.

Mr. Bronson—To make further provision respecting street railways.

Mr. Harcourt—To consolidate and revise the acts respecting the registration of births, marriages and deaths.

The afternoon was spent in considering the estimates.

Before the Committees.

Mr. H. K. Smith, game inspector, Belleville, appeared before the Public Accounts Committee yesterday morning, but his examination was deferred. Mr. Wm. Foster, Owen Sound, will be asked to explain certain lumber accounts before the committee.

The Government House Committee had a meeting yesterday. Mr. Kivas Tully, C.E., gave the total cost of the institution from 1870 to 1892 at $264.00. Mr. Haycock figured out the total expenditure down to 1891 at $[illegible],000.

A $100,000 Blaze.

Indianapolis, March 10.—The Atkins Saw Works were burned this morning by an incendiary. Loss, $100,000; insured.

Lace Factory at Port Hope Destroyed.

Port Hope, March 10.—Buckle & Sons' lace factory, with contents, was completely destroyed by fire at 6 o'clock this evening. Total loss, $2000. Building was insured for $800 in the Hartford, stock and machinery for $1500, same company. Cause of fire, coal oil stove exploded.

Shot and Killed His Wife.

Allentown, Pa., March 10.—Select Councilman Fidel Tritschler shot and instantly killed his wife in bed this morning at 5 o'clock, and fired two bullets into his brain. He is dying. No cause is known, except that he was suffering with insomnia.

Against American Fraternal Societies.

Vienna, March 10.—New regulations exercising a severe control over assurance societies doing business in Austria-Hungary have been published. Included in the new regulations is a measure against American fraternal societies.

THE PIONEER

A SIMCOE COUNTY MAN WHO HAS AN INTERESTING HISTORY.

At 263 McCaul st., in this city, lives Mr. Samuel Kilgore, a vigorous specimen of those sturdy pioneers to whom the rapid development of this Province is mainly due. Mr. Kilgore relates, with pride, how he cleared the land on which Judge Gowan (now Senator Gowan), had his house built, and how himself and that honorable gentleman together laid the corner stone and deposited a box with various coins, etc., within the corner stone at the time. With his own hands also he cleared the land on which stands the Barrie High School, which numbers among its ex-pupils such names as Wm. Lount, Q.C., and D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C. Mr. Kilgore has served as reeve and councillor also in the township, and his sterling integrity and sound judgment give great force to his words. A few words from him will be sure to be of interest. Mr. Kilgore says:

"The dull aching pains around my loins and in the small of my back indicated to me several years ago that my kidneys were affected. I had to get up frequently at night and my rest was broken accordingly. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Gilpin's drug store some time ago, and they did wonders for me. They gave me relief almost immediately. The annoying pains around my back fled. The trouble in urinating was felt no more. My stomach, though foul, became sweet, and my whole system became so regulated that I looked back, with pleasure, to my boyhood days when pains and aches were unknown to me. I am now over seventy-three years of age, and Doan's Kidney Pills are the most wonderful medicine I ever took. After having given them a fair trial I can heartily recommend them to any one with kidney or stomach troubles."

Coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, and all lung troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

. . . THE . . .

Canada Life Assurance Co.

Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.

New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business in Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894 . . . . . $24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared . . . $8,041,000

or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

For Forestalling.

Mr. A. H. Seaton, of Toronto, was up before the magistrate this morning on the charge of forestalling on the market. The gentleman made a very satisfactory explanation, being an outsider and unacquainted with our local market laws. He said he had bought on other places and had not been interfered with. The charge was dismissed.

To-Day's Market.

To-day's market was, considering the bad roads, fairly well attended, though far behind the average Wednesday market in good weather. The principal offerings were wood, beef and hay. The receipts from market tolls must have been very light, as they have been for several weeks past. Market Clerk Green is deserving of sympathy. He has this year paid the highest figure for tolls, and owing to the impassible roads, and the slim attendance, his receipts for tolls have been at the bottom.

A Sleighing Party's Mishap.

St. Andrew's church choir (some of them at least) last night realised the truth of the spirit of the saying, "There's many a slip betwixt the cup and lip." They started out about thirty-five in number in a large four-in-hand conveyance, kindly placed at their disposal by Mr. T. Fitzgerald, and there was every prospect of a delightful drive. On George street, however, the leaders tripped up on the sides of the snow ditch represented by the street railway tracks, and fell and got terribly tangled. Some of the ladies lost their heads, and began singing fortissimo, each in her own key. During the difficulty several left the sleigh, and the remainder pursued their way enjoying a very pleasant drive, though only two horses were used. After doing the town pretty thoroughly the drive concluded at Welsh's restaurant, where the party enjoyed luncheon provided by Mr. J. J. Lundy.

A QUIET ASHBURNHAM BRIDAL.

The Nuptials of Miss Margaret Louisa Butcher and Mr. John Scott.

A quiet, though pretty wedding took place last night at the residence of Mr. John Butcher, Ashburnham, when his eldest daughter, Margaret Louisa, was united in marriage to Mr. John Scott, of Port Hope. The ceremony was performed at six o'clock in the presence of a few intimate friends by Rev. H. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's. The bride was assisted by Miss Mattie Beattie, of Ashburnham, and Mr. Black, of Port Hope, performed the duties of groomsman. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding repast was served and the company enjoyed an hour or two of social communion. The popularity of the bride was shown by the large number of handsome wedding gifts received. Among these was the gift of St. Luke's choir, of which Miss Butcher was a member, which consisted of an elegant silver tea service. The gift of the Sunday School was a handsome eight-day clock. After a few days the newly wedded couple, who enjoy the congratulations and good wishes of a large circle of friends, will take up residence in Port Hope.

A PETERBOROUGH DEPUTATION.

An Interview With Hon. Mr. Hardy Yesterday Morning.

Messrs. Stratton and Blezard introduced a Peterborough deputation to the Commissioner of Crown Lands yesterday morning. The following composed the delegation:—Mayor Yelland, Councillors Langford, Best and Moore; Town Solicitor Edwars, and Messrs. John Carnegie, R. S. Davidson and E. H. D. Hall. They asked that a new inspection be made of a strip of land along the Otonabee River front between Hunter and Sherbrooke streets, and that the town be empowered to fill in the marsh to make a market place. An inspection was made about eight years ago, but on the representation of the deputation today Hon. Mr. Hardy promised to have another inspection made. He also intimated that the Government would favourably consider the request to permit a market place being established on the strip.

WOMEN AND MISSIONS.

Annual Meeting of the St. John's Mission Auxiliary.

The annual meeting of the South Ward branch of St. John's Woman's Auxiliary took place at 3 p.m., in the Mission building, when the election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—

President—Miss Chamberlen (re-elected.)

HOCKEY.

The Printers gained another victory last night when they met and defeated a strong team of Hardwaremen by the score of 6—8. The Hardware men, as will be observed, had a stronger team on the ice than when they played the Druggists, as both Ackerman, of the Collegiates, and Ferguson, of the II Peterborough's, were on the forward line.

The two teams were composed as follows:

Printers.		Hardwaremen.
Dobbin	goal	Higgins
Milne	point	F Ferguson
Bradburn	cover point	Burnham
McWilliams	forwards	Brown
Glover		A Ferguson
Terrill		C Dumble
McWilliams		W Ackerman
H Macgachan	umpires	T Connal

Referee—E Wasson.

The printers took the puck from the face-off, and the fine combination work of their forwards took it through the defence of the Hardware team like a flash and scored the first game for the Printers. It was nip and tuck after that. The hardware men in Ferguson and Ackerman had a great pair and as they were heavier than the printers the defence of the latter was often hard pressed. Dobbin in goal stopped many a hot one and Milne and Bradburn showed up well. The McWilliams brothers worked a great combination on the forward line and Glover played a very fast game, his close checking breaking up many a Hardware rush in its inception.

At the conclusion of the game Mr. Tom Connal, the manager of the hardware team, challenged the printers to a return match, on the condition that the hardware men be allowed to play Gus Sowers, Phelan and Wasson. The challenge has been accepted and the match will take place next week for an oyster supper. The printers would like to give the drug clerks a dash.

There will in all probability be a big crowd at the rink to-night to see the fast match between the Wellingtons, Champions of Toronto, and the Peterboroughs. The teams will be composed as follows:

Wellingtons		Peterboroughs
Morrison	goal	Wasson
Gray	point	Montgomery
E Merrison	cover point	Adams
Hill	forwards	Phelan
Davidson		Parsons
Rowland		LeFevre
Spence		Pousette

Puck faced at 8 o'clock sharp.

Clothiers.		Grocers
LeBrun	goal	Brown
Logan	point	Hamilton
Gough	cover point	Connal
Merrill	forwards	Dayman
Tully		Cunningham
Corkery		Henry
McPherson		Davidson

The above teams will line up at 10 p.m. sharp, Thursday evening, at the Charlotte street rink. This will be the game of the season, as both teams are in excellent condition and each confident of winning. This will be no draw game, as was the case last year. The game will be played to a finish. Mr. H. LeBrun and Mr. E. Brown will fill the goals and Mr. Brown intends entering a protest unless he is allowed to have his goal one foot narrower than Mr. LeBrun's, to compensate for extra breadth of physique.

The Kingston Whig says,—"The secretary of the Victoria hockey club has twice written to Peterborough asking for a match here, but up to date no notice has been taken of his communications."

CURLIANA.

The following inter-rink matches were played last evening:

H J Grassett,	Col H C Rogers,
W G Morrow,	C H Hibbert,
V C McGill,	G M Roger,
T P Attrill, sk.....15	J H Burnham, sk.... 8
G Giroux,	R E Wood,
W J Drope,	W Manson,
J H Carter,	J Jeffreys,
J M Irwin, sk.....9	Judge Weller, sk.....18

The Kingston News says.—Mr. Geo. Schofield, Peterborough, tried his luck at the rink last night. Mr. Schofield was at one time a member of the Granite team at Peterborough.

The Oriental Hotel curling club hereby challenges the team of any other hotel in town for a game, to be played any time within a week.

WHEEL.

The Kingston Whig says,—Peterborough bicyclists are leaving no stone unturned in their endeavours to secure the annual meeting of the C. W. A. for 1896 for their town. Letters sent from Peterborough are enclosed in envelopes, stamped in red ink, with the legend, "Peterborough for 1896." If persistent effort towards the attainment of a desired end be any guarantee that the Peterboroughs will make their end of the affair a success, they certainly deserve "a show."

Mr. Geo. J. Horkins is down in Cobourg booming up the meet for Peterborough.

Petrolia has announced her intention of supporting Peterborough for the C. W. A. meet and the Torontos are against us.

Peterborough is credited with having several new riders who will make last year's champions hum at the meet.

The Tourists of Toronto have decided in favour of Peterborough, for the annual meet of the C.W.A. The Wanderers of the same city are out for Quebec.

That Lindsay is going to do all she can to help us to get the C. W. A. meet is evidenced by the following from the Lindsay Post: "By paying $1 to the secretary-treasurer of the Lindsay Bicycle Club, A. L. Campbell, you will have all the privileges of the said club; receive Canadian Wheelman, a paper devoted to the interests of wheelmen in Canada for one year; receive reduced hotel rates while touring; receive protection from C.W.A. in any trouble with "road hogs"; will have a vote in electing the officers of C.W.A., and what is of infinite value to the people in Lindsay this year—a vote in deciding where the meet shall be held. The fight has now narrowed down to Quebec and Peterborough, and every wheelman in town should secure a franchise and support our sister town, and at the same time further our own interests.

LACROSSE.

A meeting of the Athletic Lacrosse Club will be held in the Oriental Hotel on Friday evening next.

REGARDING HARRY B.

The last issue of the Canadian Sportsman contains the following letter which will interest Peterborough horsemen:

Peterborough, Feb. 24th.

DEAR SPORTSMAN,—

In the columns of your paper some time ago I noticed an item referring to Harry B., and the cleverness of Mr. J. Burns in bringing this horse to the front. Now, as regards the cleverness of Mr. Burns, or his ability to do so, I have no doubt, but as regards Harry B., I, as well as others, know that great credit is due Wm. Sherin, of Peterborough. Harry B. was bred by Mr. J. Daly, and bought at his sale by Mr. G. Fitzgerald, who sold him to Mr. H. LaBrun.

Now, when Mr. LaBrun placed this horse in Mr. Sherin's hands he could not beat three minutes to save his neck. Sherin handled him in the fall of '94 and drove him a mile in 2.20, and a half mile in 1.14 on a half mile track. He also offered to drive him last summer in 2.20 or better, or make no charge to Mr. LeBrun for his keep.

In the winter of '95 Harry B. was a good horse, in Sherin's hands winning the three minute trot at Port Perry, in a field of 13, among such horses as Lulu B., Jessie Wilkes and others. He beat the same field at Peterborough, winning in three straight heats, and got second place in Norwood, Demand beating him. Now, Mr. Editor, I am no particular friend of Sherin's, but give unto Cæsar those things that belong to Cæsar. Hoping you will give this space in your valuable paper,

I remain, yours,
A SUBSCRIBER.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The Wreckage Cleared Away on the Lakefield Branch.

The Lakefield branch has been cleared and the wreckage of the two engines and snow plough are loaded on flat cars for removal to the G.T.R. shops at Belleville.

The rumour that another wreck occurred on the Grand Trunk this morning originated in the fact that a shunting engine got off the track on the Canadian General Electric Co.'s siding. There was no damage.

Tired but Sleepless

Is a condition which gradually wears away the strength. Let the blood be purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla and this condition will cease.

"For two or three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before I had finished two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt all right and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I am stronger and healthier than I have ever been in my life." JOHN W. COUGHLIN, Wallaceburg, Ontario.

THE ARMENIAN PERSECUTIONS.

The long and bitter persecutions and butcheries of Christians in Armenia demand, that effectual action be taken by their Christian brethern, both for the effectual relief of the sufferers and to the end that such brutal carnage should be ceased. If the governments will not effectually act, let the people compel them by taking the peaceable course of ministering to the distressed, and stand between the oppressed and the oppressor, and positively demand that their demon rage shall cease. This can be done and should be done at once, if not, the torrent of bloodshedding must enlarge as a natural result of these bloodhounds being let loose, and maybe we in our turn may have to experience something of the same, as when the Apostle Paul was dealt unrighteously with by certain rulers, he fell back on his right as a man and said, I appeal unto Cæsar and found his escape from the trap of his enemies. The law and authorities are intended as a terror to evil doers and its executions of judgment, the sword of the Almighty, but when the law of righteousness is perverted and becomes Godless lawlessness, let men join together and appealing unto the God of peace salvation and order, cast out the corruption. The preacher of the gospel of peace, Paul the model man, said to one Thou enemy of all righteousness, thou shalt be blind, not seeing the light of the sun. Peter also passed the sentence of death on the liars, Annanias and his wife. The Lord Jesus took a whip of small cords and drove the unrighteous dealers from his presence in the temple.

To stop this Armenian evil let all Christian people of all nationalities harmoniously unite together to deliver and comfort those who are so oppressed and persecuted, dealing out of our abundance, bread for their hunger, raiment for their nakedness and bring to our houses those who are cast out, for we have the promise that God shall go before us and also be our rearward. Let others do as they will, let us act at once, calling on all other Christians of every land and name to volunteer one man from 500 and one woman from a 1,000 who shall go and be a wall of defence against the oppressor and minister to the oppressed; those who stay at home can cover the costs. Let them take the flag of their nations and be ready for defence. Let our towns, cities, and villages volunteer a 20 per cent. of their daily income, or more if in their power. Let vessels be chartered with suitable food and raiment and let our volunteers stand in the gap and if any should fall by the rage of the enemies let the lesson taught Theadore of Abyssinia be repeated again by the rulers of our lands. The writer will volunteer his place in Toronto as a depot in the district or locality, to form an association for the work of gathering clothes and suitable food and for counsel and prayer and do his share with the rest, that the Turkish flood of ungodliness may be stopped. Let our cities, towns and districts have their depots and volunteers and heaven will help with us if we ask, and the work will be done and we shall rejoice.

Weak Lungs.

Emaciation, weakness, and that fatal disposition to take cold easy, thus adding little by little to the strain upon the already overburdened body. How many afflicted are trusting to cough mixtures, mustard and poultices for safety? Fatal error. Not by these, but by adding to the nutritive power of the body and the increased strength and vitality which increased nutrition affords, can you hope to obtain relief. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites combines the excellencies of a medicine, a food, and a digestive agency of unexampled power. The full remedial value of the cod liver oil, rendered palatable and of easy digestion, is combined with the nutritive values of wheat, oats and barley. This in itself would render Maltine and Cod Liver Oil of greater value than any emulsion. But it possesses a further quality of inestimable value in its property of increasing the solubility of fat-forming, heat-producing, starchy foods, just the elements required for the upbuilding of the emaciated.

REV. H. SYMONDS SPEAKS TO THE S. O. E.

The Delegates to the Grand Lodge Attend Worship.

AN INTERESTING SERMON ON PRINCIPLES OF THE ORDER.

Headed by the Lansdowne Lodge Band The Visitors March to St. John's Church Escorted by the Members of the Local Branch of the Order—The Collection in Aid of the Armenian Fund.

COURT HOUSE, MARCH 11th.

After the submission of the reports of the President, Secretary, Treasurer and Auditors at yesterday afternoon's session of the Grand Lodge, important correspondence from the Grand Lodge of South Africa was read and will be dealt with in due course.

A memorial having reference to the Manitoba school question was received from a Hamilton Lodge, and after brief consideration was referred to a special committee composed of Dr. John S. King, Messrs. Barlow Cumberland, Thos. Sargeant, Richard Jones and E. Blundall. It is expected that this committee will present a report in to-day which will if adopted, pronounce with no uncertain sound upon this burning question. After arranging the hours of future sittings the Supreme Lodge adjourned to allow the committees to complete their work.

This morning the Grand Lodge assembled but did not take up other than general routine business.

In response to an invitation issued by Lansdowne Lodge, the visiting delegates headed by the local Sons of England band and escorted by the members of the Peterborough branch of the Society, marched to St. John's church at nine o'clock this morning to attend a special service. In this connection it is pleasing to note that almost every delegate was in his place when the procession was formed at the Court House.

Headed by the band the delegates marched down Brock street to George to Hunter to the church, where they were met at the door by the churchwardens, Messrs. Harry Long and R. H. Dennistoun.

The seats in the centre aisle were reserved for the Sons, but a number of them took their places with the choir, materially assisting in the musical part of the service.

THE OPENING EXERCISES

were conducted by the rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, assisted by Rev. E. Bushell, of Montreal. The service took the form of morning prayer, with a few special changes. The lesson was taken from St. Matthew xxv: 31 46, and in the responsive part of the service, following the Lord's Prayer, the appended clauses were added to the regular form:—

PRIEST.—O God save our Sovereign and Rulers, and give them victory over our enemies.

ANSWER.—And evermore defend us.

PRIEST.—O Lord, protect our native land and homes.

ANSWER.—And send us now prosperity.

PRIEST.—O God, increase our love to the brethren and our charity to the distressed.

ANSWER.—And keep us in Thy love and fear.

PRIEST.—O Lord lead us in all our ways and walks of life.

ANSWER.—And have mercy upon us.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. H. Symonds, of Ashburnham, Chaplain of Lansdowne Lodge, The text was taken from Deut. viii, 3 ver., "Man doth not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

THESE WORDS,

dear brethren, said the speaker, were the words of the ancient law giver, who had for 40 years led the tribes of Israel in the wilderness and was now about to give give them into the hands of a more youthful leader to conduct them into the promised land. In relinquishing his leadership he delivers an address in which the text is used. First he speaks of the promised land as follows:

"For the Lord thy God bringeth thee into a good land; a land of brooks of water, of fountains, and depths that spring out of valleys and hills;

A land of wheat, and barley, and vines and fig trees, and pomegranates; a land of oil olive and honey;

A land wherein thou shalt eat bread without scarceness, thou shalt not lack any thing in it; a land whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills thou mayest dig brass.

When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which he hath given thee.

Then came the warning in the following terms.

"All the commandments which I command thee this day shall ye observe to do, that ye may live and multiply, and go in and possess the land which the Lord sware unto your fathers.

And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee these forty years in the wilderness, to humble thee, and to prove thee, to know what was in thine heart, whether thou wouldest keep his commandments, or no.

And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know; that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live."

The idea of the holding of a religious service, Mr. Symonds explained, had not originated with him, but had been suggested by a lay member, and the large attendance of delegates argued that this portion had evidently met with the favour of the Grand Lodge. The Sons of England, he stated, was certainly a religious organization. The presence of the delegates, he argued, was an indication that their thoughts were not entirely devoted to temporal things alone, but that they realized that "man doth not live by bread alone." "Through all the aspects of life the religious aspect could be distinguished pre-eminent, and in speaking of the religious aspect of the Sons of England, I will," continued the speaker, "try and draw your attention to the religious side of some of the principles of our Order." A society formed on certain principles is apt to forget them, as man is prone to forget first principles at all times, and we should from time to time, therefore, call our society together in order to ever keep in the minds of the members that patriotism, charity and love are the cardinal

OF THE PROGRAMME

PRINCIPLES OF THE ORDER.

In speaking of patriotism, one of the first principles of the order, Mr. Symonds referred to the beautiful sentiments which were entwined around our common birthplace. The sentiments were aroused because our homes are hallowed by God's presence. Do not, brethern, be cast down because sneers are sometimes cast upon patriotism. Loyalty, they say, does not put bread into the mouth of any man, but notice should not be taken of such expressions as these.

Just a word, continued the speaker, on the temporal greatness of our country. England has great power and territorial possessions and is accused by many of devoting her attention to the acquisition of temporal power to the neglect of her spirituality. Knowing as we do, however, what follows when she accepts the responsibility of governing each new domain we can afford to pay no attention to the views of others on the subject.

The English speaking people have a calling greater than any to which they have yet given their attention. The English speaking race is destined to give the to all those nations over whom they are called to rule.

In speaking on charity Mr. Symonds expressed the opinion that of the virtues there were none which so stimulated the growth of home love. In the New Testament this virtue of charity is urged as the final test of our life, and even if exercised towards those whom we most despise, it is done unto Him, who is the Lord of Lords. The English speaking race has great opportunities for the exercise of charity. Ireland has been constantly in need, and now from the far East comes a call for assistance, and though, as yet, a means has not been devised for the relief of Armenia by the sword, yet we can assist the sufferers through our charity. Try ever, my brethren, said the speaker, to cultivate in your breasts a sincere sympathy for all mankind. Let us be true to ourselves, true to our principles and true to our country. Such officers and delegates of the supreme Grand Lodge, such officers and members of Lodge Lansdowne, brothers all, such are the principles of the Sons of England—

PATRIOTISM AND CHARITY.

I have endeavoured to show you that there is a direct religious element in both of them. That piety is a very strong root of patriotism, that the love of God and love of country, of necessity go hand in hand together. As we peruse the history of England's past and see how large a place religion has held in the critical periods of her history—as we survey the tokens of her present majesty and power, present in every part of the world still devoted to the welfare of every race over whom she rules, we cannot, if we believe in God at all, but believe that He has guided the course of her destiny, and that so long as she continues to set before her truth and honour, piety and justice, righteousness and love as the true objects of the Empire, so long will she be blessed of God and privileged to be the chief instrument in the working out of His mighty plans.

And may God in His mercy so guide our consultations that wise decisions may be made, the best welfare of our beloved society be promoted, and that all may redound to his honour and glory, for whom all things were made and at whose pleasure they exist.

The offertory was devoted to the Armenian Fund.

At the close of the service the national anthem was sung, the band playing the accompaniment.

At the conclusion of the service the grand officers and delegates returned in procession to the Court House where session was resumed and routine business entered upon.

The Marquis di Rudini Will Become Prime Minister of Italy.

Rome March 8.—At a late hour tonight it was reported that these selections as ministers had been made: Marquis di Rudini, Prime Minister and probably Minister of the Interior; Gen. Ricotti, Minister of War; Signor Brin, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Signor Perazzi, Minister of the Treasury; Admiral Racbin, Minister of Marine; Signor Guicciardini, Minister of Finance; Signor Granturlo, Minister of Justice. The Ministers of Commerce, Public Instruction, PublicW orks, Posts and Telegraphs are still vacant. The Marquis di Rudini was Prime Minister from Feb. 6, 1891, to May 5, 1892. During this time occurred the trouble with the United States growing out of the lynching of a number of Italians at New Orleans. Then, as now, the Marquis stood Signor Crispi as Prime Minister, the latter having been overthrown on a financial question.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED.

The Mob Element in Valencia Created Plenty of Trouble.

Madrid, March 8.—The actions of the mob in Valencia became so threatening to-day that martial law was proclaimed in that city to-night. A crowd numbering fully 10,000 persons met outside the bull ring and attempted to enter the place for the purpose of holding a meeting to express anti-American sentiments. The authorities had issued an order forbidding the holding of such meetings, but no attention was paid to it. The gendarmes at the bull ring refused to allow the mob to enter and were told that they were traitors to Spain. Then several persons in the crowd cried "Long live the Republic." Some shots were fired. The Governor of the province then proclaimed martial law, and any further rioting will be dealt with sternly by the military power.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Sir Oliver's Parliament Held a Twenty Minute Session Yesterday.

Toronto, March 9.—The Local Legislature had a 20 minute sesion yesterday. The House was very thin ,because most of the members had not returned to the city. There were only nine Conservative members in their seats when the Speaker took the chair.

Mr. Crawford's bill respecting the Toronto Sick Children's Hospital was read a third time and only requires the signature of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to become law.

These bills were read a second time:

Hon. Mr. Harty—Respecting the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation of the Diocese of Kingston.

Mr. Truax.—To confirm bylaw No. 486 of the town of Walkerton.

Mr. Middleton.—Respecting bylaws Nos. 680, 792 and 823 of the city of Hamilton.

Mr. Flatt.—Respecting the jail of the County of Wentworth.

Mr. Midleton.—Respecting St. Thomas Church, Hamilton.

Mr. Little asked if the two chaplains in the Reformatory, Penetanguishene, were engaged in any outside work other than in connection with their duties in the institution.

Hon. Mr. Gibson said that he had no knowledge of the fact. He was not aware that chaplains referred to were engaged in any other work that attending to their duties at the reformatory.

Mr. Mutrie moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Muncipal Act. The bill provides that any County Council may, at the expense of the county, make, maintain or improve any township, town or village road or highway which comunicated with or runs into or towards any county road, and may grant such sum or sums from time to time for the said purpose, as they may deem expedient. The bill passed and was sent on to the Municipal Committee without discussion.

Sir Oliver Mowat has given notice that he will introduce the following Government bills this week: Bill respecting landlord and tenant. Bill respecting dower. Bill respecting the quieting of titles. Bill to amend the Judicature Act, 1895, and the law relating to the procedure in the courts. Bill respecting the solemnization of marriages.

Notice has been given that these bills will be introduced:

Mr. Hardy (Wednesday next)—Bill for the better protection of justices of the peace and other public officers. Bill respecting the estates of insolvent deceased persons.

Mr. Conmee (Thursday next)—Bill to amend the Woodman's Lien Act for wages; also bill to amend the Mechanics' Lien Act.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) (Wednesday next)—Bill to make further provisions respecting industrial schools.

Mr. Ferguson (Wednesday next)—Bill to amend the act to prevent the profanation of the Lord.

Mr. Cleland will ask the Government to-morrow what progress has been made towards a final determination of the jurisdiction of the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Ontario in the matter of inland fisheries.

Costly Stables Destroyed by Fire.

Poughkeepsie, March 5.—Fire broke out at the Hudson River Driving Park Stock Farm stables. When the firemen reached the scene they found the stables, with several small buildings near by, burned to the ground. The property was all owned by Jacob Ruppert. The total loss will probably reach $50,000; covered by insurance.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

ENGINES WENT OVER THE BANK.

Pitch-in With a Snow Plough on the Grand Trunk—Two Men Hurt.

Peterboro, March 9.—A pitch-in occurred on the Grand Trunk near here this afternoon, when two engines and a snowplow were wrecked and two men injured. Shortly after 1 o'clock they left here with the intention of clearing out the Lakefield section. At the crossing near Dixon's embankment the ice had become firmly packed, strong enough to hold the light snowplow, causing it to run over and leave the track. The two engines followed, and a complete wreck was the result. Two men, J. Casey and William Smith, were seriously injured.

Italy Has Money.

London, March 9.—The Daily News will to-morrow say that London and Berlin bankers offered Italy a loan at a low rate of interest to meet her war expenses and balance the budget. The Government declined the offer, Italian credit banks having voluntarily offered it large sums of money at a day's notice.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To Add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:—

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventible, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment — by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They cure constipation, and sick headache

No REMEDY cures coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, etc., so well as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It heals, soothes and strengthens the lungs and throat.

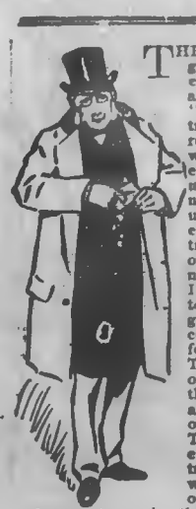
Examiner Office



THE doctor may be a good old man, but even so, medical examinations and the "local-application" treatment are abhorrent to every modest woman. They are embarrassing—often useless. They should not be submitted to until everything else has been tried. In nine cases out of ten, there is no reason for them. In nine cases out of ten, the doctor in general practice isn't competent to treat female diseases. They make a branch of medicine by themselves. They are distinct from other ailments. They can be properly understood and treated only by one who has had years of actual practice and experience in this particular line. This is true of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for all derangements of the reproductive organs of women, has been in actual use for more than thirty years. It was originally sold with an absolute guarantee that it would cure every case, or that the money paid for it would be refunded. Its success has been so universal that this guarantee is no longer necessary. The "Favorite Prescription" relies now upon the thousands of testimonials from grateful and happy women, in all parts of the land, whose lives have been made worth living by its use. "Favorite Prescription" is sold by druggists.

Complete information regarding it, and testimonials from hundreds who have used it, are embodied in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a standard medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. This work is a complete family doctor book and should be read by both young and old. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

"BILL" NYE IS DEAD.

A HUMOROUS WRITER WELL KNOWN IN CANADA.

How He Came to be Famous as a Writer—His Sketches and Personal Characteristics—Editor of the Laramie Boomerang—Whitcomb Riley's Testimonial.

About fifteen years ago there began to appear in different newspapers extracts which were said to have been copied from a paper published at Laramie, Wyo., the name of which was alleged to be the Boomerang. The sketches were unique and most amusing, but for a long time many of those who enjoyed the humor of them were very doubtful about the existence of a paper with such a seemingly absurd name. However, it began to be understood that a new humorist had arisen, and that his newspaper, the Boomerang, as well as his humor, was genuine.

Of course it was asked who this genius of humor of the Wyoming uplands was, and the papers began to circulate a rumor that his name was Bill Nye. It was not many months before the public knew that Bill Nye was a nom de plume, and that this genius of humor was baptised Edgar Wilson Nye. He was born in Shirley, Piscataquis County, Maine, August 25, 1850, but at the age of 3 years, according to his own story, he took his parents by the hand and led them to the west. They went to Wisconsin, and there, on the banks of the St. Croix River, young Nye was brought up on a farm. He received an academical education at River Falls, Wis., and in 1876 went to Wyoming Territory, where he studied law and was admitted to the bar. There, as he says, he practised law in a quiet way, "although frequently warned by the authorities not to do so."

EDGAR WILSON NYE.

He had plenty of leisure time on his hands, which he used in writing a Sunday letter for the Cheyenne Sun, at the rate of $1 a column. In one of his humorous autobiographical sketches, Mr. Nye said that that sum, which amounted to nearly $60 a year, so dwarfed his returns from his law practice, that he decided to take up newspaper writing as a profession, and accordingly moved to Denver, where he obtained a position on the staff of the Denver Tribune.

He corresponded from Denver for the Salt Lake Tribune. Later a new paper was started in Laramie called the Boomerang, after a favorite mule owned by Nye, which he called "Boomerang," because he never knew where it would strike. At the time Nye edited the Boomerang it was published over a livery stable. A sign on the door instructed callers to "twist the tail of the gray mule and take the elevator."

The Boomerang was quoted all over the country, and Nye began to get his reputation as a humorist of note at that time.

Like many humorists, Mr. Nye was a man of almost womanly gentleness of disposition. His amiability was never clouded, and his good humor was as spontaneous as it was good natured. He never forgot a friend.

Mr. Nye was married in 1877 to Miss Fanny Smith of Chicago. With her and their children Nye lived happy for a long time on the banks of the St. Croix, and they went with him to New York City and made home bright on Staten Island. Of late years, when he was not going about the country on lecturing tours, Nye has passed most of his time at his country place near Asheville, N. C.

Mr. Nye, unlike most writers of his kind, had excellent business qualifications. He was "a thrifty humorist," as one of his friends expressed it, and his income in the later years of his life was about $20,000 per annum.

Whitcomb Riley's Tribute.

James Whitcomb Riley, when informed of Mr. Nye's death, said:

"Especially favored, as for years I have been, with close personal acquaintance and association with Mr. Nye, his going fills me with a selfishness of grief that finds a mute rebuke in my every memory of him. He was unselfish wholly; and I am heartened, recalling the always patient strength and gentleness of this true man—the unfailing hope and cheer and faith of his child-heart—his noble and heroic life and pure devotion to his home—its sanctity of love—mother, brothers, wife, children, friends—his deep affections, constant dreams, plans and realizations—all in happiest action and development. So I can not doubt but that—somehow, somewhere—he continues cheerily on in the unbroken exercise of these same capacities—as marked an endowment of his spirit nature as was his peculiar gift of genius intellectual."

In one of Mr. Riley's books the following is printed:

TO EDGAR WILSON NYE

O, "William"—in thy blithe companionship
What liberty is mine—what sweet relea.se
From clamorous strife, and yet what boisterous peace!
Ho! ho! it is thy fancy's finger-tip
That dints the dimple now and kinks the lip
That scarce may s.g in all this gl'd increase
Of merriment! So, pray thee, do not cease
To cheer me thus—for underneath the quip
Of thy droll sorcery, the wrangling fret
O all distress is still—no syllable
Of sorrow vexeth me—no teardrops wet
My teeming lids save those that leap to tell
Thee thou'st a guest that overweepeth yet
Only because thou jokest overwell.
—James Whitcomb Riley.

Breaking Out Again.

"You may not have thought of it," observed the exchange editor, "but this new cure-all of Nicola Tesla's is contrary to Scripture."

The financial editor braced himself and waited.

"In the Book of Revelations," pursued the other, "it is written, 'So hast thou also them that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which thing I also hate.'"

"You seem to be trying," coldly replied the financial editor, "to ring in a New Testament of you own"—

"Stop right there! That's a Revelation of your depravity that"—

"Besides, what does Moses say in the Pentateuch"——

"Do you think the Pentateuch is a book"——

"I think that if there is anything in Nicola Tesla's cure that could heal the infirmities of your temper and sweeten your disposition"——

"You'd have a disposition to take it! That's right. He cures by rapid vibration, and you need a shaking up!"

"And you're trying to do the vibrating. Well, I've read in that same book, which you don't seem to know anything about, that the devil goes to and fro in the earth"——

"Chentlemen," interposed the railroad editor, who had just come in, "vy brate so loutly? Sdop!"

And the combatants, still breathing defiance at each other, gradually subsided.—Chicago Tribune.

An Extraordinary Woman.

Dr. Abernethy, the famous Scotch surgeon, was a man of few words, but once he met his match—in a woman. She called at his office in Edinburgh one day and showed a hand, badly inflamed and swollen, when the following dialogue, opened by the doctor, took place:

"Burn?"

"Bruise."

"Poultice."

The next day the woman called again, and the dialogue was as follows:

"Better?"

"Worse."

"More poultice."

Two days later the woman made another call, and this conversation occurred:

"Better?"

"Well. Fee?"

"Nothing!" exclaimed the doctor "Most sensible woman I ever met!"—New York Mail and Express.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognized this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

Delay in Putting on Glasses.

After it is certain they are needed, is very unwise. Many persons do not see as well as they should. Others suffer with a constant headache which medicine does not relieve, because the headache comes from eyestrain.

The proper remedy is a pair of good glasses—properly fitted.

CHILDREN'S EYES should be tested for possible defects.

I have the necessary appliances, skill and experience for fitting your eyes properly, and can help any eye that glasses will help. We make no charge for examination.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From our own Correspondent.

On Wednesday evening of last week the Peterborough Colts came down here to engage in a game of hockey with our second team. The visitors far out-classed the home team in size and weight. Nevertheless our boys held them down pretty close and had the best of the game the first half. If it had not been for the excellent work done by Wasson the home boys would have scored repeatedly, as at hal time the score stood one to one. In the last half the visitors weight began to tell on their lighter opponents and a good deal of rough play was indulged in. The score at the finish stood four to one for Peterborough. The teams were :

Peterborough Colts.		Norwood Clots.
Wasson	goal	Anderson
Thompson	point	Stewart
Pousette	cover point	Pearce
McGachen, Bellegham, Crossley, Ferguson	forwards	Hendron, Cameron, Pengelly, Hendren
Phelan	umpire	Cameron

L McGregor, Referee.

On Monday evening the Colts went to Peterborough to play the return match with the P. C. I. They had to play in hard luck. Anderson, their goalkeeper, left last week for the other side and Pettigrew, their star forward, was unable to go. The score was 11—5 in favour of the P. C. I. The Colts team was,—Goal, T. Clancy; point, W. Stewart, cover point, C. Pearce; forwards, Hendren, Cameron, Smart and Pengelly.

The Colts are expected down here next week to meet the seniors.

Miss N. Murdock has returned from spending holidays at her home.

Last Sunday morning the service of Baptism was administered in the Presbyterian church here.

Revs. J. F. Summerville and J. A. McCamus exchanged pulpits last Sunday evening.

Miss E. Christie is a guest of W. E. Roxburgh's this week.

Miss E. Wade, of Peterborough, is visiting Mrs. A. E. Hall.

R. J. Stuart has been appointed organizer for the Canadian Order of Foresters for the counties of Peterborough, Hastings, Northumberland, Lennox and Addington. Last Thursday evening he officiated at the institution of a new court at South Dummer.

The Grand Orange Lodge of East Ontario meets here on March 17th. This is the first Grand Lodge meeting ever held here. Many eminent men from all over the province are expected to be present and offer addresses. A public meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, March 18th, when the public questions of the day will be discussed.

Miss Roxbuurgh returned from her visit in Toronto last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce, of Marmora, were in town last week.

S. Clark, of Millbrook, was in town last week.

F. Ewing, of Warkworth, was in town this week.

W. Rutherford spent Sunday in Peterborough.

A. McGuire, of Havelock, was up here last week training.

Norwood can boast of three bicycle agents.

Last Friday evening two rinks of curlers drove over from Campbellford and won in a game with Norwood by a score of 33 to 20. The rinks were.

The management of the rink, owing to the many requests sent in to them, have decided to hold another carnival on Tuesday evening, March 17th. Prizes will be given as before and the races promise to be even more interesting. McGuire, Jackson and Bell are billed for a mile race. There are also half-mile race (open), Band race, race between man on skates and man on foot.

J. L. Squires intends running a store at Crow's Landing next summer. He will keep a full stock of groceries, fruit and confectionery.

MILLBROOK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The carnival which was held in the curling and skating rink on Friday night, under the auspices of the hockey club, proved to be a grand success. The principal attraction of the evening was the hockey match between Keene and Millbrook, in which the home team were victorious by a score of seven goals to one.

At eight o'clock the teams lined up as follows :—

Keene		Millbrook
J Richie	goal	D Tucker
J McCarty	point	C Leach
J McIntyre	cover point	T Nattrass
S A Laing, A Welch, J Quinn	forwards	J Bateson, H Duncan, J Nattrass

Referee—E. S. Clarry.

After the hockey match the races took place and proved to be very exciting. The spectators prize of two dollars was carried off by Mr. Robert Deyell.

Two rinks of Lindsay curlers came down on Tuesday and defeated the local curlers by thirteen shots.

The following were the rinks :—

Miss L. Staples, of Peterborough, is visiting friends in town.

Miss Cotten, of Port Hope, is visiting Mrs. Larmer, Tupper street.

Mr. W. Lang, who has been confined to his house for some time with a severe cold is able to be out again.

Mr. Howard Parkin left on Tuesday for Colbourne, where he has secured a position with the Electric Light Company there.

Among those who took in the carnival on Friday night were : J. J. Preston, J. Kelly, Fred Reynolds, J. McKinnon, Miss Reynolds and Misses McKinnon, of Bethany; Chas. Richards, of Omemee; Mr. James Wedlock, of Bensfort; and Mr. Fred Byers and Miss E. Byers, of Baillieboro.

Miss E. McKee, who has been visiting Miss Velta O'Brien, returned home to Peterborough on Saturday.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Three rinks of Norwood curlers are expected to play here some day this week.

Miss May Eaton of Norwood, is visiting here, the guest of Mr. Geo. Eason.

Mr. J. Read of Westwood, was in the village on Tuesday.

Large quantities of grain are being drawn across the lake and sold at the station here.

The roads were blocked here on Monday. The morning train did not get up till four o'clock p.m.

A large number of people were present at the Christian Endeavour meeting in the Presbyterian church on Sunday night. The topic was taken by Miss M. Laing. A large collection was taken up in aid of the Armenian fund.

The Senior Hockey Club went to Millbrook on Friday night and were defeated by a score of 4 to 2.

The Junior Hockey Club from Lakefield played the Keene Juniors on Friday night, resulting in a victory for the home team by a score of 13 to 1.

CHARLOTTE STREET SOCIETY

held its regular consecration meeting on Monday, March 9th. Instead of the regular roll call, the meeting was thrown open, nearly every one, both active and associate, taking part. There was a good spirit in the meeting, and everyone felt God's presence. At the close of the consecration service a short business meeting was held, when it was arranged to give a reception in the Y.W.C.A. rooms on Friday, March 20th next.

GEORGE STREET SOCIETY.

The monthly literary evening of the George street E.L.C.E. Monday night was unusually interesting. After the opening exercises the report of the Bay of Quinte Epworth League convention, held in the Bridge street church, Belleville, was read by the delegate, Miss E. R. Shortly. Miss Vina Belleghem and Mr. Brown contributed a duet, which was sung very sweetly. Mr. Harold Fife then read a paper on "Gladstone," which showed careful preparation and was exceedingly interesting. This was followed by a well-rendered instrumental solo by Miss Bertha Sherin. Of Mr. S. R. Armstrong's paper on "The Life of Edgerton Ryerson" too much cannot be said. He dealt principally on his political and religious life. The League find these literary evenings of great benefit to their society, and anyone will be cordially welcomed.

EASTERN BELMONT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We are informed of the death of Mrs. Samuel Hullit of Cobourg, formerly of Belmont. Mrs. Hullet had been an invalid for the past two years, but she has finally succumbed to the ravages of disease, and no doubt she has reached her home at last after years of trial and suffering. She was an active member of the Methodist church, and her many friends in Victoria will hear of her decease with deep regret. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

There are good prospects of an Epworth League being formed at Victoria in the near future. This society would be a great benefit to the young people of the surrounding country, and something of the Epworth League plan should be adopted by our young people, and we have no doubt the pastor, Mr. Sanderson, will, as soon as possible, take to the formation of a league at our pretty church at Victoria. We wish him the greatest success.

We wish that some friend of the EXAMINER in the western part of this township would correspond for this newsy paper, and let us hear what is going on in that part of the country. Though, as the editor of the Havelock Standard some time ago insinuated, that the Belmont correspondent is a sucker because the poor man praises the EXAMINER, we do not think that our worthy friend would be against a correspondent in the western part of our township and we trust that our honourable friend, the editor of the Standard, will not apply such terms to any other correspondent for it might discourage them.

We are informed that there are good prospects of the Belmont Railway being completed and continued on further north through Methuen. This would be a great boon to the farmers of Belmont and Methuen, and we hope that the undertaking will succeed.

Mr. William Young, of Rockdale, has finished his lumbering operations on Otter Creek.

Rev. Mr. Sanderson, of Blairton, showed considerable courage in making all his appointments last Sunday, 8th inst through the heavy snow drifts.

Mr. William Cornell, of Rockdale, will move his saw mill to Tucker's Landing, on Belmont lake. He has taken the contract of sawing Mr. W. Young's logs.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by imitations and substitutes.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc. ; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line :—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

Granby Rubbers

It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date." HISTORY IS DISPUTED

The Question as to Who Found Canada First

COMES UP IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Canadian Historical Society's Bill Passes Its Second Reading—Women May Act on Public Library Boards—The Architects' Act—Canada's Pine Timber.

Toronto, March 12.—There is likely to be a lively debate in the Local Legislature next week when Mr. Charlton's bill to amend the Lord's Day Act comes up for second reading. He introduced it yesterday when it received its first reading. It provides that farmers shall become amenable to the present act and shall be punished the same as workmen, tradesmen and others who are convicted of doing any work on Sunday. The bill will be strongly opposed by a number of members on both sides of the House when it comes up for its second reading.

Mr. Garrow moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Ontario Architects' Act. It provides that all architects must register by July next and in future students will require to pay certain fees and pass certain examinations before they will be allowed to practice. The bill practically places the profession upon the same footing as law and medicine with reference to examinations and fees. All architects who are already practicing are to be allowed to register without passing the examination.

Dr. Meacham opposed the bill. He said it was creating another close corporation. He could not see why a man desiring to erect a building should not employ any architect he pleased. This he would not be allowed to do if this act passed.

The bill was read a second time and referred to a special committee.

Mr. Chapple moved second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act so as to provide that all members of County Councils must reside in the County.

Mr. Stratton opposed the bill. He said in many cases large property holders who represented certain parts of the county in the Council resided in adjoining counties. He instanced a case where it would be a great hardship if the bill passed.

The bill was lost on division.

Hon. Mr. Ross said, in answer to a question by Mr. Little, that so far as he knew, there were no persons teaching in the Public schools of Ontario upon certificates obtained from the Quebec board.

Hon. Mr. Ross said, in answer to Mr. Carnegie, that he knew nothing to prevent women from acting upon Free Library or Mechanics' Institute boards.

Sir Oliver Mowat, answering Mr. Cleland, said the matter of jurisdiction of the Dominion Government and the provinces with reference to inland fisheries had been argued before the Supreme Court, which had not as yet delivered judgment.

Mr. Howland moved the second reading of his bill respecting the Canadian Historical Exhibition.

Mr. Evanturel, who speaks but seldom, delivered an eloquent speech in opposition to the bill. He objected not to the various clauses, but to the preamble, which recited that Cabot had discovered Canada. The subject, he said, had been a matter of fierce controversy for over 100 years between the most celebrated historians. He thought it would be unwise for the Legislature to attempt to settle a question with which they were not competent to deal.

Hon. Mr. Ross said it would be the duty of the special committee before which the bill would be considered, should it pass the second reading, to see that the preamble was proved, and if this could not be done, then to alter it to agree with the facts.

Mr. Howland admitted that Cartier had discovered Canada proper, and stated that it was not his intention to have any other impression created. The bill passed and was sent on to the special committee.

The following bills were introduced:

An Act to amend the Assessment Act—Mr. Robillard. This is an act to enable township councils to provide by bylaw that the assessment shall only be taken every three years, instead of every year, as at present. The necessary changes in names, etc., are to be made as usual by the Court of Revision and the County Judge.

An Act to amend the Lord's Day Act—Mr. Ferguson. This act extends the operation of the Lord's Day Act to farmers.

An Act relating to Dower in certain cases—The Attorney-General—provides that where the wife of an owner of land has been living apart from her husband for five years or more, and the husband sells or mortgages the land, the purchaser or mortgagee, having had no notice that the grantor or mortgagor had a wife living at the time, such purchaser or mortgagee may apply to a judge of the High Court and have the same relieved, as provided for the husband of a lunatic wife by the Act respecting Dower.

An Act affecting Timber Slide Companies—Mr. Hardy. This amends section 20 of the Timber Slide Companies Act by requiring them, in addition to the other particulars, to furnish annually to the Commissioner of Crown Lands a detailed description of repairs or renewals that may be required to be made after the 31st day of December in the year to which the report relates and before the time of settling the tolls, as provided in the act, with an estimate of the cost thereof and such cost may be taken into consideration in fixing the tolls. It further amends the provisions of the act relating to the principle upon which tolls are to be calculated in fixing the scale, and gives the Commissioner of Crown Lands power to refer the taking of accounts, etc., for that purpose to an accountant or expert person.

An Act respecting the Estates of Insolvent Persons—Mr. Hardy—provides that on the administration of the estate of a deceased person, in case of a deficiency of assets, the creditors shall value any securities held by them in the same manner as in the case of creditors, proving their claims under the Assignments and Preferences Act, or a creditor may assign his security to the administrator and rank as an unsecured creditor for the full amount of the debt on the estate.

Large delegations from Brantford and London waited on the Private Bills Committee yesterday morning to discuss the provisions of the Bill respecting the City of London. This bill proposed, among other things, the transfer of the G.T.R. shops from Brantford to London. The assessment of the G.T.R. is fixed for ten years at $275,000, with exemption from local improvement rates. The bill also proposed to ratify a bylaw of the city of London granting a bonus of $100,000 to the Grand Trunk, to assist in defraying the expenses of transferring the shops. Hon. A. S. Hardy took a determined stand against the removal of the shops. He argued that they were established in Brantford in perpetuity, and that their removal now would be a direct violation of a contract. Mr. T. G. Meredith, City Solicitor of London; Mayor Elliott of Brantford, Mayor Little of London, and ex-Mayor Hendrie of Brantford, also addressed the committee. The committee decided by a vote of 36 to 19 that the bill should contain no legislation whatever respecting the shops. The clauses relating to the issue of debentures were referred to the Municipal Committee. The remaining clauses, relating to a sewage farm, were passed with some amendments.

The committee also passed the following bills: To amend the Act relating to the Land Security Co., and to enable the trustees of the congregation of Knox Church, Acton, to sell certain lands.

Mr. H. K. Smith, game inspector, Belleville, testified before the Public Accounts Committee that the game laws were better administered now than ever before.

The Railway Committee yesterday reported the following bills: Respecting the Lincoln Radial Electric Railway Co., respecting the London Street Railway, respecting the Ontario & Belmont Railway Co.

TWO CHEEKY BURGLARS.

Masked Men Offer to Return Booty for a Money Consideration

Toronto, March 12.

While Walter Seldon and his family were at church on Feb. 9 burglars entered their residence, 56 Czar-street, and stole a large quantity of jewelry, including a gold case, a neck chain, a gold stick pin, four inches long, and numerous other valuable articles. The police were notified, but nothing was heard of the missing articles until last night, when at about 9 o'clock a ring at the bell of the Seldon residence summoned Mrs. Seldon to the door, when she was confronted by two masked men, armed with revolvers, who told her that they would return the stolen jewelry if they were at once paid $50 cash.

Mrs. Seldon called her husband and then went upstairs to get the money. The thieves evidently became suspicious that she was staying away too long, for, after conversing a short time with Mr. Seldon, they suddenly decamped. As soon as Mr. Seldon recovered from the surprise of their quick movement he started in pursuit, but the cheeky thugs were fleet of foot and evaded him after an exciting chase.

The affair was at once reported to the police of Nos. 2 and 5 divisions, but no arrests have yet been made, and the authorities will say nothing regarding the matter.

BRITISH WARSHIPS IN HAWAII.

H.M.S. Comus and Pheasant Have Been Sent to Honolulu—Is There Trouble?

Victoria, B.C., March 10.—(Special)—Her Majesty's ships Comus, which only arrived here from England last week, and Pheasant, which was preparing for the Behring Sea service, have been ordered to Honolulu. It is supposed this is in consequence of the anticipated trouble in Hawaii.

MANITOBA'S POSITION

What Mr. Greenway's Organ Says About a Compromise.

PREMIER CANNOT AND DARE NOT

Take Any Action Which Will Involve the Re-establishment of Separate Schools in That Province—Mr. Greenway Fancies That a Trap Has Been Laid.

Winnipeg, March 11.—(Special)—The indignation created in local Government circles by Sir Chas. Tupper's reading of Mr. Greenway's private telegram to Sir Donald Smith in the Commons on Monday has somewhat abated, and instead of making a statement on the subject in the Legislature, as was contemplated, the Premier concluded to hold his peace. Mr. Greenway fancies that Sir Charles Tupper's tactics on Monday and Mr. Daly's violent language in the Commons on Tuesday were intended to provoke some hostile declarations by the Manitoba Government and he refuses to step into the trap.

The Tribune, the local Government organ, says to-night: "However much Mr. Greenway might desire to see the question amicably settled, it is just as well that the stated fact should be recognized, first as last: that he will not, and dare not make any compromise which will involve the re-establishment of Separate schools in the Province and which would involve a sacrifice of the great principle of the bill of 1890. Mr. Greenway is far from being a demagogue; it is against his constitution to desire a quarrel to prolong; but he fears the Remedial bill just as little as he does the consequences of the impending impact with the comet. He knows that the bill is not worth the paper it is written on. He knows that it is inoperative and he has as little intention of accepting it as he has of organizing a second raid on the Transvaal. It is also known to him that even if passed the Dominion Government has not the slightest intention of trying to enforce it, because it well knows the consequences which would follow such a rash undertaking. Mr. Greenway recognizes, however, that it is not desirable to subject the Province to the expense and annoyance of a prolonged litigation and agitation and he has, therefore, expressed his willingness time and again to see the question discussed in a spirit of conciliation and to consider in a friendly way any complaints which may be made by the minority with regard to the working of the laws. Farther than that Mr. Greenway cannot and dare not go."

The Tribune also alleges that Sir Charles Tupper's proposed conference with Mr. Greenway is merely a dodge to get the opponents of coercion to vote for the second reading of the Remedial bill.

THE INSURRECTION IN CUBA.

Spanish Authorities Are Anxious Over the Rebels Having United Their Forces East of Havana.

Havana, March 11.—Gomez, Maceo, Lacret and other leaders have united just east of the Havana line, near Nueva Paz. It is supposed their intention is to return to this province. The troops have recently made several combinations for the purpose of crushing Maceo and Gomez separately, but all failed. There is considerable uneasiness in official circles in regard to the concentration of rebel forces. During the last ten days the cane has been burned in all parts of Matanzas, showing the impossibility of resuming grinding.

All the recent encounters with Gomez and Maceo were nothing but outpost fights, and the losses were trifling on both sides. It is now learned the attack upon Sagua de Tamino, reported as a Government victory, resulted in the rebels capturing the town using cannon in the bombardment.

Refugees from interior districts continue to arrive. They report great destitution in all districts. The operations of both armies have impoverished the country. The stoppage of cutting and grinding cane and shipment of other crops is reducing the peaceful inhabitants to a deplorable condition.

The Government proclamation declaring property of absentees liable to confiscation is denounced.

TO QUIET ITALIAN SOCIALISTS.

The New Cabinet Pardons the Prisoners of the Sicily Riots in 1893.

Rome, March 11.—The Cabinet has decided to pardon the prisoners now in confinement under conviction of participation in the Socialist riots in Sicily in 1893. Among the convicts who will be released by this decision is Signor De Felice, who at the time of his conviction was a member of the Chamber of Deputies and was twice re-elected while serving his sentence. His election was annulled, however, on the ground that he was a convict.

The B.S.A. Company Out of It.

London, March 11.—Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has appointed Sir Richard Edward Rowley Martin as administrator of all of the police in Matabeleland and Mashonaland. The appointment prescribes that the administrator shall be solely responsible to the Government and not the British South Africa Company as hitherto.

Vinegar From Acetic Acid

London, March 11.—Information has been laid by the Inland Revenue Department of London, charging Alex. W. Oliver, manager of the London Catsup Company, and wife, with manufacturing vinegar from acetic acid, contrary to the statute. The summons has not yet been served on Mr. Oliver, who went to St. Thomas the night before last.

Cronkhite Had Better Wait.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., March 11.—James Cronkhite, an employe of the Niagara Paper Company, is preparing to move from his little frame house on Sugar street, firmly believing that in a very short time he will be revelling in the luxuries which only millions can command. The story on which this belief is based reads like a romance. Cronkhite is one of a number of heirs to a fortune of $60,000,000.

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1896.

THERE are a number of bills to reform or change the existing municipal system before the Legislature, of which a summary appears in another column, says the Ottawa Free Press. The one introduced by Mr. Stratton, which proposes to give power to cities of less than 60,000 to abolish the ward system and elect a mayor and twelve aldermen for the whole city, is said to be favoured by the Government. It would certainly remove the power of promoting particular ward interests by various means to the detriment of other sections of the city. It will be seen that some of the other propositions are of a salutary kind. Municipal Government is open to improvement, and timely reform and change should be encouraged. But the public must remember that revolution is not reform, and all these schemes need careful watching.

APART from the merits of the Remedial Bill, the duplicity of the Government in relation to the matter, is to be condemned. Sir Charles Tupper had the bad taste to use a private telegram as the basis of a misleading statement to the House to the effect that Manitoba was simply aching for a chance to hold a conference with the Dominion Government with a view to the settlement of the question. The Winnipeg Tribune, organ of the Greenaway Government, says that the whole proceeding has trickery stamped on the face of it. The Dominion Government seems unable to do anything in a straightforward, honourable manner. In their lexicon, trickery takes the places of statesmanship.

RIGHT IN OUR MIDST.

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND, March 2nd. (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I had found it impossible when tired to stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

WOLSELEY ON COLONIAL DEFENCE.

Some one has been writing a series of articles in the London Graphic on the subject of Imperial defence, and one of his theories has been that a Colonial Army Corps should be established for the purpose of strengthening the outlying portions of the Empire. The financial part of the business would no doubt be easy in view of the great wealth of the Motherland and her possessions. But there is another point which presents a difficulty which seems unsurmountable, namely, procuring the men. Lord Wolseley has recently been interviewed on the subject, and has, if not poured cold water on the scheme, certainly cast some very strong doubts on the practicability of its execution. His opinion is of great weight, and no one can dispute the force of his contention, which is worthy the study of those enthusiasts who have since the recent scare been producing so many petty schemes of Inter-Imperial defence and warlike plans. Lord Wolseley says:

"My experience of the colonies, and especially of Canada, convinces me that it would be almost impossible to raise a permanent force for service wherever needed. The colonies have all the material for soldiers of the best type. In case of invasion threatening the integrity of the Empire, Canada for instance, could put into the field a splendid army, and these troops would, I am convinced, fight to the last in defence of their country; but it can hardly be hoped thousands of men in each colony would give up the occupations on which they depend for a livlihood in order to volunteer for military service. People who have gone to settle in Australia or Canada as farmers, or who are farmers by birth there, cannot be expected to leave their homes and postpone the development of their property during the period necessary for military training in an army corps. And the mechanic or labourer can generally earn such good wages that he is not likely to sacrifice them for the purpose of serving with colours. There is no surplus population that can be relied upon to feed the ranks. You remember what happened when we tried to form one Canadian regiment for the regular army, which, after vain attempts to raise a sufficient number of men in the Dominion, had to be recruited mainly from Liverpool, and thus became imbued with the Irish element which is so strong in that city. I have always deplored the decision whereby regiments of the British army were withdrawn from our colonies. Canada was always a favourite station, and the presence of redcoats there certainly tended to keep up the idea of association with the Mother Country."

Some of the original members of the regiment have called this statement in question in letters to the Montreal papers. But the subsequent history of the 100th is well known, and that it gave the authorities some trouble was understood at the time. Recruiting for the army is a difficult matter on this continent. The United States, even, at a time of depression, finds it difficult to fill the ranks of its little army, and in such a country as ours the arts of peace are more profitable and more attractive than the rude acclaim of war.

LASSWADE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Editor your correspondent is not dead, but has been buried alive with snowdrifts. It seems good to get out after three week's hard creeping. I will try to give you some news.

The first storm caught Mr. F. Wheeler with a load of hay from C. N. Dingman's marsh. He got as far as J. Radcliff's, where he had to leave it for a week, when he got another team to help him haul it the remaining five miles.

Mr. Spratt went to Norwood on Tuesday, the same week of the storm, and got back the following Saturday, both the team and himself being nearly exhausted. It was too much for the old gentleman's strength, and consequently he was taken down to his bed, where he suffered great pain. He got around for a few days, but he is very ill again. We hope to see Mr. Spratt around soon.

Wm. Dingman was taken a few weeks ago with a stroke; his right side was completely paralyzed. He is around again but hasn't the use of his right hand. It seems hard as he was one of the handiest men in this back country and was always ready to help anyone in a time of need. We hope he will get all right soon.

The roads have been so bad they were impassable for teams.

Some of the young gentlemen were seen wending their way on snowshoes to singing school at Mr. J. Bullied's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Palmateer started for Warkworth before the storm. As they have not made their appearance and no word from them, some friends are feeling frightened about them, as they had a lake to cross and the ice wasn't extra good, but as the roads are getting good now we hope to see them back in a few days.

Mrs. Samess and her son-in-law, Mr. P. Bound, from Dundonald, were on a visit to her brother, Mr. A. Newberry, and her sister, Mrs. Cameron. They were guests of Mr. C. N. Dingman on Sunday last. Mr. Bound is a cousin of Mr. Dingman. They took their departure on Monday for their home.

The entertainment at Mr. M. Woodbeck's was a success. There were over a hundred people in attendance. Mr. Holbrook was well pleased with his school from here; he said they did better than he expected. At the end of next quarter he will have an entertainment at Apsley.

Mr. John A. McColl has been on a visit to his friends in Cardiff, in company with some of his friends from Wooler.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by imitations and substitutes.

SMITH COUNCIL MEETING.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The council of the township of Smith met at the town hall, Bridgenorth, on Monday, March 9th, 1896. All the members present. A bylaw appointing overseers of highways, poundkeepers and fenceviewers for the current year passed its several readings and was signed and sealed. The clerk was ordered to notify T. J. Cullen and James E. Cullen to remove the fence off the road allowance on the 17th con. line across lots 22 and 23. The auditors report was read and adopted and the clerk instructed to have 150 copies printed for distribution. The following claims were ordered to be paid, namely:

P Hamilton Mfg Co	$2 75
Review Ptg Co	10 75
A Allison, goods to	4 00
" Mrs McClelland	3 00
W J Young, goods	5 00
S Stinson, aid to Mrs Doube	25 00
" for work on road	10 00
Jos Trennum, timber for culverts	5 00
Robs Scott, work on road	20 00
H C Garbutt for man employed on Burleigh Road	1 50

The council then adjourned till Monday, 10th April.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

ROUSE, AND BE READY!

Deadly Foes Surround Us.

TYRANTS' CHAINS ARE CLANKING.

Will It Be Victory or Death?

DO WE DESIRE NEW LIFE OR CONTINUED SUFFERING?

Paine's Celery Compound Banishes All Our Enemies.

GLADNESS AND JOY INSTEAD OF MISERY.

The Great Compound the Best of all Prescriptions.

THE ONLY SPRING MEDICINE THAT TRULY "MAKES PEOPLE WELL."

Beware of Substituters.

Now is the time that we should rouse and make ready to battle against the deadly foes that surround us. The tyrants' heavy chains are already clanking, and cries of misery and woe are heard on every side.

Will it be victory or death, new life or continued suffering, for those who are now fighting with nervous diseases, impure and poisoned blood, rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles and heart disease?

While there is time we should save ourselves by the use of Paine's Celery Compound—Nature's true remedy that speedily banishes every form of disease. This great Compound, the best of all modern prescriptions, possesses marvellous restorative and strengthening powers. Now is the time to rid the system of the vile impurities that have accumulated during the winter season. Paine's Celery Compound does the good work by invigorating and cleansing the blood and toning the nervous system. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can truly be depended on to "make people well and happy."

Remember well, that disease neglected at this season means continued and increased sufferings and certain death. The trial of one bottle will soon convince every sceptic that Paine's Celery Compound is a true life-giver.

Beware of the substitutor. Refuse the medicines that the dishonest substitutor would have you try instead of Paine's Celery Compound. He is looking and working for profit. You are seeking hopefully for health, and nothing but Paine's Celery Compound will perfectly restore you. See that the name "Paine's" and the "stalk of celery" is on every bottle and cartoon.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Sir Richard's Opposition to the Remedial Bill.

THE QUEBEC LIBERALS ARE TRUE

Meeting at Ottawa for the Purpose of Furthering Immigration in Canada—A New Phase in the Pearson Divorce Case—Personal and General Notes.

Ottawa, March 11.—The Remedial debate was lifted to a high plane today by the speech which was delivered by Sir Richard Cartwright. He reviewed the present position of the question and the circumstances which led up to it, treating the subject with that broad statesmanship which makes his speeches important contributions to every debate. He was in his most felicitous vein, and the House listened delightedly from exordium to peroration. His references to the conduct in the present crisis of the Quebec Liberals was appropriate and true to the sentiments of the Liberals from the other provinces. There expressions, well-merited and sincere, and from a tongue which does not know how to pay idle compliments, aroused the Opposition to a pitch of enthusiasm which the chamber had not witnessed since the afternoon of Mr. Laurier's speech. Sir Richard was followed by Mr. Maclean (East York), who declared his intention of voting against his leaders and the bill. Mr. Devlin followed on the Opposition side and evened up the bolting by declaring his intention of voting for the bill. Col. O'Brien, the next speaker, said he did not want any further information, and was prepared to vote against the bill immediately. But he dryly remarked that after listening to the speeches made in support of the bill, he had concluded that the Opposition position was unanswerable, because very clearly members of the House knew nothing about the subject. Mr. Frechette rose at 11.30 o'clock to support the bill in a French speech.

Mr. Earle presided at a meeting held this morning of senators and members from Western Ontario, Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, who assembled to confer with the Manitoba immigration delegates respecting the object of their mission. It was generally agreed that a change in the immigration policy of the Government was desirable. The opinion prevailed that an immigration bureau should be established and be conducted by an advisory board, on which all the provinces would be represented, and presided over by a commissioner, appointed by the Government. The object of this suggestion was to separate immigration work from political influences. The Government will be asked to carry out the wishes of the delegation.

The Divorce Committee met this morning, when the application of Chas. Pearson of Toronto was again under consideration. Mr. R. S. Neville, barrister of Toronto, appeared for Mrs. Pearson, and presented affidavits, showing that she had not the means to defend the suit, and the committee will consider whether or not they will order Mr. Pearson to furnish his wife with funds for her defence, and in the meantime ordered the payment of $20 by him to Mrs. Pearson to enable her to come from Toronto to Ottawa to attend before the Committee to-morrow, as a witness on this new aspect of the case.

Four Senators, Sir David Macpherson, Messrs. Price, Lewin and Macfarlane, have not yet put in an attendance in Parliament so far this session.

Mr. Dickey gave notice of a bill providing that there be no revision of the voters' lists this year.

The Quebec branch of the British Evangelical Alliance petitions against the Remedial Bill.

The Toronto Board of Trade Bill passed the Senate to-day.

The Inland Revenue accrued in February totalled $544,573, a slight increase over last year.

THE WARDEN WANTS TO RETIRE.

A Good Government Position in the Kingston Penitentiary Will be Open.

Kingston, March 11.—The Whig says: "We are informed on the highest authority that Warden Lavell has asked the Government to permit him to retire and assume a superannuation relation. Two years ago Dr. Lavell made a similar request, but the Minister of Justice gave him leave of absence to recruit his health and induced him to retain his office. Dr. Lavell has been in service for the past 22 years as surgeon and warden. It is just possible that J. H. Metcalfe, M.P., will secure the wardenship, though Major Drury's friends are active in his behalf."

Is the Rio de Janeiro Lost?

San Francisco, March 11.—Another day has passed without bringing any news of the overdue Pacific Mail steamer City of Rio de Janeiro, which is now 34 days from this port, bound for Yokohama and Hong Kong. Fifteen per cent. of the insurance was offered to-day. The steamer China will sail for Yokohama and Hong Kong next Saturday, and will take up the course supposed to have been followed by the Rio in the hope of getting some news.

Was the Thirteenth Man.

Marquette, Mich., March 11.—Ole Olson of Depere, Wis., was killed to-day by the caving in of a sand embankment on the Ishpeming & Lake Superior Railway. A singular circumstance of the fatality was the fact that Olson was one of 13 men engaged upon a contract to cut down the embankment. He was a young man and unmarried.

C.P.R. Passenger Agent Greene Dead.

New York, March 11.—William L. Greene, passenger agent of the C.P.R. Co., died at his home here to-night. Mr. Greene was 59 years old, had been long in the service of the railway and was well known throughout the country.

The Crew of the Bermuda.

New York, March 11.—Gen. Garcia, Capt. Barbazon, Capt. Hughes, B. G. Gerra and Barnard J. Bueno, the alleged Cuban revolutionists, have been indicted by the United States Grand Jury for violating the neutrality laws, and their bail has been increased to $2500 each.

. . . THE . . .

Canada Life Assurance Co.

Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.

New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business in Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894 . . . . . $24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared . . . $8,041,000

or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

The Grand Trunk Railway has decided to change the colour in which their passenger coaches are painted and make a new uniform colour. The work of repainting will commence at once; in fact, numbers of cars have been already changed from the Tuscan red, so familiar all over the road, to a darker shade, a dark maroon. This will apply to engines as well. Next week will see a handsome new Pullman car named "Levis" on the service between Toronto and Montreal. Two others, the "Wyevale" and "Lorne," are nearly completed. A magnificent private car is also being built at the workshops for Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, the President of the road.

THE GRAND LODGE SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Twenty-first Annual Session.

J. W. LONDON, SUPREME GRAND PRESIDENT.

Sketch of the New President's Life—The Other Officers Elected—The General Purpose Committee to be Elected this Afternoon—Sons of England at St. John's Church.

March 12th, 1896.

Our report yesterday closed with the church service in St. John's. On the return to the Court House the Grand Lodge went into session for an hour, when the Committe on Credentials reported 127 delegates registered, as follows:—

Supreme Grand President—Geo. Clatworthy, Toronto.

Supreme Grand Vice President—J. W. London, Belleville.

Supreme Grand Past President—Wm. Hancock, Hamilton.

Acting Supreme Grand Chaplain—Rev. H. Symonds, M. A., Ashburnham.

Supreme Grand Secretary—John W. Carter, Toronto.

Supreme Grand Treasurer—Benj. Hinchcliffe, Toronto.

Supreme Grand Guide—Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, Toronto.

The following is a list of the delegates: R. S. Grundy, W. G. Partridge, B. Jones, R. Patching, S. Hine, G. G. Cross, H. Perks, W. H. Boyce, J. Jeffrey, H. Aistiche, A. E. Aude, C. H. Beavis, J. J. Pritchard, C. Barlow Cumberland, F. Wooten, B. S. Selby, T. B. Worth, W. George, T. Johnston, W. G. Skelcher, A. Siddis, W. H. Lane, W. Smithson, J. D. King, Thos. Sargeant and Thos. Riley, Toronto; John Nutting, A. F. Wicks and R. Mudge, London; S. Hull, Hamilton; W. J. Oke, Port Perry; W. J. Nicherson, Brantford; W. Little, Burlington; W. A. Moore, Chatham; J. S. Thomas, Brantford; E. B. Blow and J. W. Bateman, Whitby; S. B. Pollard, Windsor; J. Marlow, Blackstock; J. Boxall, Lindsay; E. Marshall, Petrolea; W. Sweet, Exeter; H. G. Wynes, Collingwood; B. Gorman, Lachine; H. Harris and H. H. Wright, Aylmer; Thos. Jackson, Clinton; Geo. C. Thompson, Londesboro; E. Achroyd and E. J. Reynolds, Ottawa; S. King, Ingersoll; S. Knight, Newtonville; F. W. Ranes, Uxbridge; F. Lane, Smiths Falls; J. H. Bennett, Almonte; J. G. Bate, Carleton Place; Thomas Ewart, Brockville; James Leach and Thomas Garnett, Port Hope; John Newton and S. J. Wedden, Belleville; Rev. S. Bushall and H. A. Hodgson, Montreal; E. J. Gibbons, Gravenhurst; George Alderson, G. Heatley and S. Hedges, Hamilton; W. C. Blake, Toronto; H. Twize, Montreal; Caleb Weeks, Toronto; R. C. Hulme, P. S. G. P., and Dr. Tracy, Belleville; T. B. Skeppon, P. S. G. P., Toronto; Arthur Sava and Thos. Lambert, Kingston; S. W. Burns, Toronto; W. R. Stroud, Ottawa; R. Q. Dench, Lakefield; W. Hubert, Barrie; E. A. Peck and Geo. Carpenter, Peterborough; G. H. Young and H. V. Seaton, Toronto. C. J. Burgess, Lakefield; E. K. Raines, Stratford; E. Hawkins, Cannington, and the members of the General Purpose Committee already mentioned.

The Committee on General Purposes also presented their report, which adopted the reports of the Grand Officers referred to them. The consideration of this report occupied all afternoon, and the officers' reports were adopted after lengthy discussion.

Fraternal greetings were received from Lincoln Lodge, S.O.E., Montreal, and the Grand Lodge of the Sons of Scotland.

The statement that the question of the Remedial Order would cause a great deal of interesting discussion amongst the delegates at the Grand Lodge of the Sons of England, now in session here, appears to have hit the mark, as the committee in whose hands the matter was left, are having so exciting a time over it that they have not as yet reported.

There was no session of the Grand Body last evening as all the delegates were in attendance at the Lansdowne Lodge smoking concert.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The first order of business taken up this morning was the election of officers which resulted as follows:

Supreme Grand President—J. W. London, Belleville.

Supreme Grand Vice-President—F. Barlow Cumberland, Toronto.

Supreme Grand Secretary—John W. Carter, Toronto.

Supreme Grand Treasurer—Benj. Hinchcliffe, Toronto.

Supreme Grand President for South Africa—T. N. Dyer.

Auditors—Geo Clay and Henry Furse, Toronto.

Mr. J. W. London was elected by acclamation to the Grand Presidency, as were John W. Carter and Benj. Hinchcliffe to their respective offices. For the vice-presidency there were four nominees and the contest was an exciting one. Mr. F. Barlow Cumberland was elected on a second ballot by a narrow majority.

This evening a grand reception to the visiting delegates will take place in the local lodge rooms, Hunter street.

GRAND PRESIDENT LONDON.

The EXAMINER wishes to cordially congratulate Mr. J. W. London, on his election to the important position of Supreme Grand President of the Supreme Grand Lodge, Sons of England. The presidency of a body of the standing and importance of the Sons of England is an honour which the best men of the country may well covet. And congratulation is all the more in order when it is remembered that the new incumbent of the grand chair is well worthy of the high position in which he has been placed.

MR. JOHN WYATT LONDON,
SUPREME GRAND PRESIDENT, S. O. E.

The EXAMINER is particularly well pleased that a member of the fourth estate has been selected for this honour, and the very fact of Mr. London having had long experience in newspaper work is a guarantee that he will possess that knowledge of of affairs in general, that breadth of view and business aptitude which, together with his wide experience, gained in seventeen years' active association with subordinate lodge work, as well as about a dozen years familiarity with Grand Lodge work, equip the new Supreme Grand President admirably for rendering the most effective and valuable services to the Order, whose interests he has and so long has had so warmly at heart. Apart from his special qualifications Mr. London's very name is one to conjure with—the name of the greatest city on earth, the metropolis of the British Empire, the commercial metropolis of the world and the capital city of the "Tight Little Isle," whose Sons in Canada keep her memory so green and do such high credit to her glorious history and traditions.

Mr. London was born in the historical city of Oxford, England, in 1841, and came to Canada in 1859, after spending one year in the United States. On coming to Canada he settled in the well known Township of Tudor, County of Hastings, where he resided for three years. He then went to Belleville. Mr. London having had some previous training in the art preservative, commenced work in the office of the Belleville Intelligencer, as a compositor, and finished his apprenticeship under the immediate supervision of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, now Premier of the Dominion of Canada, in which office he has ever since remained, being now secretary-treasurer and director of the Belleville Intelligencer Printing and Publishing Co. Mr. London was one of the founders of Lodge Oxford, No. 17, Belleville, which was instituted in December, 1881. He was its first treasurer and succeeded its first president in that capacity. He has represented Oxford Lodge at meetings of Grand Lodge some 12 years; he has filled, during his term as a delegate, almost every position in the gift of Grand Lodge. There are very few Englishmen who are not acquainted with the name of London; he is known as a man of sound judgment, and before acting he takes the time to deliberate a serious and complex question — many of which will cross his path as an officer—and investigate personally. The position he has filled, that of Vice-President, has been mentioned as a case where the position sought the man and not the man the position, and the same may be said of the new honour that he has received. He feels the honour that has been conferred upon him with strong national pride. We are safe in saying that the duties devolving upon Supreme Grand President London will be conscientiously attended to. We hope his term as an executive officer will be one of pleasure to him and of benefit to the order and to all Englishmen of the Dominion.

SONS OF ENGLAND'S SHARE

In a Unique Addition to the Lenten Service in St. John's.

At the regular Wednesday evening Lenten service in St. John's there was not a very large attendance, but the occasion was of more than usual interest. At the conclusion of the service an admirable address was given by Rev. E. Bushell, rector of St. Matthew's church, Montreal. The gist of the subject was religion in relation to brotherhood. He pointed out and illustrated by several familiar parables that though a man may comply and live up to all the external duties of religion, unless he had the love in his heart his religion was vain. The address was extremely practical and effective and was greatly appreciated.

At the conclusion of the service a unique feature was brought on. Taking advantage of the presence of prominent Sons of England members in town, the rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, in introducing several gentlemen, remarked that while this was our Father's house, it would not be out of place for the children of the Father to confer on family matters so long as it was done reverently.

The first speaker was Mr. W. C. Blake, of Grace church, Montreal, who said that he represented a large congregation largely composed of G. T. R. employees and he gave greetings and spoke hopefully of the outlook.

Mr. F. King, of Ingersoll, spoke encouragingly of church work in that town.

Mr. Jackson, of Marriton, spoke of the service he had joined in and said he felt thoroughly at home at St. John's.

Mr. Laxton, of Burk's Falls, spoke of the difficulties experienced and, he was glad to say, overcome in promoting church work in this new district.

Mr. Johnston, of St. Stephen's, Toronto, extended greetings and congratulations.

Mr. F. Barlow Cumberland, of Toronto, closed with a most polished address. He expressed the pleasure and profit, he experienced in beginning the day with the grand service in the church in the morning, as well as with the delightful service of the evening. He urged the church of England to encourage the Sons of England. There was much in the principles of both that was common—fear God and honour the King. There was every reason why a Son of England should be a son of the Church of England.

The addresses were interspersed with the hearty singing of well known hymns. The whole congregation remained at this unique after-meeting and entered heartily into the spirit of the brotherly sentiments expressed.

A WINDFALL FOR MR. ALLAN WELLS.

He Drops Into a Snug Fortune of $1,000.

Mr. Allan Wells, well known in town, and for a long time an employee with Mr. George Stethem, when he conducted a hardware business on George street, has fallen heir to a tidy fortune of $1,000. It appears that Mr. Wells' father, who lived in England, at his death left his property to his wife, and she dying, the property is to be divided amongst the three surviving children, and Mr. Allan Wells' share is $1,000, a very comfortable sum to be greeted with, with a hard winter still on us, and hard times pinching everybody. Mr. Wells' friends heartily congratulate him on his good fortune.

A MARCH WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Mr. Wallace Evans and Miss Lizzie Martin.

A very pretty wedding took place last evening in the celebration of the marriage of Miss Lizzie Martin, daughter of the late Enos Martin, and Mr. Wallace Evans, one of the most popular members of the Fire Brigade.

The bride was assisted by Miss Ida McRae, and the groomsman was Mr. D. G. Higgins. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few friends of the interested parties by Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., of the George street Methodist church.

Refreshments were served during the evening, and the newly married couple have left for a wedding trip to Utica, N.Y. where friends will be visited.

REV. MR. McWILLIAM'S CALL.

St. Andrew's will not Oppose Him if he Desires to Leave.

At a congregational meeting of the St. Andrew's church, last evening, Mr. Robt. Tully representing the elders, and Dr. R. W. Bell representing the Board of Management were appointed to meet the commissioners from the Wentworth Presbyterian church, Hamilton, in respect to the call extended to Rev. A. McWilliams.

The two representatives were instructed to leave the matter of the call entirely in the hands of Mr. MacWilliams, and if he thought that there was a wider field for his usefulness in Hamilton, not to oppose his desire to accept the call.

Weak Lungs.

Emaciation, weakness, and that fatal disposition to take cold easy, thus adding little by little to the strain upon the already overburdened body. How many afflicted are trusting to cough mixtures, mustard and poultices for safety? Fatal error. Not by these, but by adding to the nutritive power of the body and the increased strength and vitality which increased nutrition affords, can you hope to obtain relief. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites combines the excellencies of a medicine, a food, and a digestive agency of unexampled power. The full remedial value of the cod liver oil, rendered palatable and of easy digestion, is combined with the nutritive values of wheat, oats and barley. This in itself would render Maltine and Cod Liver Oil of greater value than any emulsion. But it possesses a further quality of inestimable value in its property of increasing the solubility of fat-forming, heat-producing, starchy foods, just the elements required for the upbuilding of the emaciated.

DIED.

GREER.—On Wednesday, March 11th, 1896, Wilfred James, youngest son of Mr. Johnston H. Greer, aged 1 year and 8 months.

Funeral, on Friday, at 2.30 from the family residence, 87 Harvey street, to Little Lake Cemetery.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. —The fourth of March is the day on which it is popularly supposed the merchantile world pays its debts and settles up its year's business. This to a great degree is a fallacy. As a matter of fact the fourth of March is not a great deal heavier than any other month. Where in old days business houses purchased two large bills of goods during the year, they now purchase half a dozen, or perhaps a dozen, smaller bills. These become due in as many months, and it thus divides the business up through the year. Competition and better facilities for selling and handling goods account to a large extent for this change in business methods.

—A remarkable case of canine sagacity has just come from Winnipeg. An Irish setter dog was drawing its master, Donald Eddy, an eleven-year-old boy, on a hand-sleigh over the Red River, when he ran into an air hole. The dog crawled out and started away, but noticing that the boy was not on the sleigh he returned to the air hole, dived for the lad and dragged him unconscious to the surface. Seeing the boy was helpless the dog started to drag him home, when they were discovered by a neighbour, who carried the lad to a house where he was restored to life. In the excitement the dog was overlooked, got a cold and died.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR SOCIETY.

What a Leading Catholic Publication Thinks of This Great Protestant Movement.

We take the following interesting article from the columns of the Catholic Review, of New York, under date of Sunday, Feb. 10th. We may add that the Review is one of the leading Catholic publications in the United States:

We have been looking over the January number of the Christian Endeavour, the Chicago organ of the Christian Endeavour Society, and we confess we find it an extremely interesting, lively and stimulating paper. It contains information in regard to that extensive society which we are sure will be interesting to our readers, and if we can transfer a little of their enthusiasm and intense zeal and devotion to the tepid, half-hearted portion of our own people who are mere nominal Catholics, we need not be ashamed to acknowledge our indebtedness to them for a very valuable acquisition. It is right to learn even from an opponent.

The Christian Endeavor Society is thoroughly organized and embraces the whole country. They call it a "theocratic democracy." The influence of the "grand and noble" president, Rev. Mr. Clarke, who was the originator of the idea and the founder of the society, may be called, at least in a large measure, autocratic. The spirit of loyalty and unbounded devotion to this zealous man is well indicated by a passage in the paper which we are noticing. The writer declares:—

"We have supreme loyalty to our grand and noble president, who has never heard such a shout as would go up from the vast army of Endeavorers in tents, halls and churches, at our national conventions, when by a rising vote and true American cheers he would be swept by a tidal wave of affirmatives into an office which but faintly expresses the gratitude of the churches for the messages from God which he has brought to us."

The society is still, of course, in some respects, in an inchoate condition, and serious questions of organization and practical work await the decision of their wisest and ablest men. Meantime they are not lying on their oars or waiting for some favourable wind to fill their sails. On the contrary, they are wide awake and very much in earnest. At least the leading spirits are, if we may judge from the tone of the number of the Christian Endeavourer which has fallen under our notice.

From that we learn that they seem to have adopted Father Elliott's plan of campaign for the purpose of preaching a crusade among the people with the express intention of teaching and elevating the masses, and promoting the important cause of Christian citizenship. In "Suggestions for Workers" the writer very properly says:

"The missionary extension problem presented to young Christian workers in the churches and societies must be met on all sides. If we would see Christ's kingdom advanced we must use every endeavour to forward His cause. We must not only work ourselves, but we must get others to work with us. If they are Christians not awake to this sacred cause then it is our duty to awaken them."

And he reminds the various societies that their work is a work of prayer, of patience, and to be watered with tears.

Now, we maintain that there is no use in pooh-poohing—much less in ridiculing—this grand moral movement. Their aim and their motives are good. What the outcome will be who can predict? But for the present they seem to be doing a good work. Any organizer of earnest, zealous Christian people, who aim at stemming the tide of corruption, purifying politics, elevating the moral tone of communities, and encouraging a more decided type of Christian citizenship, certainly is not to be despised. We may well say with the apostle "But what then? So that by all means, whether by occasion or by truth, Christ be preached; in this also I rejoice, yea, and will rejoice." Nor need we be ashamed to emulate their zeal, their enterprise and their aggressive devotion in labouring for the good of their fellow-men.

THE SOCIAL SIDE OF THE SONS OF ENGLAND.

THE EXCEEDINGLY SUCCESSFUL SMOKING CONCERT.

Incense Burned on the Altar of Enjoyment and at the Social Shrine—A Splendid Evening's Entertainment to the Visiting Brethren—Credit due the Local Entertainment Committee.

By common consent the smoking concert held last evening in the Lodge Rooms on Hunter street was voted one of the most, if not the most, enjoyable entertainment ever offered to the delegates of the Supreme Grand Lodge. From far and near the brethren came in troops, and the universal sentiment was that the local brethren had fairly eclipsed themselves, not only in the case of the entertainment, but in their kind attention to the creature wants of their guests. Lansdowne Lodge had provided a plentiful supply of cigars, tobacco, pipes, etc., and of course refreshments ad lib., but the mere provision for the creature wants of the visitors was as nothing compared to the feast of reason and flow of soul which characterized the whole entertainment from the first item on the programme until the last strains of God Save the Queen, sung as only Englishmen can sing it, fluttered the banners which hung upon the wall and closed the evening's programme.

It is almost impossible to give any itemized report of speeches, recitations and instrumental morceau, with which made the evening pass so pleasantly. Early in the programme, Mr. Geo. K. Martin, who has done noble service as honourary secretary of the Entertainment Committee, sang the ever popular "Death of Nelson." Those who were present will perhaps never forget the perfectly spontaneous outburste with which the chorus of every verse was taken up by the large number of guests present and sung until the roof shook. This song of Mr. Martin's gave the key note to the whole proceedings.

The local brethren and guests fraternized as only Englishman, stranagers though they may be, can fraternize and although the room was clouded with smoke it was the only dull thing about the evening's enjoyment. Even the smoke had its merit, as being strongly reminescent of a London fog.

Special mention should be made of some almost wonderful concertina music which was rendered by Bro. Aspenwall, of town. The with which his efforts were received were almost deafening. He responded to an encore by an imitation of English Chimes, and not a few of those present who have not stood on the Strand, of London, Eng., for many a long year, almost forgot time, circumstance and distance, and heard once more the ringing of the peals of old St. Martin's. Perhaps also special mention should be made of recitations by Dr. Hodgetts, of Toronto; R. Ivens, of Toronto; and R. Q. Dench, of Lakefield.

As was stated before it was almost impossible to particularize the various items. All were good and some were superexcellent. There was not a cut and dried official programme arranged, but under the able and unique direction of Bro. Tom Skippon, of Toronto, the whole evening went from piece to piece without a break, as one glad moment. When the neighbouring bells rang out the hour of midnight the brethren could scarcely believe that the time had passed so rapidly. It should be exceedingly gratifying to the members of Lansdowne Lodge and the who have the entertainment arrangements in hand, that their efforts to entertain and please their visitors have met with such appreciation. On every hand nothing was heard but the most delighted recognition of the efforts made for the comfort and pleasure of the delegates and dozens of the visitors were heard express themselves of the opinion that in all the long history of the Grand Lodge meetings the delegates have never been so splendidly entertained as in Peterborough. Every arrangement, certainly of the most perfect description, and at the close the Supreme Grand Officers were privately and quietly entertained in an ante-room especially prepared for that purpose.

If the reception to-night in any degree equals the success of the smoking concert held last night, the local brethern should feel themselves covered with honour and glory. The only fear is that the available space at their disposal will be insufficient to do justice to their guests. Confidence, however, is expressed that in the capable hands of those, who have already carried the gathering so far to such a successful issue, there need be no fear on this score.

Detective Rogers, who was sent to the locality by the Attorney-General's Department, has reported that he does not see any need of looking for highwaymen, as Reece bears no marks of the alleged sand-bagging. Reece asserts in his own defence that the fur cap he wore at the time accounts for the absence of scalp wounds.

WHAT PRESIDENT VAN HORNE SAYS

About the Proposed $3,000,000 Bridge Between Windsor and Detroit

Montreal, March 10.—(Special)—Sir William Van Horne was interviewed to-day by your correspondent regarding the alleged co-operation of the G.T.R., C.P.R. and Michigan Central to build the proposed $3,000,000 bridge from Windsor to Detroit. "The Canadian Pacific has as yet," began the president, "nothing to do with the undertaking, but if built, there is little doubt that all the railways centering at Detroit will make use of it."

"In your opinion, will the Michigan Central build the bridge?" Sir William was asked.

"They have never communicated with us on the subject, but I know they have been wanting to do something of the kind for years, as the traffic has practically outgrown the capacity of the ferry boats."

Continuing Sir William Van Horne stated that a tunnel was first spoken of, but its practicability was too uncertain to justify anyone undertaking the enterprise. Such a tunnel, being so long, would render lines using it unpopular, as passengers would much rather cross over a river on a bridge than under it by means of a tunnel.

When the opposition of the water-carriers was alluded to, Sir William Van Horne spoke as follows: "The plans of the bridge which I have seen appear to be as unobjectionable as possible, but no bridge has ever yet been built over any navigable water within my knowledge that was not objected to by the water-carriers. If, in fact, the bridge were a quarter of a mile high and built without piers in the river, they would doubtless find some ground for objection."

HAMILTON BOYS IN TROUBLE.

They are Charged With Stealing Tobacco From a Farmer's Sleigh.

Hamilton, March 10.—(Special)—Jerry and James Woods, corner of Bay and Sheaffe-streets, were arrested this afternoon on a charge of stealing $10 worth of tobacco from the sleigh of James Mills, a West Dover farmer. They were implicated in stealing stockings from Miss Kennedy last week, and will appear at the Police Court tomorrow, with four other boys named Evans, Wilson, Baker and Brown, the latter charged with stealing boots.

HELD AN HARMONIOUS MEETING.

The Irish National Parliamentary Party in Session Yesterday.

London, March 10.—The first meeting of the anti-Parnellite section of the Irish National Parliamentary party since the election of Mr. John Dillon to the leadership of this party, took place in this city. Mr. Dillon presided, and Dr. T. M. Healy and Mr. Justin McCarthy, the former leader of the party, were present. The meeting was entirely harmonious. The proceedings were devoted to discussion of a plan of action in the House of Commons in regard to the Irish estimates. An agreement upon a plan was reached, but the details are not known.

Did Cleveland and Olney Fall Out?

Washington, March 10.—Secretary Olney returned to Washington this morning from Boston, where he spent Sunday and part of yesterday. Considerable mystery surrounded the Secretary's trip, and gave rise to rumors that Mr. Olney left Washington on account of a disagreement with President Cleveland over the latter's repudiation of the alleged statement of the Administration's views with regard to Cuban recognition, attributed to the Secretary of State.

MULVEY WOULD NOT TAKE IT BACK.

Mr. Prendergast Takes Him to Task in the Manitoba Legislature.

Winnipeg, March 10.—(Special.)—In the Legislature yesterday Mr. Prendergast, rising to a question of privilege, called attention to the construction placed upon Mr. Mulvey's recent speech on the school question by The Orange Sentinel of Toronto. Mr. Mulvey had said he was prepared to shoulder his rifle in defence of the rights of the province, as he did on four former occasions in defence of the country. The Orange Sentinel said this was no idle threat, as Mr. Mulvey knew by experience what civil war was. Mr. Prendergast asked Mr. Mulvey to repudiate the sentiments attributed to him by The Orange Sentinel. Mr. Mulvey declined, and Mr. Prendergast said Mr. Mulvey's conduct was unprecedented and scandalous. Other members joined in the controversy, but Mr. Mulvey was true to his principles of "No Surrender!" and the matter dropped.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness. I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. O. Box 55, Jarvis, Ont.

BALLINGTON AND HIS FATHER.

The Salvation Army General Makes No Exceptions in Favor of Individuals.

London, March 10.—A representative of the United Press obtained an interview this morning with General Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, who has just arrived in London, from India. General Booth said that he was busily considering the policy of the army in America, but had not as yet been able to formulate a statement on the subject. The General handed the reporter an advance copy of the War Cry, which contained the announcement that immediately upon his arrival in London, General Booth had addressed a manifesto to the officers and soldiers of the Salvation Army in America, declaring that, although his heart was torn and he was sorely wounded, he was, nevertheless, determined to conduct the government of the army, irrespective of persons. If he had been willing to take an exception in favor of one person, in order to retain the loyality of that person, he would deservedly have lost forever the confidence and respect of all honest-hearted men, and the approval of his own conscience. The article also asks the prayers of the army for Eva Booth, the new commander of the army in America, and her comrades in the United States.

VERY LIKE WHITECHAPEL.

San Francisco is Becoming Notorious for Its Mysterious Strangulings.

San Francisco, March 10.—Another woman of the town, the third within a month, was strangled to death early this morning under circumstances almost identical with the atrocious murder of her consorts on Morton-street. At 2.30 this morning, Bertha Paradis, of 27 St. Mary-street, was found dead in her bed by Caesar Chabert, her lover. She had been strangled, a handkerchief having been thrust down her throat. Nothing in the room had been disturbed, and the woman's purse was not molested. There were no marks of violence on her neck. She was last seen alive about 1.30 o'clock. A search of the premises revealed no evidences of a struggle.

THE NEW ITALIAN MINISTRY.

President Di Rudini Has Completed and Officially Announced His Cabinet.

Rome, March 10.—The composition of the new Italian Ministry is officially announced as follows: Marquis Di Rudini, President of the Council and Minister of the Interior; Gen. Ricotti, Minister of War; Admiral Brin, Minister of Marine; Signor Sermonetta, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Signor Branca, Minister of Finance; Signor Colombo, Minister of the Treasury; Signor Perazzi, Minister of Public Works; Signor Guicciardini, Minister of Agriculture; Signor Costa, Minister of Justice; Signor Gianturco, Minister of Public Instruction; Signor Carmine, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs. The new Ministry has decided Conservative leanings. The Ministers were sworn into office at the Quirinal this afternoon, after which ceremony Parliament was convoked.

THAT CATTLE EXCLUSION BILL.

Dr. Montague is Working Hard in England to Prevent Its Passage.

London, March 10.—Mr. J. C. Colmer, temporarily in charge of the Canadian High Commissioner's office here, with the approval of Dr. Montague, Canadian Minister of Agriculture, has submitted a strong despatch to the Colonial Office against the permanent exclusion of cattle proposed in the bill. On behalf of the Canadian Government, Messrs. Colmer and Montague will interview Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain on Thursday. The exclusion bill is delayed in the Commons, and it is suggested that the Canadian House of Commons pass a strong resolution against it. The Liberal Opposition in the Imperial Commons, and that of the press, increases, on the ground that the step is an infraction of free trade principles.

BOGUS CHARTERS WERE ISSUED.

An Important Arrest in New York—Wholesale Fraud in Insurance.

New York, March 10.—Detectives of the District Attorney's office this afternoon arrested Graham McAdam, who was indicted several days ago for larceny in connection with the Lloyds Fire Insurance Company. McAdam is charged with issuing bogus charters for Lloyds fire insurance companies and selling them. Indictments were also found against two other men, but these have not yet been arrested. It is said that the premiums of the fraudulent companies in one year amounted to $5,000,000, and that there were 120 bogus companies organized. The attorneys declare McAdam is interested in 15 or 20 of them.

THEY WILL NOT ARREST RHODES.

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain Says There is No Truth in the Rumor.

London, March 10.—In the House of Commons to-day Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, said in reply to a question on the subject that there was no truth in the report of the intended arrest of Cecil Rhodes by the authorities of Cape Colony, nor had he any information that any other authorities contemplated such action. The question was brought out by the report circulated yesterday that Mr. Rhodes would be arrested on his arrival at Beira, East Africa, which caused a decided fall in the prices of South African mining securities at the London Stock Exchange.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

MONEY TO LOAN.

$100,000 to Loan at reasonable rates of interest. Particulars on application to

J. R. STRATTON, Examiner Office

A man may dress as well as his own good taste, judgment and the assistance of an artistic tailor may elect. He may take his "tubs" as regularly as the most conscientious water-cure doctor may dictate; but if his digestive organs are out of order, he will have an unwholesome appearance. His complexion and the white of his eyes will have a yellowish cast. His tongue will be coated, appetite poor, his teeth rusty, his breath abominable. He is one big, unmistakable sign of constipation.

Worst of all, his temper is as ugly and unwholesome to live with as is his person. A man who has the least appreciation of what he owes his family and friends, to say nothing of himself, will make an effort for health.

The quickest, surest, easiest way is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are made of refined, concentrated vegetable extracts. Nothing in the least harmful enters into their composition. They hunt down all impurities, and "make them move on." They are the product of many years' study and practice. Dr. Pierce cannot afford to put forth a worthless or a spurious article. Send for a free sample. If you would know yourself and the Doctor better, send 31 cents in one-cent stamps, to pay customs and postage only, and get his Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages profusely illustrated.

Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

"For sometime I had used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation with most satisfactory results. The winters have always been very hard on my husband. He too tried the 'Pellets.' They have made a new man of him. We have used in all, six bottles." Yours truly,

Mrs. V. A. Hovey

MRS. HENNE-PECQUE.

Her Dear Hubby is Perfectly Happy with a Wedding on Hand.

"Hat to send away? No, you've got the wrong house," Mrs. Henne-Pecque was heard to say to some invisible person, as she opened the front door with her key.

"No, he hasn't, the hat is here," cried Mr. Henne-Pecque, running into the hall with a large box in his hand.

"Whose hat is that? One of mine that you are giving away?"

"No, my dear; it is one I had sent home to-day on approval."

"Then why didn't you keep it and pay for it? How you men do change your minds."

"It is a man's privilege to change his mind, Mrs. Henne-Pecque. But I didn't change mine. I had the hat sent home so that I could examine it and find out if it really was becoming and if it was perfect; the light in the store was so bad I couldn't be sure of the shade of the band."

"What nonsense!"

"I have always been complimented on the taste and keen eye for color which I display in my costumes, my dear. And then I had some samples of lovely gray cloth, and I wanted to match the hat with them."

"You are not getting more clothes, are you? Your tailor's bills are ruinous. Where's that brown"——

"Oh, my winter suits are all right. It is my Easter things"——

"Easter things! And Lent has scarcely begun! Can't you find anything to occupy you at home? I'm sure my stockings are one mass of holes."

"They are nothing of the sort. You forget, Mrs. Henne-Pecque, that I not only have to select my own costume, but also to get the children fitted out for spring. Even baby has to have a new wardrobe, for papa's precious is to go into short clothes at Easter, and, oh, my dear, you must see the lovely little frock I am embroidering for"——

"Spare me a list of your wearing apparel, I beg of you. You know women are not interested in the details of such things, only in the results. What are these bundles doing in the parlor? You know I object to having such trash downstairs."

"They will soon be gone, my dear. They are your father's, and he is to come back for them presently. He and I were out shopping for four solid hours and came home tired to death and almost starved."

"Hadn't you sense enough to go in somewhere and get a lunch?"

"Oh, yes, we had a cup of tea and some toast; but things cost so much at a restaurant that we said we'd wait till we got home. So cook made us a pot of lovely chocolate and we opened a jar of that pate de foie gras you bought last week, and had a nice lunch."

"Was the pate good? I got it at a new place."

"Splendid! We ate every morsel of it—the children enjoyed it hugely."

"I presume so. A nice, economical lunch, upon my word! Mr. Henne-Pecque, your ideas of relative values are unique."

"I'm glad you think so, dear. I do try so hard to be careful with the money you work so hard to get—what are you laughing at?"

"Never mind—something funny."

"At me, as usual, I suppose. By the way, dear, your cousin Godfrey, was here this morning, and we have made the final plans about his wedding. He and his father want you to give him away"——

"I? How absurd. He"——

"You are his nearest female relative, my dear; of course, your mother being an invalid, don't count; and as his mother is dead, you must take her place, and we must have the wedding breakfast here. No—don't make objections! You owe it to yourself and your family to throw the protection of your name and your presence over the Henne-Pecque boys, especially when they are motherless, like poor little Godfrey. You must take their mother's places. And Godfrey's father was so nice about it all; he wants the wedding cards to read: 'Mrs. and Mr. Henne-Pecque request the pleasure of your companw at their nephew's wedding breakfast,' or something like that."

"Now that you men have a wedding to fuss over, I suppose you will be all supremely happy, and I will give you $200 to put into his trousseau, provided you'll promise not to mention 'samples' to me for a month."

"Oh, Mrs. Henne-Pecque, you are so generous! Godfrey's father has so little to live on, really, I don't know what they would do if they didn't have a pension. Your aunt was a colonel in the army, wasn't she?"

"Yes, and her widower has $30 a month pension."

"How much does your mother get?"

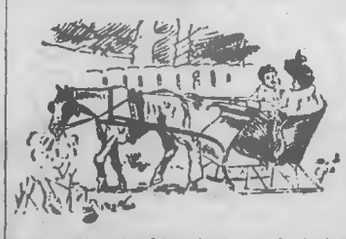
"She gets $36, because she lost her leg, had to have it amputated on the battlefield."

"Ugh! I'm thankful there is no war now, I never, never should let you enlist, not if you were made a general. I don't see how women can be brave enough to fight."

"Yet history tells us that there have been men who served as soldiers."

"Yes, but they didn't live in these enlightened, civilized days. A man might perhaps go as nurse, because tending the sick is man's natural occupation; but to handle a horrid gun—ugh! Come, dinner is ready. I know you are tired and hungry after your long, busy day."—New York Recorder.

The Other Point of View.



She—The sleighing isn't much, is it?

He—Isn't much! It's a dollar and a half an hour!—Truth.

Two Views.

"I think a woman looks horrid with her mouth filled with chewing-gum," growled the hopeless bachelor.

"Yes," cheerfully assented the married man, "but just think how much she can't talk when she is that way."

The hopeless bachelor hadn't thought of that.

Orange in Spring Millinery.

The spring millinery is literally beginning to "blossom forth." So far as I have seen, every hat and bonnet seems a riot of flowers and gay tints. The braid is usually a coarse one of heavy satin straw, and leaf-green petunia and orange brown are among the popular shades. Indeed, outside of a Twelfth of July parade, I don't think I ever saw such an appalling tendency toward orange! In one of the most fashionable restaurants of the metropolis I saw a young woman in the "fashion of to-morrow." She was tall, she was slender and fair, and her hair was that brilliant shade of red which we call "carrotty" when it is in a coiffure, but "golden-brown" when it is fur or fabric. She was gowned in a tailor-made suit of golden brown was this young woman, and she wore a collet, long cuffs and muff of mink tails, and knotted around the neck of the fur collar were rosettes and bows of golden brown ribbon. On her hair she wore a large hat (only not too large) of golden brown chenille braid, and this was trimmed with curling ostrich tips in various shades of brown, while a surprising orange and brown rose nestled underneath the brim and upon the coil of radiant red hair at the back. With the concomitants of golden brown veil and gloves, this costume stood out in attractiveness in all that long room. The girl's personality, which was in no ways marked, save for her hair and apparel, became intense, compelling. Whoever designed the outfit was an artist, rescuing what would have been merely "a little red-headed girl" from obscurity, and making her a foreground figure in the changing landscape. Yet I shuddered when an hour later I saw a buxom, auburn-haired woman looking at a hat of orange and golden-brown in a milliner's show case. Given a decided personality at the start and adding such a costume would be worse than gazing at an extravaganza transformation scene in the broad glare of day!—Polly, in Chicago Herald.

THE BROCKVILLE TRAGEDY.

Wounded Men Progressing Favorably—The Murderer Likely to Die.

Brockville, March 10.—The wounded men are all progressing favorably. Chief Rose passed a fairly restful night, and to-day the doctors hold out hopes of his recovery. It is thought that Lapointe cannot live, so serious are his injuries. George Moore of Hamilton, a son of the unfortunate man who lost his life, arrived in the town this morning, and will take his father's body back with him to-night.

POINTER FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

A Member of the Dartmouth, N.S., Board Being Sued for Libel.

Halifax, March 10.—The teachers of Dartmouth have instituted a suit for libel against a member of the local school board, Isaac Leslie, because he stated at a board meeting that the penmanship of all of them, except their principal, was bad. They deny the truth of the statement and have concluded to carry the matter into the law courts.

Fatima's Baby Grows.

New York, March 10.—The crowds who were attracted to Central Park by the beautiful weather yesterday made special efforts to see the baby hippopotamus.

They were disappointed, as the little beast will not be on public view for some time.

The youngster grew six inches in girth in the past 48 hours. If she grows in this proportion for the next two weeks she will need a new tank all for herself.

Rebels Advancing Towards Havana.

Madrid, March 10.—A despatch to The Imparcial from Havana says that the rebels under Gomez and Maceo are advancing towards Havana. From the position of the Spanish troops, a serious conflict is expected.

The Abyssinians Lost 4000 Men.

London, March 10.—A despatch from Rome to the Central News says that the Abyssinians lost 4000 men in the battle of Adowa.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To Add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:—

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventible, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

THEY COUNT BY THE SCORE

Yea, By the Hundreds, Those Who Have Been Cured of Dire Disease By South American Nervine.

A Remedy Widespread and Universal in Its Application.

Where Other Medicines Have Failed and Doctors Have Pronounced the Cases Beyond Cure, This Great Discovery Has Proven a Genuine Elixir of Life.

The Same Verdict Comes From Old and Young, Male and Female, Rich and Poor, and From All Corners of the Dominion.

If it is the case that he who makes two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before is a benefactor of the race, what is the position to be accorded that man who by his knowledge of the laws of life and health gives energy and strength where languor, weakness and anticipation of an early death had before prevailed? Is not he also a public benefactor? Let those who have been down and are now up through the use of South American Nervine give their opinions on this subject. John Boyer, banker, of Kincardine, Ont., had made himself a hopeless invalid through years of overwork. At least he felt his case was hopeless, for the best physicians had failed to do him good. He tried Nervine, and these are his words: "I gladly say it: Nervine cured me and I am to-day as strong and well as ever." Samuel Rhya, of Meaford, was cured of neuralgia of the stomach and bowels by three bottles of this medicine. Jas. Sherwood, of Windsor, at 70 years of age, suffered from an attack of paralysis. His life, at that age, was despaired of. But four bottles of Nervine gave him back his natural strength. A victim of indigestion, W. F. Bolger, of Renfrew, says: "Nervine cured me of my suffering, which seemed incurable, and had baffled all former methods and efforts." Peter Esson, of Paisley, lost flesh and rarely had a good night's sleep, because of stomach trouble. He says: "Nervine stopped the agonizing pains in my stomach the first day I used it. I have now taken two bottles and I feel entirely relieved and can sleep like a top." A representative farmer, of Western Ontario, is Mr. C. J. Curtis, residing near Windsor. His health was seemingly completely destroyed through la grippe. No medicine did him any good. "To three bottles of Nervine," he says, 'I attribute my restoration to health and strength." Neither man or woman can enjoy life when troubled with liver complaint. This was the sentiment and feeling of W. J. Hill, the well-known bailiff of Bracebridge. "I was so bad," says he, "that one of my medical attendants said that I was dying, but, thank God, I am not dead yet. From the first few doses I took of Nervine I commenced to feel better, and am to-day restored completely to my usual health." A resident of the Maritime Provinces, in the person of S. Jones, of Sussex, N.B., says: "For twelve years I was a martyr to indigestion, constipation and headache. The treatment of several physicians did not help me. I have taken a few bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say that I am a new man."

A shrewd observer of human nature has said: "The hand that rocks the cradle moves the world." How important it is, then, that health and strength should be made the lot of the mothers of this country. The women of Canada are ready by scores to tell of the benefits that have come to them through the use of South American Nervine. Mrs. R. Armstrong, of Orillia, wife of the colporteur of the Bible Society of that town, suffered for six years from nervous prostration. Medical assistance did not help. "In all," she says, "I have taken six bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say this is the one medicine that has effected a cure in my case." Mrs. John Dinwoody has been for 40 years a resident of Plesherton, and has reached the allotted three-score years and ten. Three years ago her system sustained a severe shock through the death of a daughter. Nervine was recommended. She perseveringly took 12 bottles of medicine, with the result that she is today again strong and hearty. Hundreds of women suffer from impoverished blood and weakened nerves. "All vitality," says Mrs. J. Bailis, of Brampton, "seemed to have forsaken my system. I was unable to get relief from any source until I commenced taking South American Nervine. The results are most satisfactory—greater far than I could have hoped for." It came within the way of Mrs. H. Stapleton, of Wingham, to treat under the best physicians, both in Canada and England, for heart disease and nervous debility, but she failed to get any relief. "I was advised," she says, "to take South American Nervine, and must say I do believe that if I had not done so I would not be alive today."

Newspaper space is too valuable to permit of further additions to these earnest words of testimony from those who know just what they are talking about. In the common language of the day, they have been there, and are speaking from the heart. The dozen or more witnesses that here speak have their counterparts by the hundreds, not only in the province of Ontario, but in every other section of the Dominion. South American Nervine is based on a scientific principle that makes a cure a certainty, no matter how desperate the case may be. It strikes at the nerve centers from which flows the life blood of the whole system. It is not a medicine of patchwork, but is complete and comprehensive in its application.

HOCKEY.

In the matter of Matches,
That is to say
Hockey matches :
The Peterboroughs
Are, in the language
Of the streets,
"Beauts."
Of course, there's Nothing wrong
With Kingston,
Or Trenton,
Or Lindsay,
But,
As I said before,
The Peterboroughs
Are "beants,"
Or in other words,
Corkers.
If you don't Believe me
Ask "Monty"!
He'll tell you
The Peterboroughs had a
Cinch last night.
Everything was coming
Their way.
The Wellingtons came
Their way,
And
The Wellingtons
Reversed history
And met
Their Waterloo
And Got it where
The chicken
Got
The Axe.

Those who were at the rink, last night, and witnessed the hockey match between the Peterboroughs and the Wellingtons, Champions of Toronto, are still wondering how it was that our boys succumbed to the Granites in Toronto. The Wellingtons won from the Granites and yet last night were beaten by the score of 17 goals to 2 by the Peterboroughs, who were unable to play either King or Davidson and yet won easily.

The two teams were composed as follows :

Wellingtons		Peterboroughs
Morrison	goal	Wasson
Gray	point	Montgomery
T Morrison	cover point	Adams
Hill	forwards	Phelan
Davidson		Parsons
Rowland		LeFevre
Spence		Pousette
H Watson	umpires	S Ray
George Dickson	timekeepers	W Salisbury

Referee—W Savage

From the start the visitors were not in it for a minute, and during the whole of the first half the Peterborough goal was not besieged more than three or four times. Both King and Davidson were missed from their positions on the team, but Pousette and Lefevre, who took their places did exceptionally well as substitutes, particularly the former, who played a very fast game on the wing.

The game was free from roughness and the effective combination work of the Peterborough's completely puzzled the visiting team, who although they appeared to be able to pass well to each other, were seldom able to get under headway before Adams would gently remove the puck from their care, and with a dexterous lift it would be sent high over their heads far down into Wellington territory. These lifts of Adams were wonderful in their way, and so sure was he that the Wellington forwards appeared afraid to "follow up," as whenever they grew aggressive it invariably meant that the forwards would suddenly find themselves at the wrong end of the rink, while the Peterborough combination went flying up the ice to add another point to their score.

Wasson, in goal, was not at all pressed until the second half, when the visitors made several most determined efforts to score. They succeeded once, but Ernie fooled them again and again. He made a most beautiful stop towards the end of the game when the Wellington's made their best rush of the evening, and Hill, eluding both Adams and Montgomery, shot on goal. Wasson blocked with his legs and kept the puck in play until Phelan relieved. Walter played "a horse of a game and his shots on goal were so bullet-like in their velocity as to keep the boards at the end of the rink in a quiver all the time. Parsons backed him up well, playing a very fast game indeed. Montgomery didn't have a great deal to do, but whenever the puck came his way he made a rush up the ice in a manner to strike terror into the hearts of the visitors. The following is a record of the games scored :

Club.	Scored by.	Time.
1—Peterborough	Parsons	3 minutes
2— "	Lefevre	1 "
3— "	Phelan	1½ "
4— "	Phelan	½ "

Score—Peterborough 17 Wellingtons 2

The Wellingtons are a light little team and play a neat, though not fast, combination. They were even lighter than the Peterboroughs.

In practicing before the match Phelan, in shooting on goal, struck Wasson in the eye. Fortunately not a great deal of damage resulted.

Bert Savage came up from Kingston to referee the game and performed his duties in a most satisfactory manner. He is the goalkeeper for the Limestones now, but played against Peterborough last year.

The visitors were shown a good time after the game last night.

This game is announced to be the last which the Peterboroughs play this season. The citizens would like to see a team from the senior league play here before the season closes, however.

The Collegiates, it is understood, will challenge the Wellingtons.

The II Peterboroughs would like a game with the first team.

The Clothiers and Grocers play this evening between 10 and 11 o'clock.

To-morrow evening a hockey match will be played between the Thistle and Granite curling clubs.

The Hardware men want another match with the Printers, but they will have to work their way up the ladder of fame a few rungs by defeating a club or two to show that they are in the Printers' class before they will be given another game. They might try conclusions with the Buffers.

THE WHEEL.

The Belleville Intelligencer in its issue of yesterday, says : "The annual meeting of the C.W.A. will be held in Toronto on Good Friday, April 3rd, and it is compulsory that every club in the Association have their membership registered before that date in order that their representatives may be allowed to vote on the full strength of the club. The Ramblers of this city and several other clubs were compelled to vote last year on the membership of 1894, because they were late in registering. We hope the matter will not be neglected this year, as there is much important legislation to come before the annual meeting. The most important business will be the selection of the place for the annual meet, which will, as usual, cause a warm contest. The two principal aspirants for this coveted meet are Peterborough and Quebec. The former town made a big bid for it last year and was only beaten by a narrow majority. The wheelmen and citizens generally consider their chances good for this year, and their claim will, we believe, be endorsed by a majority of the Association. A great many wheelmen of this city will favour our northern city."

The Victoria, B. C., bicycle clubs have signified their intention of supporting Peterborough for the meet.

THE HOUNDING OF DEER IN ONTARIO.

The Toronto Globe to-day contains the following letter on the hounding of deer : —The question of hounding deer has been fully discussed during the past months in the various parts of the province. In the eastern portion of Ontario an attempt has been made to have the open season so changed as to revert to the unsatisfactory state that prevailed prior to 1895. It is an undisputed fact that during the open season of 1894 more deer were killed and left to rot in the woods than were brought out and made use of. It may be well to investigate and inquire into the reasons of those who want the open season for deer shooting in the eastern districts to commence on Oct. 15th.

The principal reason is that deer will not take to the water in very cold weather, and a large number of hunters who are asking for the change could never kill a deer except in the water. Those who wish to have the hounding continued say that deer were more plentiful last season than for several years previous. Such was not the case. I do not dispute that more deer were seen, owing to the fact that twice the number of hounds were running, and every deer in the country was disturbed and brought to view. We may reasonably expect a large increase in the numbers of hunters, and also of dogs, if hounding is still allowed.

A few years ago deer in abundance could be found in the Wiarton Peninsula, which is now nearly depleted. The same causes will produce the same results in the more northern districts ; it is only a question of time.

There are several ways in which the constantly increasing slaughter of deer can be checked, and the first and most effectual is to prohibit the use of hounds ; the second is to prohibit the killing or chasing of deer in the water, and the third is to reduce the number of days in the open season.

That some of these measures should be adopted without delay is apparent to all thinking and true sportsmen, as it is to yours truly,

RANGER.

CANADIAN WHIST CLUB.

The first Canadian Whist League Congress will be held in Toronto on Good Friday, probably at the Victoria Club. Entries, which will close Monday, March 30th, may be made in the name of a club, or any four players may enter together, whether members of the same club or not, provided they enter under a club or other distinctive name, and any club may enter more than one four. To the club whose representatives win a trophy will be presented, and the successful players will receive souvenirs.

SUMMER CARNIVAL AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N.S., is preparing for a grand summer carnival to be held July 28 0, 30 1, and with the expensive programme offered and the many attractive sights in this grand city by the sea, it will be a delightful opportunity to spend a few days vacation, and escape the heat at that season of of the year, and enjoy the fresh cooling breezes which roll in from the broad Atlantic. It is really a chance to see a city of Europe (reached in a few hours) with its regiments of soldiers, hundreds of sailors from the ships of the British North Atlantic Squadron, which has its summer headquarters there, its citadel, forts, etc. Among the carnival features will be single scull and four oared races for large prizes in which the best oarsmen in the world are expected to compete, yacht races, competitions between crews from the war ships, amateur races, etc. A magnificent illumination of one of the finest harbours in the world, with a procession of boats, open air concerts, with music by military bands, horse races, bicycle and athletic sports by electric light and many other attractions.

The Time for Building

Up the system is at this season. The cold weather has made unusual drains upon the vital forces. The blood has become impoverished and impure, and all the functions of the body suffer in consequence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great builder, because it is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

Hood's Pills become the favourite cathartic with all who use them. All druggists. 25 cents.

GETTING READY FOR THE -EASTER-OPENINGS.

We shall begin the New Season under the most favourable auspices, and our larger preparations this year, will ensure greater enthusiasm from the start.

Whatever is worthy in New Millinery Novelties, Fancy Dress Goods, Veilings, Silks, Laces, Embroideries, Corsets and Underwear, is already well advanced for our Spring Receptions. We invite inspection.

Our Opening Display the last week of this month will be worthy of the season. Newness and novelty everywhere abound—such Newness as you would hardly expect for a month yet.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc. ; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line :—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

Granby Rubbers

It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date." They are honestly made of pure rubber, thin, light, elastic, durable, extra thick at ball and heel.

SIR OLIVER'S RETORT

Republicans Knew Where to Send Their Manifestos

WHEN THEY HAD A SCHENE ON FOOT

To Change the Constitution of Canada—Mr. Stratton Objects to Some Provisions in the New Education Bill—Mr. Marter's Motion on the License System.

Toronto, March 13.—When the Local Legislature met yesterday afternoon Mr. Whitney, the practical leader of the Conservative Opposition, drew the attention of Sir Oliver Mowat to a circular which he said had been freely distributed among the members of the House. He considered it an insult, and asked what action the Premier intended taking with reference to the matter. Among other things the circular referred to said:

"We are to-day governed, not in the interests of ourselves, the people of Canada, but in the interests of and by an oligarchy composed of corrupt and needy politicians and place-hunters in Canada, and usurers and bondholders in England. We are, as you know only too well, eaten by taxes, the great part of which go to maintain and strengthen the position of these parasites. It is estimated that every year Canada has to send out of the country to England not less than about thirty millions of dollars to pay the interest on Government loans, mortgages, bonds, debentures, etc. This money come out of the earnings of a hardworking and industrious people. We are in slavery to these politicians and usurers.

"An attempt is about being made to draw Canada into a so-called Imperial Federation, one of the first conditions of which will be that she will be called on to contribute towards the military and naval armaments of England. This means additional taxation; besides which it follows that we may also be called upon to furnish contingents of soldiers and sailors to fight in England's quarrels with other nations with whom it is to our interest to be at peace; for the true interest of Canada is friendship and commerce with the rest of the world.

"Let, then, all true Canadians who love their country join hands to overthrow the corrupt oligarchy that has betrayed it and them, and change our government from a degrading colonial dependency to a free, prosperous and independent Canadian Republic."

This remarkable document was signed "The Canadian Republican Committe," but no names were given.

Sir Oliver Mowat said he had not received one of the circulars, nor was he aware that any had ben sent to members upon the Reform side of the House. It was evident that the Republicans and those opposed to British institutions in Canada recognized their friends—(cheers)—and had sent their manifesto only to Conservatives, believing that the sentiments therein expressed would strike a responsive chord upon the Opposition benches. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Matheson's bill to incorporate the English Church Synod of the Diocese of Ottawa was read a third time.

Mr. Hobbs' bill respecting the Supreme Court I.O.F. was read a third time.

Mr. Truax's bill to confirm bylaw 486 of the town of Walkerton was read a third time.

Mr. Flatts' bill respecting the Jail of Wentworth County was read a third time.

Several Government bills were advanced through the committee stage.

Mr. Ross moved the second reading of his bill respecting the Public schools.

Mr. Stratton, in an eloquent speech, pointed out several objections to the bill which he trusted the Minister of Education would see his way clear to remedy. He particularly objected to clause number 85, which provides for the superannuation of teachers and inspectors. He also thought the bill should be altered to permit schools in the remote districts that were of necessity closed during a portion of the winter, to remain open for a portion of the summer holidays at the discretion of the inspector and trustees. He urged strong objection to clause 65, which provided that a uniform county rate shall be levied for the support of the schools in all townships of the county upon the basis of the equalized assessment of the county. This, he said, would permit the raising of more money in certain townships than would be spent therein, the money going to other townships. This, he thought, most unfair. Many members on both sides of the House supported Mr. Stratton in the objection he had urged.

The bill was then read a second time, but will be thoroughly overhauled in committee.

Mr. Marter, on motion to go into supply, moved an amendment for the purpose of making his yearly objection to the liquor license system of Ontario. He said nothing new, simply confining himself to the old, time-worn arguments he has utilized for years past in the House and on the stump.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt roused the House and was loudly applauded as he proceeded to expose point after point, the weakness of Mr. Marter's arguments. He challenged the leader of the Opposition to say that there was not less drinking in Ontario now than ever before. The hotels of Ontario, he said, were better equipped, gave better meals, and were more efficiently conducted than anywhere else upon this continent. Year by year the number of licenses were on the decrease. With reference to the old cry that License Inspectors and Commissioners were corrupt, Mr. Harcourt took the breath of the Opposition when he said he would, within 48 hours, grant an investigation if any member would take the responsibility of laying a charge against any of them to the effect that they had been guilty of misconduct or wrongfully used their official position. Mr. Marter wished to have as commissioners the County Court Judges and Wardens of the various counties. The only reason he could give for this was that under the present system the commissioners sometimes made errors in judgment. Did not the higher courts daily show that County Court Judges made errors in judgment. He said, that as a body, no more respectable or competent men could be found in Canada than the License Commissioners. He quoted from the Dominion Government Year Book, to show that for sobriety Ontario stood in the first place, ahead of all the other provinces, notwithstanding that the Scott Act was in force in some of them. Mr. Marter would have wardens appointed to escape partizanship. He submitted that partizanship was in its element in County Council chambers. (Cheers.)

Mr. Haycock said that no doubt the leader of the Opposition had moved the amendment for party purposes, but that he agreed with it in principle. He thought the License Commission Boards should be composed of three members, one appointed by the Dominion Government, another by the Provincial Government, and the third by the people. He, therefore, called upon his party to vote with Mr. Marter.

Several other members followed, and at 11.45 Mr. Whitney moved the adjournment of the debate.

O, WHAT A DIFFERENCE!

Canadian Missionary Hartwell Tells of His Return Trip to the Scene of Chinese Persecution.

Kingston, March 12.—Writing to The Whig, Rev. G. E. Hartwell gives an account of his return to the Chinese city from which he was driven last May. He says:

"What a triumph to pass up the great east street in broad daylight in the company of officials, not as prisoners, as seven months ago, but as guests welcomed back! A good compound has been provided adjoining our property, where we can carry on our work of reconstruction most conveniently. The acting magistrate even wants us to purchase this new place to enlarge our borders. So kind, so considerate, so exuberant was he, that we drank freely of the patented soothing syrup, and now think that he means well, that they all mean well; that the present staff of officials are pro-foreigners, and that everything is being done to make it safe and pleasant for foreigners in the future.

"It is too early to give a definite statement. In some places they act a little like whipped curs who would like to snarl and bite, but dare not. Passing along the road or through the streets, everything is quiet. The people evidently understand that the foreigners are here by official consent. That there should be a strong undercurrent at this juncture is only what might be expected. It will take a little time to disabuse the minds of those who thought us guilty. But the darkest clouds have often a silver lining. Neighbors, friends, teachers, street officials, merchants, unreservedly came to our dwelling as soon as it was known we had arrived. The guest room was a scene of jubilee for two or three days. Walking along the streets, where we were best known, the people flocked out to welcome us. Whatever feeling there has been against foreigners, it is certain that it was fanned outside of their respective neighborhoods. The real cause of the riots is still shrouded in mystery. The natives declare the ringleaders are unknown and no one has been punished apart from the officials.

"All the riots along the Yang-tse Valley, in which four lives were lost, had their origin in Hunan. Now the man most active in the Chen-tu riots has been proven to be a Hunanese. As long as Hunan remains closed, she will continue to be the fountain of evil and hatred against foreigners. No greater result would crown the investigation of the American commission than the opening of Hunan for trade and the freedom to propagate the 'Christian religion.'"

PRIVATEERING OUT OF DATE.

It is Not Likely That Spain Would Attempt to Prey on American Commerce.

London, March 12.—In the House of Commons to-day, Thomas Gibson Bowles, Tory member for Lynn Regis, asked if the Government's attention had been called to statements in the Spanish press that in the event of war with the United States Spain would fit out privateers to prey on American commerce, she not being a party to the declaration of Paris of 1856.

A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House, said that, in view of the fact that there had been no privateers fitted out in any war since 1856, even by the powers that had not acceded to the declaration of Paris; in view also of the fact that the principle of a neutral flag received general acceptance, he doubted that Spain or any other country would adopt the measures suggested. Mr. Balfour held that there was a general acceptance of the Paris declaration by all the powers, though it was not embodied in a treaty.

A WORKABLE BILL.

Telegram From Archbishop Langevin

TO THE REV. FATHER LACOMBE

Read by Col. Amyot in the House of Commons—He Approves of the Measure and Also Approves of Father Lacombe's Declaration.

Ottawa, March 12.—(Special)—Mr. Monet resumed the Remedial debate with an attack upon Mr. Devlin. Not long ago, said he, the member for Ottawa declared Mr. Laurier was the only man to settle the question; now he seems to think Sir Charles Tupper the only man. Proceeding to deal with the bill, Mr. Monet declared it was not sufficiently satisfactory, instancing the clause of the bill which restricts the establishment of Separate schools to the districts in which there are at least 10 children within three miles of the school. He wanted a bill that would give the Catholic minority in Manitoba equal privileges with the Protestant minority in Quebec. Archbishop Langevin, who had demanded disallowance of the Act of 1890, could not be satisfied with this bill.

Col. Amyot remarked that Archbishop Langevin was satisfied with the measure.

Mr. Monet retorted that Col. Amyot ought to prove that the Archbishop had endorsed it.

Col. Amyot was promptly on his feet. "I have just received," he said, "a telegram of Archbishop Langevin, in which he declares himself satisfied with the bill, and calls upon all the bishops to approve of it."

Upon being challenged to read it, Col. Amyot replied that he would read an extract from it.

Several Opposition members: "Read it in full."

Col. Amyot: Very well, I will read it all. It is a telegram in Latin from Archbishop Langevin to Father Lacombe. Translation is as follows: "To Rev. Father Lacombe, University of Ottawa: The bill is workable, efficacious and satisfactory. I approve of it. All the bishops and all the catholics ought to oppose it. There is life in the bill. Success to you and LaRiviere. I fully approve of your written declaration."

This rather seemed to take Mr. Monet's breath away, but he repeated that this question had two aspects. As to the religious aspect, he was willing to acknowledge Archbishop Langevin's authority, but as to the political aspect, he had a right to his own opinion. After discussing the question he concluded by declaring his intention to vote for the six months' hoist.

Mr. Charlton followed. On account of his physical disability, he was permitted to address the House without rising. He contended that the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council was not mandatory. The Government throughout acted not judicially, but in a political and partizan sense. The Government had acted in the matter with a view to getting political support and had stirred up such a feeling that the result might be the shattering of confederation into fragments. Mr. Laurier, on the other hand, had taken the stand of a true patriot. If the Government violated the Independence of Parliament Act and carried the bill on votes of men promised Government appointments, then the succeeding Government should cancel all such appointments. He would pledge himself to do his best to secure the dismissal of every judge, every senator, every collector appointed hereafter from members of the House who voted for the bill. He concluded by denouncing the Government for forcing such important legislation through a moribund Parliament and without an appeal to the people.

Mr. Forbes contended that there was no legal obligation on Parliament to restore the rights any of them possessed previous to the passage of the school laws of 1890. Neither by law nor by practise had the minority in Manitoba any stronger claim for Federal action than Nova Scotia would have if the Legislature there repealed the existing school law there.

After recess the debate was continued by Mr. Forbes in support of the six months' hoist.

Mr. Kenny (Halifax) followed in defence of the bill. He hoped the conference with Mr. Greenway would result satisfactorily, and said Manitoba should follow the example of Nova Scotia, which settled the school question by mutual concession and compromise. However, the grievance was established, and it was the duty of Parliament to see that the compact by which Manitoba was brought into the union was carried out. Public interest required Parliament to dispose of the question without delay. For the Dominion's peace at home and her credit abroad, the question should not be kept alive. Evidence of the injury it was working to the Dominion was found in the fact that in Newfoundland opposition to the island coming into confederation was being influenced by the fact that Parliament had not so far granted redress to the minority of Manitoba. He denied that the bill meant coercion, asking how the Catholics, one-twentieth of the population of Manitoba, could coerce the other nineteenth-twentieths.

Mr. Casey supported Mr. Laurier's amendment.

Mr. Taylor, Conservative whip, said as an Orangeman, believing that the Catholics of Manitoba had a constitutional right to Separate schools, he would support the bill. Incidentally he alluded to Mr. Laurier's statement in which he thanked God there were no Orangemen in the Liberal ranks. This led to a storm of protests from the Liberal benches. Mr. Taylor stuck to his statement, and said Mr. Belley could confirm it. Mr. Belley, the member for Chicoutimi, had said he himself had heard Mr. Laurier make the statement.

Messrs. Grandbois, Girouard and Cleveland supported the bill, and Mr. Boyle moved the adjournment of the debate.

The House adjourned at 2.15 a.m.

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1896.

A FRATERNAL WELCOME TO BISHOP O'CONNOR.

C. M. B. A. RECEPTION TO HIS LORDSHIP.

A Graceful Address of Greeting—A Graceful and Grateful Reply—Addresses by Archdeacon Casey, Mr. T. Cahill and Others. A Good Musical Programme Presented.

Though the formal welcome of the C. M. B. A. Society to his Lordship Bishop O'Connor was the last of the series, yet that of last night could not be ranked as the least. The hall in the Cox block, tastefully decorated, was crowded with members of the C. M. B. A. and their friends. Upon the platform were His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Rev. Father Scanlan, Rev. Father Phelan, Mr. M. H. Quinlan, President C. M. B. A.; Mr. T. Cahil, Mr. J. Coughlin, Dr. Moher, and T. J. Doris, Chancellors; James Bogue, Chief Ranger, C. O. F. and J. Daly, President of E. B. A.

The branch was opened in due form by the president, Mr. Quinlan, propounding the usual question:

"It is well. First vice-president what is the object of this Association?"

To which Mr. Alex Vinette, first vice-president, from his place in the hall made answer:

"To encourage by all honourable means, Christian union and mutual protection for our members and those dependent on them and also by means of Christian books and literature, approved of by our Spiritual adviser, to educate members and their families in piety, integrity and frugality."

Mr. M. H. Quinlan, President of Branch 30, in the name of the C. M. B. A., in a few graceful words welcomed his Lordship to their hall. He then called on the first number of the programme, a brilliant pianoforte duet by Messrs. Katie and Lillie Hurley. This was followed by a Messrs. Geo. Ball and D. Gordon. spirited rendering of that sterling old sea song, "The Minute Gun at Sea," by Mr. D. Gordon sang in a sympathetic manner, a baritone solo.

Mr. T. Cahill gave a brief address on the subject of "The Good of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association." He pointed out the beneficiary features of the society, pronounced by Dr. Bourinot, to have the best constitution of any organization in Canada. He emphasized the importance of every head of a family carrying some insurance—be it more or less—and the C. M. B. B. offered the best and cheapest extant,—a young m. n of 18 can insure his life for the price of a cigar per day. One of the good features of the C. M. B. A. was, that in case of sickness or misfortune of a member, the branch would carry on his policy, and in the case of death his widow or orphans would get the benefit. The rates were so low and within the reach of all. In the name of the C. M. B. A. Mr. Cahill welcomed the bishop back home.

Mr. John Coughlin read the following address:

Right Rev. Dr. R. A. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough:

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR LORDSHIP.—We take this opportunity of welcoming you home from your official visit to His Holiness Leo XIII, in apparently the best of health after an absence of nearly four months.

After the splendid demonstration you received from the clergy and congregation of St. Peter's, and the able addresses presented to you on their behalf as well as the reception tendered you by the children of South Ward and Central Schools, the magnificent welcome given you by the Sisters and pupils of Notre Dame, should be a fitting ending to the heartfelt welcome extended to you on all sides, but as your Lordship is a member of our noble Association, we feel that a few plain remarks of welcome on behalf of this Branch may not be out of place.

We have listened with great pleasure to your interesting discourse on the Eternal City and other historic places visited by Your Lordship, and were particularly interested in your description of the appearance of the Holy Father, who has done so much in promoting the interests of the Holy Mother Church and mankind in general, and were greatly pleased to hear of the interest shown by him in yourself and this young Canadian diocese.

Your eloquent description of St. Peter's and other churches containing the relics of the saints and martyrs, and the marble steps stained with the precious blood of our Divine Saviour, have all made a deep and lasting impression on us, and we thank God that it is our privilege to belong to that church which has withstood the trials and persecutions of nearly nineteen centuries, and with which our Divine Master promised to remain "even to the consummation of the world."

Once more we welcome you home and hope you will be spared to make several visits to the Head of the Church in Rome, and while we extend to you a cheerful welcome and offer our thanksgiving for your safe return, we heartily sympathise with you in the loss of one of your priests, in the person of the late Rev. Father Bloem, whose sad death was such a shock to yourself and clergy. Although he was called away suddenly in the prime of life, it is a consolation to you to know he was a good, zealous priest and well prepared to give an account of his stewardship.

We feel honoured with your presence at our meeting this evening and with the knowledge that the Association in which we are so deeply interested meets with your Lordship's approval.

Assuring you that you shall be at all times welcome at our meetings, that you have our best good wishes for your health and happiness and our prayers for the success of the good work in which you are engaged.

Signed on behalf of Branch 30, Catholic Mutual Benefit Association.

M. H. QUINLAN,

JOHN COUGHLIN.

Peterborough, March 12, 1896.

His Lordship thanked the society for their well appreciated welcome. He was glad to be here to give his countenance and encouragement to the excellent society, the C. M. B. A. He referred to the religious and social aspects of the society, which were prime factors in its usefulness. Such a society had the approval of the Church, which could not be extended to secret oath-bound societies. The society in Peterborough had 80 members in good standing. One of the requirements of the constitution that every member must be a practical Catholics and this, among other reasons, was why the church and clergy encouraged the societies independently of the financial benefits, which were very cheap. He, himself, was a charter member of Branch 51, Barrie, which he joined to encourage so good an Order. His Lordship endorsed Mr. Cahill's remarks and his advice that no young lady should engage herself to any young man who was not a member of one of the local Catholic benefit societies. His Lordship concluded by thanking the society for the cordial reception tendered him.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey congratulated his Lordship on the hearty reception he had received this evening. He pointed out that the order in Canada was financially separate from the United States. He did not know as low and safe a benefit society as the C.M.B.A., whose Canadian reserve was $50,000. He concluded by quotations from the Dominion Blue Book to show the excellent standing of the society.

Mr. Jas. Bogue, Chief Ranger of the Catholic Order of Foresters, spoke briefly of the benefit of membership in such a society, in proof of which he was a member in the C.M.B.A. and the Catholic Order of Foresters.

Mr. J. Daly, President of the E. B. A. thought so well of benefit societies, that he felt inclined to join the C. M. B. A. also.

Mr. T. J. Doris, Chancellor of the C.M.B.A., explained the rates of insurance and urged all possible to become members.

Dr. Moher, submitted figures to show the rapid growth of the membership of the order—from 270 in 1870 to 12,000 at present. He believed that the association had the cream of the Catholic population in Canada in its membership.

Miss Kate Hurley performed a dashing pianaforte solo in a very spirited and brilliant manner. Messrs. G. Ball and D. Gordon gave the "Larboard Watch" in splendid style, and Mr. Gordon followed with "If the waters could speak as they flow" and God save the Queen brought a most pleasant and successful evening to a close.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by imitations and substitutes.

Dunfree Knocked Kelly Out.

Syracuse, March 12.—It took Joe Dunfee of this city just 39 seconds to knock out Tommy Kelly, the "Hoboken Cyclone," before the Central City Athletic Club to-night. Kelly rushed the fighting, Dunfee sparring cautiously. One of Kelly's plunges was stopped by Dunfee's left, and the Syracusean then caught Kelly with a terrific back blow a la Fitzsimmons, which put the "Cyclone" to sleep. "Yank" Sullivan was the referee.

Egyptian Troops Up the Nile.

London, March 12.—The Times will tomorrow publish a despatch from Cairo saying that there is reason to believe that Egyptian troops will move immediately up the Nile and occupy Dongola. It has been felt in Cairo for some time that, in view of the restlessness of the Dervishes, it is desirable that a demonstration in force be made across the frontier at Wady Haifa. Representations on this subject have been made to Great Britain. The Italian defeat at Adowa has hastened matters.

Skipped With the Box Receipts.

Paterson, N.J., March 12.—Serious trouble was threatened at the opera house to-night. Young Griffo, the boxer, was billed to appear against three men, in addition to several other bouts. After several exhibitions had been given, the curtain was lowered, and the referee announced that the manager had decamped with the receipts, and that Griffo had failed to appear. The crowd made a rush for the box office, and could not be dispersed until police were called.

$125,000 Blaze in Boston.

Boston, March 12.—The handsome building on Columbus avenue, occupied by the Pope Manufacturing Company, bicycle manufacturers, was badly damaged by fire this afternoon. It is estimated that the loss to both building and stock will be about $125,000, covered by insurance.

What is the Fate of Two Hundred?

St. Petersburg, March 12.—Two hundred fishermen belonging to Reval, with their horses and carts, have been blown out to sea on a piece of floating ice. They had only one day's provisions with them, and they have been missing five days.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MR. SWAN.

He Was Held in Great Respect by the People of Kincardine.

Kincardine, March 11.—The funeral of Mr. George Swan, whose death occurred in Toronto on Sunday, took place this afternoon, from his late residence and was largely attended. The services were conducted by the Rev. James Livingston, pastor of the Methodist Church, of which the deceased had been a member, and by the Penetangore Lodge of Oddfellows, he having at one time occupied the master chair. During Mr. Swan's residence here his conduct was such as to merit the respect and esteem of all, and the sympathy of the entire community goes out to the family and relatives in this their hour of affliction.

SPANIARDS CARRYING DYNAMITE.

The U. S. Consulate in Barcelona Needs to be Closely Guarded.

Barcelona, March 11.—Upon the arrival here to-night of a train from Aragon, two workmen were arrested upon a charge of carrying concealed weapons. When a search of their clothing was made, 30 dynamite cartridges and two daggers were discovered. Upon being questioned, the men asserted that they had found the cartridges upon the road, and declared they had come to Barcelona in search of work. The police discredit the story. The U.S. consulate is being closely guarded.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

A WORKABLE BILL.

Senate Divorce Committee had an interesting session this morning, when the Pearson case was under consideration. Mrs. Pearson was present and testified to her inability to defray the expenses of the defence. After considerable discussion and argument, the committee decided to recommend the payment of $250 by Mr. Pearson to his wife in order that she might engage counsel and produce witnesses. Mr. Wallace Nesbitt appeared for Mr. Pearson, and subjected Mrs. Pearson to a severe examination. He claimed that on her own evidence he could convict Mrs. Pearson of adultery, and was about to enter into specific allegations when he was stopped by the committee, it being decided to consider the case on its merits next Monday. Mrs. Pearson admitted acquaintance with a number of men, including the New Yorker, Langerman, whose trial and sentence was a cause celebre in New York not long ago. Langerman was sentenced to life imprisonment for alleged attempted assault on a book agent named Miss Aub, who afterwards admitted that she had committed perjury. The case promises to be a most interesting one.

A deputation from Cobourg, consisting of Reeve Spence, Messrs. Purser, McCaughey, Pratt, McCaul, Minaker and Buckle, accompanied by Mr. Gillett, M.P., had a favorable interview with the Minister of Militia this morning, respecting an appropriation for a new drill hall at Cobourg, and to ask that the brigade camp for this year be situated at that point. To-morrow the deputation will interview the Minister of Public Works regarding harbor improvements.

The Railway Committee had a two-hours' wrestle this afternoon with the T., H. and B. Bill, which provides facilities for the payment of claims due by Bracy Bros., sub-contractors on the road, and several other liabilities from the subsidy voted by the city of Hamilton. The representatives of other claimants appeared before the committee, and asked to be allowed to participate in last year's legislation, but the committee decided against them. Eventually the bill was reported.

L'Electeur of Quebec is fast earning the reputation of being the champion liar in Canada. It's statement yesterday that Archbishop Walsh had endorsed Mr. Laurier's attitude on the school question met with a prompt refutation. To-day Senator Casgrain received the following telegram, which speaks for itself: "Toronto, March 12. The Toronto despatch to L'Electeur regarding my attitude on the Manitoba school question is an audacious falsehood. (Signed) Archbishop Walsh."

The chief Whips on both sides were engaged in conference to-day, when it was mutually agreed that a division on Mr. Laurier's amendment should take place next Wednesday. Possibly when that is disposed of there will be an amendment favoring the appointment of a commission.

The Railway Committee this morning threw out, by a majority of eight, the bill to incorporate the Canada Electric Railway Company. The bill originally provided for the building of an electric line between Windsor and Montreal. Opposition to the bill developing rapidly, the specifications were modified so as to make the line run from Cobourg to Suspension Bridge. The Grand Trunk interest was strongly felt, and the bill was thrown out on the above vote. The gentlemen asking for incorporation were: C. Smith of London, J. Kerr Osbourne, Hon. L. M. Jones, G. W. Beardmore, W. H. Cawthra and E. Bristol of Toronto.

Representatives of the Lake Carriers' Association had a satisfactory interview with Mr. Costigan this afternoon. One of their requests was that the life saving station at Point Pelee should be removed to Pelee Island. The Minister has had the matter under consideration, and it is said had decided in the interests of navigation to make the change. The removal of one of the lighthouses recently erected by the Government in the middle channel of the Detroit River was also asked, but the Minister thought the expense would be too great, and favored the idea of placing gas buoys to mark the channel in question, which are used by United States vessels equally with Canadian. It was pointed out, however, that gas would have to be procured from the American side, as there was no available supply on the Canadian side.

Dr. Sproule to-day received a copy of the resolution adopted by the Meaford and St. Vincent Liberal-Conservative Association on Tuesday, expressing confidence in him as their representative, and endorsing his course at Ottawa.

A. W. Wright, the Labor Commissioner, was here to-day and handed to the Government his report on the enquiry into the alleged prevalence of the sweating system in the leading cities.

Messrs. Thompson and Herst of Sault Ste. Marie are here to secure patents of land from the Government in connection with the Water Power Company's works at that place.

Mrs. Flint, wife of T. B. Flint, M.P. for Yarmouth, N.S., left Ottawa this morning for Toronto, to spend a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. L. E. Embree of Parkdale.

The first symposium of the session was given in the restaurant to-night by Mr. Ives.

Col. Gragg, president of the Coxheath copper mines, Cape Breton, and Messrs. McDougall and Gilles, M.P.'s, interviewed Sir Charles Tupper to-day and urged that a bounty be granted on refined copper the same as on iron.

Dr. Montizambert, chief medical quarantine officer here, had a conference with the St. John members relative to quarantine examinations at that port.

Carrying Arms to the Cubans

Charleston, S.C., March 12.—The alleged filibustering steamer Commodore, loaded with arms and munitions of war, went to sea a few minutes after 7 o'clock this morning. She is regularly cleared from this port for Tampa. There seems to be no doubt that she is carrying arms to Cuba, but just how she proposes to get them there no one except her captain knows.

The Bridge Across Niagara.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., March 12.—At a public meeting to-night of the Chamber of Commerce, Common Council and citizens generally, resolutions to be forwarded to Albany and Washington were adopted, in opposition to the proposed bridge to Grand Island, across the Niagara River, on the ground that it would be a serious menace and detriment to navigation.

500 Boiler Makers Go on Strike.

Cleveland, O., March 12.—The boilermakers of this city, about 500 in number, have gone on strike. Several days ago they demanded a general increase of 10 per cent. in wages, and when this was not granted they were ordered out by the union. As the shipyards are rushed with work, the strike is particularly embarrassing to them.

Mr. Shipman, of Owen Sound—Seven Years' Acute Suffering—Diabetes Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

OWEN SOUND, March 2nd. (Special)—Mr. Shipman tells his story in the hope that he may benefit others, and says:—As the result of a tumble when a boy which injured my back, I have been troubled with weak kidneys all my life. For the past year I have been a great sufferer, growing worse until a friendly druggist advised me to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Tests of the urine showed Diabetes and I realized my danger. I had found it impossible when tired to stand upright and at such times was drawn down sideways. In all I have used about one dozen boxes and am now hearty and healthy as ever in my life.

BALLINGTON BOOTH IS SILENT.

He Did Not Even Reply to the Cablegram Asking Him to Go to London.

New York, March 11.—General William Booth cabled from London yesterday to the soldiers of the Salvation Army a long manifesto of brotherly love and religious exhortation. Many officers hope he will come to this country and wage an energetic campaign.

Ballington Booth is busy day and night getting his new religious movement under way. A large church in Seventh street, just east of the Bowery, has been rented, and Capt. Patty Watkins will be placed in charge of a Bowery corps.

Mr Booth intends to follow largely the United States army system of organization. He received from Bramwell Booth a few days ago a cablegram on behalf of his father, asking him to go to London for a conference, but he did not reply to it.

They Will Not Reply.

New York, March 11.—Ballington and Mrs. Booth decided to-day that they would not reply to the cable message of General Wm. Booth to his American troops. It was intimated, however, that the ex-Commander will have something very pointed to say in the near future.

Canada Life Assurance Co.

Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.

New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business In Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894 . . . . . $24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared . . . $8,041,000

or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

FAREWELL GIFT TO REV. FATHER PHELAN.

PRESENTED WITH AN ADDRESS AND A HANDSOME DRESSING CASE.

The Address—Complimentary Remarks—A Worthy Young Priest Worthily Remembered.

At the Library of the Catholic Association on Thursday evening in view of the impending departure of Rev. Father Phelan to a new field of labour in North Bay, a few gentlemen representing the hosts of personal friends of Rev. Father Phelan in town, friends presented him with the following address, accompanied by a handsome dressing case, whose presentation was made by Dr. Moher. The address was read by Mr. Thomas Cahill, who prefaced the reading by the remark that Rev. Father Phelan was the first native of the town who had been reared and educated and advanced to the priesthood in Peterborough.

The following is the address :—

To the Rev. C. J. Phelan:

REVEREND AND DEAR FATHER,—Your many warm friends in Peterborough have learned with regret of your intention to depart from amongst us. For though we rejoice at the sacred dignity that has lately been conferred upon you, and though we know what a great virtue is submission to the will of your superiors, yet we cannot but lament parting with one we have known so long and so favourably.

To most of us you have been known since childhood. We have learned with delight of your achievements in study both in your native city of Peterborough and at the seats of Catholic learning in Toronto and in Montreal. It has been a source of great pleasure to us to note the honourable stand you have taken among your fellow students, and to watch your progress step by step until we saw you raised to the Holy Priesthood three weeks ago, at the early age of twenty-six.

And not only in study have you been so prominent, but also in the social circle have you won our warm esteem, and the admiration of your fellows in athletic circles. The lacrosse field as well as the halls of learning has witnessed your achievements; and the friends gathered here to bid you farewell and God-speed attest the warmth of your friendship.

We have come not only to express our appreciation of your many abilities and virtues which we so well know you to possess; but also to wish you every success and happiness in your new home. We hope you will find North Bay pleasant and congenial; we know that the members of the Catholic Congregation there will find your Reverence worthy of their best respect and kindest regards, and we trust by their warmth and generosity they may partially recompense you for the sacrifice you make in thus giving up home, family and friends for their sakes, in order that you may go as a priest of God and minister unto them.

It is our prayer that our Almighty Father may bless your life and work, that lie all before you, devoted to His service. And we hope that at some future time His Lordship, our beloved Bishop, may see fit to call you back among your many friends and relatives to duty in your native city.

In conclusion we would ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a souvenir of our esteem and good wishes in parting, and may it often remind you of the warm friends you leave behind in Peterborough.

Signed on behalf of the committe.

W. RUDKINS.

Rev. Father Phelan in a few words of graceful and feeling eloquence returned his thanks for the kindly sentiments of the address. He was deeply affected, and the natural emotion he failed to conceal, was shared by many who were present.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey added a few words, and pointed out what a satisfaction it must be to Rev. Father Phelan to be so well remembered. He was worthy of the praise which the address contained, and he felt sure that his new parishioners would esteem him as highly as he was esteemed in Peterborough, when they came to know Father Phelan as well as he was known here.

Dr. Moher also added a few words of compliment, speaking from personal knowledge of Rev. Father Phelan's many good qualities.

Rev. Father Phelan will probably leave for his new home the beginning of the coming week. He has reason to be gratified with the evidences of his popularity in the town where he has spent all his life, and he will carry away with him the best wishes for a successful pastorate, and regrets at the cessation of personal intercourse, not only of his co-religionists, but of all classes of citizens, whose high respect he has won as boy, youth and man, during his quarter of a century of citizenship in Peterborough.

THE GRAND LODGE SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Twenty-first Annual Session.

DISCUSSION ON SOME CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES.

Formal Replies Framed to the Addresses of Welcome by Lansdowne Lodge and the Town of Peterborough—Personnel of the General Purposes Committee.

COURT HOUSE, MARCH 13th.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the Grand Lodge, Sons of England, the election of the members of the Committee of General Purposes took place.

Upwards of forty nominations were received of which twenty only could be chosen. The result of the election was as follows :

Dr. John S. King, Toronto; R. Croft-Hulme, Belleville; W. R. Stroud, Ottawa; Rev. H. Symonds, Peterborough; R. Patching, Toronto; Thomas Elliott, Brantford; Dr. C. A. Hodgitts, R. Ivens and T. R. Skippon, Toronto; F. N. Raines, Uxbridge; Thomas Sargeant and J. C. Swait, Toronto; W. Hancock, Hamilton; J. W. Kempling, St. Catharines; W. C. Blake, Montreal; John Aldridge and S. W. Burns, Toronto; E. J. Reynolds, Ottawa; Sam Hine and W. H. Clay, Toronto.

At the adjournment of Grand Lodge the committee organized with Lieut.-Col. R. Croft Hulme, chairman, after which the standing sub-committees were struck.

The Board of Management of the beneficiary department was chosen as follows: T. R. Skippon, Dr. Hodgitts, R. Patching, G. Clatworthy, W. H. Clay, W. F. Partridge, S. W. Burns, E. Blundall, T. Cannon, J. S. Swait, Dr. W. R. Walters, A. Riddiford, H. A. Seaton, J. J. Pritchard and Z. H. Corton.

Brantford was selected as the next place of meeting, the next favourite being St. Catharines.

No report has as yet been received from the committee to whom the matter of the Remedial Order was referred.

This morning's session of the Grand Body was almost entirely devoted to the discussion of constitutional changes relative to the establishment of District Lodges, the formation of which was strongly opposed by the Supreme Grand President in his annual report, as published on Tuesday afternoon last, on the ground of additional expense and complication in the mode of governing. The debate on the question is proving to be a most animated one and the Grand Lodge will probably have to hold an all-night session in order to finish up its affairs by to-morrow.

The committee appointed to draft a suitable reply to the addresses of welcome by the town of Peterborough and by Lansdowne Lodge have drafted the following resolutions which will be forwarded by the Supreme Grand Secretary to the several bodies with the seal of the Supreme Grand Lodge attached and will also go upon the Grand Lodge's records:

SUPREME GRAND LODGE, SONS OF ENGLAND. March 13th, 1896.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—We thank you for the kindly welcome which your body has been pleased to bestow upon our society.

We are glad to know that you recognize the benefits and appreciate and applaud the aim and objects and benevolent accomplishments of our order.

We are not unmindful of the prestige and benefit to our society of the expression of your good will and approbation, and of your knowledge of, and satisfaction with, the good and benevolent work in which we are engaged. We would remind you that one of the cardinal points of our order is to respect and uphold our British legislative and administrative institutions and bodies, and we inculcate into our members the necessity for prompt obedience to such authorities.

We do not forget to recall the long struggle of our forefathers to secure responsible and self government, nor that one of the results of it is seen in the wise and efficient self-government of such an enterprising and flourishing town as Peterborough by such a municipal body as yours.

We also inform you that our society is a vast training school for the grasping of the details of procedure necessary for the efficiency and equipment of a self-governing people such as the British race.

We again thank you for your most kindly welcome, and trust that you will have no occasion to regret our brief sojourn in your delightful town, which we will always recall with the most pleasant recollections.

Signed on behalf of the Grand Lodge.

THE COMMITTEE.

The reply to Landowne Lodge's greeting was couched in the following terms:

COURT HOUSE. March 13th, 1896.

To The President, Officers and Members of Lansdowne Lodge:

BRETHREN,—This Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England Benefit Society desire to express their appreciation of the most kindly and cordial welcome extended to us by Lansdowne Lodge of this town of Peterborough.

We know that the welcome has been a most generous and whole-hearted one and that great efforts have been put forth by the Lodge for our entertainment and enjoyment; and we are pleased to say that those efforts have been exceedingly successful and most useful; and enjoyable, as well as instructive entertainments have been furnished to our members by your Lodge.

We cannot but record our entire concurrence in your introduction of a new feature in the procedure of these annual gatherings; that of attendance at divine service, and we feel that it has been productive of very much good to our society.

We shall carry away with us the most pleasant recollections of the enjoyable visit of our Grand Lodge to the enterprising town of Peterborough and we shall not forget how much Lansdowne Lodge has added to that enjoyment.

We wish for your lodge the greatest prosperity and trust that all the members of it may at all times be fully imbued with the true principles of patriotism and charity, which are two of the mutual bonds of our society and we trust that before many years we may again be called upon to partake of your hospitality and kindly brotherly welcome.

Signed on behalf of the Supreme Grand Lodge.

THE COMMITTEE.

The report of the committee recommending the forwarding of suitably prepared copies of these replies to the bodies concerned was passed unanimously amidst great applause.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

A Bowmanville Man Struck Fatally by the Peterborough Express.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Bowmanville, March 13.—John Wickett, a finisher in the Dominion Organ and Piano Company's Works here, was killed to-day by the local No. 7 passenger train. He was standing on the main track watching cars being coupled, when the Peterborough train came along. The whistle blew but Wickett being very deaf did not hear it until too late. The engine struck him and he was killed almost instantly, his head being crushed in and his thigh and arm broken. Deceased was aged 45, married and leaves three small children.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

HOCKEY.

A big crowd at the rink last night laughed until their sides were sore at the laughable freaks in the way of hockey strategy executed by the members of the Clothier and Grocer teams on the ice. The two were captained respectively by Messrs. Harry LeBtun and Ed. Brown, who were in the opposite goals. Th teams were composed as follows:

Clothiers.		Grocers
H LeBrun	goal	Ed Brown
F Logan	point	Hamilton
Gus Gough	cover point	M Henry
Will Merrill	forwards	W Dayman
Jimmy Tully	forwards	B Cunningham
Peter Corkery	forwards	J Connal
A McPherson	forwards	Davidson

The way the players got tangled up in the scrimmages was exorutiatingly funny at times and the rink would fairly shake with the laughter of the spectators when a player would make a vicious swipe at the puck and missing it, would be swung clear off his feet by the force of the blow which the intended to deliver. The usually mild and amiable Jimmy Connal was metomorphised for the evening into a veritable spirit of destruction and his path up the rink in his rushes would be strewn with his victims.

Both goalkeepers did great work and as the Clothiers had apparently slightly the better team Ed. Brown had a great chance for distinguishing himself, and he made some most creditable stops which were loudly cheered.

It was amusing to see how gently Peter Corkery touched up the puck when he reached for it. Peter is never violent. When Miles Henry, however, swung for it something generally went, whether it was the puck, an opponent or Myles himself didn't much matter.

Unfortunately Bolton Cunningham fell and broke one of the small bones of his ankle during the game and had to be carried off. Billy Merrill went off from the other side to even things up. Fred Logan and Angus McPherson played a great combination game for the clothiers, and Jimmy Connal and Davidson did as much for the grocers. Harry LeBrun made the play of the evening. The ice was cleared of players and he and Ed. Brown left to fight it out alone. When Ed. fell the stock of the clothiers went up above par and Harry swept up the whole length of the rink and scored amidst terrific cheers.

The game ended with a score of 4 to 3 in favour of the Clothiers.

Capt. Ed. is confident that in another match he can worst his old time curling rival and the return game will probably be played next week.

The Printers will play the Collegiate Institute team next week.

In the game between the Buffers and the Business College on Monday evening next the teams will play in the following positions:—

Business College.		Buffers
Philps	goal	J W Blaine
Stentson	point	W H Bradburn
W Laing	cover point	R J Fife
K Dolan	forwards	G J Horklas
Frost	forwards	R A Hay
F Matchko	forwards	H R H Kenner
Nesbitt	forwards	J Begley

Referee—C. LeBrun.

The Rink Loafers are desirous of challenging anybody to a game of anything—hockey or curling preferred.

To-night between ten and eleven o'clock teams representative of the Thistle and Granite Curling clubs will play hockey.

The II Peterboroughs go to Oshawa to play on Tuesday evening next.

The Collegiate hockey team and the Lindsay School team cross sticks for a game of hockey on Saturday afternoon, at 2 p. m.

Mr. Adam Hall's establishment has turned out the following hockey team, which is now open for challenges from any establishment team, with the exception of the Volts:

Round Elbow Adamson.....goal
Dish Pan Thornton.....point
Pipe Tongs Turner.....cover point
Sap Bucket Gillespie } forwards
Wire Joint Thornton } forwards
Sewer Pipe Dobbin } forwards
Wash Boiler Mitchell } forwards
Auer Light Harper.....umpire

With the moral and financial sympathy of the following supporters of the firm:—Fire Pot Bettice, Stove Polish Laing, Coal Oil Fair, Steel Range Dixon, Grate Bar Jones, Ink Waster Gladman, Scoop-er-up Kemp and Stove Pipe Hall. On the occasion of their first match the players will be illuminated with the new Auer Light.

CURLING.

The second and third draws in the Innes medal Thistle series has been made as follows:—

SECOND DRAW.

1—Bradburn vs Kells.
2—Connal vs Davidson.
Byes—John McKee and J. D. Pentland.

THIRD DRAW.

John McKee vs winner of No. 1.
Pentland vs winner of No. 2.

The points game for the Ontario medal in the Thistle division will be played this evening. All members are requested to be on the ice at 7.30 sharp.

The point competition in the Thistle curling club has been postponed till Monday, at 7.30 p. m.

POOL.

The first pool match of any importance played here this season was that between Jas. Gordon and Geo. Green last night for the championship of this district. A large number of spectators witnessed the competition and the excitement was intense. The match was for the best 11 out of 21 games. Throughout both played a very close game, so close that when the 20th game was played the match stood 10 to 10, and in the last game each wanted the one ball, and Green was the lucky man. Another match is on the boards on account of the good playing of both men. It was a case of anybody's game.

THE WHEEL.

If Peterborough intends securing the C. W. A. meet this year, sharp and decisive action must be taken at once to canvas the town and enlarge the club membership. There is plenty of money in the pockets of citizens desirous of helping to secure the meet, but in some way the duty of collecting has been neglected until it is now almost too late. Procrastinytion is not usually a characteristic of the manner in which Peterborough business men take hold of any project and it will be most unfortunate if the meet is lost on this account.

That excellent wheel known as the Remington is now on exhibition at the Wm. English Canoe Coy's factory on Charlotte street. Mr. Walter English will be pleased to dilate on its merits to the public.

A HINT FOR THE FARMER.

A Cure for the "Warble Fly."

I wonder how many cattle owners will, after reading the following, pay more attention to the wants of the poor beasts, who have no means of conveying to you their wants. This injurious fly begins to be the terror of the animal who gallops about to escape the fly from depositing its eggs on its hide, so that a fat animal running from eight to ten miles a day in the heat loses $3 or $4 worth of beef per week. But this is nothing to what the poor animal suffers after the eggs are hatched and the grub makes it way under the skin, and so eats as to keep up a continual wound. Sometimes there are as many as a hundred on the back and loins of one poor beast, occasionally causing blood poisoning. This proves it is a great loss as well as great pain to the beast, and therefore it would be well for a wise man to take a hint for his own profit as well as for the profit and feeling of the animal in which these injurious grubs are seated. This proves that all around the farmer loses—the dairy farmer in milk, and the general farmer in hide and beef.

Squeezing out the maggots is a sure method of getting rid of them, but they may be destroyed easily and without as much risk by dressing the warble with a little of one of the effective louse and tick dips, or any grease or mixture thick and tenacious enough for a little "dab" of it when placed on the opening of the "warble" to adhere and thereby choke the maggot. This will answer well.

To prevent the attack of the fly in summer train oil rubbed along the spine and a little on the loins and ribs will be found useful. Also the following is good:—Four ounces flowers of sulphur, one gill spirits of tar, one quart train oil; to be mixed well together and rubbed along the both sides of the spine of the animal. With both the above applications it has been observed that the cattle will graze in peace instead of tearing throught the field at the foaming gallop so ruinous to the milk, flesh, and also the cows in calf.

BRILLIANT RECEPTION ACCORDED DELEGATES.

THE ELITE OF THE TOWN IN ATTENDANCE LAST EVENING.

A Programme of Musical Excellence Provided for the Furthering of the Pleasure of the Visiting Delegates to the Grand Lodge of the Sons of England

Peterborough is earning for itself a great reputation through the whole - souled manner in which the citizens entertain the visiting delegates to local conventions. The manner in which the Entertainment Committee of Lansdowne Lodge is looking after the pleasure and comfort of the visiting Sons of England has greatly increased the prestige of the town in this respect and the members of the committee are constantly being subjected to receiving the most profuse congratulations from the visitors in respect to the way in which the every want of the guests is not only met but anticipated.

A reception was given in the lodge rooms last evening for the furtherance of the enjoyment of the delegates, and as the programme was contributed to by a number of the visitors the pleasure of the occasion was only limited by the time in its deliverance.

The spacious lodge rooms were filled by an audience representative of the elite of Peterborough, and the seating capacity of the apartments was tested to accommodate all who were anxious to do honour to the visitors.

The guests were received at the door last evening by Mr. Geo. K. Martin, the indefatigable honorary secretary of the Entertainment Committee, and to Mr. E. A. Peck, Worthy President of Lansdowne Lodge.

BY HIM PRESENTED

The chair was taken by Mr. Peck at about nine o'clock, and the programme formally opened by a few introductory remarks in which the chairman briefly narrated the circumstances connected with the foundation of the Order 21 years ago, and its growth to a membership of 11,000. The Society, he stated, had been originally formed for the purpose of bringing Englishmen together in the colonies for their mutual advantage. Every year the Grand Lodge met in session and on this particular evening all were gathered together to welcome the delegates of the Grand Lodge to Peterborough.

Mr. Geo. K. Martin then read letters regretting their absence, from Rev. W. R. Young and Rev. J. E. Trotter. Letters were also received from the members of the Provincial and Dominion Houses of Parliament as follows:

PETERBOROUGH, March 10, 1896.

DEAR MR. MARTIN,—I regret exceedingly that I shall be unable to accept the very kind invitation of the Sons of England to be present with them on Thursday next. My Ottawa duties require my constant attendance or I should have been most happy to have participated at your reception.

Yours sincerely,
J. STEVENSON.

Geo. K. Martin, Esq., Peterborough.

PETERBOROUGH, ONT., March 7th, 1896.

DEAR SIR,—Your kind invitation to attend reception sons of England, on 13th inst., received, and I shall be happy to attend and deliver an address, as requested, if my Parliamentary duties will permit. I am much afraid, however, that I will be detained at Ottawa.

Yours,
JOHN BURNHAM.

G. K. Martin, Esq., Peterborough.

G. K. Martin, Esq., Hon. Secretary, Entertainment Committee, Supreme Grand Lodge S. O. E., Peterborough:

MY DEAR SIR.—I exceedingly regret to find this evening, that it will be impossible for me to attend the reception to be tendered to the Supreme Grand Lodge to-morrow evening.

I had fully intended to give myself the pleasure of being present, but my Parliamentary duties will not permit my doing so. I suppose that I will easily be excused, since an audience of Englishmen can readily appreciate the practice of the spirit of Nelson's words, slightly varied, "Ontario expects every man to do his duty."

While my duty debars me from the pleasure of being present, I hereby send as hearty a welcome as words can express and with more cordiality, because I have many warm friends among the Sons of England in Peterborough, and assuming these to be fair samples of the Order throughout the country, I can heartily congratulate the Grand Lodge officers and delegates on being a force in the community calculated to benefit a large and important class of citizens who reflect credit upon the Mother Land and take prominent places in the citizenship of their adopted country.

Hoping that your stay in Peterborough will be a pleasant one and congratulating the order upon its success, I remain,

Yours truly,
J. H. STRATTON.

Toronto, March 11th, 1896.

Mayor Yelland was the called upon for a few remarks, and expressed his great pleasure in welcoming so many brother Englishmen to Peterborough. He felt towards them all as one Englishman always felt towards another, and regretted that he was unable to be present at the first session of the Grand Lodge to welcome them, as he had been invited to do.

The delegates were given a welcome on behalf of sister organizations by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, who also told several amusing anecdotes in an effort as a member of St. Andrew's Society to prove the superiority of the Scotch over the English.

Mr. Walter Squires was then called upon for a song and gave a happy rendering of "The Admiral's Broom," after which Lieut.-Col. Bell, of the 57th Battalion, made a few patriotic remarks and welcomed the delegates to the town on behalf of the Rangers, in his most cordial manner. Mr. Aspenwall,

WHO SO DELIGHTED

those present at the smoking concert the previous evening with his concertina selections, played the "Imperial March," much to the pleasure of his hearers. Bro. Mudge's humorous song, "I Guess You've All Been There," was received with great applause, being rendered in a most effective manner.

Bro. R. Croft Hulme, P.S.G.P., of Belleville, made a few remarks in a most happy vein, in which he took occasion to warmly congratulate Lansdowne Lodge on the excellent manner in which the delegates had been entertained.

Bro. Jones sang "Jujah" in his inimitably funny manner and brought down the house. He was followed by Bro. F. Barlow Cumberland, Supreme Grand Vice-elect, who in most polished terms expressed his pleasure at having an opportunity to extend to the local members of the Order his most sincere congratulations on the manner in which they had attended to the comfort of their guests during the present session of Grand Lodge. Peterborough, he thought, had set a mark of excellence in this respect for the future meeting places of the Grand Lodge to seek to equal.

Bros. Squires and Steers of the local lodge, gave a rendering of "A Home by the Sea," which was well received, after which Bro. Blundall narrated the experiences of the bashful young man so ludicrously as to convulse his hearers with laughter.

Mr. Geo. K. Martin's fine baritone voice was heard to great advantage in the vocal selection, "The Friar of Orders Gray." By the generous applause meeted out to the rendering Mr. Martin's number evidently met with the hearty approbation of the audience.

Bro. Ivens was then called upon to contribute to the programme, and his wonderful powers of mimicry brought down the house.

The evening was most fittingly brought to a close by a few remarks from the much-esteemed chaplain of Lansdowne Lodge, Rev. H. Symonds, and the singing of the National Anthem and "Auld Lang Syne."

During the course of the evening refreshments were served under the direction of the local lodge of the Daughters of England and the hospitality of Peterborough must have been borne more forcibly to the delegates when they were invited to satisfy the inner man. The ladies certainly outdid themselves in their efforts to have that portion of the evening's entertainment, which was entrusted to their care, fully up to the literary and musical part of the programme.

GREAT BRITAIN IN THE FAR EAST

She Could Interfere Seriously With Russia's Scheme of Conquest - Warships Have Been Ordered to Corea.

New York, March 11.—A correspondent in Tokyo writes: Most of the ships of war in these waters have been ordered in haste to Corea, but only with precautionary design. The British fleet is still the strongest, and, if supported by the French and German fleets, could easily defy all opposition. England, however, has a powerful armament, which, united with the Japanese navy, could interfere seriously with Russian schemes of conquest. The attitude of Great Britain is watched with eager interest by all nationalities in the far East, though there is little expectation that she will take up arms against the Northern Empire.

As for Japan, there is no likelihood that she will risk the chances of war for many years to come. Political agitators talk wildly of challenging the world in defence of Japan's rights, but the Government can be trusted to act with sober judgment. At the first outburst of incendiary oratory in Parliament, when Opposition members endeavored to commit the Legislature to dangerous declarations of hostility to foreign nations, the Emperor interposed with an edict, suspending the session for ten days. By counselling this resolute course, Marquis Ito showed that he considered it more important to preserve friendly international relations than to reconcile domestic differences. He worked hard last year to win the favor of a large party in the House of Representatives and thus secure the appropriations needed for strengthening the army and navy, but the support vouchsafed him at the opening of Parliament may now be withdrawn in the anger excited by his arbitrary dealing. Between two evils he chose the least. Sooner or later he can count upon obtaining the requisite supplies, whereas the mischief of an intemperate legislative onslaught upon Russia might have been irreparable.

THOSE WONDERFUL X RAYS.

Nikola Tesla, the Scientist, Talks of Roentgen's Marvelous Discovery.

New York, March 11.—Fresh discoveries continue to be made almost daily in connection with the now famous X rays of Prof. Roentgen. Nikola Tesla, the great scientist, who is said to be interested as consulting electrician in the proposed Canadian electric railway between Montreal and Windsor, has made an announcement concerning some experiments of his own. He has taken a distinct impression of the bones of a man's arm and shoulder through his clothing, a heavy plate of glass and two inches of wood, and also clear radiagraphs of the human skull and the interior anatomy of rabbits, birds, etc.

As a result of his investigations, Mr. Tesla is almost convinced that in the X rays he has to deal with a stream of material particles which penetrate the object acted upon and he seems hopeful that it may be possible by means of the newly found agent to project chemical preparations into any part of the human body where such an operation is necessary.

An attempt will in a few days be made in New York to locate by means of the X rays a large screw which for 20 years has been lodged in a man's lung.

In Europe the rays are now being employed in the detection of false pearls and diamonds.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. Montreal, March 12.

Another question arose this morning as to the right of a priest to answer in the witness box. A Mr. Ouellette sued one Sicotte for $500, charging him with having circulated stories which caused plaintiff to lose his place as sexton of St. Vincent de Paul. Rev. Mr. Dubuc, assistant priest of the parish, was asked if he (Sicotte) had not said something to him about Ouellette, and the abbe refused to reply, the understanding being that the conversation took place at confession. Judge Tait gave the clergyman two days to think over the matter, intimating that if the witness did not reply, he would be sent down for contempt of court.

Your correspondent has seen the annual report of the famous Cariboo mine, which is owned by Montreal and Toronto capitalists. The total work of last season was 45 days, 9 hours, and the gold product of the season reached $60,306. The estimated gross product of the mine for 1896 is $300,000, the net profits $213,000. The report says that when the appliances are completed the annual net profit will be $540,000. Mr. J. B. Hobson, the manager, says it is the richest gold mine in the world.

George Holden was found guilty today of attempting to murder one Cunning last Christmas and was sentenced to 14 years at St. Vincent de Paul.

Mr. J. F. Hill, controller of the Montreal Street Railway, has resigned and will go to Chicago.

The Grand Trunk will begin a 7 1-2 hour service from Montreal to Toronto in a few weeks.

While Mr. Kearns, who keeps a grocery on Vitre-street, was practising this evening with a rifle, his clerk, named McCaffrey, aged 20, came within range and was shot dead. Kearns went at once to headquarters and gave himself up, although the shooting was purely accidental.

JAMES MILLER'S TERRIBLE DEATH.

A Sad and Fatal Accident on the Road Near Thamesville.

Thamesville, March 11.—A sad and fatal accident occurred near here at 10 o'clock to-day, whereby James Miller, an old and respected resident of this village, lost his life. Deceased was about 60 years old and has been in the employ of R. Ferguson, M.P., for 35 years. This morning he went for a load of wood to one of Mr. Ferguson's farms, about three miles from the village. Returning, he drove by a short and somewhat rough road across Mr. L. Sherman's farm. At a spot in the road where there is a deep rut, the part of the load on which the deceased was sitting, slipped forward, carrying him with it. He struck the frozen ground with his head, dislocating his neck and killing him instantly. The horses, becoming frightened, kicked, breaking his lower jaw and right arm. Two men near by ran to his assistance and saw him breath his last.

RHINESTONE CAUGHT IN LONDON.

He and His Wife are Awaiting Extradition--Wanted in Montreal.

Montreal, March 11.—Information was received here to-night that Joseph Rhinestone and his wife Emma, who are wanted in Canada on charges of larceny, had been arrested in London and were awaiting extradition proceedings. Rhinestone and his wife came to Montreal about a year ago. Rhinestone represented that he had large backing in France and secured a partnership in a large chemical concern. Considerable paper was floated and a few weeks ago Rhinestone and his family suddenly disappeared, leaving numerous creditors behind.

3 PERSONS RUN DOWN TO DEATH.

A Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Train Crashes Into a Carriage.

Chicago, March 11.—While the three children of Willis L. Blackman, a prominent Board of Trade operator, were returning home in a carriage from a party to-night the carriage was struck by a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy train at a crossing in Hinsdale and the coachman, Samuel Russell, and two of the children, Carlos H. Blackman, 8 years old, and Willis Blackman, jr., 16 years old, were killed. Marguerite Blackman, 10 years old, the remaining child, was seriously injured. Both of the horses were killed.

WILL REGULATE BICYCLES.

A Bill Introduced into New York State Senate Providing for Lamps.

Albany, March 11.—Senator Parsons of Rochester to-day introduced a bill to regulate the use of bicycles, tricycles and similar vehicles and to require uniformity of ordinances affecting the same. The bill was referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges. It provides that the several cities and towns and villages shall have power to pass ordinances regulating the use of bicycles, in accordance with certain requirements. The bill provides that bicycles shall be equipped with lamps and bells, and that the rate of speed at which they may be ridden shall be specified in the ordinances, and also the streets or portions thereof upon which wheelmen may ride.

TO H[illegible] MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

JOHN JOSEPH VICKERS DEAD.

Founder of the Well-Known Express Company Succumbs to Grip.

Toronto, March 12.

Another has to be added to the list of old citizens recently removed by death. Mr. John Joseph Vickers, who was close on four score years, died yesterday morning at his residence, 172 Adelaide-street west. Although stricken with paralysis, it was an attack of la grippe to which he succumbed.

Mr. Vickers was born in Dublin in 1818. In 1852 he was appointed to a position in the American Express Co. in Toronto. In 1854 he made a contract with the Northern Railway under the name of the Vickers Express Co., of which he was president, and continued so until his retirement in 1888, when he sold out his interest to the American Express Co.

Mr. Vickers was elected to represent old St. George's Ward in the City Council in 1864, and sat as an alderman for six consecutive years. He was the mover of the resolution which provided for the establishment of the present waterworks system.

Deceased leaves a widow, four sons and five daughters. The sons are J. A.D., superintendent of the National Express Co., Chicago; W. Wallbridge, barrister, Toronto; Arthur A., traveler, Montreal; Victor, G. R., agent Dominion Express Co., Montreal.

J. R. STRATTON, Examiner Office

A business man is not the most patient creature in the world. He cannot stop work every minute to bother with an irritating skin disease, or a hacking cough that insists on breaking into his bargain-making. Neither will he wait to hear any long-drawn-out story of the cause of his ailment. He doesn't care two straws about a fine spun theory of how he should treat himself. He may be predisposed to scrofula, or consumption. "That," he will tell you "has nothing to do with the case." He wants to be well. If he can be cured, write out a prescription and send in your bill. So, here's the first part of the proposition.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine that permeates the whole body as water goes through a sponge. It is a microbe hunter and a microbe killer. It is a well-known fact that many persons of scrofulous blood, encourage the breaking out of unsightly sores, to prevent the disease going to the lungs. There is no need of living in this state of dread and discomfort. Purify the blood. It can be done. The "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure 98 per cent. of all consumptive cases, also of all other lingering, bronchial, throat and lung diseases. Don't allow a druggist to persuade you into taking something that he says is "just as good." Maybe it's better for him—better for his profits. Take the "Golden Medical Discovery"—the greatest discovery of the age. In addition, in order to know yourself better, send to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only, and get in return, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is a book of 1008 pages, illustrated, and is full of common sense talk that any one who can read will understand.

And here is the testimony of Mrs. E. E. Enders, of Carey, Ohio, in regard to the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I had a troublesome skin disease. I suffered much from surface sores. Nothing helped me until I tried the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' A year or two later I had lung trouble. Again the 'Discovery' cured me."

(Mrs.) E. E. Enders

THE MODISH BONNET.

THIS SPRING FLORA'S GARDEN WILL BE BLOOMING UPON IT.

This New French Shape With Two Other Paris Models Will Challenge Popular Favor—Red Violet, Tea Roses and Stalks Jonquils the Popular Trimmings.

New York, (Special.)—Although the weather has seemed at times unfriendly to such airy frivolities, almost all of the big military shops have had their spring openings. Last week Twenty-third street and the two avenues presented windows summer-like with bloom, flowers by the peck, flowers by the bushel, and everywhere a touch of black or white tulle, like the cobweb of Flora's garden.

Tulle, indeed, is the distinguishing feature of the new headgear, and the large hat is rare that does not show somewhere a glimpse of it.

Black and white is a favorite combination, and with this black Prince of Wales' feathers, in smart, waving panaches, are trimmings much seen Then there are slender black wings, and plain and novelty aigrettes that stand nine inches high, and every variety of flower that could be imagined; primroses, jonquils, violets, thistles, wall flowers, snowballs and roses, being some of the choicest. The new violets are in two shades, the regulation Parma tint, and a strange deep purple that is a fine Russian red.

LARGE HAT WITH ROSES.

These last are cut with four loose petals that have little of the look of violets, but in the big clumps in which they are used they are very effective.

Many of the large hats are turned sharply up at the back and have there wide bows with ends of taffeta ribbon.

These, in some cases, are so large as to almost entirely hide the coiffure, and beyond the ears the loops will project like wings.

But nowhere, nowhere are seen the tinsel gauds, the spangled butterflies and jemmed pins, brooches and buckles, that did so much toward vulgarizing winter millinery. They may appear later, but for the moment there is a dearth of these things that is most gratifying.

As to materials for hats themselves, plain and fancy chips are much in evidence. An interest has also been revived in Panama straw, and in this smooth braid there are some very dashing novelties in deep gold and pale cream for later wear. For the rest, there are rough and Tuscan straws, with here and there what is known as a "made hat" in ribbon straw. This last introduces with a rough mossy braid, a smooth one like satin, but a hat of this sort can rarely be found ready-made as they are almost entirely fashioned from the braids by milliners. Leghorn is likewise seen, though it is confined chiefly to children's hats, which run to wide brims, big puff crowns, and a wealth of flowers and feathers.

For the grown-ups three hat shapes challenge popular favor and becomingness. These are a big broad-brimmed shape called the "Boulevardienne," a dashing walking hat designed by Virot, and a little three-cornered toque that is especially becoming to round, fresh faces.

In the others, however, wan looks will find solace, as their effects are soft and wide, and often tulle strings with a big bow under the chin will give a fascinating finish.

Crowns of almost all of the hats are enormously big, and are either puffed in with a novel raising at the front or left side, or else are blocked plainly and flat at the top.

This bigness promotes a delightful sense of comfort for a long time unknown with headgear.

The fiercest wind may blow, but there is no longer the uneasy anguish that accompanied the wearing of the foolish little billycock crowns of a year ago. The roof of your head now very nearly reaches the roof of your new chapeau, the brim is but little above the ears; and besides the feeling of security this gives, you have the blissful consciousness that your looks are usually much improved by the change.

EVENING BONNET OF SPANGLED NET.

Yesterday a pair of New York's smartest milliners gave private openings, where were seen some of the confections that are to bow in Eastern prayers. There were great big hats, and so-called little hats. The latter were three-cornered or round toque shapes; but they were so widened with great knots of flowers or wing trimmings at the sides that "little" seemed a misnomer.

A few trimmed sailors were stylish, but were not novel enough to attract more than passing attention

The big and medium-sized flats were the ones that brought forth tribute, and the tryer-on was plain indeed whose charms were not enhanced by one of these. A vast "Boulevardienne" of black chip, faced with white, was ravishing on a red-haired girl. The round, straight brim of this was looped sharply up at the back and covered with a big bow of apple-green taffeta ribbon. The other trimmings were two dancing panaches of black feathers at the sides, and between which spread, across the front, a monster tulle bow, one half white, one black. Another arrangement of black and white is shown here in the smart hat with the strings. These and the swathing about the brim are of white tulle; the panaches at the side are Prince of Wales' feathers, which are figuring extensively in the new millinery.

Still another black hat had the round brim covered with tulle puffs, black and white alternating. Instead of feathers with this, however, at the left side there were some tall stalks of jonquils with their tender green leaves. The Virot walking hats also showed many black and white effects, but there were besides some very stunning ones in color. The rolled brim of one smart brown one seemed uncommonly wide, and the bag crown was puffed up in front, which took away from the trying squareness often otherwise occasioned. The chief trimming for these walking hats is velvet ribbon, which encircles the crown in a narrow band, and ends commonly in front with a trim bow drawn through a buckle.

The brown one mentioned had a brass buckle and two big clumps at the sides of faded wallflowers. A black one had black velvet through a steel buckle in front, a panache of black feathers at the left, and the brim draped with a soft web of yellow lace. This on a pale-faced woman with heavy Duse's eyelids was delightful. But when a fresh, moon-faced darling tried it on it immediately became hideous. "Doesn't she look like a frog?" said somebody. And nobody denied it.

One of the becoming tricks of the new millinery is the way the brim hats are trimmed underneath. At the back, and under the brim at the sides, there will be banks of flowers, and even the walking hats will have often at the rear soft ends of lace or the tip of a feather to blend becomingly with the hair. The large hats and especially those trimmed heaviest at the back are still to be worn tilted low over the forehead. Bonnets are very rare.

He says that he has struck a claim that will assay $22 to the ton.

No Oxford Honors for Women.

London, March 11.—The Oxford Congregation to-day rejected all the proposals substituted for the previously defeated motion to confer degrees of Bachelor of Arts upon women, including the proposal to make the University the only examining body, so far as women are concerned. This proposition was rejected by a vote of 140 to 130. The other proposals regarding conferring a diploma or certificate were rejected by large majorities.

The Johannesburg Trial Again On.

Pretoria, March 11.—The trial of the members of the Reform Committee and other conspirators against the Government who were arrested at Johannesburg and brought here was resumed to-day. Witnesses were placed upon the stand who described in detail the conduct of affairs in Johannesburg under the brief regime of the Reform Committee.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To Add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:—

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventible, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.

James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

Delay in Putting on Glasses.

After it is certain they are needed, is very unwise. Many persons do not see as well as they should. Others suffer with a constant headache which medicine does not relieve, because the headache comes from eyestrain.

The proper remedy is a pair of good glasses—properly fitted.

CHILDREN'S EYES should be tested for possible defects.

I have the necessary appliances, skill and experience for fitting your eyes properly, and can help any eye that glasses will help. We make no charge for examination.

Caught Cold Again?

You'll die some day before long too, if you don't take care of yourself. Why run this risk?

Fur buying at fall prices would not be wise at this late date, but to buy Fur Capes at about 50 per cent. reduction is simply fortifying oneself against next winter's needs while securing present comfort.

The J and J. Lugsdin Bankrupt Fur Stock contained some Capes. These we have determined to clear this season. Note the prices:

Grey Lamb Capes, from $10.90 up
Greenland Seal Capes, from $13 up
Astrachan Capes - - from $5 up
Black Coney Capes, from $6 75 up
Alaska Sable Capes $70, for $45
Persian Lamb Capes $100, for $65

GRACE CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT, LAST EVENING.

The Members of Mr. R. J. Winch's Class had Their Annual tea.

Mr. R. J. Winch's Sunday School class of George street Sunday School has a custom of giving an annual entertainment and tea every year, and the proceeds derived from such a source are donated to some Christian institution, to help it along in its good work.

This year, the entertainment and tea were given in Grace church, and in this case, as in former years, the members "scored another success." After singing two verses of a very familiar hymn, Rev. W. R. Young, the pastor, offered prayer.

Mr. R. J. Winch filled the chair very acceptably. In his address he said he was more than pleased to see so many present. He did not wish to assume any credit for the success of the tea and entertainment. He wanted the members of his class and their friends to take it. The proceeds taken at the door, he stated, amounted to $31.00. It had been suggested by some one in the class to call it a "Souvenir Tea," and Mr. Winch thought it would be a splendid name for it, because the word "souvenir" means something you can take away with you in remembrance of some special thing.

The refreshments were furnished by well-wishers of the class.

Speeches were made during the evening by Mr. D. W. Dumble and Dr. Fife, trustees; and by Rev. Mr. Young and Rev. Mr. Cragg. Some odd reminiscences were recalled by some of the speakers of the time when the George street Methodist church was in its infancy. Rev. E. Cragg gave a very interesting address on "Reminiscences of his early ministerial life." All the speakers and in fact everyone expressed their satisfaction with the new church in every way.

Tea was served until the opening of the programme. The following programme was rendered in an exceptionally pleasant manner:

Vocal duet	The Misses Belleghem
Vocal solo	Miss May Richardson
Recitation	Mrs Wesley
Vocal solo	Mr J Brown
Vocal solo	Mrs Seward
Reading	Miss Syer
Recitation	Mrs Wesley

Another tea will be held in the church this evening.

CANADIAN CATTLE IN ENGLAND.

The Minister of Agriculture Has an Interview With the Colonial Secretary—Dr. Montague's Health Not Good.

London, March 12.—Dr. Montague and Secretary Colmer of the Canadian Office had a long interview with Mr. Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, to-day, in regard to the importation of Canadian cattle into the United Kingdom. The visitors urged upon Mr. Chamberlain their contention that evidence which was now before the Government proved that pleuro-pneumonia was not found among cattle in Canada and had never existed there. The Canadian Government, they represented, were confident of this, and had looked forward to the removal of the restrictions which were now placed upon Canadian cattle.

Canadians were, therefore, greatly surprised at the introduction of a bill in the House of Commons excluding Canadian cattle permanently from the United Kingdom, except for slaughter at the port of landing. Restoration of the free admission of Canadian cattle, the gentlemen informed Mr. Chamberlain, would be in accordance with the spirit of the despatch which Mr. Chamberlain had addressed to the colonies in regard to the development of trade with the Mother Country.

Mr. Chamberlain promised to bring the question to the notice of the Ministers, and said it would receive careful attention.

The health of Dr. Montague is by no means good, and he will start for Edinburgh to-morrow for treatment in a sanitarium there.

Right Hon. Walter Long, president of the Board of Agriculture, in reply to interrogations in the House to-day, said that 72 cases of contagious pleuro-pneumouin had been found in cattle imported from the United States, and 16 imported from Canada, since October, 1892. He had no doubt that the disease was specifically infectious, though the degree of infection was relatively small. Whatever view the Canadian and United States authorities might take, he could only say that it had been conclusively proved here that the disease was infectious.

WERE SLAIN BEFORE THE ALTAR

How Armenian Priests Were Massacred at Corfu—An Open Letter.

London, March 12.—The Daily News will to-morrow say that some days before the massacre at Corfu, the Armenians were warned that it was impending, but the officials prevented them from leaving the town. During the suspense the Gregorian clergy compiled a letter, which they sent secretly to Aintab, whence it was forwarded to Europe. The Archpriest Stephen and four other priests were subsequently slain before the altar, while celebrating the Eucharist. The letter contains messages to the Sultan and to the Gregorians Moslem, fellow-countrymen, and reproaches their European brethren for standing by watching the bloody work. It also contains the following: To the Christians of the United States of America, we say farewell. We have been strenuously opposed to your mission work among us, but these bloody days have shown that some of our Protestant brethren have been staunch defenders of our honor and faith. You at least know that our crime in the eyes of the Turk has been that we adopted the civilization you commended to us. Behold now the missions and schools which you planted among us at the cost of many millions of dollars and hundreds of precious lives. They are in ruins, and the Turk is planning to rid himself of the missionaries and teachers by leaving them nobody among whom to labor.

CUBANS AS BELLIGERENTS.

Mr. Hill Attacks the Conference Report in the U.S. Senate.

Washington, March 12.—The conference report on the Cuban belligerency resolution was again up in the Senate to-day, and two speeches were made on it. The first was by Mr. Hill (Dem., N.Y.), announcing his purpose of voting against the conference report, and stating the reasons which induced him to take that position after having voted for the resolution that passed the Senate. His opposition was to the leading clause of the conference report, which proclaims the purpose of the United States to be prepared to intervene or to protect the legitimate interests of the United States. He opposed that resolution as being liable to misinterpretation and being unnecessary, and, therefore, unwise. He thought it was too much like a threat, too much like buncombe, and that it was putting intervention on too low a ground. He could not vote for it; and, as a conference report is not amendable, he would have to vote against the report.

The action of the Committee on Foreign Relations and of the Senate conference was defended by Mr. Sherman; and then the matter went over till to-morrow, Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.), having the floor.

Attacking the British Case.

London, March 12.—The Chronicle will to-morrow publish the last of its series of articles attacking the British case in the Venezuelan dispute. In instancing the inaccuracy of the blue-book, it says that if the object has been to prove the justice of Lord Salisbury's refusal to arbitrate the compilation, has doubtless fully answered its purpose, but such distortion of evidence as had been pointed out in the articles, is utterly unworthy of the occasion or the subject.

The Time for Building

Up the system is at this season. The cold weather has made unusual drains upon the vital forces. The blood has become impoverished and impure, and all the functions of the body suffer in consequence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great builder, because it is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

Hood's Pills become the favourite cathartic with all who use them. All druggists. 25 cents.

HER LIFE INSURED.

Was Monetary Gain the Motive for Murder?

THERE WAS A POLICY FOR $3000

And it Was Made Payable on the Death of Kate James (or Tough) to William Thomas James (or Hammond) Her Husband—A Startling Development.

Toronto, March 12.

The developments of yesterday in connection with the Hammond-Tough poisoning case give a new and more terrible aspect to the tragedy that has during the past few days so excited the quiet town of Gravenhurst, and which has aroused an interest hardly less deep in this city. From facts which came to light yesterday, it looks as if there is in prospect another sensational murder case of the stamp of those in which the prisoners were the Hyams brothers, the Hendershotts, the infamous Holmes, and Mrs. Hartley; trials in which the motive urged for the crime alleged was the desire to secure insurance money which had been placed on the supposed victims.

If it was indeed from the hand of William Hammond that his unfortunate young wife received the vial of deadly poison which is said to have been the cause of her death, and on this point no opinion can be expressed at present, then the developments of yesterday show a motive for the deed of a very strong and tangible character.

The deceased had, hardly a month before her death, taken out a policy for $3000 in the Provincial Provident Institution of St. Thomas and made it payable to her husband. There is also evidence in the girl's own handwriting that while in Buffalo at the time of their marriage, an insurance policy had been placed on Mrs. Hamond's life. The theory of the prosecution will now be that Hamond had been deliberately planning the murder of his wife, even from the time of his marriage, in order that he might secure the insurance money.

At the time Kate Tough made application for the insurance she was a domestic in the employ of Mr. T. B. Lee, 459 Bathurst-street.

It was about the end of December last that Kate Tough entered the office of the company and inquired of Mr. Ambrust regarding rates of insurance. She gave the name of Katherine Elizabeth James, and explained that her husband wanted her to make enquiries as to the cost of insurance in that company. When Mr. Armbrust had given her the required information she stated that she had not the money then, but that her husband was to get it, as he was expecting some money, and when it came she would call in again. On January 9 last the so-called Mrs. James again entered the office and told Mr. Armbrust that she had concluded to take out the insurance. She wanted a policy for $3000, and desired it made payable to her husband, Mr. William Thomas James.

The policy was in due time taken out in favor of her husband.

PREMIER GREENWAY'S TELEGRAM.

An Important Sentence Not Read by Sir Charles in the House.

Winnipeg, March 12.—(Special.)—When the Legislature met to-day, Mr. Greenway arose and said he had noticed from the despatches from Ottawa a few days ago that Sir Charles Tupper, leader of the House of Commons, had read a telegram sent by him—Hon. Mr. Greenway—to Sir Donald A. Smith. He had no means of knowing whether the published despatches were correct, but he would read the telegram which he had sent. After reading the telegram, he pointed out that the following very important sentence had not been read on the floor of the House of Commons: "As you are aware, we are not to blame for the present situation."

Weak Lungs.

Emaciation, weakness, and that fatal disposition to take cold easy, thus adding little by little to the strain upon the already overburdened body. How many afflicted are trusting to cough mixtures, mustard and poultices for safety? Fatal error. Not by these, but by adding to the nutritive power of the body and the increased strength and vitality which increased nutrition affords, can you hope to obtain relief. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites combines the excellencies of a medicine, a food, and a digestive agency of unexampled power. The full remedial value of the cod liver oil, rendered palatable and of easy digestion, is combined with the nutritive values of wheat, oats and barley. This in itself would render Maltine and Cod Liver Oil of greater value than any emulsion. But it possesses a further quality of inestimable value in its property of increasing the solubility of fat-forming, heat-producing, starchy foods, just the elements required for the upbuilding of the emaciated.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc.; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line:—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

BAD FOR HAMMOND.

Two Policies for $5000 Found in Kate Tough's Trunk,

WHICH WOULD ENRICH PRISONER

An Attempt Was Also Made to Get Another Policy of Insurance on the Unfortunate Girl's Life in Buffalo—Being Mysterious it Was Declined.

Toronto, March 14.

When William Thomas James Hammond appears before Police Magistrate Henry Castle and Mayor McNeill in the Gravenhurst Police Court next Wednesday, to answer the charge of having murdered his wife, Katherine Elizabeth Tough, he will be confronted with a mass of circumstantial evidence that has a strong tendency to confirm the suspicion that the young woman came to her death by poison administered to her by her husband, the motive being to gain the proceeds of several policies of insurance on her life, the prisoner being the beneficiary.

It is now beyond doubt that the deceased carried a considerable amount of insurance, all of which was taken in the name of "James," and in case of death would revert to her husband.

Some faur weeks ago deceased took out a policy for $3000 in the Provincial Provident Institution of St. Thomas. She had also recently taken out a policy for $2000 in the Metropolitan of New York.

Chief of Police Archie Sloan came to Toronto on Thursday and Inspector Stark detailed Detective Burrows to help him in the case.

From papers found in Hammond's possession at the time of his arrest, the detectives rightly surmised that the dead girl was insured, and after some difficulty they confirmed this fact by visiting the insurance offices.

The detectives then went to Hammond's late boarding house, 35 Beverley-street, where they hoped to find a trunk belonging to Hammond, but were disappointed to learn from Mrs.

KATE TOUGH-HAMMOND.

Bryan that Ephraim Hammond, father of the prisoner, had called on the previous evening and taken the trunk away, saying it was to be sent to Gravenhurst. Sloan and Burrows then went to the Union Station and discovered that the trunk had been held over till the morning train. A message was sent to Gravenhurst to have it impounded on its arrival, but the trunk never reached there. It appears that for some reason Mr. Hammond, sr., and a private detective who was working with him, had gone to the Union Station and stated to the authorities there that the trunk had been sent to Gravenhurst by mistake, and asking that a wire be sent up the line to have it returned as soon as possible to the city.

Detective Burrows got on to this move, and learning that it had been transferred to a crossing train at Allandale, watched for the incoming train. When the train arrived old Mr. Hammond had a private detective named Ellsworth anxiously looked for the precious box. They had secured it when Detective Burrows went up and took possession of it in the name of the Crown.

The trunk was taken to detective headquarters, where it remained over night and was opened yesterday morning. To the surprise of the detectives it turned out to be the trunk belonging to deceased, as it contained a quantity of woman's clothing, but also a number of shirts and other things belongnig evidently to Hammond. There were numerous trinkets, but the important find consisted of the two insurance policies in the Provident and Metropolitan, a number of letters and a marriage certificate.

Among the letters were several from deceased to Hammond, one of which was dated Nov. 29, 1895, and would lead to the belief that policies had been taken out, or that applications had been made by deceased for insurance in the Equitable and New York Life companies. The letter was written by deceased at Buffalo to the prisoner, who was then in New York.

The wedding of Katie Tough to William Thomas James was shown by the marriage certificate to have been solemnized by the Rev. Edward Whitman, a Baptist minister, at Buffalo, on Nov. 19, 1895.

One of the letters that were found in the trunk was from Hammond to his wife, which would lead to the inference that he was hard up and expected to get money from his wife.

Another letter was written by Mrs. Hammond from Gravenhurst after her return home. She asked for her trunk, which was in the city, and said that her parents upbraided her for being so much away from home. Her parents argued from the fact that she had not her trunk that she had been out of employment and that her trunk had been retained for her board. She said that she had told lies to conceal the real state of affairs from her people. She begged him to write to her as she had written four times and received no answer. That letter was dated Feb. 24 of this year.

It was on Jan. 9 that Mrs. James, as she was called, went to Mr. Armbrust of the Provincial Provident Institution and stated that she wanted a policy for $3000 payable to her husband, Wm. Thomas James. She was examined by Dr. R. D. Moffatt, 311 Parliament-street, and accepted as a good risk. The result of the examination was sent to the head office of the company at St. Thomas along with the form in which the applicant for insurance gives the names of two references and also of the family doctor. One of the references given by the girl was the name of Mrs. J. T. B. Lee of 459 Bathurst-street, where Kate Tough was employed as a domestic at the time. The company sent on a list of questions to Mrs. Lee regarding the girl, and, the answers being satisfactory, the policy was made out payable to Wm. Thos. James, and mailed to the girl at 459 Bathurst-street. Kate Tough in the meantime had paid $13 entrance fee and $9, the first year's premium, to the company.

"I remember the examination very well," said Dr. Moffatt. "She was a perfectly healthy girl, and I considered her an exceptionally good insurance risk. I think she said that her husband was a lawyer residing on Bathurst-street, and I thought nothing of her desiring to insure her life in his favor, as this is very frequently done." Mr. Armbrust was of the same opinion. He said he did not see the man James at all during the proceedings. The girl transacted all the business herself.

On Jan. 13 last a few days after she had been in the Provincial Provident to apply for insurance, Kate Tough wrote to Mr. Armbrust in relation to another policy taken out on her life. The letter stated that while on "the other side" her husband had placed some insurance on her life, but she wanted her husband to have it cancelled, as it had been obtained under false pretences. Her husband, she said in her letter, had promised to do this, but had been busy and had not had the time. What she wanted to know was did this first policy make any difference with respect to the policy she had applied to the Provincial Provident for? Mr. Armbrust replied that having another policy on her life made no difference. The girl did not state in the letter the amount of the first policy, the company, the name it had been taken out in, or where it had been taken out. The policy to which she referred was the Metropolitan.

In June, last year, Miss Tough entered the service of Mr. McKellar, 195 Bathurst-street, giving her proper name. She was there several months, and was much liked. Hammond often called on her there. The girl left on Nov. 13, presumably the date she went to Buffalo with Hammond.

About 5 o'clock last night Chief Sloan called at the Detective Department for the trunk, in which the evidence was found that shows the motive for a crime, if there was a crime. Chief Sloan shouldered the box and took it downstairs, where he hoisted it on to the front of Pat Sullivan's hack. A World reporter accompanied the chief on the drive to the Union Station to catch the 5.15 train for Gravenhurst. At the station the baggageman remarked, "Didn't I check this trunk yesterday."

"You did," replied the chief, "but it will get to its destination this time."

The chief stated he believed Hammond had no trunk, and Detective Burrows is of the same opinion. Therefore, no further search will be made in that connection.

"How was the prisoner taking his position when you left Gravenhurst?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, he feels it keenly," replied Chief Sloan.

"If he is guilty, do you think he will confess when he sees what evidence you already have against him?"

"I almost believe he will," replied the chief, who was exultant over the outcome of his few hours' work in the city.

The stomach of the deceased girl will be brought to the city at once and examined by the Provincial Analyst.

WAS AFTER ANOTHER $5000.

Application Was Made to the Equitable at Buffalo But Declined.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 13.—To The World: Mrs. James called at my office and applied for $5000 insurance payable to her husband who she stated was a law student that she had recently married, that they expected to go on to New York in the course of two weeks where he would complete his studies and go into business. The following day she passed a good medical examination, paid the first quarterly premium in advance. Soon after the receipt of the papers at the home office (New York) the medical department wrote stating they could not find such parties at the residence given in the application in Toronto. At my request Mrs. James called at the office and informed me that her maiden name was Kate Tough and that they had been under the assumed name of Hammond at their boarding house. I communicated the information obtained to our medical department stating that there was beyond question a mystery about the case I could not solve and no doubt something wrong somewhere, although Mrs. James appeared ladylike and all right. She left her address and went on to New York. When her case was declined I wrote her to that effect and returned her the money she had paid. (Signed) A. F. Aird, manager, Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Buffalo, N.Y., March 13.—There is considerable interest manifested here in the Gravenhurst poisoning case. Katie Tough and Wm. K. Hammond were married in Buffalo on Nov. 19, 1895, and it was reported that her husband took out a policy on the life of his wife in the Metropolitan Insurance Company. Hammond assumed the name of William Thomas James.

The record of the Bureau of Vital Statistics shows that Wm. Thomas James of Toronto, Ont., aged 22, a law student by occupation, whose father's name was Ephraim and whose mother's name was Sarah West, was married to Catherine E. Tough of Toronto, Ont., aged 25, whose father's name was William and whose mother's name was Elizabeth McNabb. This marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Whitman, the pastor of the Cedar-street Baptist Church.

HAMMOND IS INDIFFERENT.

He Will Not Likely Say Another Word Incriminating Himself.

Gravenhurst, March 13.—(Special)—The despatch from Toronto that Hammond will break down and give away the whole story is not credited here.

He is not at all likely to say another word incriminating himself. His bearing is one of indifference or bravado, and at times he exhibits a jocularity which ill becomes the tight place he is in.

Hammond spent the evening of Tuesday at his parents' house, in the custody of Constable Wm. Sloan. On starting for the train he jokingly remarked to his custodian: "How are you on a foot race?" To the jailer at Bracebridge he remarked: "Don't call me too early for breakfast, as I have been knocked around a lot to-day."

LOCAL LEGAL.

The Globe contains the following reference to a case of local interest:

Henderson v. Henderson.—Watson Q. C., and L. M. Hayes (Peterborough), for plaintiffs, appealed from order of a Divisional Court (27 O. R. 93), reversing judgment on street J., in favour of plaintiffs for recovery of land in question without costs, and dismissing claim of defendant for specific performance without costs. The action is one of ejectment by executors of David Henderson, to recover posession of the west half of lot 13 in the 9th concession of the township of Otonabee. The defendant, who is in possession, claimed the land under the will of her husband, Robert Henderson, son of the testator, who took possession of the farm in 1881, on the understanding that he would work it and contribute such sum as could be spared, after making his living, to pay on the mortgage made by the testator, and when it was satisfied he was to pay an annuity to his father and mother, and on the father's death was to have the farm. The son paid the mortgage, and died in 1892, and by his will devised the land to the defendant and his child. The defendant asked for specific performance of the agreement between the father and son, under which the latter took possession. The Divisional Court held that the son had before his death acquired title by possession. E. B. Edwards (Peterborough) for defendant, opposed the appeal. Reserved.

SPECIAL COTTON DYES.

Beautiful and Brilliant Colours in Diamond Dyes that Will Not Fade—Made Specially for Cotton and Mixed Goods—Simple and Easy to Use—Absolutely Fast—Best in the World.

Cotton is a vegetable product, while wool comes from an animal, and hence the two are so different that it requires a different kind of dye for each.

The special cotton colours of Diamond Dyes, such as Turkey Red, Brown, Pink, Purple, Yellow, Orange, and a half dozen others, are prepared specially for cotton goods, and give colours that even washing in strong soapsuds and exposure to the sunlight will not fade.

Do not risk your goods with the common and worthless dyes that some storekeepers sell. These crude dyes ruin your goods and cause a vast amount of annoyance. Ask for the "Diamond," use them according to directions, and you will dye successfully.

Years of Suffering From Rheumatism Relieved by one Dose of Medicine.

"For many years," writes Mrs. N. Ferris, wife of the well known Birch manufacturer, of Highgate, Ont., "I was sorely afflicted with rheumatic pains in my ankles, and at times was almost disabled. I tried everything, as I thought, and doctored for years, without much benefit. Though I had lost confidence in medicines I was induced to use South American Rheumatic Cure. To my delight the first dose gave me more relief than I have had in years, and two bottles have completely cured me. You can publish this letter." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1896.

THE Government "majority" in the Dominion Parliament is an exceedingly uncertain quantity. The result of a call for support by the government would be about as problematical as the result of a horse race, whose contingent character Sir John Macdonald was fond of citing.

THE papers are discussing the question, of mutes being responsible in law. If they are not, then we havn't got responsible government at Ottawa; the government's majority is composed of mutes, for only two of the cabinet supporters have spoken in favour of the Remedial Bill.

THE Ottawa Citizen, referring to Major Mulvey's threats in the Manitoba legislature in case any attempts were made to enforce the coercion bill, says, "Mulvey's seditious language is a striking illustration of the loyalty of many Liberal politicians to the Dominion." The funny part of it is that Major Mulvey is a Tory, and a past president of the Conservative association of Manitoba.

THE Toronto World (Conservative) takes the sensible view that the bonus system is a failure. The bonus must be paid, a fact the promoters of such fiscal operations seem never to realize. If an enterprise needs a bonus it is proof that its returns will not repay its expenses. The bonus does not make it profitable, but diffuses the loss among profitable enterprises. It would be better not to create the loss. Some day, says the Globe, our contemporary will see that the same is true when the factory owner does his own taxing and bonusing by the aid of trade restrictions.

IN Toronto Australian canned mutton in three-pound tins is offered for sale at 25 cents. As the tinned meat is boneless this is about as good as the local butchers can do in the way of Canadian mutton. The farmer taxed himself to help subsidize a steamship line to Australia, and lo! his reward comes in the conveyance by this line of Antipodean mutton, which decreases the demand for his own sheep and consequently decreases the price. It's great statesmanship to tax farmers to subsidize steamers to bring mutton to Canada to compete against Canadian sheep. Of course the farmer may be too obtuse to see where the benefit comes in, but pshaw, that's nothing, the Government has been asking the taxpayer for seventeen years to shut his eyes and open his mouth and swallow the dose.

CAME HOME A CLIPPLE.

THE SWORN STATEMENT OF A "BIG FOUR" RAILWAY MAN.

After Trying Mud Baths and Mineral Springs Unsuccessfully, He Gained Twenty-five Pounds in Six Months After Taking "Kootenay."

County of Wentworth, to Wit.

I, Thomas Warren, of the City of Hamilton, County of Wentworth, Province of Ontario, residence 134 Strachan street, a machinist, do solemnly declare that in January, 1895, I was attacked with Rheumatism, which in a week after confined me to my bed. I was compelled to give up work in the shops of the "Big Four R. R." For three months I was confined to the house and treated by three different physicians of Champaighane, Ill. I also tried the mineral springs at Attica, Indiana, taking the mud baths under the supervision of a physician. The benefit was so slight that I came home a cripple.

On my return I commenced taking "Ryckman's Kootenay Cure," on the recommendation of Mr. John Watt, 154 West avenue north, and soon noticed an improvement. I have now taken four bottles of the medicine and with the exception of a slight soreness in my ankles, feel that I am cured. In six months I have gained twenty-five pounds and am now thoroughly fit for work and consider myself greatly benefitted in every way by the use of the remedy.

And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true, and knowing that is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canadian Evidence Act.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION WAS IN SESSION.

The Village of Hastings Invaded by Scores of Delegates—The Presentation of Reports and Election of Officers.

The annual county convention of the Peterborough Sunday school Association met on Wednesday last in the village of Hastings for the first session of its yearly deliberations with a large attendance of members present.

The opening devotional services were led by Rev. J. A. Jewell, B.A., after which reports were read by the presidents and secretarys of the respective township organizations. An interesting discussion, presided over by Mr. E. Hawthorne, then took place on the condition of the Township Associations, with a view to their improvement.

Rev. J. Macfarlane, of Warkworth, afterwards led a discussion on "Improvement in Teacher Training."

The committee appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year then presented their report as appended. It was adopted.

President—Edw. Hawthorne, Warsaw.

First Vice-President—Rev. R. H. McGinnis, Hastings.

Second Vice-Presidents—All co-operating ministers.

Corresponding Secretary—W. T. Harrison, Keene.

Treasurer—S. R. Armstrong, Peterborough.

Statistical Secretary—Dr. Scott, Peterborough.

Minute Secretary—Miss Pettigrew, Norwood.

Supt. Primary Work—Miss Linda Kennedy, Peterborough.

Assistant Supt. Primary Work—Miss Jessie Wilson, Hastings.

Supt. Normal Work—W. T. Harrison, Keene.

Representative to Provincial Executive—Mrs. J. Kendry, Peterborough.

Local Executive Council—Sheriff Hall, J. Jeffries, B. A., and Mrs. J. Kendry, Peterborough; A. R. Anderson, W. E. Roxburgh and J. G. Keefer, Norwood; T. H. Benson, Lakefield; W. Matheson and Mrs. Vance, Havelock; Miss Fowlds and D. F. Doxsee, Hastings; Miss Bennett and John Lancaster, Otonabee; W. Thistlewaite, Asphodel; A. Watts, Dummer; J. Succee, South Smith; Mrs. Manning and J. W. Roberts, North Smith; David Weir, Harvey; J. L. Aunger, Blairton; also all presidents of township associations.

THE WEDNESDAY EVENING SESSION

was opened by a service of song and prayer held by Rev. R. H. McGinnis of Hastings, after which the delegates to the convention were welcomed to Hastings in a most cordial address by Rev. D. A. Thompson. The reply on behalf of the delegates was made by Mr. Stuart Payne, President of the Dummer Township Association.

The reports of the treasurer and corresponding secretary were then read and proved most satisfactory. The session was closed by a service conducted by Rev. J. Macfarlane.

ON THURSDAY MORNING

the convention was opened with a song and prayer service led by Rev. D. A. Thompson. At seven o'clock an adjournment was then made for breakfast, and at 9:30 the delegates again reassembled, when devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. A. Jewell.

The place for the next annual meeting was left to the Executive Committee to decide.

During the morning resolutions of thanks were passed to the citizens of Hastings, the pastor and officers of the church, and others who had contributed to the comfort of the delegates and the furtherance of the objects of the convention during the dresent session in the village.

Mr. M. A. Morrison, D. D., of Peterborough, was on the programme for an address on "Systematic Visiting Necessary." As he was unable to be present, his paper was read. It proved most interesting, as well as instructive, and was given under the two headings:

(1) Of scholars.

(2) Of schools in Township Associations.

The subject was continued by Mr. J. Lancaster, of Westwood, whose paper was entitled "How to do and Why." A few more hints on the subject were contained in Dr. Harrison's address on "A County Visiting Day."

Mr. T. Benson, Lakefield, then spoke on the requirements for a good township secretary, and how the work should be done. A conference on this subject was led by Miss Laura Bennett, of Otonabee.

AT THE AFTERNOON SESSION

Dr. Harrison, of Keene, spoke on "The Laws of Teaching," after which Rev. D. A. Thompson taught the lesson for the following Sunday to a specimen adult class of ten.

Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Smith, then spoke on "The interval between the Old and New Testament," being a normal lesson, after which Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, of Peterborough, led in a conference on "The art of using illustrations in primary classes for village and rural schools."

The last session of the convention on Thursday evening was opened by Rev. J. McCamus and the introduction of the new officers then took place.

Addresses, Evangelistic, were then heard on the following subjects:

1. The Ways of Wisdom—By Rev. J. A. McCamus.
2. Christianity Applied to Every-day Life—By Rev. Sommerville.
3. How to Attain Christian Development—Rev. R. H. McGinnis.
4. We are Brethren Christian Unity)—D. A. Thompson.

These addresses brought the convention to a close after a most profitable meeting.

HEART TROUBLE RELIEVED IN 30 MINUTES.

Wonderful Results Follow the Use of Dr. Agnew's Cure For the Heart.

The good that Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart has done finds a ringing echo in the hearts of thousands in Canada who have used this medicine. There are some diseases where prompt action is not absolutely necessary to avert quick disaster. This is not the case with heart affection of any kind. Whether this be chronic or sympathetic, or partakes of a more startling character, he is a foolish one who will hesitate to apply an immediate remedy.

This remedy will never fail to relieve in 30 minutes, no matter how long standing or distressing the trouble may be. If you have heart disease and wish to live, you have only to use this great cure. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

CANADA'S RESOURCES.

An Interesting Lecture by Mr. C. C James—The Chief Features and Natural Products of the Country Ably Detailed.

Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, delivered a very able and interesting lecture on "Canada's Resources', before a large audience at the parlours of the Young Men's Christian Association, Toronto, Thursday night. He began by treating his subject in an historical manner, and showing how the boundary lines had been finally settled. In this connection he spoke at length on the conquest of Canada by Great Britain, the Ashburton, Washington and Oregon treaties, and outlined the present Alaskan dispute. The extent and area of the country was next spoken of, and compared with the areas of other countries. It was pointed out that excepting Alaska, Canada was a little larger than the United States, and was equal to one-third of the British Empire, and one-tenth of all Europe. The physical geography of Canada might be divided into four systems: the St. Lawrence, Hudson, Arctic and Northwest, and the Pacific slope. To these should be added the Maritime Provinces, which are "down by the sea." The natural products of the county were placed under five heads, on each of which Mr. James spoke at length. The oldest was the fisheries, which might be sub-divided into those of the Atlantic coast, the inland lakes and the Pacific coast. They were without doubt the most extensive in the world, both from the standpoint of variety and total quantity and value. Speaking of the fur products, Mr. James showed wherein they had played an important part in the history of this country in influencing the relations between the French and English. Canada was one of the first countries in the world, so far as the exports in the products of the forest are concerned. In almost all parts mineral products were to be found, the extent and relative importance of which were clearly described. The lecture closed with an interesting review of the agricultural resources of the country, in speaking of which special attention was given to the causes and effects of climatic changes and their influence on the products of the soil. During the course of his lecture Mr. James illustrated his remarks by means of a large map. He also gave a great deal of valuable statistical information and many important references.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

THE SPRING-SINGING OF POETS

Cannot Bring Relief to Rheumatic Sufferers.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND THE ONLY BANISHER OF THE TERRIBLE DISEASE.

J. E. BATES.

As the bright and joyous spring season comes to gladden all people, and remind them that nature will soon put on a new garb, we would call the attention of all rheumatic sufferers to the fact that to be happy, they must banish the misery which now makes life a burden.

Do not carry your awful burden into the summer season. Now is the time to banish the deep-seated seeds of the disease. Make your blood pure and fresh; have it circulate freely throughout your entire body. Give the nerves, tissues and muscles new strength and power.

All this can be done by an immdiate use of Paine's Celery Compound, nature's true health restorer. The records of Paine's Celery Compound form a grand list of victories over disease. Thousands of rheumatic sufferers have been cured, scores of them made well and strong after physicians had given them up as incurable.

Mr. J. E. Bates, of St. John's Newfoundland, tells how Paine's Celery Compound cured his rheumatism; he says:

"Having been for a long time a sufferer from Rheumatism, and having tried the skill of local and other do tors, but all to avail, I was induced by a friend to try a bottle or two of your Paine's Celery Compound, and before I was finished with the second, I felt relief, and have since been able to knock about without any ill effects of my old complaint; indeed, I feel myself a new man. I enclose my photo, and you are at liberty to use it with my testimonial for your life and health-giving Compound."

IN THE LOCAL HOUSE.

Happenings in the Provincial Legislature on Friday.

Toronto, March 14.—The session at the Local Legislature yesterday was devoted entirely to routine business. The debate upon Mr. Marter's liquor license amendment will not be resumed until Tuesday next. It is thought the Government will have its old majority upon this question, since many of the Patrons have declared they will not follow their leader, who has intimated he will vote with the Opposition.

Mr. Harty's bill respecting the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation was read a third time, as was Mr. Middleton's respecting St. Thomas' English Church, Hamilton.

These bills were read a second time: Respecting mills and millidams. It provides for a reduction in width of dams on the Otonabee River—Mr. Stratton.

To amend the Ditches and Watercourses Act—Mr. Kidd.

To amend the Registry Act—Mr. O'Keefe. It provides for the closing of all registry offices at 1 o'clock Saturday.

To amend the Municipal Act—Mr. Carrow.

Respecting the Assessment of Real Property of Incorporated companies—Mr. Garrow.

To amend the Drainage Act—Mr. Marter.

To amend tht Act to Incorporate the Pembroke Southern Railway Co.—Mr. Barr.

To amend the Act to Incorporate the Grand Valley Railway Co.—Mr. Robertson.

The bill respecting the Hamilton Gas Light Co. was before the Private Bills Committee. By this bill it is sought to repeal a perpetual charter granted the gas company in 1890. Mr. S. H. Blake, Q.C., Mayor Tuckett and several members of the Hamilton Council were present in support of the bill. Mr. Edward Martin, Q.C., appeared for the company. It was contended that the perpetual charter was obtained unknown to the city. Mr. Martin produced some evidence to show that the council had been notified in the usual way. Mr. Martin also pointed out that since March, 1895, nearly 600 shares had been sold on the understanding that the charter was perpetual. Mr. B. B. Osler, Q.C., appeared on behalf of some of the stockholders. He argued that if the charter was repealed their stock, which was now yielding six per cent., would not be worth 50 cents on the dollar. After a good deal of discussion and the consideration of several suggestions, the committee adjourned to meet again on Tuesday, not having decided on any course of action.

Hon. A. S. Hardy was re-elected chairman of the Municipal Committee yesterday morning. The following bills were reported: Mr. Cleland, extending to towns the privileges now enjoyed by cities of referring small arbitrations to County Judges. Mr [illegible]apple, to provide for the collection of taxes and costs in disputed line fence cases.

The following fixtures were arranged for next week: Thursday, Mr. Hardy's bill respecting City Councils; Wednesday, Messrs. Magwood's and Meacham bills amending the Ditches and Watercourses Act; and Messrs. Flatt's and Haycock's bills re Markets and Market Fees. Thursday, bills respecting the Assessment Act.

Mr. Hardy made the statement before the Government House Committee yesterday that the cost of Government House, exclusive of salaries, up till the end of 1895, was $405,813.77. Sir William Howland, ex-Lieutenant-Governor, appeared before the committee, and was examined by Sir Oliver Mowat. In answer to questions, Sir William said that the representative of the province should be in a position to properly receive and entertain people of importance who visit the city. He had entertained some rather important people in his own time, including Lord Lisgar, the Prince of Wales and a brother of the Czar of Russia. He also said that the average cost was $160,000 more than the Government allowance. "Was it worth while going to the expense," asked Sir Oliver; "was the public good commensurate with the cost?" "I think," replied Sir William, "there was compensation to the country for it." He added that there were many occasions when smaller premises would not meet the requirements of the guests. The committee meets again on Friday.

With reference to the lumber trade, the report says: "The markets have become enormously overstocked with inferior grades of lumber, and it is this which has caused the present unfavorable condition of the trade. The circumstances which have led to this plethora of coarse, rough lumber are easily understood, and some of them may be noted. First, the removal of the duty on Canadian lumber passing into the U.S. enabled the coarse Canadian lumber to get into that market, and thus stimulated cutting closer, the consequence of which was that a largely increased percentage of course logs was taken out. Secondly, the prices which have recently been paid for limits have rendered it necessary, if a profit was to be obtained, that every log which could be got out with any expectation of a return should be cut and taken to the mills. Thirdly, during the summer of 1894 disastrous bush fires occurred in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and enormous quantities of pine timber were so badly scorched that in order to realize anything from it the timber had to be cut last winter. Accordingly, the western market, which in an ordinary year consumes a very large percentage of the cut of the Northwestern States, was flooded with course lumber of an inferior quality, largely in excess of what it could use as its normal supply. The consequence was that this course lumber overflowed in large quantities into the markets of the Eastern and Middle States, overstocking and demoralizing them, until coarse lumber was a drug everywhere and prices broke. Fourthly, large quantities of southern pine are being cut each year, and it is finding a market further and further north, until now it is actually competing with Ontario coarse lumber in the United States as far north as the south shore of Lake Ontario."

HORSE RACING BILL

Passes Its Third Reading in the Commons.

ALL CLUBS MAY BE REPRESENTED

On the Canadian Jockey Club Committee—The Immigration Delegation Talks to the Government—A suit Against the Member for Algoma for $33,400.

Ottawa, March 13.—(Special.)—The Canadian Jockey Club Bill passed the Commons to-night. A new clause providing for the constitution of a club committee was presented by Col. Tisdale, which he said had been agreed upon by all parties interested, by proposed incorporators, by Messrs. Seagram and Pringle, representing certain objectors, by the Horse Breeders' Association and others; The new clause provides that any club can affiliate by giving notice in writing. While the original club will have 12 members on the club committee, every club that applies for affiliation can have a representative on such committee, to be elected in such manner as the club sending him sees fit. The last Wednesday in May is fixed as the date of the annual meeting of the club. A club once expelled can only be reinstated by a three-fourths vote of the committee. The Minister of Justice submitted a clause at the request of the Ontario Government, providing that any provincial constable or peace officer may enter upon the grounds or buildings of any club controlled by the Jockey Club. Col. Tisdale said he was glad to incorporate the clause in the bill. The bill was then reported.

Th western immigration deputation had an interview with Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Daly this morning. They preferred their request for the adoption of an immigration board and the appointment of an immigration commission.

The Premier informed them that it was not likely the Government would abdicate its functions to an irresponsible body, but the request of the deputation would be carefully considered.

The report of A. W. Wright, the commissioner appointed to investigate the alleged prevalence of the sweating system in the different cities of Canada was presented to Parliament this afternoon. The Commissioner, while not discovering the actual prevalence of sweating, still represents that there are abuses existing in some cities. He strongly favors the adoption of a system of licensing all shops and places in which goods are manufactured for sale. The objects he hopes to gain by this are better sanitary conditions, more efficient inspection and protection against the spreading of infectious disease. He also favors the adoption of a system of labelling or tagging all goods that may be made in tenement houses.

A writ was issued in the High Court here to-day claiming from G. H. Macdonell, M.P. for Algoma, the sum of $33,400. The plaintiff, Terence McGuire, claims the penalties under the revised statutes of 1886 for that the defendant, being a person disqualified to sit or vote in the House of Commons of Canada, did nevertheless on various days during 1895 and 1896 sit or vote in the House and did thereby become liable to forfeit and pay to the plaintiff the sum of $200 for each and every day on which defendant so sat or voted. The following are the particulars:

1895—Penalty from 18th April to July 22 inclusive, 96 days at $200 per day, $19,200.

1896—Penalty from Jan. 2 to March 13 inclusive, $200 per day, $14,200; total $33,400.

A TORONTO LADY

GETS A CHRISTMAS BOX WHICH SHE PRIZES HIGHLY.

In tracing up some of Santa Claus' good deeds this year, a lady gives us the following account of her Christmas box. The lady's name is Mrs. H. G. Ferguson, and she resides at 211 Church st. Mrs. Ferguson began as follows:—

"I have for years been a great sufferer with kidney complaint, severe pain under shoulders and across back, and latterly so weak that I could not walk out or do housework. Seven years ago the doctor told me I had Bright's Disease. A number of physicians told me I was past help; one of them said I could not live a month. I have taken a great deal of medicine, but without relief, and had given up hope; in fact, told my son that I did not expect to live until spring. My son saw the advertisement of the Doan Kidney Pill Co., Dec. 3rd, and told me. I asked him to get a box and I would try them, although I had but little faith in them, because all other remedies had failed, and as a result I had given up hope. He got one box of pills at J. R. Lee's drug store and I commenced taking them. The result has been marvellous. After taking them once I experienced relief, and after taking them three times the change for the better was marked. I have only taken one box of pills, but I feel like a new woman. The pain and other symptoms of the dreadful disease are gone. I am stronger and better than I have been in many years. I am now able to do my housework and walk out without suffering any inconvenience. That box of Doan's Kidney Pills was indeed a grand Christmas box for me. I am glad to let everyone know about this wonderful cure, in the hope that some one who has suffered as I have may try the remedy and be benefited as I have been."

No remedy cures coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, etc., so well as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It heals, soothes and strengthens the lungs and throat.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says, "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'saved my life,' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used. For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excells. Price 75 cts. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George street.

The Misses Grundy's New Building.

The handsome new red brick building erected by the Misses Grundy on the corner of Water and McDonnel streets, makes quite an attractive appearance in this neighbourhood. The design is new, having been conveniently laid out for a corner store and dwelling by the Misses Grundy themselves. It is needless to say that Peterborough's largest manufacturing establishment was alternately wondered at and admired and the brethren came away loud in their praises of the kindness of the management in allowing them to go over the works and even more for the great consideration shown them by Mr. Mallett, the Superintendent.

COURT MARMION'S CONCERT.

The Local Lodge of the Junior A. O. F. Entertain Their Friends.

Last evening Court Marmion, No. 29, A. O. F., held its annual "At Home" in Unity hall. His Worship Mayor Yelland acted as chairman. In his address he said he was glad to see so many young people, members of the Juvenile Branch of Foresters. He was sorry he had not joined the order when young himself. He remembered when organization first took place in Peterborough and realized he had let a good opportunity slip by without notice until too late. He thought the A. O. F. was one of the best orders to which any one could belong. It helped to educate those who needed it most. In conclusion, he advised all to join the order.

The following is the programme which was presented:

CANADIAN FORESTERS.

The Insurance Surplus Funds Amount to $455,364.83.

Mr. F. J. Jameson, a member of the Executive Committee of the High Court Canadian Order of Foresters, has returned from a meeting of the committee, which was held this week in Brantford. The accumulated surplus of insurance funds now amounts to nearly half a million ($455,364.83), and is continually increasing. The current receipts on insurance account have always been more than sufficient to meet all death claims, and as this fund accumulates a portion is periodically withdrawn and safely invested in some chartered bank or financial institution of undoubted financial stability. At the last meeting of the Executive a sum of $30,000 was set apart for investment, of which $10,000 is to be deposited with the Peterborough branch of the Bank of Montreal, making a total of $30,000 of the surplus now invested in this branch. It is quite apparent that this strictly Canadian institution is in a sound financial position, and its surplus, which will soon touch the half million mark, is carefully guarded, as no financial kite flying with insurance funds would, if for a moment dreamed of by the High officers, find favour with the members. Indeed the high officials are individually powerless to place their hands on a single dollar of the surplus. To cheque out even the smallest amount of the surplus would require the signatures of nine High Court officials -the High Chief and High Vice-Chief Rangers, the High Secretary, the High Treasurer, and the five members of the Executive Committee.

A BAD EGG.

McDonald's Criminal Record — Has Served Seven Years Already.

The Chief of Police this morning received a letter from the Kingston Police Department stating that George McDonald, who is under arrest here for burglarising the Priests' residence, is identified by them, through his photograph, as being Joseph Bendry, who was released from the Kingston Penitentiary on May 15th, 1895, after serving a seven years term for a burglary, committed by him in Carleton County.

McDonald, or Beaudry, is wanted in Watertown for two burglaries committed there on the 17th and 20th of September last, and Chief Horsey, of Kingston, urges Chief Rossel to wire the Watertown police if the charge against the prisoner here falls through as he will then be sent for from that city.

ASKS FOR MERCY.

George McDonald Writes to Ven. Arch-Deacon Casey, from the Gaol.

Ven. Archdeacon Casey has received a letter from George McDonald, the housebreaker who is now in gaol awaiting a hearing on the charge of burglarising the Presbytery connected with St. Peter's Cathedral. McDonald appeals to the Archdeacon to be merciful in the matter. The affair, however is now in the hands of the administrator of Justice.

THE GRAND LODGE SONS OF ENGLAND.

The Twenty-first Annual Session.

THE CONCLUDING SITTING LAST NIGHT.

Constitutional Changes Discussed—Few out of Many Proposed Changes Adopted—District Councils Approved of and Authorised—No Official Organ yet—Officers Installed.

March, 14th. 1896.

The twenty-first annual session of the Supreme Grand Lodge, Sons of England, concluded late last night. The discussion which occupied the time of yesterday morning's session passed on into the afternoon. In reference to proposed amendments of the constitutions, the principal work was the consideration of the propriety of the formation of District Councils. This was decided upon after a spirited discussion. The effect of the scheme adopted is to give constitutional recognition to district councils or advisory boards, but their organization is optional with the subordinate lodges of the district concerned. This is considered generally by the delegates as one of the most advantageous pieces of legislation effected for some time. The proposal to make the occupancy of the chairs a condition of holding office in the Grand Lodge was not entertained. No changes were decided upon in the matter of rates in either the benefit or insurance departments, though several modifications of the present arrangements were made as to mode of making payments, which are advantageous to the members. The discussion as to the question of establishing an official organ was carried over to the evening session. During the discussions of the day the conservative character of the organization was made prominent in the general disinclination to make constitutional changes not absolutely necessary, and this statement is emphasized by the fact that out of about 117 proposed amendments only about 35 found favour with the Grand Body.

EVENING AND CONCLUDING SESSION.

The Grand Lodge resumed in the evening when the discussion in reference to an official organ was resumed. After an animated debate it was finally decided, though the scheme was largely favoured, to take no definite action this year.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

After the "order paper" had been cleared the installation of the newly elected grand officers took place, and the customary votes of thanks and speeches were passed and made, and with the enthusiastic singing of "God Save the Queen," the twenty-first annual session of the Supreme Grand Lodge, Sons of England, passed into history.

Many of the members left town by the early morning trains, but a few remained over till to-day.

It is a pleasure to know that Peterborough justified the wisdom of its selection as the place of meeting of the Grand Lodge. The delegates were loud and unanimous in their praise of the handsome and indeed lavish manner in which both the local brethren and the citizens generally performed the pleasant duty of entertaining so fine a body of their fellow citizens from all parts of the Dominion, and they agreed that Peterborough had in this respect established a precedent which other meeting places would be put very much on their mettle to equal.

In this connection the press of the town have to acknowledge their great debt of gratitude to Mr. Richard Patching, of the Globe staff, and secretary of the General Purposes Committee, for the invaluable and cheerfully given assistance he rendered in facilitating the procuring of reports of the proceedings of the Grand Lodge.

The Young Ladies Have Another Exciting Game of Hockey.

"Oh my, I'm so afraid of falling. I know I'll come out of it black and blue. Miss Referee, give us a good long rest between the two halves, because you know that we'll be tired." These and similar remarks were heard yesterday afternoon at the rink, previous to a return hockey match between the young ladies known as the Biffs and Niffs.

"I'm just as nervous and as timid as I can be; won't you please examine my skates Mr. McIntosh and see that they are properly fastened; do ask those who are looking on not to laugh if I happen to tumble." These words came as a parting shot just before the puck was put into play.

Miss Mary Goldsmith and Miss Minnie Cook placed their sticks on either side of the rubber and waited thus, in true hockey fashion, until the note was sounded that told them to commence. Then the fun began. Everyone was more or less nervous and falls were consequently frequent, but they were falls of the most graceful kind, leading to the suspicion that a great deal of time had been taken up in becoming proficient at them. Once any one of the players found that she was likely to stumble she did not make any frantic efforts to prevent the disaster, but rather yielded to the inevitable and went prone in the most approved stage fashion.

As time progressed confidence increased and all were holding their feet admirably. From end to end the puck travelled, honours being equally divided. Not one on the ice but knew the tricks of the game and used them whenever opportunity presented. Body checks were given which made the centre of gravity move about in such a way that the most amusing unsteadiness resulted. The noise of the sticks striking against each other proclaimed the fact that they were being wielded by lusty young arms, and in the tripping trick none were novices, but then this did not work as satisfactorily, for the reason that feet were small, and gave but slight purchase to the hooked weapon that was used. An "Oh!" uttered in a voice strung to a high pitch, told that danger threatened, and it was only when it vanished that the tension on the vocal chords disappeared.

Miss Mary Goldsmith and Miss Marion Hall were working like little heroes (heroines is perhaps better). The former particularly made many dashes down the ice, dashes that would have done credit to many of the other sex, who pride themselves upon being hockeyists. Miss Minnie Cook did nobly for the Niffs, and to her exertions, assisted most effectively by Miss Ada McBain, did the Niffs succeed in scoring three goals to the Biffs two. Towards the close of the game the players were suffering from the severe strain put upon them, but the announcement that a skate was loose or that a finger was hurt, slyly made, gave them a short respite. When the game was finally over, the twelve slightly bedraggled and thoroughly exhausted girls repaired to their dressing rooms, provided with a topic of conversation that will last out for several days.

On the defense Misses Pearl Lundy and Mabel Bradburn did most effective blocking for the Niffs, as did Miss Aggie Hal and Miss Bessie Connal for the Biffs.

The teams were composed as follows:

Niffs—The Misses Lillie Hall, Mabel Bradburn, Pearl Lundy, Ada McBain, Minnie Cook and Nellie McKee.

Biffs—The Misses Bessie Connal, Aggie Hall, Mary Goldsmith, Gertie Kendry, Marion Hall and Katie Ferguson.

At the Opera House Last Night.

"The Fast Mail," one of Lincoln J. Carter's most popular productions, was presented at Bradburn's opera house last evening. Although the weather was most bitterly cold, the play was well patronized, as its fame had preceded it to the town. The audience manifested its appreciation during the evening by bestowing the most liberal applause as the intricacies of the well-woven plot became apparent. The troupe composed of eleven members, was one of the best which has visited Peterborough this season, and without doubt should the play be again presented here when the weather is more propitious, a crowded house will greet "The Fast Mail." This company will appear at the Opera House on Wednesday night, March 18th. Prices, 25, 50 and 75c. 1d

Scarcity of Straw.

"Straw," says the Ops correspondent of the Lindsay Watchman, "has become a precious morsel with many farmers this spring, and some are compelled to buy pressed packages in Lindsay to keep the cattle from losing their cud. Much anxiety exists as to where even a small daily ration can be procured to keep their cattle till the starting of vegetation. One thing certain is that many of the aged animals will furnish meals for roistering rooks and rambling rodents in the back lands and along the banks of silver streams where oft they had wont to stray, before the swallows return, while those that survive will come out lank and lean to crop the herbage which surrounds the bleached bones of their barnyard companions. It might be well when any of the stock are looking haggard and require some coaxing and a small degree of assistance to induce them to arise for breakfast to procure a swing in which they can be placed. This will save much trouble to self and neighbours who may feel disinclined to attend raisings every day from now till the trees bloom."

SCHOOL LAW AMENDMENTS.

CRITICISM OF THE BILL BY MR. STRATTON.

Mr. Blezard's Objections to Some Clauses—Consolidation Commended but Certain Proposed Amendments Shown to be Objectionable.

On Thursday, the Hon. G. W. Ross, Minister of Education, moved the second reading of the bill to consolidate the public school law, a measure which includes all the amendments made since the consolidation of five years ago, and a number of proposed amendments besides. The Honourable Minister thoroughly explained the proposed amendments, and referred to the importance of consolidating the various enactments that had from time to time been made in the school law, whose working was briefly described. On Mr. Ross taking his seat,

Mr. J. R. Stratton, West Peterborough, after complimenting the Honourable Minister upon the marked ability he had shown in the administration of his Department, said he felt it his duty to criticize some of the features of the bill, and proposed amendments. He said that in deference to Hon. Mr. Ross' request for a careful consideration of the bearings of the legislation proposed, he had given it such consideration, and was compelled to dissent from the desirability of some of the changes suggested becoming law. Section 12 of the Act, now in force gave, he said, the right to every rural school section to elect three trustees, each of whom in rotation shall hold office for three years, and he suggested that the matter of increasing the number to five might be worth consideration—one to retire each year for five years. He thought that by this method the local trustee boards would be stronger, and always provide for a majority of experienced members on the board. He did not, however, insist on this but merely threw it out as a suggestion.

Sub section 2 of this same clause provided that "every ratepayer" of the full age of 21 years, a British subject and a public school supporter for the section of which he is such ratepayer, shall be entitled to vote for school trustee. Mr. Stratton complained that this did not apparently include farmers sons who were practically ratepayers though they might not appear on the roll. He contended that this clause should be made so plain as to include farmers sons without mistake, and also make it the duty of the assessors to see that they were enrolled. Farmers' sons when they reached the age of 21 years generally have an interest in the farm and he thought that their names should appear on the roll of school supporters.

ORGANIZATION AND INSPECTION.

The proposition of section 16 and subsection 2, Mr. Stratton thought, were very much needed. Many important matters were neglected by indifferent trustees and business had been, in a good many sections, done in an unbusiness like way. Now that the proposed amendment fixes the hours and the time for the organization of the Board, and the number of meetings that at least shall be held throughout the year and the inspections that shall be made at the first meeting, this provision would result, he thought, in the taking of precautions that are too frequently neglected as to school equipment. He read the section thus:—

It shall be the duty of the board of trustees at its first meeting to examine the school house, out-buildings and school furniture, maps and apparatus, with a view to ascertain what repairs or improvements may be necessary, and to make suitable provision for light by fires and keeping the school house and premises in a cleanly and sanitary condition by appointing some person for that purpose. Subsequent meetings of the board shall be held at the school house (unless otherwise ordered by the board) at the hour of three o'clock on the first Wednesday of April, July and October, and at such other times as the board may deem expedient.

The provision for the admission of pupils from a rural section to a town or city, Mr. Stratton pointed out, was in the direction of meeting the position of many persons who may be more convenient to town than rural schools, and the provision for the collection of rates from such pupils attending town schools seemed to be reasonable and fair.

Mr. Stratton said that while as a whole the proposed amendments were in the right direction, he regretted he could not see his way clear to support the Minister's position as set forth in clause 65:

"That the Municipal Council of every county shall levy and collect by a uniform county rate upon the taxable property of Public school supporters in all the townships of the county, on the basis of the equalized assessment of the county for the current year, the sum of $50 at least for every public school section in which a school has been kept open the whole year, and a proportionate sum where the school has been kept open for six months or over. An additional sum of $25 shall be levied and collected in a similar manner for every assistant teacher engaged for the whole year, and a proportionate amount if such assistant was engaged for six months or over. In the case of union school sections between parts of adjoining counties the amount to be levied and collected shall be one-half of the amount raised by the Municipal Council of the townships concerned, as provided in the next following section of this Act. This section shall apply only to union sections formed between townships."

He desired to strongly call the attention of the House to what he considered would be a source of no little dissatisfaction and dissension in the country. Under this clause the County Council would be compelled to levy a rate on the equalized assessment of the whole county every year for a sum sufficient to give $50 to every public school section in which a school had been kept open the whole year, and a proportionate sum when a school had been kept open six months or over, and an additional sum of $25 for every additional teacher engaged for a whole year. On general principles Mr. Stratton contended that the Minister's position was correct—that the strong should help the weak, and the rich the poor; but in this all the poorer sections should not be assisted by a portion of the richer. The counties with many poor municipalities are few; the counties with none are many. By this section the many had no additional burdens put upon them, but the good townships of the few would be burdened unduly. For instance, this general law might if adopted, work equitably in the older sections of the province, where the equalized value of the sections are so nearly equal as to give no fear of dissension, and when the amount of money might be fairly raised by the whole county and paid back to the sections. But, admitting all this, the policy had heretofore been that for local purposes the money levied in the municipality was spent in the municipality, and the adoption of the amendment under consideration was the violation of a sound principle that has worked well in the past. He was not prepared at present to say how this would apply to the older portions of the province, but he might call the attention of the House to the way in which it would affect the county he knew most about—

THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

In this county there are (speaking from memory) about ninety public schools. Over half of these are situated in the poorer townships. Four of the townships of the county of Peterborough pay a considerable sum beyond one-half of all the taxes levied for county purposes. Mr. Stratton thought he was safe in saying that five out of the fifteen or sixteen municipalities in the county paid two-thirds of the whole county rate, and in this way these five townships would be compelled to pay more than two thirds of the money collected for school purposes. The municipalities of Smith, Otonabee, Asphodel, Douro and Dummer would raise for the forty schools in these townships in round numbers $1,400 of the $2,000 required to be paid for school purposes by the whole county, the other $600 being raised from the other municipalities to make the $2000. Then to raise the $50 each for the remaining fifty schools in the other parts of the county, it would be required to raise another $2000 for the whole county again—and again Smith, Otonabee, Asphodel, Douro and Dummer would be required to pay the lion's share—or $2,000 would again be taken out of the taxpayers of these townships, in addition to what they had paid for their own schools to be distributed to the remaining townships in the county to make up the $4,500 which would be collected to cover the total 90 schools. Some few years ago the government introduced a clause by which the municipalities collected by a general rate a sufficient amount within each municipality to contribute $100.00 to each school section in that municipality, and while that measure was fairly justifiable in principle and practice, yet it created no little degree of dissatisfaction more than he—Mr. Stratton—cared to have the trouble of explaining or defending again. But this new departure, while it might be defensible from the standpoint of its application to grouped counties, it was utterly indespensible in its application to counties situated as the County of Peterborough, and he thought his argument would apply equally to East Victoria Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac. It would doubtless be a very nice thing for West Peterborough to take from East Peterborough $1500.00 and distribute it amongst west riding schools, and outside of the injustice it would work to the municipality of Smith, it would be an unfair benefit to West Peterborough at the expense of the east. Mr. Stratton continuing, said that in view of this clause if for no other reason it was impossible for him to support the bill and he hoped the Minister would see the possible injustice the clause would work and consent to withdraw it altogether.

Another proposed amendment was one which he thought was establishing an undesirable precedent. It had been the general and well recognized policy that outside of the current revenue for school purposes, the trustees should appeal to the people for any special moneys required for special purposes, such as the erection of school houses, etc. Now it is proposed by section 71, that the trustees of any rural sections may, without a vote of the ratepayers of that section, require the municipal council to issue debentures for the erection of an additional school house in the section, when, in their opinion, more than one school house is required. This is a violation of the principle of representative government as practised in the past in this connection. It was unfair to compel ratepayers to contribute money without being consulted. Pig-headed trustees might be elected in some sections, who might think in their, perhaps interested, judgment that a new school was required. They could issue debentures, and the ratepayers could sweat. If this change is endorsed by the House school sections will require to exercise far more care than heretofore in the selection of trustees.

Mr. Stratton said in regard to the holidays, the extension of the time might be desirable, but he thought the Minister might go a little farther. He thought that permission should be given the trustees of back country schools, with the concurrence of the Inspector, to keep schools open during a portion, or all, of the midsummer holidays, especially in view of the fact that the condition of the roads in winter, and the distance to the school prevented smaller pupils, especially, from attendance in the winter months, and in some places for weeks in winter the schools close for want of pupils who are unable to attend owing to the deep snow. He said that power should be given to the trustees, teacher and inspector to make special arrangements as to holidays in sections where such a special arrangement should be desirable.

Mr. Stratton, in conclusion, said that while a great many of the proposed amendments were changes in the right direction, he could not but feel that those to which he had felt it his duty to object were not in any way desirable, and he hoped that the Minister, before the Bill came up for its third reading, would so amend these clauses that he could give them the support which he was prepared to give the other features of the Bill.

Among the others who took part in the discussion was Mr. Blezard, M.P.P., East Peterborough, who said that he could not give his support to the Bill as a whole. Referring particularly to Section No. 65, he thought the Act as it stood went far enough, and he agreed with previous speakers that each municipality should have the spending within it own bounds of the money it might raise for educational and all other purposes.

Taken in Time

Hood's Sarsaparilla has achieved great success in warding off sickness, which if allowed to progress, would have undermined the whole system, and given disease a strong foothold to cause much suffering and even threaten death. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done all this and even more. It has been taken in thousands of cases which were thought to be incurable, and after a fair trial has effected wonderful cures, bringing health, strength and joy to the afflicted. Another important point about Hood's Sarsaparilla, is that its cures are permanent, because they start from the solid foundation of purified, vitalized blood. But it is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

LIFE ON A FARM.

ONE OF HARDSHIP AND CONSTANT EXPOSURE.

Frequently the Most Rugged Constitutions are Broken Down—A Prominent Farmer Tells of the Wonderful Recuperative Powers of a Famous Medicine.

From the Assiniboian, Saltcoats, N.W.T.

Everyone around Yorkton knows Mr. Dan Garry, and what a pushing active business farmer he was until la grippe took hold of him, and when that enemy left him, how listless and unfitted for hard toil he became. For months he suffered from the baneful after effects of the trouble and although he still endeavoured to take his share of the farm work, he found that it was very trying; he had become greatly weakened, had lost both appetite and ambition, and was tired with the least exertion. He tried several remedies without deriving any benefit, and as one after the other had failed, he determined to give Dr. William's Pink Pills a trial. He felt so utterly worn out that several boxes of the pills were taken before he found any benefit, but with the first signs of improvement he took fresh courage, and continued taking the pills for taree months, by the end of which time he was again an active hustling man, feeling better than he had for years. Mr. Garry tells his own story in following letter to the Assiniboian:—

Dear Sir,—"After a severe attack of la grippe I was unable to recover my former strength and activity, I had no ambition for either work or pleasure, and to use a popular phrase "did not care whether the school kept or not." I tried various medicines without deriving any benefit from them. With not much hope I decided to try Dr. William's Pink Pills, and was agreeably pleased to find after a few boxes, a decided change for the better. My appetite, which has failed me, returned and I began to look for my meals half an hour before time, and I was able to get around my old time vim. I continued the use of the Pink Pills for three months, and find myself now better than ever. You may therefore depend upon it that from this out I will be found among the thousands of other enthusiastic admirers of Dr. William's wonderful health restoring medicine."

Yours gratefully.
DAN GARRY.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2 50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

A CANADIAN SUICIDES IN N.Y.

Telegraph Operator Clarke, of Kamloops, B.C., Traced on the Gas.

New York, March 12.—William J. Clarke, 25 years old, a telegraph operator employed in The Evening Journal office in Jersey City, committed suicide on Tuesday night in the Imperial Hotel, Exchange place, Jersey City. He asphyxiated himself with illuminating gas.

At 8 a.m. yesterday the porter knocked at Clarke's door, but, receiving no answer, and noticing a strong smell of gas, opened the door with his pass key. Clarke was lying on the floor dead. He had rolled off the bed. The gas was turned on and the pipe had been broken off close to the wall, so that the gas might escape more freely. The body was taken to the Morgue. Clarke boarded at 41 East Fiftieth street, this city. His parents reside in Kamloops, British Columbia, and his father is Mayor of that place. Among the suicide's papers was found an unsigned note in a feminine hand, which read: "Please keep straight, today, dear, will you?"

SHAMEFUL POSITION.

Sir Charles Tupper Makes an an Admission.

HE READ A GARBLED TELEGRAM

And He Had No Authority From Either Mr. Greenway or Sir Donald Smith to Make it Public—Scorched by Sir Richard Cartwright.

Ottawa, March 13.—A more extraordinary episode has not been witnessed this session of extraordinary happenings than was seen this afternoon immediately after the opening of the House. It arose out of the publication which was made by Sir Charles Tupper of the private telegram which Premier Greenway sent to Sir Donald Smith. As though it was not sufficient indecency to have published a private telegram without obtaining the permission of its sender, Sir Charles Tupper was compelled, under Sir Richard Cartwright's questioning and under the half-ashamed and scornful gaze of his fellow-members, to admit that that was not the whole of the outrage which he and his Government did in that matter to the rules of ordinary honor and confidence. He admitted, with a flush on his cheeks, that not only had he made public the telegram without asking Mr. Greenway's consent, but he had done so without asking permission of Sir Donald Smith who had shown it to him and who was in New York on the day it was made public. More than that, not satisfied with this breach of confidence in a matter so important, he had, he admitted, omitted a whole sentence from the telegram when he laid it before the House. He omitted it, he said, because he did not think it germane, but his plea that he did not consider this was garbling was greeted with disconcerting laughter from across the floor. Sir Donald Smith, sitting near, was red to the roots of his white hair with the discomfort of the position in which he found himself, while over the Ministerial benches there was a feeling of constraint, surprise and pity at this new and painful predicament of their leader. They, perhaps, wondered the this residence in England, where high ideas of the proprieties of public life prevail, should have had no more effect upon his habits.

It was a most inauspicious prelude for the speech which Mr. Foster immediately proceeded to deliver upon the Remedial Bill. His speech was by long odds the cleverst defence which the Government's position had received. When it is called a defence or apology its most noticeable characteristic is in the words. He was followed by Mr. Divies, whose aggressiveness was in marked contrast to Mr. Foster's dodging, Indian-like style of warfare. These two spakers, among the best which Canadian Parliamentary life has trained, occupied the afternoon and evening both profitably and interestingly. The Conservatives are enthusiastic over Mr. Foster's really able speech, in so vehement a way as to recall that other speech, heralded with so much trumpeting, by which the master mind was to re-establish himself as the man of the hour and the saviour of his party. Mr. Davies made a strong legal argument, and presented in an eloquent was the position and responsibilities with which Parliament finds itself confronted.

Ottawa, March 13.—(Special)—Upon the orders of the day being called, Sir Richard Cartwright said: "I wish to call the attention of the leader of the House to a remarkable statement which is alleged to have been made by Mr. Greenway, reading as follows:

"Winnipeg, March 12, 1896.—In the Legislature to-night Premier Greenway called attention to the fact that a sentence had been omitted from his telegram to Sir Donald Smith, as read by Sir Charles Tupper in the House of Commons. Mr. Greenway considered the sentence important, and read the telegram to the Legislature. The missing words were: 'As you are aware, we are not to blame for the present situation.'

"I would like to enquire whether these words were in the telegram which the hon. Secretary of State read to the House Monday?"

Sir Charles Tupper said in reply: "These words were in the telegram, and they were omitted because they did not seem to have any special bearing upon the question. (Opposition laughter.) It was a mere matter of opinion, which no one would be surprised that Mr. Greenway should entertain, but I would like, while making that admission—and certainly I was not under the impression that it was at all garbling the telegram to omit something which had no special reference to the main point, and that was whether Mr. Greenway was willing to have a conference with the Dominion—I would like to take the opportunity of answering the question which was put to me by the honorable leader of the Opposition, who, I observe, is not in his place to-day. That hon. gentleman asked me if I was prepared to lay upon the table the message from Sir Donald Smith to Mr. Greenway, to which Mr. Greenway's telegram of the 2nd inst., which I read to the House, was a reply. I said that I would communicate with Sir Donald Smith, and be in a position to answer the question put to me. I may say that I was most anxious to be in the position of reading a telegram to the House from Sir Donald Smith to Mr. Greenway, to which that was a reply, but I am unable to do so for the reason which I shall state. Without Mr. Greenway's consent, Sir Donald Smith will not allow the communication of his telegram to Mr. Greenway, to which that of the 2nd of March, read to the House by me on the 9th inst., was a reply. All telegrams and other communications between Sir Donald Smith and Mr. Greenway were regarded by them as confidential and were imparted by Sir Donald Smith to the Government as strictly such. Our intention was to obtain Sir Donald Smith's consent to communicate the telegram of the 2nd of March to the House, but on enquiry the Premier found that he was in New York, and not knowing his address there we could not reach him for that purpose by telegraph. Considering that under the circumstances I could properly use the telegram I did so, and for this I am alone responsible. I now express my sincere regret that this was done without the consent of those gentlemen and the circumstances under which what was virtually a communication to the Government from Mr. Greenway was used, and to which I thought there could be no possible objection."

Sir Richard Cartwright—Then are we to understand that this telegram was used without Mr. Greenway's consent?

Sir Charles Tupper—Certainly.

Sir Richard Cartwright—And a garbled—no, I will not say garbled—a mutilated version of it at that. I shall leave it to the House and the country to consider whether this is treating the House with the respect that this House should be treated. However, there is another question I should like to put to the hon. gentleman. I would like to ask him whether he is prepared to inform the House if there are any grounds for the extraordinary statement circulated in many newspapers that the Government have such doubts as to whether this House expires on the 25th of April that they propose submitting a case to the Supreme Court of Canada to resolve their doubts.

Mr. Dickey—The Government is considering the desirability of doing that; but nothing has been done yet.

Mr. Martin—I would like to ask if the Government have applied to Mr. Greenway for permission to lay before the House the telegrams and other communications that passed between Sir Donald Smith and Mr. Greenway's Government.

Sir Charles Tupper—Sir Donald Smith did communicate with Mr. Greenway on the subject and he was asked whether he was willing that the telegram from Sir Donald Smith to Mr. Greenway and to which that which was laid before the House was a reply should be laid before the House. I have just stated to the House that Mr. Greenway's consent has not been obtained for that purpose.

BRITAIN AND THE TRANSVAAL.

Likely That an Arrangement Will be Made to Enfranchise British Subjects.

London, March 13.—The Times will to-morrow publish a despatch from Pretoria, the capital of the Transvaal, saying that President Kruger is considering an important despatch which he received through Sir Hercules Robinson, the British High Commissioner in South Africa, in which Joseph Chamberlain, the British Colonial Secretary, suggests the abrogation of the Anglo-Boer convention of 1884, which gives suzerainty to Great Britain, if the Transvaal will redress the grievances of the Uitlanders and enfranchise British subjects in the Transvaal who desire to become burghers.

Mr. Chamberlain also suggests a treaty of amity, but by the terms of which Great Britain guarantees the independence of the Transvaal. President Kruger has intimated that he will reply to the despatch in about three days. The despatch adds that the preparations that have been made for President Kruger's visit to England indicate that he will probably start very shortly.

IN AIDING THE ITALIANS,

England May Possibly Get Into Another Soudan War.

London, March 13.—The Anglo-Egyptian expedition that is to make a demonstration towards Berber and Wady Halfa in favor of the Italians at Massala, is much discussed in the lobbies of the House of Commons. In an interview Sir Charles Dilke, M.P., who is an acknowledged authority on foreign affairs, denounced the decision of the Government to join in the expedition. He said that if the affair should result in a defeat Great Britain would be compelled to immediately intervene on a large scale, and it would possibly lead to another Soudan war.

One Source of Pain and Suffering Under Human Control.

An eminent specialist, in studying profoundly the construction of the kidneys and their diseases as well as the diseases of the bladder and urinary passages, has recognized the fact that in order to treat kidney and bladder diseases successfully a remedy must be prepared especially for these organs, and one rich in healing powers. After much research a remedy was found, which proved a surprise even to the manufacturer. After having been used in general practice by several physicians, with grand results, it was placed on the market, and is known as South American Kidney Cure. It never fails to give relief in six hours in all derangements of the kidneys or bladder, Bright's disease, diabetes, inflammation or ulceration of the kidneys, neuralgia, consumption, hemorrhage and catarrh of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, etc. Sold by H. What a great quantity of work a "good housekeeper" finds to do! There are so many little time-and-strength-taking chores that have no names. And it must all be done whether the housekeeper feels like it or not. This is true of men's work too, but men's manual labor is never so complicated as housekeeping. In some way or other "the world's work must be done." This iron-clad rule is harder on women than it is on men. A man can't be as sick as a woman.

As a man's organization is simpler and stronger, it follows that his ailments are less complicated. He is not subject to the chances and changes, physiologically, that come to the average woman.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world than the one who is well and busy all day long "making home" for dear ones who depend upon her. But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually insists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Excepting in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills. It cures gradually, safely, permanently. Here is one testimonial out of thousands:

"I was ill four years with 'female weakness.' I took two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I do my house work now without pain or faintness." Yours truly,

(Mrs.) Lilla M. Fox

"BENEDICT ARNOLD."

The Last Story Humorist Nye Wrote for a Washington Celebration.

This "Bad Boy" sketch was written by Bill Nye just two weeks before his death for 1896's Washington celebration:

Many years ago there lived in New Haven a very bad boy. He was born 145 years ago, and as he is now dead I feel at liberty to write his biography.

Sometimes it is perfectly tiresome waiting for a man to die so that you will feel safe in saying what you think of him, but if he happens to be a large, robust man, certainly pays to do so.

This boy was known far and wide as the meanest, most notorious, hopelessly bad boy in Connecticut. No other boys made any claims whatever when he was around, and for years he carried the belt. He knew all the little, fine tricks of meanness and cruelty at the age of 12 years that it generally takes a life time to acquire. When others studied all day hard to devise new kinds of wickedness and lay on their stomachs nights by the light of a pine knot and patiently worked out the more difficult problems of meanness and lawlessness, this lad seemed to breathe it all in the very air.

His wonderful genius as a successful bad boy was remarked by those who did not know him at all. He was a prodigy of wickedness, a miracle of meanness.

He loved to get little boys into his hands and then duck them or otherwise scare them out of their senses. He succeeded in crippling several little schoolmates and blew out the teacher's eye one day with a cannon firecracker. He loved to see his little friends fall into his traps, and very few of his intimate friends succeeded in dying a natural death.

BENEDICT ARNOLD'S DEVILTRY.

Whenever any of the neighbors' dogs saw this humorous boy they would conceal their tails as far as possible and go to Canada till the bad boy had grown up or died.

He was a great lover of fun, and in one evening, with a skull covered with phosphorus and worked by machinery, he so scared three little girls that they had fits all the rest of their lives.

Year after year he lived on just as full of the "Old Scratch" as ever. Now and then he would burn a barn just to see the cattle scatter and watch the farmer hustle out in his shirt with a pail of water.

But observe how the prophecies of his neighbors failed.

It ought to encourage every bad boy in the United States to-day whose relatives and friends speak harshly of him. This lad at last grew to be a man and was known all over the civilized world. His name is familiar to everyone, and in the history of our great land you will find a long account of him. Still, he had the reputation of pulling frogs to pieces while they were alive, of leaving mud turtles on the track for the passenger train, so that he could hear them pop, and of putting the kittens on the kitchen stove to see them dance.

Bad boy, do not be discouraged. Hope on, for there may be a future for you. Do not lose hope when your parents talk back to you. You have just as good a chance to be known all over the world as the boy of whom I have told you. He was poor, too. He had to sow his wild oats first, as you say, but he steadily worked his way on until at the time of his death he was known wherever the English tongue was spoken as Benedict Arnold, and everyone wanted to see him very much indeed.

Even the sheriff, who wouldn't recognize him at all when a boy, walked for miles and miles to find him and converse with him. When he got there Mr. Arnold was not at home. He had thought of something in England that he wanted to go and get.

Playing Highwayman a Losing Game.

Bob—Ever play highwayman?
Charlie—No; how do you do it?
Bob—Hold up your hands.
Charlie—Like this?
Bob—Now I will take these apples.
Charlie—Now what must I do?
Bob—Oh, you must sit down and mourn your loss.—Harper's Bazar.

Knew His Father.

The kid had smashed his father's shaving mug and done sundry other damage, when his mother discovered him. "Oh, Freddy!" she exclaimed, horrified; "what will your papa say when he comes home and sees what you have done?" "Well, mamma," he replied, with a half smile, "I don't think I would like to repeat it before you."—Amusing Journal.

A Violin Player.

"I'd like to hear you play the violin, Mr. Tillinghast," said 7-year-old Tommy Dillingham, who was entertaining the caller. "But I don't play the violin, Tommy." "Then papa must be mistaken. I heard him tell mamma that you played second fiddle at home."—Detroit Free Press.

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To Add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:—
"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."
To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.
But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventible, how?
The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment — by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

TO HEAL MANKIND.

It is as a healing medicine for all outward sores, ulcers, blotches, skin diseases, cancer, scrofulous sores, etc., that Burdock Blood Bitters has won some of its most signal victories over disease. In every case where it has been faithfully tried a clear bright skin and sound whole flesh have resulted.

Here is what Miss Lillie V. Doyle, of Strader's Hill, Ont., says:

For three years I had a very bad breaking out all over my face and went to a doctor who gave me a bottle of medicine which I used but got no benefit. I then went to another doctor who gave me medicine, but as my face kept getting worse I asked him to change the medicine, which he did, but it also failed to do any good and he told me he could do no more for me.

About three months ago I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and began using it; I soon found my face was getting much better, so I got another bottle and used it and on using the third bottle found my face completely cured. Several others who have followed my advice to try B. B. B. have been cured of similar troubles.

Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They cure constipation, and sick headache.

Twelve-Year-Old Minnie Swanger Confesses to Murder.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., March 12.—Minnie Swanger, the 12-year-old Altoona murderess, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree in court this morning. District-Attorney Hammond accepted the plea.

The child's crime was the murder of her uncle, William McGregor, by mixing poison with his coffee. Her grandmother also drank some of the coffee, and has not yet fully recovered from its effects. Judge Bell said that he would send the prisoner to a House of Correction.

She Ran Short of Coal on Her Way to Yokohama.

Honolulu, March 5.—(Via San Francisco, March 12).—The steamship Rio de Janeiro arrived here on the 3rd inst., out of coal, 20 days from San Francisco. She had battled 16 days with heavy head gales on the Northern route, when her coal supply was too near exhausted for her to make the few hundred miles remaining to Yokohama. She put about for Honolulu, making sail. Before reaching here she had burned her after deck house and mizzen topmast, and she had but 20 tons of coal left.

NEW RICHMOND STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. A. B. Chambers, LL.B., the Popular Pastor of the New Richmond Street Methodist Church, Toronto, Testifies Straight in Favour of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

Heaps of good things are being said of the Rev. A. B. Chambers, LL.B., for his straight talk for secularized schools. Quite aside from the merits of the question, the vigorous and able manner in which the Rev. Mr. Chambers handled the subject, has been universally admired. In the same frank and straightforward manner this gentleman, whom the New Richmond Street Methodist Church has requested shall remain their pastor for another term, talks of the help that comes to those who use Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. Mr. Chambers knows, from experience in his own family, and he says so over his signature, how helpful this remedy is for cold in the head and catarrh. In hay fever it will give perfect relief in ten minutes. Price 60 cents.

The French Revolution.

The subject of this paper is the French Revolution, that mighty upheaval which marked the closing section of the last century; an upheaval which was felt far beyond the sunny vales and vine-clad hills of France and which changed the current of social and political life in Central Europe. A Revolution that marked the overthrow of the House of Bourbon, which for two centuries had ruled France, and the establishment of "a reign of terror," which for a time spread desolation to the limit of its sceptre. A Revolution, says one, "that surpasses all other revolutions in its completeness, in the largeness of its theatre, in the length of its preparation, in the unfolding of new points in politics and in its general influence on the modern history of Europe." As usual such tremendous upheavals affect religion and here we find the red flag of communism waved in the face of God, and instead of God as a spirit enthroned, we find reason represented by a vile woman established as a goddess, and in the place of the Bible and revealed religion we have a sort of political philosophy after the style of Voltaire, the chief oracle. The time covered by these changes was short, a little over 6 years (1789 95), but years fraught with great results. In that short time France had run through a cycle of politics which in ancient Rome had taken centuries. Absolute monarchy had given place to limited sovereignity. This in time was displaced by a Republic, which soon gave way to a Commune, which was soon superceded by a military Dictatorship.

Two cities formed the theatre of these stirring scenes. Paris, the most beautiful city in the world, and Versailles, the royal city of France. The causes, legitimate work and excesses of this upheaval will outline our study. Four facts may be cited as the chief causes of this revolution. I will place as the first cause (a)

THE EXCESSES OF ABSOLUTE MONARCHY.

"Some are born to rule, others to obey," is an old adage. The Bourbons of France firmly believed they belonged to the former class. Look for a moment at the reign of Louis XIV, a prince of whom little was expected. A youth whose early education had been neglected and who formed very dissolute habits. He ascended the throne when a child, but at the age of 16 took the reins of government in his own hands and ruled France for half a century with a rod of iron. His famous saying, "L'etat c'est moi"—"I am the state"—may be quoted as an index to his character. For self and France all things must bend.

When the zenith of his glory was reached one author describes the condition of affairs thus: "All Europe feared him. His own nation had been brought by tyranny, skilful management and military glory to regard him with Asiatic humility, admiring and obeying. All remnants of political independence had been swept away. No Assembly of the States had been held for years. The nobles had lost both the desire and the ability to assert political power. The courts of justice yielded to the absolute sway of the monarch, who interfered at pleasure with the ordinary course of law." The famous "Sealed orders of the King," some nine thousand of which were issued during the reign, might assign a man to the horrors of the Bastile to await the pleasure of royalty or relieve him of the onus of crime.

Louis asserted the peculiar right to dispose of the properties of the nation and took credit to himself for gracious moderation in exercising it sparingly. The court was the very heart of the political and national life of France. The utmost splendur was maintained, and a system of etiquette established which was a sort of perpetual worship of the king.

Some have called the reign of Louis XIV the "Augustan age of French literature and art," and it cannot be doubted that France has never since produced poets like Corneillis and Racine, Satrists like Boileau or Divines like Bossuett and Fenelon. Notwithstanding all this the evil seeds of the reign of terror were sown during this reign. A moment's thought will reveal the fact that vast military glory means a correspondingly vast expenditure of money, while court splendor and court living involve the maintenance of a well filled treasure chest. This implies heavy taxation, and in France, where the will of the Monarch was law, it is easy to see how easy it would be to impose taxes that would be burdensome.

The French people were divided into three classes. The Nobles, who, under Louis, had been deprived of their feudal right to govern, but who retained many privileges which made them hated by everyone else. They still claimed the right to tax the lower classes and were themselves practically exempt.

The Clergy, representing the church, said to number 10,000, and who were maintained by tithes fees and gratuities. They owned at least one-fifth of the land. The parish priest sympathized with the masses, while the Bishops were favourable to the Nobles.

The Third Estate, representing 98 per cent. of the whole population were divided into the "middle classes" and the "Proletariat." These were the chief taxpayers. They were harassed and annoyed by feudal arrogance. They were subject to compulsory labour for the Nobles were conscripted into military service, and as found in towns and cities they were the sullen masses, clad in rags and living in misery, from which the mobs of 1793 were recruited.

The condition of France was not improved when Louis XIV ascended the throne. He inherited a vast domain, a dissatisfied people, a huge debt and a corrupt court. Known in his early days as "Louis, the well beloved," he unfortunately lost the good will of his people and might appropriately be called in his old days, "Louis, the despised." Carlyle, speaking of his father, said "My father died before he ceased to be loveable." Such cannot be said of this Prince. Some one has said "Blessed is the nation whose annals are vacant," meaning, I suppose, that a nation, the current of whose history runs smoothly, is prosperous and happy. The annals of France during the long inglorious reign of Louis XIV, while they do not show any marked events, reveal upon close examination the steady growth of that spirit of unrest, caused largely by the blind bigotry of a king, who persisted in ignoring the rights of the people and allowed himself to be ruled by such despicable characters as Madame de Pompadour and Madame Du Barry, two court favourites, whose names can hardly be mentioned in respectable society, although ladies of beauty and good mental culture. What did it matter to Louis and his fashionable court how the masses groaned and writhed beneath the burden of taxation, what mattered it even if Canada was wrested from his grasp, so long as he and his favourites could have the fashion and luxury they desired. When told of the misery and discontent of the people, Louis replied, "The Monarchy will last as long as I will," "After me the deluge." It is but natural to suppose that such abuse of the royal power, as was witnessed during the reign of these princes, would form a disorder and lead the down trodden to ask the question "Who made thee a judge or ruler over us."

A second cause which contributed to the bringing about of the Revolution, and which was largely responsible for the excesses of the time, was to a class of teachers who taught a sort of political philosophy, not after the style taught by the sages of Greece and Rome, but a mixture of socialism, infidelity, philosophy and politics. Society presented itself to these men, as in need of a reformation. They proposed to reform it by destroying present institutions and subverting the authority, but had no well defined scheme to submit in the place of these things they would remove. Theirs was a sort of a negative philosophy; Montesquieu, who flourished during the first part of the 18th. century, and Voltaire may be cited as examples of these teachers. Montesquieu may be regarded as the author of much of the political science of to day; Voltaire speaking of him as a philosopher said "When the human race lost its charter of liberty Montesquieu re-discovered and restored it." It may be truthfully said that Montesquieu in his work "Esprit des lois" treated the great question of civil liberty for the first time in an enlightened and systematic manner. For a time a personal friend and companion of Lord Chesterfield, he was regarded with favour by the better classes, but in his treatment of religion he showed a base and very corrupt mind

Voltaire is so widely known I need but to mention his name in order to revive his memory. Perhaps more than any other man of this class he contributed to the crusade against prevailing vices and prepared the way for the stormy events of the Revolution. He had an experiental knowledge of the terrors of the Bastile, having been twice confined therein. His keen philosophic mind saw through the shams and mockery practiced by the priests under the guise of religion and in the field of religious polemics his destructive energies found ample scope. Some brand Voltaire as an Atheist. This may be true. He was a firm believer in natural religion, an admirer, almost a believer, in English deism. His favourite weapon was ridicule and in a peculiar form of refined mockery he is without a rival. His morals were of an exceedingly shady type. His prophecy that Christianity would be extinct one hundred years hence has proven to be false as every one knows. A moment's thought will show the wonderful power such men could exert upon a nation so oppressed as France. Especially amongst the masses were these teachings welcomed. The motto of these men was "Equality, Fraternity and Liberty." Strange words to twenty-five millions of people, crushed by royalty, aristocracy and hierarchy. How gladly they received them and believed them.

A third cause of the revolution was the recognition by the peasant classes of the fact that they were men. One great secret of success in philanthropic work is to see the "man" in those whom we would help. That which we call "man" may be hidden beneath the tinsel of royalty or the rays of poverty. In proportion as we recognize its existence will our efforts to relieve be successful. When a man awakens to the fact that he is a man, and none the less so because his hands are calloused with honest toil, there is given to him a holy impulse to rise and shake off any unrighteous fetters that may have bound him. When the wild Highlander in "Rob Roy" says of himself, "I am a man." "A man," repeated Frank Osbaldiston, "that is a very brief description." "It will serve," answered the outlaw, "for one who has no other to give. He that is without friends, without coin, without country, is still at least a man, and he that has all these is no more." So, when the French peasant awoke to the fact that he was a man, when he became conscious that the noble who oppressed and the king who ruled were simply men, then he felt a solemn duty to arise in his manhood and shake off all feudal bonds and priestly assumptions.

With the advent of Louis XVI came another factor which seemed to touch the match to the powder train already laid. The American Declaration of Independence. We see in the natural world, the Sun rise in the east: so struggling, starving, oppressed France the Sun rose in the west. Let Carlyle's beautiful words describe it, "Borne over the Atlantic to the ear of Louis, King by the Grace of God. What sounds are these? Muffled ominous, new in our centuries. Boston harbor is black with unexpected tea. Behold a Pennsylvania Congress assembles, and ere long on Bunker Hill, Democracy, announcing in rifle volleys, death winged under her star spangled flag, to the tune of Yankee Doodle do, that she is born and that whirlwind like she will enveolpe the world." Who can say what new thoughts were kindled in the minds of starving oppressed Frenchmen, by the heroic acts of their fellow men across the sea. They too rebelled against unjust taxation, imposed by the act of a stubborn king. and might not France go and do likewise?

Weak Lungs.

Emaciation, weakness, and that fatal disposition to take cold easy, thus adding little by little to the strain upon the already overburdened body. How many afflicted are trusting to cough mixtures, mustard and poultices for safety? Fatal error. Not by these, but by adding to the nutritive power of the body and the increased strength and vitality which increased nutrition affords, can you hope to obtain relief. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites combines the excellencies of a medicine, a food, and a digestive agency of unexampled power. The full remedial value of the cod liver oil, rendered palatable and of easy digestion, is combined with the nutritive values of wheat, oats and barley. This in itself would render Maltine and Cod Liver Oil of greater value than any emulsion. But it possesses a further quality of inestimable value in its property of increasing the solubility of fat-forming, heat-producing, starchy foods, just the elements required for the upbuilding of the emaciated.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc.; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line:—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

WHY ENGLAND ACTS

Is Owing to Germany's Hostile Ingrigues.

WILL BE EFFECTUALLY STOPPED

By the British Advance on Dongola—How the Two Great Parties United on the Immense Naval Budget — The Feeling Growing Against the German Empire.

New York, March 15.—Mr. Ballard Smith, in his cable letter to The World, discusses several rumored reasons for the advance on Dongola. He quotes an entirely new view from a source, which, he says, should at least be well informed. This is, that German intrigues against Great Britain in the Soudan have been brought to knowledge of the Ministry, and that it has determined to inaugurate an instaht an effectual estoppel on the Kaiser's hostile plans.

Everywhere it has been the subject of general comment that Sir William Harcourt, the Liberal leader in the Commons, has given, contrary to the general Liberal policy, his support to the new and great naval scheme of the Opposition. A picture of the proposed new fleet, published in one of the illustrated journals to-day, amazes the reader. It seems really that of a great nation's entire navy, and not merely that of an addition to a present equipment.

The story, as it reaches me, is that Sir William was ready to oppose the enormous expenditure necessary for all this, and had announced his intention to his followers, when representations were made to him by Ministers of such peril to the Empire from Germany, that he unexpectedly and altogether withdrew his opposition. He has since, if my information is correct, guardedly communicated his information to some of his colleagues. His reported counsel is that "to effectually obstruct the new naval scheme might bring the country within risk of a great catastrophe," and he has clearly indicated that the Kaiser's comprehensive plans in Africa form a sufficient basis for Ministerial measures against them.

Of course, recent reports from Berlin of the Kaiser's hope to build a great navy in spite of the opposition of the Reicherath, his known colonial aspirations, and his overt hatred and jealousy of England, lend further credence to the above report. It is even more certain that if the danger I have outlined is made officially known to the British people, the outburst of feeling for war with Germany will be far more intense than that after William's telegram to Oom Paul.

One must mix with mercantile and industrial classes to fully appreciate the almost universal hatred of Germany among them. Her commercial competition almost everywhere, even in England's own colonies, has been of the utmost injury to English manufactures. Cheap German clerks, often remarkable linguists, are crowding out young Englishmen even in London and Liverpool, Glasgow and Sheffield houses. The favor always shown by the Queen, as well as by her predecessors, to their German relations in the British army and navy, has aroused a decided prejudice, which, perhaps, partly explains the opposition led by The Times to the proposed vote of a pension to the Duke of Cambridge.

If my explanation of Sir William Harcourt's action is correct, he has either not communicated it to the Irish members of Parliament or to Labouchere, or else they disregard it. Irish leaders are arranging for a resolute resistance to the passage of the naval scheme through the Commons. I may add, however, that it is not at all unlikely, if their obstructive tactics be persisted in, that the English and Scotch Liberals will be found supporting the Government on the navy plans, and that an alliance between the Irish and the Liberals may be ruptured, perhaps, for years to come.

LATEST FROM OTTAWA.

Premier Bowell Laid up With Lumbago—Mr. Martin to Retire From Politics — General Capital Notes

Ottawa, March 15.—(Special.)—Ottawa papers are kicking against the Cabot Historical Exhibition being held in Toronto next year. The Free Press claims that the capital is the only place where a celebration could properly be held. It says the Toronto exhibition will be a preposterous mixture of county fair, prize chromo, free lecture, bun feed, free ticket and brass band kind of affair. If such a scheme was brought to a head it would probably prove a fizzle, similar to the great summer carnival held in the Queen City of jobbery long ago.

Over 50 collections of mineral specimens have been sent out by the Geological Survey to the various educational institutions throughout Canada. It is the intention of the survey to supplement the collections now be longing to the principal universities. In the collections already sent there are over 11,000 specimens, weighing altogether over two and a half tons.

The Government has ordered a complete report of the debate on the Remedial Bill, to be made up in book form from Hansard, in order that the literature of this question may be presented in compact form.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell is confined to his house by an acute attack of lumbago. He spent yesterday afternoon at Government House, where he engaged with zest in tobogganning and curling, but in the evening was seized with a painful attack, which has made him since a prisoner to his room. Dr. Rogers, his medical attendant, thinks the Premier will be at his office again in the course of two or three days.

Postoffices were opened in Ontario on March 1 as follows: Boothville, South Grey; Lefalve's Corners, South Ontario; Pape-avenue, East Toronto (Feb. 15).

Joe Martin, M.P. for Winnipeg, author of the Manitoba School Acts of 1890, has informed friends here that he intends retiring from active politics at dissolution.

Six six-inch quick firing guns are now en route from Halifax to Victoria, to be mounted in one of the forts at Esquimalt, which is nearly completed.

B'G MONTREAL FAILURE.

Messrs Michel Lefebvre & Co., Vinegar Manufacturers, Forced to Assign—Liabilities Over Half a Million.

Montreal, March 15.—(Special.)—The business world will regret to learn that Messrs. Michel Lefebvre & Co., the well-known vinegar manufacturers and proprietors of the Berthier Beet Root Sugar concern, have been obliged to assign, owing to the difficulties created by the suspension of the Banque du Peuple. Your correspondent interviewed the senior member of the firm today and ascertained that the liabilities will reach something over half a million dollars, the Banque du Peuple being down for $423,000, the Bank of British North America $50,000, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce for about $25,000, but it is understood that the last two institutions are pretty well secured. When the Banque du Peuple stopped payment they took a mortgage on the Messrs. Lefebvre's property for $480,000, and after this was done the firm allege that although their intentions were the best, it was simply impossible to do business. Bankers had inspected the books of the fallen institution, and the state of Lefebvre's account was in everybody's mouth, so as a natural consequence, the credit of the firm became seriously affected. They offered 50 cents on the dollar, but it appears the Banque du Peuple demanded a judicial liquidation, which will now take place. Messrs. Lefebvre, however, have instructed their lawyer, Mr. Bisaillon, Q.C., to take an action against the bank as well as the directors individually, for the sum of $500,000. The plaintiffs allege that the action of the bank has caused their credit to suffer and, in fact, to make it impossible for the firm to carry on business.

GRAVEYARD INSURANCE CASES.

Messrs. Alger, Hortop and Brown Will be Tried at Whitby This Week.

Whitby, March 15.—(Special.)—The Assizes open here to-day before Justice Falconbridge, and George E. Alger, Joseph Hortop and Nicholas C. Brown will be tried on a charge of attempting to defraud the Home Life, Equitable and Ontario Mutual Insurance Companies by insuring the life of Alger's wife, when the woman, who is now deceased, was known to be on the brink of the grave.

All the prisoners were allowed out on bail after the preliminary examination, but it is confidently expected that they will be present at the trial. Alger, who was out on sureties amounting to $4000, was said to have left the country, but he has lately been in the vicinity of Whitby.

Dr. Francey, the Crown's most important witness, has since the developments at the preliminary investigation, been practising his profession at Blind River, where he has built up a good practice. He is in Whitby to give evidence at the trial. Mr. W. R. Riddell will represent the Crown, while Mr. R. C. Clute will act for the defence. It is possible that the grand jury will indict other men who are said to be mixed up in the alleged attempted fraud.

A VETERAN ORANGEMAN DEAD.

Once Grand Master in England, but Died in Poverty at Newark, N.J.

London, March 15.—The New York papers received here report the death at Newark, N.J., in destitute circumstances, of Major George De Bentley, at one time grand master of English Orangemen. William Johnston, M.P., grand master of the Irish Orangemen, said to-day: "De Bentley was grand master in England 30 years ago, and was highly respected. I knew him well, but had lost sight of him for the past quarter of a century. I cannot understand how he could have fallen into such poverty, and several members of the organization here to whom I have been speaking are equally ignorant of the cause; but he seems to have been out of touch with them for many years, and they thought he had died long ago."

SEARCHED THE DE BEERS MINE.

Arms and a Quantity of Ammunition, but no Machine Guns Found.

Cape Town, March 15.—The Government officials have caused a search to be made of the De Beers mine for munitions of war. There were found stored on the property of the company a number of rifles and a quantity of ammunition. No machine guns were discovered. The search was made in connection with the arrest of two of the De Beers Company officers, who are charged with having furnished arms to the foreign residents of Johannesburg during the recent troubles in the Transvaal.

Has Mr Wainwright Resigned?

Montreal, March 15.—It is reported that Mr. William Wainwright has resigned his position on the Grand Trunk Railway to accept a more lucrative position in the States. Mr. Wainwright declines to speak in regard to the report.

Troops for the Anglo-Egyptian Expedition

Cairo, March 15.—The transportation of troops who will take part in the Anglo-Egyptian expedition to Dongola will begin on March 20.

HERBERT WILL QUIT.

Another Important Change in the Salvation Army.

CANADA'S COMMANDANT GOES.

Got His Orders From Headquarters in London While on a C.P.R. Train Between Toronto and Winnipeg—He Will Leave Canada on June 1.

Winnipeg, March 15.—(Special)—Commandant Herbert Booth, head of the Salvation Army in Canada, headquarters Toronto, passed through Winnipeg to-day en route to the Pacific Coast cities, on a farewell tour of inspection. To your correspondent the Commandant imparted the first intimation that he gives up the present command and leaves Canada on June 1 next.

His orders to this effect were received on the train between here and Toronto.

Being asked as to his future, he gave assurance, however, that he would not succeed his brother Ballington as the head of the Army in the States.

Questioned concerning the secession of Ballington Booth from the Salvation Army, he only expressed regret at the occurence, and justified the General's action in the matter. He admitted being in New York incognito for a week, in a vain endeavor to preserve the allegiance of his brother Ballington.

THE BOOTHS AND THE ARMY.

"God's American Volunteers" is the Name of Ballington's New American Organization in the United States—Their Standard.

New York, March 14.—"God's American Volunteers" is the name of Commander Booth's new organization of seceders from the Salvation Army. The name was decided on to-day, and announced to the newspaper reporters by Commander Booth himself. A standard has also been designed for the G. A. V.

Commander Booth gave a public audience to the reporters. In commenting on the facts briefly stated above, he made a speech. He said, in part: "The time has now arrived when we feel warranted in announcing the name that has been selected for the new movement. We have decided to call it 'God's American Volunteers,' and the symbolic letters will be shown. We have also decided on a flag. The standard of God's American Volunteers will be a white field, emblematical of purity, and in the centre a single large blue star, typical of truth. Centrally placed within the radius of the star is a white cross, emblematical of sacrifice for others. Above the star is the motto, 'The Lord My Banner,' while below it are the words, 'Post, No. One.' In the upper corner, near the staff, is an oblong blue field, showing 45 white stars, representative of the 45 States of the Union. The star will be surmounted by a golden eagle. God grant that the truth represented by this standard will prevail for all time."

Concerning the statement that Gen. William Booth had said that he could not except a member of his own family in making the transfers in the Army, and thereby destroy all discipline, Commander Booth said: "Neither I, nor Mrs. Booth, ever asked for any exception in our case. We did not write asking to be allowed to remain in America. All official relations between General Booth and myself are closed, and we are not entertaining any proposition with regard to our returning to the Army."

THE INQUEST WILL OPEN TO-DAY.

A Coroner's Jury Will Investigate the Brockville Tragedy.

Brockville, March 15.—The developments in the condition of Chief Rose are such as to give the physicians in attendance great hopes of pulling him through all right. In coughing he raised one of the shot which entered his breast. All the other wounded men are doing well. Lapointe is improving steadily. He has not displayed the least signs of insanity since his arrest. Constable Tinsley gives his version of the shooting. He says that his shot at Lapointe was not only fired before the latter's gun was discharged, but that it found its mark as he intended. He shot to kill. A large number of witnesses have been subpoenaed for the inquest on the murdered man Moore, which will be held on Monday night.

MILITIA MAY BE CALLED OUT

To Quell the Serious Conflict Between the Joggins Miners

Amherst, N.S., March 15.—The situation at Joggins' Mines over last Thursday's riot is unchanged, and there is no telling when work will be resumed. The excitement is intense. About 200 men have locked themselves in the P. W. A. Hall, and are in state of siege. Police Officers Macdonald and Carroll, with a number of constables, have attempted to arrest the ringleaders, but are powerless owing to the number they have to contend against, and it is reported that the militia will be called out. Food to the men in the hall is being supplied by persons who are taking their part.

CANTY, THE FENIAN, IS DEAD.

This Man Tried to Take Canada in 1866 but Lost His Property

San Francisco, March 15.—Major John C. Canty, the Fenian leader, died in Oakland yesterday. Canty assisted in planning the invasion of Canada by Irishmen in 1866. When the cause was lost he fled to New York. The English Government placed a price upon his head and confiscated his Canadian property, valued at $30,000. Canty was hunted by detectives for many years in the East, finally coming to California to live.

OUR CROWN LANDS DOMAIN.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS.

Interesting Figures as to Our Timber and Mineral Output—Discoveries of Gold—Causes of Lumber Depression.

The report of the Commissioner of Crown Lands was laid before the House on Friday and the following interesting summary of its chief contents is given: The area of Crown lands sold during the year was 35,209 acres, aggregating in value $37,213.23. The collections on account of these and sales of former years amounted to $42,583 91. There was also leased as mining lands under the leasing clauses of the Mines Act, 13 960 acres, on which, and on lands previously leased, rent amounting to $20,106.12 was collected. The total collections, therefore, on account of Crown lands were $69,690.03. The mining industry of the province is improving slowly but steadily. In the Sudbury nickel region there has not been any great demand for mining lands, as no new discoveries have been made, and the market for nickel during the year has not been such as to induce the establishment of any new works. The industry is, however, of great value to the settlers in that region by the employment it affords and the markets it creates for all kinds of agricultural produce, etc. It may be mentioned that the output of the nickel and copper mines in the Sudbury district last year when smelted in the furnaces was equivalent in metallic contents to 4,731,000 pounds copper and 4,631,768 pounds nickle, and the value, computed at the selling price at the works was $566,073. The industry gave employment to an average of 419 men, the amount paid in wages for labour being $210,690. In addition to this the works consumed very which gives employment to the settlers, who take small contracts to get out wood for the companies. Discoveries of gold continue to be made in different parts of the province, as in the Hastings district, Sudbury district, the region north of Lake Superior, and north-western part of the province around Lake of the Woods and Rainy Lake, and up the Seine river to Lac des Mille Lacs. This latter field has an area of about 2,000 square miles, the greater part of which has been as yet very imperfectly explored. The formations in which gold is principally found occur irregularly throughout a region of 100,000 square miles extending along both sides of the height of land from the eastern boundary of the province to the western, with a length of 700 miles and a breadth of 100 to 200 miles. Gold mining is largely limited as yet to the development work. A number of stamp mills have been erected, but at the present season of the year several of these are not running. It is altogether probable that on the opening of navigation those mills that are not now running and several new ones will be put in operation. The completion of a blast furnace at Hamilton will, it is confidently hoped, result in the establishment of a good local market for iron ores, and already some progress has been made in opening iron mines, notably in the County of Hastings and on the north shore of Lake Superior, in anticipation of this demand. The immense bodies of hematite ore on the Mattawin river, and of magnetic ore on the Atik-okan river in the western part of the province, when reached by railway communication, will supply ore excellent in quality and in quantity.

LARGE QUANTITIES OF CORDWOOD,

PRACTICALLY UNLIMITED

The total disbursements of the department on account of ordinary services and expenditure were $249,280.85. In addition to this there were special votes for the running of the diamond drill, colonization pamphlets, and recounting and remeasurement of saw logs on certain streams flowing into Lake Huron and in the Peterborough district, amounting to $15,045.03. The total collection for the year for woods and forests amounted to $893,179.86, in which there is included $76,579.73 on account of bonuses, and $61,493.49 on account of ground rents, leaving the net revenue from timber dues $715,106.64. The sawn lumber market has during the past year been in an inactive state, and there was a distinct break in the prices of all but the superior grades of lumber, which constitute not more than twenty to twenty-five per cent. of the total quantity of lumber produced at the present time in Canada and the North-Western States. The English market for board timber and deals has been fairly satisfactory and prices remunerative, but this is a very limited and conservative market, easily overstocked and demoralized, and takes only the very best qualities of timber and lumber. The principal market for Canadian sawn lumber is in the United States, and any overstocking or depression in that market is immediately felt by Canadian lumbermen. These markets have become enormously overstocked with inferior grades of lumber and it is this which has caused the present

UNFAVOURABLE CONDITION OF THE TRADE.

The circumstances which have led to this plethora of coarse, rough lumber are easily understood, and some of them may be noted. First, the removal of the duty on Canadian lumber passing into the United States enabled the coarse Canadian lumber to get into that market, and thus stimulated cutting closer, the consequence of which was that a largely increased percentage of coarse logs was taken out. Secondly, the prices which have recently been paid for limits have rendered it necessary, if a profit was to be obtained, that every log which could be got out with any expectation of a return should be cut and taken to the mills. Thirdly, during the summer of 1894 disastrous bush fires occurred in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and enormous quantities of pine timber were so badly scorched that in order to realize anything from it the timber had to be cut last winter. Accordingly, the western market, which in an ordinary year consumes a very large percentage of the cut of the North-Western States, was flooded with coarse lumber of an inferior quality largely in excess of what it could use as its normal supply. The consequence was that this coarse lumber overflowed in large quantities into the markets of the Eastern and Middle States, overstocking and demoralising them, until coarse lumber was a drug everywhere and prices broke. Fourthly, larger quantities of southern pine are being cut each year, and it is finding a market further and further north until now it is actually competing with Ontario coarse lumber in the United States as far north as the south shore of Lake Ontario.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A champion skating match is arranged between Bell and Jackson of Peterborough, McGuire of Havelock, and T. C. Ridpath of Lakefield, for the championship of the district. The race to take place at the rink on Monday evening of next week.

Mrs. Blomfield, who has been visiting Mrs. Wastell, of Penetanguishene, returned home last week.

Mr. Frederick Smiley, of Toronto, was in the village this week.

Mr. Jas. Gowanlock, of Toronto, was in the village Tuesday.

Mr. John Holmes, of the Burleigh Falls hotel, came down here on Tuesday.

There have been no trains since Saturday, mails very late and uncertain.

Miss Gordon and staff have again commenced work in R. Graham & Son's millinery and mantle rooms, arranging for their millinery opening, the announcement of which appears in the advertising columns.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Council met in the town hall on Monday evening. All the members present. Reeve Casement in the chair.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were received from J. B. Henderson, Ottawa; Mail Printing and Publishing Co., Toronto; E. L. Gibson, of the Tremont Hotel, for billiard license; from Lakefield brass band, asking for a grant of $40 for new instruments; John Bevins, city clerk, Toronto; Dumble & Leonard, re island No. 8; W. Sherin, re school moneys; John H. Balderson, Railways and Canals, Ottawa.

On motion the communications were received.

The auditors' report was then read.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Braden, that the auditors' report be received and published according to law.—Carried.

On motion, the Finance Committee recommended payment of the following accounts:

J Cooper	$ 8 10
J Edwards	34 05
Village clerk's supplies	4 66
A Bell, charity	3 00
T G Webster, charity
Madill Bros., electric light	71

The report was adopted on motion of Councillors Hull and Moore.

The following letter was received from the Department of Railways and Canals:

A. Bell, Esq., Clerk Municipal Council, Lakefield:

SIR,—I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 21st inst., transmitting a copy of a resolution adopted by the municipal council of the village of Lakefield on the 20th inst., and requesting to be furnished with a plan of the proposed high level bridge over the Trent Canal on Bridge street and the approaches thereto.

In reply I have to inform you that if you will make application to Mr. Rogers, the Superintending Engineer of the Canal, he will show you a plan of the proposed bridge.

I am sir,
Your obedient servant,
JNO. H. BALDERSON,
Secretary.

Mr. Jas. Wilson addressed the council re removing stones on William street.

Mr. Frederick Smiley, of Toronto, addressed the council re advertising this district for summer tourists, and asking a grant from the council for this purpose of $50.00.

Moved by Messrs. Hull and Moore, that the matter referred to by Mr. Wilson be left in the hands of the Road and Sidewalk Committee.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Braden and Lillicrap, that Councillors Hull, Moore and Braden be a committee to to meet Lakefield Band re their request for a grant of $40 to purchase instruments, and report to this council at next meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Lillicrap and Braden, that this council take $50 worth of space in the Canadian Summer Resort Guide Book for 1896, published by the Summer Resort Publishing Co., as per terms of their letter to this Council.—Carried.

By-law No. 861, to borrow $300.00 to meet the current expenditure of the corporation and school board, passed its several readings.

The committee appointed on electric light, presented the following report:

To the Reeve and Council of the Municipality of Lakefield.

GENTLEMEN,—Your committee appointed to report on the petition of J. P. Strickland and others, for better electric light service, beg to report as follows:

That the service is unsatisfactory, both to private citizens and the village.

That your committee think the offer of the Electric Light Co of $400.00 per annum for 6 arc lamps too high, and cannot recommend a continuation of the service unless it is very much improved.

R. H. Braden,
Chairman.

On motion councillors Lillicrap, Hull and the clerk were appointed a committee to give necessary information to the Summer Resort Co. for publication in the Summer Resort guide.

Mr. W. M. Graham asked the council if the petition now in circulation in the village re. changing the route of the Trent Valley Canal from the west to the east side of the river was officially recognised by the council. He was answered no, that it was a personal or private petition. On asking the council what was the object of the petition, the reply was that they objected to the high level bridge, and they wanted a swing bridge put in instead on Bridge street.

The council on motion then adjourned.

SCHOOL BOARD.

A regular meeting of the school board was held in the town hall on Wednesday evening of last week. Present—Dr. D. Fraser in the chair, and Messrs. R. Q. Dench, Levi Payne, Dr. J. R. Fraser, and W. McDonald.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed.

The secretary reported that John Lemay had been paid $55 on wood account.

Moved by Messrs. McDonald and Payne, that payment of $55 to John Lemay on wood account be confirmed, and that the balance be paid him when the contract is filled satisfactorily to the Property Committee.—Carried.

Mr. W. A. Evan's report for the month February was read showing the attendance as follows,—Ward, on roll 37, average 27; Form I, on roll 53, average 34; Form II, on roll 64, average 42; Form III, on roll 55, average 42; Form IV, on roll 43, average 34.

The Principal's report was on motion adopted.

A communication was read from Mr. J. Succee, of Bridgenorth, regarding a non-resident pupil.

Moved by Dr. Fraser and Mr. Dench, that the secretary be instructed to write Mr. Succee to produce the legal writing by which he gave up his child to the grandmother, Mrs. A. Moore, for adoption, as otherwise the Board cannot depart from its well-recognized position with regard to non-resident children.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Fraser and Mr. McDonald, —That the boundary division between the ward school and lowest division in the brick school be Reid street from the river to Concession street, down Concession street to Oxford street, then east on Oxford street to School Section boundary, so as to equalize the attendance of pupils in these two rooms as nearly as possible, the change of pupils to take place at Easter holidays.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Fraser and Mr. Payne,—That the Council of the Village of Lakefield be requested to place to the credit of this School Board the sum of $200 for current expenses.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

YOUR "BAD BACK" RE-BACKED.

HOW IT IS DONE!

The pertinent question of the day is—Does your back ache? Is it lame?

Thousands suffer from what they commonly term "Bad back." When they walk or when they work, when they lie down or rise up, wherever they may be or whatever they may do, the old aching, paining, "lame back" worries and wearies and wears them out.

Few people understand the real cause of their aches, and fewer yet know how easily they can be cured.

Just a word of explanation.

The back is the key-note of the kidneys. When it aches that's a sign that the kidneys are not acting properly. When it is "lame," that indicates that the kidneys are clogged up.

Then all the poisonous products that it is the kidneys special duty to eliminate from the blood, are carried in the blood current to every organ and tissue of the body, bringing on many a kidney trouble which if neglected means disease.

Will you heed the timely warning the back gives you? Will you strike the enemy while you can strike hard? Doan's Kidney Pills are the little enemies of kidney disorders. They strike with no uncertain hand. Old backs and young backs are being "re-backed" and freed from never-ceasing pain and many a lame and shattered one, stooped and contracted, is strengthened and invigorated by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. GOSSIP BY CABLE.

Great Britain's Defence of Wady Halfa

IS A SYMPATHETIC MOVEMENT

In Behalf of Italy It May Involve Serious Consequences — The Advance Upon Dongola — How the Transvaal Pot Boils — Parliament is Dull Just Now.

New York, March 15.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune: It is in Africa, not in America, that shots are fired which involve serious consequences. The Italian defeat at Adowa has kindled the fires of fanaticism in the deserts, and made expedient a British demonstration of military force on the Nile. The defence of Wady Halfa by an advance to Dongola and the expulsion of the Dervishes seem a sympathetic movement in behalf of Italy, rather than a necessary precaution for the protection of Lower Egypt. Yet Lord Wolseley, who attended the last Cabinet meeting, must have advised it, and he knows the Nile valley and understands how explosive is the Mahdist enthusiasm after a victory. It hardly seems possible, although the day's Times plainly foreshadows it, that the occupation of Dongola points the way to the reconquest of the Soudan. In that event, Gordon's death would be avenged through Italy's reverses. England surely renders a great service to Italy's demoralized forces by this timely movement, which may tend either to quiet or to excite the Dervishes around Kassala and Suakim.

The following account of the advance upon Dongola is given on the authority of one conversant with the facts: "The Italians have been asking the English to make a diversion in their interests for a month past, but the Salisbury Government could not comply with the request until the recent catastrophe occurred. Then action became necessary. If Kassala were captured after the disaster at Adowa, the Dervishes would lead swarms of natives down the Nile and imperil Lower Egypt. The advance of the Egyptian troops upon Dongola is designed to prevent the fall of Kassala by drawing off the Dervishes to the northward. There is no present intention of occupying Khartoum and reconquering the Soudan. That would be a great undertaking, requiring a British expedition rather than Egyptian troops, which alone have been ordered to Dongola."

The pot in the Transvaal is still simmering, and Mr. Chamberlain has full occupation in keeping it from boiling over. President Kruger is apparently anxious to come to England, but suspicious that the Jameson trial has not been undertaken with sincerity. How long the Bow Street enquiry will last nobody ventures to forecast, but another adjournment on Tuesday is probable, and the case may drag along for weeks, until the officials return from South Africa with the testimony for which they were sent. Why there should be protracted delay in securing the committal of the accused for trial is inexplicable. The impression is general that the Government are more anxious to make a show of prosecuting than to convict the raiders. That may be an unjust suspicion, but it is not an unreasonable conclusion.

Parliament is the dullest show in London, the bores being prominent in debate and divisions devoid of interest. Mr. Balfour's rule is working admirably, and the financial discussion is well ordered. He himself is leading the House with dexterity and firmness, and is making no mistakes, but with a great majority behind him and no dangerous controversial subjects yet broached, that is not a remarkable record. Mr. Chamberlain was heard only once this week, but then to good advantage. His speech on the Ashantee campaign went far toward justifying what has seemed like a useless and unnecessary expedition, although his humor at the expense of the overthrow of the King was flippant. Lord Cranborne made a poor speech in moving the second reading of the Benefices Bill, urging that the church had suffered in reputation from abuses of patronage, and ought to be relieved on the narrow ground of expediency. There was no breadth in the argument of this narrow-minded pillar of the church party in behalf of a measure which forbids the sale of advowsons by auction and arms bishops with power to remove undesirable holders of livings. One of these incumbents he described as wrangling with everybody, refusing the sacrament to his own wife, and having a grudge against the local undertaker. The passage of this bill to its second reading by a majority of 178 astonished its promoters.

The Unionists have a wonderful chance this session to make a reputation for legislative industry. The Opposition are hardly worthy of the name. Lord Rosebery and Sir William Harcourt have each sought to encourage the Liberals outside of Parliament by popular oratory. The latter produced a better effect by his dignified yet aggressive speech than the former with his pleasantry. The question of Liberal reorganization, which has not yet been forced by Radicals like Sir Charles Dilke, Mr. Labouchere and Mr. Stanhope, will be considered at Huddersfield, but the faction feud has been a drawn fight, so far. One set of wirepullers has intrigued against another. The connection between the Liberal Central and the Federation Committees is a source of complaint among the more restless members of the party, and the whips' office is accused of exercising irresponsible control over the federation. These are minor details; larger measures for popularizing Liberalism and restoring party efficiency are required.

The bimetallist debate on Tuesday does not promise to bring out the full strength of the movement in the Commons. Mr. Balfour is not likely to take a stand where he belongs by conviction, and other members on the front Government bench who are known to be bimetallists will hardly show their colors. The amendment which Mr. Maclean will move and Sir John Lubbock will support is adroitly drawn. It will not demur to the proposal for an international conference, nor deny that the fluctuation in the values of gold and silver is injurious to trade, but will provide that England shall not be committed to any engagement which may endanger the maintenance of the gold standard. This rider will be accepted by the Government, and the whole debate will be barren of useful results.

HE HAD $15,000 IN HIS CLOTHES.

The Clever Capture of a New York Crook While Boarding the Steamer at Halifax for Europe.

Halifax, N.S., March 14.—Charles Stern, a fugitive from justice, was captured here this afternoon just after he had boarded a steamer to take passage for Liverpool. Concealed in his clothing was found nearly $15,000 in cash, drafts and bonds, and in a valise he carried about $2000 worth of jewels. The police of New York have been looking for Stern for about a week, and the arrest was made on a charge of grand larceny.

Detective Power, who made the arrest, pretended to be a ship employe, and when the stranger came aboard and produced a ticket made out in the name of D. Lieber, Power almost made up his mind that the passenger was not the one he sought. The passenger told a steward who was showing him to his room that he was a medical student from New York on his way to London to complete his studies. When this had been told to the detective he seized the man's valise, and said that he had better go with him to police headquarters. Stern made no objection. An hour afterwards the steamer left the wharf without Lieber on board.

At the station Chief O'Sullivan questioned the prisoner, who admitted that he was Charles Stern of New York. He was searched, and from all parts of his clothing were taken a remarkable collection of currency of 50 or more nationalities and of innumerable denominations. Besides bills issued by banks in many foreign countries, there were several United States, English and Russian national bonds, and there was also a draft issued by the Bank of Montreal on its London office for £943 and a few shillings.

There were notes of the Austro-Hungarian Bank, of the Canton Bank (Swiss), of the Zurich Canton Bank, Russian rouble notes, German treasury notes and Italian lire notes. There were bills bearing the names of the Gulden Netherlands Bank, the Bank of Java, the Bank of Finland, the Bank of Spain, the Bank of Hayti, the National Bank of Italy, the Bank of England and banking institutions in Belgium, Bulgaria, Newfoundland and France. United States banks were well represented, and also one or two of Canada.

As the paper currency came forth from all corners of the prisoner's clothing in wads, tied with strings and bound with rubber bands, the police officers' eyes opened wider and wider, and as the sum rolled into thousands they began to think the prisoner was very much wanted in New York.

Having completed the search of the prisoner's clothing, the bag in Stern's possession was examined. In this the officers found little bags of gold and silver, diamonds, and other jewelry of a value between $2000 and $3000. English sovereigns and American $5 gold pieces were numerous. The total value of the currency, drafts and jewels is placed between $14,000 and $15,000. It was gathered in a big bag and locked up in the chief's office, while Stern, who had by this time decided it was best not to talk any more, was locked up.

C. B. Richardson & Co. sent a telegram requesting that the officers take possession of all money found on the prisoner, and Chief O'Brien of New York asked that the prisoner be held for extradition proceedings. Late to-night Stern retained Mr. C. Hudson Smith as his counsel. It is understood that he will strenuously oppose every step taken by the prosecution to take him back.

New York, March 15.—Charles Stern was a broker in the city and is wanted here for having robbed a number of banking houses of large sums of money.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

THE NEW N. B. LIQUOR LAW.

Local Government Will Control the Licenses—Stringent Sunday Regulations.

Fredericton, N.B., March 15.—Three important bills were introduced in the Legislature on Saturday, one providing for a loan of four hundred thousand dollars for public improvements, another providing for a grant of $7500 a year for seven years towards the establishment of cold storage at St. John and other points. The third relates to the liquor business, the Government to take charge of the traffic. The retail licenses now are $150; the new bill increases them to $300. Wholesale, now $300, will be $500, and hotel licenses, of which there are to be six, $400 each. The licenses are to be issued by a Commissioner appointed by the Government, and there are to be inspectors for each place to enforce the law. The revenue is to be put into a general fund, and after all expenses are paid, the surplus to be divided equally between the city or municipality and the Government. In case the licensee is found guilty of selling on Sunday, his license shall be forfeited, in addition to a fine of $100. The bill is, altogether, very severe on illegal liquor selling. Hotels are allowed to serve bona fide guests on Sundays.

A DEEP SEA DIVER'S PERIL.

Captain Smith's Thrilling Experience While Under Fifty Feet of Water.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 14.—Capt. Charles Smith, the well-known submarine diver, had a thrilling experience to-day, while at work in his diving suit on the sunken hull of the Clara Post, wrecked off the Bridgeport Lighthouse in more than 50 feet of water. The diver was caught and pinioned by cross timbers that he had to cut away.

He gave the signal on the life line to rise, but the wreckage closed tighter around him, bursting the air pipes and shutting off the supply of air. The captain continuously tried the signals, but there was no response from above.

He found he was getting confused and exhausted from the great air pressure in his helmet and was about to give up, when the wreckage lurched and he found he could use his arms. He then grasped his ax and cut away for dear life. The tide helped him, and suddenly the whole mass of wreckage broke away.

In clearing himself he was head downward more than half the time. He finally rose to the surface and was soon taken care of.

RESCUED FROM INSANITY.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B. B. B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind.

I tried various doctors, both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to mention, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. the real cure for constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards, I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any returns of the disease.

I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever but a sure and certain cure as I can testify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort. Yours truly,

C. L. KILMER, Toronto.

AFTER TEN YEARS SUFFERING

Two Box Cure

MILVERTON, 23TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

Wednesday Night's Attraction.

The scene of Niagara Falls in the last act of "The Fast Mail," is the greatest view of reality, mechanical ingenuity, ever presented upon the stage of any theatre. The actual scene was so impressive that Lincol J. Carter immediately determined to produce it in his piece, "The Fast Mail," and with such gratifying results as to be pronounced perfect by the thousands who have seen and compared it to America's wonderful natural waterfall. This company appears at the opera house on Wednesday, March 18th.

Children's Aid Society.

A lady from Cavan came to town a few days ago with a little girl whom she placed in the hands of the Children's Aid Society. The child had been placed in this lady's house by her father, who lives in Keene (the mother having recently died). The society set to work to discover the facts, and this morning the circumstances were investigated in the Police Court. It appears that the father has neglected to pay the child's board, though he seems to be able to do so, and the magistrate so decided. Meanwhile, however, the child is in the custody of the society.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

A Day Dear to the Heart of Every Irishman.

To-morrow is St. Patrick's day, the festival of Ireland's Patron Saint. Historical hair-splitters have spent a good deal of time and research over the disputed point, whether St. Patrick was born in Scotland or Ireland. However this may be, St. Patrick is now possessed by the Irish in fee. He spent the greater part of his life in Ireland, and through him the Green Isle was brought under the banner of the Cross, and he is a sacred figure and an inspiration to the Irish heart. In memory of the Saint, a solemn high mass will be sung in St. Peter's Cathedral to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. Ven. Father Casey will give an address on St. Patrick. In the evening a concert and and lecture will be given in the Opera House in secular commemoration of the day.

To Tap Round Lake.

Two of our enterprising citizens, says the Havelock Standard, are contemplating the project of utilizing the waters of Round Lake for power purposes of every description. They believe that the water of Round Lake, situated as it is, some 100 feet above the level of Havelock, can be conveyed here at a nominal sum. We understand a survey will be made early this spring. This will place Havelock in a position to accommodate the many capitalists who have expressed their intention of locating here. This enterprise should receive the support of the township of Belmont in a liberal manner, as it will enhance the value of the country to an enormous extent. This is just an eye-opener, more later.

NICHOLLS HOSPITAL.

Operations Which Have Been Performed Lately.

Yesterday morning three fingers of the left hand of Frank Haker were amputated at the Hospital. Haker is from the Howry lumber camp and was driven 25 miles to Haliburton, where he took the train for Peterborough. His fingers were crushed in a logging chain.

Alvin Sutherland, a patient in the surgical ward of the hospital, has a sad story to tell of neglect in the back woods. He is a lumberman and a couple of months ago a tree fell upon him breaking his thigh. He lay in his bed at the camp for five weeks without seeing a doctor. At last in response to his urgent salutations he was sent in to the Nicholls Horpital, where it was found that the fractured bone had become knitted together without being set. The patient was put under chloroform and the bone re-broken. Four doctors were in attendance, but it was found impossible to remedy the evil which had resulted from the injury being left so long unattended. The leg is now about four inches shorter than its fellow and the foot points outward instead of forward. Sutherland states that he intends bringing an action against the Company by whom he was employed.

A most wonderful operation was recently performed at the Nicholls' Hospital, when a tumor, as large as a football, was removed from the back of a female patient's neck. The wound caused by the operation was completely healed in three weeks. The patient has just been discharged from the hospital as cured.

LAGRIPPE ON THE DECREASE.

Peterborough has not Much of it Now.

After a foothold of over one hundred and fifty years the mischief-working influenza is still on top, although, according to the testimony of Peterborough doctors, it is gradually losing its power. Authorities on medical science state that influenza first made its appearance in Italy in 1741. Since that time there has scarcely been a country in which the disease has not been epidemic. To come down to local history the king of colds has been invading the homes of Peterborough for the past five years. In 1890 the doctors were besieged with calls from those attacked, at first with slight colds, and who later found themselves prostrated with a mild type of the disease then raging in England. Since that time its effects have been gradually lessened, until to-day the doctors find it a difficult matter to draw the line between the disease itself and the heavy cold from which individuals are suffering at the present time.

Although the disease still exists the type is of a far less severe character and does not leave the serious after effects left by influenza in its inception here. The experience of the first few years had the effect of causing greater care to be exercised by the people. With the prospects of a siege of influenza confronting them, the family physician was consulted when symptoms of colds presented themselves and the result has been that its progress has been stayed to a considerable extent.

Any cases of real influenza that have appeared in Peterborough have been chiefly confined to adults. In many instances the after effects have been serious and not a few have proved fatal. Children have not escaped its blighting influences, although in the majority of cases severe colds have been construed into influenza. One of the doctors remarked to the Examiner that influenza was a very nice name to apply to nearly all of the lighter ailments from which people are suffering. Hence the general impression that influenza is as prevalent now as in the past.

CHURCH CHIMES.

St. Paul's choir has been strengthened by the addition of Mr. Herbert King's fine tenor voice.

Last night the anthem "Praise ye the Father" was admirably rendered in the Charlotte street church.

"Zion Awake" was the title of a pretty anthem rendered in the Charlotte street church yesterday morning.

Simper's beautiful anthem, "What Shall I Render unto the Lord," was most effectively handled by St. Paul's choir yesterday morning.

Rev. Mr. Pady conducted the services in the Park street church yesterday. At the evening service a very pretty anthem was sung by the choir.

Rev. Carl Smith preached the sermon at St. John's last night and Rev. E. V. Stephenson conducted the services at the St. John's Mission Chapel.

During the offertory in the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday Miss Hendren sang "Rock of Ages" as a solo in her usual effective manner.

At the George street Methodist church the morning anthem was entitled "Blessed be the Lord"—Burley, and the evening one "Sweet is the Work," by Mallory.

A quartette composed of Messrs. Steers, J. Miller, E. Parsons and W. J. Squires, sang "Throw Out the Life Line" with admirable shading last evening in the Charlotte street church.

Rev. J. E. Trotter, the pastor, took both services at the Murray street church, yesterday. In the afternoon the attendance at the Sunday school reached high water mark.

Last evening, Dudley Buck's "Evening Hymn" was taken by St. Paul's choir so effectually as to bring out all its exquisite beauty of shading. The anthem was sung unaccompanied.

In the George street Methodist church, last evening, the members of the congregation were greatly pleased by the marked harmony of a rendering by a sextette composed of Mrs. Seward, Miss Pascoe, Miss Butcher, Miss Lumsden Miss McGuire and Miss Ritchie.

THE REMEDIAL BILL.

Anxiety as to How Peterborough Representatives Will Vote.

It is generally conceded that the vote on the Remedial Bill, which requires Manitoba to modify if not repeal her school act of 1890, will come to a vote in the House of Commons on Wednesday. The whole country is anxious as to the issue of the voting.

The people of East and West Peterborough are particularly anxious as to the attitude their representatives have taken upon this question. This anxiety is all the greater from the fact that during the time the matter has engaged the attention of the House, neither Mr. Burnham nor Mr. Stevenson has spoken on the subject; so that no means of gauging their position in reference to the Remedial Bill was to be obtained from their uterances in the House.

Consequently, it was no wonder that these gentlemen, during their visit home on Saturday, were to be seen in close and animated and frequent consultation with many of their constituents, who were anxious to discover where their representatives stood upon the question. From what could be gathered it appears that both Mr. Burnham and Mr. Stevenson have decided to stand by the government and vote for the Remedial bill. For some time forecasts have been made of the nature and personnel of the vote that would be recorded and the prophets have somehow failed to agree upon a classification of Messrs. Burnham and Stevenson in their relation to the bill. But it seems that there is no longer any ground for speculation—both will vote for the bill—and now the electors know the worst—or best, as they may respectively view it—in relation to the attitude of the representatives of East and West Peterborough upon the Remedial bill. They will cast a straight vote for it, though it may be difficult to say where Mr. Stevenson will be found if the vote should prove to be a tie.

LOCAL LEGAL.

The following is from the report of the legal proceedings before the Court of Appeal, Toronto, on Friday: Rutherford vs. Rutherford.—Moss, Q. C., for plaintiff, appealed from order of Street, J., varying judgment in auction for sale of land to satisfy legacy charged upon it, upon motion of parties made defendants upon the reference. Charles Rutherford, deceased, devised his farm to his son, Charles J. Rutherford, subject to certain interests, who mortgaged the east half of it to J. Rutherford and W. R. Shields. The plaintiff, Sophia Rutherford, brought this action for the sale of the east half of the farm to satisfy a legacy which she alleges is charged against it under the will and by agreement herself and Charles J. Rutherford has been fixed at $400 and she obtained judgment for sale. Rutherford and Shields claim that the legacy upon the proper construction of the will is charged upon the whole farm and not upon the east half in question. The order appealed from provided for bringing all the parties interested in the land before the court in the action for adjudication upon proper construction of the will. Watson, Q. C., and G. Edmison (Peterborough), for Rutherford and Shields, contra. Reserved.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." Mrs. Dalton, 58 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the public eye today. It is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. 25c.

The Pearl of Great Price

To women is beauty. Beauty, the key that unlocks every door, commands deference, inspires homage. But beauty of face cannot satisfy unless the additional grace, beauty of teeth, adds its charm. Fine teeth, sweet breath, rippling laughter—three graces that always go together. Ivorine imparts dazzling pearly like whiteness, removes discolouration and tartar from the teeth, and renders the breath as fragrant as flowers.

St. Patrick's Day Concert.

The concert which takes place to-morrow evening, in honour of the day, under the joint auspices of the E. B. A. and C. L. A., promises to be the most successful St. Patrick's Day concert, held in Peterborough in years. The talent engaged for the occasion is of an exceptionally high order, and includes Mr. J. A. Devlin, B.A., Sc. B. C.L., of Aylmer, Que.; Prof. A. C. Mounteer, of Toronto; Eddy Pigott, Toronto's humourist; Miss E. Maud Monaghan, Miss N. Lewis, Lily Simons, Thos. Dunn and D. Gordon.

Wedding Bells.

Between thirty and forty guests assembled at the residence of Mr. John Tedford, Burleigh Falls, on Wednesday evening last, the occasion for the gathering being the marriage of his eldest daughter, Miss Annie, to Mr. William F. Frankish, son of Mr. Francis Frankish, of the Township of Douro. Rev. Mr. Limbert, of Lakefield, performed the ceremony. The bride, who was tastefully attired, was assisted by Miss Lillie Frankish, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Robert Tedford brother of the bride. After the ceremony the guests sat down to the usual wedding repast. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful wedding presents.

The Close Season.

Action should at once be taken regarding the close season for maskinonge and bass. For some years this close season has been monstrously bungled, and the latest regulations were the worst of all. It is not quite certain what the date is at present, but the last arrangement of May 15th to July 1st was wrong, absurdly wrong, at both ends. For the two weeks in May the bass were slaughtered while spawning along the shores. The best dates agreed upon by all who, through long observation of the habits of the fish in these waters, are competent to speak, are April 15th to June 15th, and a further needed regulation is the stoppage of the sale of bass from Dec. 1st to June 15th. The peculiar condition of the ice on the lakes, being flooded with water, has this season shut off the wholesale slaughter of the fish through the ice. Mr. Fairbairn is now at Ottawa, and would certainly give prompt attention to any suggestions on the matter properly forwarded to him.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The Belleville Sun says: "The Madoc train, which is due in this city about 8.30 a.m., did not arrive this morning until 11.30, the cause of the delay being on account of the storm and owing to an accident which happened near West Huntingdon. The snow had badly blocked the track, making it impassible in many places and necessitating the use of snow shovels by the train hands. When near West Huntingdon the passenger coach suddenly left the track, and those in it received a fright which they will not forget in a short time. The car did not completely turn over, but remained turned up slightly on edge, and the passengers were able to leave the coach none the worse for what might have been a very serious accident had the train been running fast. The snow-plough from Belleville was telegraphed for and came out and cleared the track. The passenger coach was left at West Huntingdon, and the passengers, eight gentlemen and one lady, came on to the city on the smoking car. Mr. J. R. Mikel, of this city, traveller for Mr. H. Corby, was a passenger on the train, and in conversation to-day said that those in the car received a bad fright."

—People who ride bicycles, say the acquired hump comes mighty handy in shovelling snow.

—Old residents say that the prospects are promising for a flood this spring if the snow remains much longer.

—Several good photographic views of the railway wreck in Ashburnham a week ago are to be seen in Ford's studio window.

—Locomotive No. 158, which was so badly dismantled in the railway run-off, is still standing on a siding in the Dickson lumber yard.

—Ditches have been excavated in the snow at the sides of the streets along the base of the hills in town in order that the water may be carried off when the spring thaw sets in.

—Howry & Son, of Fenelon Falls, have made a sale of 8,000,000 feet of lumber to Buffalo dealers. It is to be shipped at once and will make business lively on the Victoria branch for a time.

—"CALLA LILY" is the choicest kind of a family flour. d

Consumptives Should Neglect

No means of ameliorating their disease. Cod liver oil is acknowledged one of the most valuable remedies in pulmonary complaints. That, however, it be employed in such a form as to be easily digested is imperative. It is just here that the entire superiority of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites asserts itself. Maltine itself possesses nutritive value equal to cod liver oil, but more important to the sufferer of bronchitis, colds, consumption, is the great digestive power of maltine upon all foods of a starchy nature. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is, in brief, a food of great value in emaciation and and wasting diseases; a medicine possessing the remedial power of cod liver oil; a digestive agency of active potency; a restorer of the debilitated. Try it for two weeks.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Down at the Rink Amongst the Curlers and the Hockeyists—Other Items of Interest.

CURLIANA.

The point match of the Thistle curling club will be played to-night, beginning at 7.30.

The Lindsay curlers attended St. Andrew's church there last night in a body to hear their annual sermon preached to them by Rev. J. W. McMillan, the chaplain of the club.

On Tuesday next the game between Peterborough and Lindsay, twelve rinks a side, will likely be played. Six rinks will play in Peterborough in the afternoon, and two in Lindsay in the afternoon and four in the evening.

HOCKEY.

The Riverside Park skating rink was crowded on Saturday afternoon to witness the game between the Auburn and Edison clubs. As will be remembered last year the game was hotly contested, being won by the Edisons by a score of 4 to 3. The game on Saturday was a fast one from the start and for some time both goals were in danger alternately. The Edisons scored the first goal in about twenty minutes When the referee called half time, however, the game stood one to five in favour of the Auburne. In the second half the Auburns had it all their own way and scored three to their opponents one, thus winning by six goals. The game was witnessed by about three hundred friends of both sides. The teams lined up as follows:

Edisons.		Auburns.
F McKee	goal	H Carleton
B Shambo	point	J Doris
D Hillier	cover point	W Robinson
E Sawers	forwards	G Hayes
B Crossley		L McWilliams
B O'Brien		W Cochrane
F Matchett		P Clarke

P Kelly—Referee.

The return match will be played Saturday afternoon at the Park rink.

The Riverside rink is being well patronized lately. The ice is now sprinkled every day.

The hockey match between the Keenites and the Park rink, which was to have been played Wednesday evening, is declared off, the Keene club having a game on with the Millbrooks.

A hockey team from Hall, Gilchrist & Co's establishment accept the challenge of Adam Hall's "Giant T" team, and are willing to play on Thursday night next.

The game of the season comes off on Wednesday evening, when LeBrun & Co's team plays the Peterborough Hardware Co's seven. The members of the respective firms will appear in full regalia.

A team of Lindsay juniors came over on Saturday for a game of hockey with the Central Colts and were beaten by the score of 7—3. As will be seen the Central Colts reinforced their team for the occasion by playing King, Lewis and Dolan. The two sevens were composed as follows:—

Lindsay.		Central Colts.
Fred Lennon	goal	Harry King
Robert Bell	point	K Dolan
Fred Taylor	cover point	N Lewis
F Trombley	forwards	Kennedy
W Wardrake		Foy
A Simpson		Ferguson
S Shannon		H. Hilman

Referee—C Graham.

The scoring for the Lindsays was done by Trombley, Simpson and Taylor, and for the Peterboroughs by Lewis and Hollihan.

Peterborough hockey enthusiasts are on the qui vive of excitement over the fact that arrangements have been made to bring the Electrics of Toronto here for a game on Thursday next. The Electrics are too well known as a crack team to need special mention being made concerning their merits.

The Limestones of Kingston would like to come to Peterborough for a game. They are a gentlemanly lot of fellows and play a fast game.

The Volts are making arrangements to bring the Bellevilles here this week for a match.

The II Peterboroughs go to Oshawa tomorrow.

The Buffers and Business College team play hockey to-night at the rink. Puck faced at 10 p. m.

THE WHEEL.

The greatest obstacle that Quebec will find in her path in her efforts to secure the the meet, says the Toronto Globe, will be the high rates which the railway companies have decided to impose. Mr. A. F. Webster, Chairman of the Transportation Committee, was in Montreal last week interviewing the managers of both the leading lines, but with poor result, as he was unable to get anything like the rates that he had expected to obtain. The representatives of both the G.T.R. and C.P.R. assured him that the lowest rate they could possible grant the C. W. A. for their meet was on a basis of 3 cents a mile from places East of Detroit for the first 20 miles, and 1 cent per mile each way after the above had been deducted. The fare from Toronto to Quebec at that rate would be $10.30, the distance being 505 miles. In the opinion of Mr. Webster this high rate will undoubtedly hurt Quebec's chances, and there is no prospect of the railroad people abating a jot.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says,—That much-talked-of man from Peterborough, G. J. Horkins, was in town on Tuesday interviewing the local bicycle men with a view to securing members for the Canadian Wheelmen's Association. Nearly all our local wheelmen signed the roll and paid the membership fee, which means that Peterborough will secure that many more votes for the annual meet, which takes place on Dominion Day in each year. The rivalry between Peterborough and Quebec for the meet is very keen, and our borean neighbour is pushing every device in order to secure it. We were induced by Horkins to invest 50 cents in the scheme, and if Peterborough gets the meet, we won't want our money back.

PERSONAL.

Miss Flavelle, of Lindsay, is visiting friends in town.

Miss "Tottie" Hurley is visiting in Otonabee, the guest of Mrs. Stewart.

Miss E. J. White, of Lindsay, is in town on a visit with friends for a few days.

Mr. Howard Macgachan had his brother from Lindsay with him for Saturday.

Miss Ella Christie is spending a few days in Norwood as the guest of Miss Roxburgh.

Mr. Ad. Hull, of Smith, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Lucknow, Ont., has returned home.

Miss Walker, who has been the guest of Mrs. Crane, Gilmour street, has returned to her home in Ottawa.

Rev. Mr. Cragg is leaving for Aldersville, where will take charge of the Methodist church at that place for the next three months.

The Belleville Ontario says.—Mr. Clide Longshore of the International Stock and Commission Co., returned from Peterborough last night where he has been for the past week. He reports business good and has appointed John Parker, of Montreal as manager of the branch office there.

The Cobourg Post says,—Mr. P. Owens, of Peterborough, officiated at the organ in St. Peter's church on Sunday last. On Monday at four o'clock, Mr. Owens gave an organ recital, when many of the congregation had the pleasure of hearing that gentleman perform a number of selections. His playing was greatly appreciated."

KILLED POWELL FOR HIS MONEY

Wayne Says the Weapon Was a Piece of Rock in a Stocking.

Hempstead, L.I., March 13.—John Wayne, one of the Powell murderers, made a confession before a Pinkerton detective. Detective Kavanaugh of Long Island City, and others, in the Queen's County Jail to-day. He stated that he and Arthur Mayhew killed Powell with a piece of rock placed in a stocking. The greatest excitement prevailed in Hempstead when the fact of the confession became known. Many threats were uttered of lynching the negroes when they are brought to Hempstead before the coroner's jury next Wednesday night.

THREE ALLEGED BURGLARS.

An Important Arrest at Hamilton—Swag in Prisoners' Possession.

Hamilton, March 13.—(Special.)—Detectives Coulter and Bleakley to-night arrested Stanley Niblott, Morris Niblott and Harry Marshall on a charge of burglarizing the residence of Hiram Lampman of Winona Monday. Articles stolen were two gold rings two gold bracelets, four silk handkerchiefs and a silver badge, and the officers found a portion of these in the possession of the prisoners when they arrested them in the east end of the city. Stanley Niblott has served four years in Penetang.

Burglars entered the office of the People's Coal Company to-night on King street west, but didn't get any booty, as there were no valuables in the office.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

There was a light run to-day at the Western yards, the total being 26 carloads, including 100 head of sheep and lambs and 1000 hogs. The demand was good for choice cattle, but offerings as a rule not very good. A few picked lots brought 3½c per lb., and fair loads 3¼c per lb. Medium cattle rule at 3c, and inferior at 2c to 2½c. Bulls for export are quoted at 3c, and choice shipping cattle are nominal at 4c per lb.

Milch cows are unchanged at $20 to $35 each, and calves steady, with sales at $3 to $6.50, the latter for choice.

Sheep are steady, with prices ruling at 2½c to 3c per lb. Lambs are firm, there being sales at 3¾c to 4¼c per lb., the latter for extra choice.

Hogs are unchanged, but inclined to be weaker. The best sold at $3.87, weighed off cars. Thick fats are quoted at $3.70 to $3.75 per cwt.; stores at $3.50 to $3.75 per cwt.; sows at $3.25 and $3.30, and stags at $2 to $2.25.

SUGAR IS NOW GETTING SCARCE.

The American Refiners Will Have to Get a Supply of Beet Sugar from Germany.

New York, March 13.—Secretary John E. Searles of the Sugar Trust said to-day: "Unless the Cuban war ends at once the sugar crop from the island will be practically nothing. It is now very ripe, and must have attention at once or not at all. While the insurgents agreed to protect the milling of 200,000 tons of sugar by their friends, the Spaniards, in turn, will prevent the milling of the crop of the friends of the insurgents.

"The American Sugar Refining Company will, therefore, be obliged to seek its sugar elsewhere. It will obtain most of it in the form of beet sugar from Germany."

MONEY IN OLD CANADIAN STAMPS.

A Hamilton Man Pays $1320 for Two of Them in Boston.

Boston, March 13.—Two little pieces of paper, which, when originally issued by the Canadian Government, were valued at 12d each, were sold by auction last night in this city for $1320. The price was the largest given for any single lot of stamps in the three days' sale which closed to-night. All Canadian stamps of the issue of 1851 are rare, but these two 12d stamps are believed to be the only unused ones of the kind printed on laid paper. The stamps were purchased by Mr. Needham of Hamilton, Ont., who sold these same stamps to the company holding the auction and got $1500 for them. Mr. Needham also bought a number of other Canadian stamps at prices ranging from $10 to $185. A five-cent St. Louis, 1845-46, which is a postmaster's provincial issue, sold for $231, while a 10-cent specimen, the same date, brought $105.

S.O.E. SUPREME GRAND LODGE.

Important Amendments Have Been Made to the Constitution.

Peterboro', March 13.—(Special.)—The Sons of England Grand Lodge dealt with the proposed amendments to the constitution to-day, and several important changes were adopted. It was decided to form district councils, after a lengthy discussion, and a district deputy can no longer hold office in a subordinate lodge while occupying the position of district deputy.

Several modifications of advantage to members were made in the regulations governing fees.

A night session is being held to deal with the question of the establishment of an official organ, and the Grand Lodge will likely conclude its annual meeting late to-night or early in the morning.

SHE BURNED HERSELF TO DEATH

The Frightful Method of Suicide Adopted by an Insane Woman.

Paulsboro', N.J., March 13.—Mrs. Joseph Featherer, a middle-aged woman living in Bridgeport, near here, committed suicide to-day by burning herself to death. She saturated her clothing with kerosene and then set herself on fire. Before help came the woman was so badly burned that she died shortly afterwards. Insanity is supposed to have been the cause.

Detroit's Big Blaze.

Detroit, March 13.—The losses by last night's fire in the Wayne Company Savings Bank building will probably not exceed $400,000, which is partly covered by insurance. Detroit Commandery, No. 1, Knights Templar, who occupied the top floor, are the heaviest losers. The furniture and fittings were valued at $25,000, and are a total loss. The 300 dress uniforms in the lockers are also more or less injured, and the loss on them will be heavy. The damage to the building was about $20,000.

Nice, March 13.—Emperor Francis Joseph to-day visited Queen Victoria and had a private conversation with her.

ITALY AND ABYSSINIA.

The Situation is Still Extremely Serious —No Proceedings Against Crispi.

New York, March 13.—A special to The Herald from Rome says: The Marquis Di Rudini has promised the King not to take any proceedings against Signor Crispi.

The ex-Premier has informed his friends that His Majesty will insist upon an energetic prosecution of the campaign until Menelek has been crushed. There is good reason, however, for supposing this to be incorrect. General Baratieri will arrive at Naples on March 24, and will come to Rome immediately. It is now improbable that he will be tried by court martial.

The situation in Abyssinia is still extremely serious. Everything depends on the results of General Baldissera's efforts.

Crispi will make strenuous efforts to overthrow Di Rudini as soon as Parliament meets.

Women and Degrees.

London, March 13.—Dr. Besant has issued a circular to the Senate of Cambridge University, advising them to imitate the example of Harvard University, and found a woman's university, which may confer degrees upon women.

A Presbyterian Pioneer Dead.

Windsor, March 12.—Rev. A. Waddell, one of the pioneers of Presbyterianism in Western Ontario, died at his home in Blenheim yesterday. Deceased first took charge of the Harwich pastorate in 1854, and continued in such until 1890, when he had to resign owing to his enfeebled condition. During his ministry he had to take charge of several small congregations near Blenheim, and had to walk through the forests to hold services. His funeral will take place to-morrow at Blenheim.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Burnett.

Whitby, March 12.—Mrs. Burnett, wife of the Liberal candidate in South Ontario, Mr. Leonard Burnett of Greenbank, Township of Reach, died very suddenly last night while returning home in a sleigh with her husband from the house of Hon. John Dryden, her brother, near Brooklin. A bursting of a blood vessel is supposed to have been the cause of death.

HE IS ON HIS WAY TO CANADA.

Sir Henry Stafford Northcote, Charity Commissioner for England, in New York.

New York, March 13.—Sir Henry Stafford Northcote, who is charity commissioner for England and Wales, arrived to-day on the Germanic. He is en route to Canada. He is the second son of Stafford Henry, the first Earl of Iddesleigh, and a brother of the present Earl. The latter is now chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Inland Revenue. Sir Henry is a member of Parliament for Exeter, and is now 50 years old. He will make a tour of the United States before he returns home.

ALL BLOCKED UP WITH SNOW.

Farmers are Having Great Difficulty in Getting to London.

London, Ont., March 13.—The country roads leading into this city, especially those running north and south, are almost impassable in many places within a radius of 10 miles from this city. The heavy winds in the early part of the week have drifted the snow many feet high in some spots. Comparatively little produce or wood has come into the city since Tuesday, and in nearly every case the farmer has had a difficult time in getting through.

Trying to Tax the Goulds.

New York, March 13.—The Supreme Court having decided that the Goulds are not residents of this city, the $10,000,000 assessment levied on them has been taken from the tax books. They have informed the tax commissioners, however, that they are willing to pay a tax on $2,500,000, which they allege through their lawyers is just and they will be taxed accordingly.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the 'Pleasant Pellets' is that they cure permanently.

Continued Progress.

... THE ...

Canada Life Assurance Co.

Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.

New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business in Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894	$24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared	$8,041,000

or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

J. R. STRATTON, Examiner Office

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. One man in a hundred is perfectly healthy. The other 99 have some digestive trouble, and perhaps more than 50 per cent. of these could trace their trouble to that most prevalent evil—constipation. It's a simple thing of itself, but like many simple things, it may grow and become complicated. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. There is no reason save that of carelessness why it should cause the trouble that it does. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. Nature is not a dray-horse and should not be overworked. Nature is systematic. Some little thing may interfere with the system, and cause serious derangement. The removal of this little impediment sets the wheels working again without any trouble.

This is exactly what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. The use of the "Pellets" doesn't derange the system in any way, and once it is in order, you can stop taking them. There are unscrupulous druggists, who will tell you that something else is "just as good." They are mistaken—or worse. Whether they are ignorant or untruthful matters little to you if you do not get the "Pellets." Insist on getting what you ask for.

IN B.C.'S EARLY DAYS.

THE UPPER CARIBOU MINE OWNER MEANT NO OFFENSE.

Rich and Racy Stories of the Happy-Go-Lucky Days When the Canadian Pacific Coast Country Was Young to Modern Civilization.

This happened in the early days of British Columbia, when the luxuries of life, brought at great expense from England, rarely penetrated into the interior. A member of the bar in Victoria had occasion to go to San Francisco. His room-mate on the steamer southward was a large mine owner from the upper Caribou country.

On the first morning after departure Mr. L—— received an unpleasant shock. He was awakened by the early descent of his room-mate from the upper bunk and kept awake by the noisy evolutions incident to a toilet in a storm at sea. When he was able to keep oth eyes open without blinking he was horrified to see that the gentleman from Caribou was making free use of his personal belongings. He had placidly taken Mr. L——'s brushes from his toilet-case and was applying them in the way the brush manufacturers had presupposed they should be used, but hardly in a manner to bring joy into the heart of the lawyer from Victoria. He refrained from injunction, however, remembering that mine owners are clients to a prosperous extent. He lay in his bunk in a condition of volcanic helplessness, while the Caribou gentleman helped himself to the lawyer's nail brush, whisk and, with naive enjoyment, to his manicure articles. Finally he reached over and pulled out the tooth brush from its bottle.

Mr. L—— had a spasm.

"Hold on, there!" he choked, "that's mine."

"Oh, I beg your pardon," said the mine owner, contritely, "I thought it belonged to the boat."

BILL NYE'S LAST SKETCH.

Strange to Say It Was an Event of His Boomerang Line.

Some years ago, it will be remembered, the great national economizers at Washington had a sudden spasm of retrenchment, which resulted in shutting off appropriations in the Department of Justice. This left United States Marshals the cheerful alternative of footing the bills out of their own pockets or of stopping the machinery of old, even handed justice. The marshal suddenly found himself without funds and a year at least ahead of him before another session of Congress could do him any good if it wanted to. As a general thing the United States Marshal is not prepared to shoulder the financial burdens of the country at five minutes' notice and loan the National Treasury the money to administer speedy justice for a year at a time. So they did the best they could—cut down expenses, borrowed of their friends and stood off the balance till Congress met. It was a time to try men's souls.

At that time the marshal of Wyoming, one of the most genuine gentlemen of German descent that I ever knew—and I've known a good many of them—was necessarily absent from the Territory. One afternoon, while the warden was over in town buying beef for the prisoners, word was brought to the guard that the "Kid" was sick in his cell, very sick. The guard got something hot from the kitchen, and, accompanied by the cook, an eminent life member of the penitentiary, went to the "Kid's" cell to administer it.

As he handed the soup to the patient he got a push from behind, and pretty soon the "Kid" and the cooker were taking his revolvers and bunch of keys from his person, while they sat on top of him and held his nose down in the blankets. They then went out of the cell and locked the guard in. He told me afterward that the "Kid's" recovery was the most sudden transition from dangerous illness to vigorous health that he ever knew. When other guards or the wardens appeared during the afternoon, they were cordially met at the portals by armed convicts, who escorted them to their dungeons and carefully locked them in.

So, along about 3 o'clock, the United States Penitentiary was in charge of the gentlemanly murderers and highwaymen of the Rocky Mountains. They did not rush off into the adjoining country at once, but lingered around the pen, and enjoyed themselves. The penitentiary is located across the river from the town, and so it was not disturbed. The striped humorists proceeded to harness up the marshal's best team to a spring wagon and to load the latter with all the delicacies of the season. They also took along several rifles and double-barreled shotguns, a tent and a fine bird dog, intending to rusticate in the mountains for a few months in order to enjoy much-needed rest and a change of scene.

After dusk they told the warden and guards that they were sorry to see young men of such high social position in such a place, but offered to intercede for them with the Governor, left the keys outside the big portals and went reluctantly away. We used to hear of them for a long time afterward on the road. All they seemed to do for a living was to trade horses with people. When they saw a horse that they fancied, they would most generally kinder dicker around with the owner until they got it.

In this way they made a good deal of money. Ever and anon some Laramie City man would come home with a wornout, foundered horse that he had secured in return for a $500 steed in one of these trades.

They had a real good time for quite a long spell, and the pure, crisp air brought back the flush of health to their wan cheeks.

They shot sage hens and caught mountain trout in pleasant weather, and when they got worn out with ennui, they would go out and trade horses with the stage coach.

One day they met the sheriff and stumped him for a trade. While they were haggling about it, a squad of the sheriff's party slid up and captured the whole outfit. When they were taken back to the pen, and the "Kid" laid down his arms at the request of the marshal, he said: "Major, I weaken. You've got the bulge on me. After all, there's no place like home. We've taken up arms agin our fellow man and got left. 'The pen is mightier than the sword.'"

WASTING YOUR LIFE.

Failure of Physical and Mental Force—To Add to Length of Life—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said:—

"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life."

To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.

But whence cometh sure and timely help? If death is preventible, how?

The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup positively cures coughs, colds, asthma, hoarseness, bronchitis, and all diseases of the pulmonary organs.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. Wood's Phosphodine.—The Great English Remedy.

Is the result of over 25 years treating thousands of cases with all known drugs, until at last we have discovered the true remedy and treatment—a combination that will effect a prompt and permanent cure in all stages of Sexual Debility, Abuse or Excesses, Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Mental Worry, Excessive Use of Opium, Tobacco, or Alcoholic Stimulants, all of which soon lead to Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Wood's Phosphodine has been used successfully by hundreds of cases that seemed almost hopeless—cases that had been treated by the most talented physicians—cases that were on the verge of despair and insanity—cases that were tottering over the grave—but with the continued and persevering use of Wood's Phosphodine, these cases that had been given up to die, were restored to manly vigor and health—Reader you need not despair—no matter who has given you up as incurable—the remedy is now within your reach, by its use you can be restored to a life of usefulness and happiness.

Price, one package, $1; six packages, $5; by mail free of postage.

One will please, six guaranteed to cure. Pamphlet free to any address.

Mr. Georg Cochrane, our license inspector, paid our village a visit last week.

Messrs. C. Young, P. Young, B. McFarlane, J. Godfrey, were in Toronto for two days last week on a business trip.

Mr. C. Young has a couple of teams busily engaged drawing lumber to Lakefield.

Mr. P. A. Kearney has purchased a fine driving horse.

We are glad to say that la grippe has almost disappeared from our midst.

The cold weather which still continues, and recent storms blocking the roads, does not prevent our old friend "Patsy" bringing the mail.

It is rumoured that Mr. R. Heard is to give a ball in his hall the 17th of March.

Miss B. Pope, Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

The dams should be attended to in time, as the snow is very deep and the freshet may prove fatal to some of them.

Between thirty and forty guests assembled at the residence of Mr. John Tedford, Burleigh Falls, on Wednesday evening last. The occasion of the gathering was the marriage of his daughter, Miss Annie, to Mr. W. Frankish, son of Mr. Francis Frankish of the Township of Douro. The Rev. W. Limbert of Lakefield performed the ceremony. The bride was assisted by Miss Lillie Frankish, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Robt. Tedford, brother of the bride.

Our villagers had a pretty bad scare on Thursday night, when the cry of fire was heard, awaking most of the inmates from a sound sleep. A small house back of the Post Office occupied by A. McFadden, caught on fire. Mrs. P. A. Kearney, who first noticed the flames blazing from the roof, gave the alarm, and in a short time men, women and children were on the scene with pails, and before much damage was done the flames were extinguished.

THE REFORMERS OF HALTON

Select Mr. John Waldie as the Liberal Standard Bearer.

Milton, March 14.—The Halton Reform Association met in convention here to-day in large numbers for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the House of Commons. Mr. John Waldie was the choice of the convention, and received the unanimous nomination. Mr. Waldie accepted the nomination.

Later a public mass meeting was held, when the town hall was filled, many being unable to find seats. On the platform a fair sprinkling of ladies were seated. Dr. McCrimmon, president of the association, was chairman. Among those on the platform were Mr. John Waldie, the candidate; Thomas Bain, M.P., William Paterson, M.P., Dr. Robertson, ex-M.L.A., William McLeod, John Warren, ex-warden of the county; Johnson Harrison, Robert Patton, M.L.A. for Centre Simcoe, and Rev. Rolph Duff of Georgetown.

Dr. Robertson moved a resolution that the meeting endorse the candidature of Mr. Waldie. Mr. McLeod seconded the resolution, which was passed with great enthusiasm.

Mr. Waldie replied, touching on the public questions of the day, and concluded by asking his friends to fight a fair, hard battle, and to do nothing that would dishonor him. He could afford to be beaten, but not dishonored.

Mr. Paterson and Mr. Bain then addressed the meeting, which broke up with cheers for Mr. Laurier, Mr. Waldie and the Queen.

THE SEMI-BARBARIC FORCES

Will Probably Take a Stand—If so, Great Britain Will Have Work to do.

New York, March 15.—The World's London special says: The issue of the campaign against the Dervishes is by no means so certain as was that of the recent bloodless Ashantee expedition. Experienced African authorities unite in saying that the Abyssinian victory will incite semi-barbaric forces everywhere. Perhaps even in India it will be vastly exaggerated, as intelligence of it is disseminated among them; and it was certainly complete enough as it stands. Khalifa himself is described by Slatin Pasha and the late Major Wingate as a man who, in point of vigor, will, courage and power of inspiring the desert peoples with fanaticism, is a worthy successor to the late Mahdi, who died in June, 1885. Throughout the campaign, which ended in the fall of Khartoum, Alduttlah was his chief lieutenant. Though serving Madiff, he had a keen eye for the main chance. He did not believe in the immortality of the Son of the Prophet, whoever else did so, and he took care to have a proclamation issued by the Mahdi, which practically assured succession to himself. There are 4500 British troops in Egypt, and Sir Horatio Herbert Kichener, scidar of the Egyptian army, will presumably be in general command. He was Governor-General of the Red Sea littoral in 1886-1888, and Adjutant-General to the Egyptian army from 1888 to 1892, when he received his present command.

MOUSE FRIGHTENS ELEPHANTS.

Every Pachyderm in the Big Herd Turned Tail and Trumpeted in Terror.

New York, March 15.—As is usual before breaking up the winter quarters of Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth, just outside of Bridgeport, Conn., Mr. Bailey yesterday had some hundred or more scientific men and newspaper representatives as his guests. They were invited to see the show's new novelties and inspect things generally. "Tode" Hamilton, as usual, acted as pilot.

One of the strange things they saw was a whole herd of elephants frightened almost out of their wits by a single little mouse.

The scientific men in the party, among whom were Prof. O. C. Marsh of the Peabody Museum of Yale, Prof. H. F. Osborne of Columbia College, Dr. Wortman of the New York Museum of Natural History, and G. R. Burns of the Central Park Zoo, were especially interested in this exhibition.

A mouse, with a string attached to its leg, was placed in front of the elephant Mad Hattie. The big beast shook with fright, trumpeted wildly and tried to break her chains. The herd took up her cry and pandemonium reigned. A mouse was put in front of each elephant in turn, and they all showed the greatest terror. Generally realizing the hopelessness of trying to get away they would turn tail to the mouse and beat their heads against the wall to which they were chained.

"They would be just as much afraid of any small animal or creeping thing," said Dr. Wortman. "Their fear is that the mouse will run up inside their trunks. That is why they turn tail and throw their trunks up in the air."

THE McCORDICASE.

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Dodds' Kidney Pills.

Richmond, March 16th, (Special)—The talk of farmers and others in town is mostly about the astonishing cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer near here. His presence made assurance visible, and he said—"After the doctors pronounced by disease Diabetes no one thought recovery possible. I was partially paralyzed, was nine months in bed, and I ran down until I was a mere shell. When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I stuck close to directions. One box helped me, and nine boxes cured me. Am sixty years old, and have lived here forty years." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers. Price 50 cents a box.

THE TWO SADDENED SOVEREIGNS.

Queen Victoria and the Emperor of Austria Meet for the First Time.

New York, March 15.—The London correspondent of The Times cables: The meeting between the Queen of England, who has been for fifty-nine years on her throne, and the Emperor of Austria, who has been for forty-eight years on his, is said to have been never first. It sounds strange enough that the two venerable monarchs whose capitals are only a few hundred miles apart, and whose countries for more than a generation have been on peculiarly friendly terms, should never have laid eyes on each other until now. Ordinarily such a curious fact, if it be a fact, would have appeared to journalistic imaginations all over Europe. But it receives only the barest incidental mention, for the reason that it is a thousand times more important to wonder what they said when finally they did find themselves face to face. There is undoubtedly much that is impressive in the spectacle of these two saddened old sovereigns at last coming together and looking out, side by side, upon the wild skies which overhang Christendom, vivid with angry portents of storm; but, for once, people are too busy thinking about the storm itself to dwell much on its picturesque personal incidents, however suggestive.

POWDER EXPLOSION IN B.C.

Four Men at the Centre Star Mine, Rossland, Are Dead.

Rossland, B.C., March 15.—A disastrous accident occurred at the Centre Star Mine yesterday from the explosion of two boxes of giant powder. As a result four men are already dead and two more fatally injured.

The dead are: Thomas Gibbons, Joe Dolan, Dan Lynch, Mike Gavigan. The injured: Ed Shanahan and Mike Brooks.

The buildings in the vicinity were badly shaken and considerably damageed. No blame is attached to the management, the accident being due to the men's carelessness.

ITALY'S INTERNAL TROUBLES.

Violent Demonstrations Against the Policy of Concluding Peace.

New York, March 15.—The Herald's special cable from Rome says: The internal situation in Italy is becoming more complicated. A violent campaign conducted in the newspaper organs which support Signor Crispi has caused violent demonstrations in the provinces against the policy concluding peace with the Negus. The Marquis di Rudini has not the support of any large portion of the press, and is, therefore, able to do little to influence public opinion.

The Tribune to-day publishes the proposed conditions of peace. It is stipulated that the Italian prisoners shall be set free, that a treaty of commerce and friendship shall be signed between the two countries, and that no war indemnity shall be paid by either side.

The greatest surprise is felt here that the Marquis di Rudini should not publish any explanations in regard to the situation in Africa, and especially in regard to the support furnished by Menelek to the Mahdists.

The old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling great gratification at the thought that his children have inherited from him no weakness, nor tendency to disease. The healthy old man is the man who has throughout his life kept his digestion good and his blood pure. Not one in a thousand does do it. Germs go through the healthy body without effect. Let them once find lodgment or let them find a weak spot, they will develop by the million and the blood will be full of them. Instead of giving strength to the tissues, it will force upon them innutritious matter and the man will lose flesh and the more susceptible to disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the only medicine that absolutely and infallibly cures all blood diseases, and almost all diseases are blood diseases. It isn't a medicine for some one particular so-called disease. It is a medicine for the whole body. It forces out all the germs of disease and replaces impurities with rich, red blood.

TAKING MEASURES!

A Few Years Ago

We had dreams and visions that have now materialized into facts. But the facts are greater than we ever expected.

A few years ago, speaking of GOUGH BROS., people connected this establishment with Ready-Made Clothing only. To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc.; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line:—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high value.

"Always Good at Gough's."

Doctoring A Watch

Is as important as watching a Doctor. We cure all curable troubles of Watches, Clocks and Jewelry, and guarantee them cured or no pay.

All we want is a chance. Give us that and if there is any chance at all in any case we will restore it to you in good working order.

If we can't do your timekeeper any good we'll tell you so—and save you spending money foolishly on it. Anything in the Watch or Jewelry line we can't repair is past all remedial relief. Our charges are always moderate—never high.

THE ONTARIO HOUSE.

A Number of New Bills Were Brought Down.

THE PROVINCE WILL TAX CIRCUSES

And Provincial Officials Must be in Attendance at Every Performance to See That the Law is Obeyed—The Government Answers Questions—Legislative Notes.

Toronto, March 17.—There was but a half-hour's session of the Local House yesterday, although a number of important bills were advanced a stage.

These bills were read a second time:

Respecting the Village of Tilbury Centre—Mr. Pardo.

To confirm By-law No. 248 of the Town of Mount Forest—Mr. Craig.

Respecting the railway debenture debt of the Township of Mornington—Mr. Magwood.

Respecting the floating debt of the Village of East Toronto—Mr. Richardson.

Respecting the railway debenture debt of the Township of Elma—Mr. Magwood.

Respecting the Town of Peterboro'—Mr. Stratton.

To enable the trustees of the congregation of Knox Church, Acton, to sell certain lands in the Village of Acton—Mr. Kerns.

To amend the Municipal Act—Mr. Hobbs.

To authorise cities to hold polls for municipal election on New Year's Day—Mr. Hobbs.

To amend the Public Libraries Act—Mr. Hobbs.

To amend the Municipal Act to compel everybody selling as an auctioneer to take out a license—Mr. Patton.

Mr. Marter asked what was the cost of the late Central Prison enquiry in the matter of Warden Massie's charges, names of persons paid for services in connection therewith, nature of service rendered, amount paid each person engaged; if any amount is still due, state by whom claimed and what amount.

Hon. Mr. Gibson in reply stated that the only expenses were witness' fees, amounting to $182. Foreman Scott had put in a claim for the expenses of the defence, so far as related to the charges upon which he had been acquitted. The Government was considering this claim.

Mr. Whitney asked on what date was Dugald Campbell retired from the position of farmer, or assistant farmer, at the London Asylum? Was he asked to send in his resignation, and, if so, for what reason? Who was appointed to succeed him.

Hon. J. M. Gibson said Mr. Campbell had retired 31st October, 1895, because of prolonged illness, which rendered him unable to attend his duties. No one had been appointed to his position. At present the duties of the office were being performed by an ordinary farmer.

The following bills were brought down:

The Cities Municipal Act—An act to amend the Municipal Act—Mr. Marter. It authorizes Mayor and Chairman of the Finance Committee to sit with the Public School Board, the High School Board and the Public Library Board while they are preparing their estimates. It applies to cities of one hundred thousand inhabitants, and enables such cities to maintain public lavatories and other conveniences, and also enables the Council of any municipality to pay rewards for the discovery and apprehension or conviction of impersonators.

An act respecting traveling shows, circuses and other like exhibitions—The Attorney-General—prohibits the exhibition of traveling menageries, circuses, wild west shows and other shows of that kind without a license having been obtained for that purpose from the Provincial Treasurer. The sum of fifty dollars per day is to be paid for every day during which the show is licensed to be exhibited. It is made the duty of the provincial detectives to be present at every place at which the show is to be exhibited, to see that the law is obeyed, and to protect the public from fraud and imposture. The act also provides that Dominion and Provincial detectives and constables are to have free access to every menagerie, circus or other like show, and to every horse race, agricultural, horticultural and industrial exhibition, to the grounds, tents and buildings in which the shows, races and exhibitions are held, and every part thereof.

An act to amend the Judicature Act and the law relating to the Superior Courts—The Attorney-General. This act contains a number of amendments made in anticipation of the revision of the statutes. Among other things, it is provided that all actions against municipal corporations in respect to injuries sustained through non-repair of streets, roads or sidewalks shall hereafter be tried by a judge without a jury, and enables peace officers against whom actions are brought to have the same security for costs as police magistrates or justices of the peace.

An act to correct a clerical error in the Debentures Registration Act—The Attorney-General. It amends section 4 of that act so as to make the word, "holders" mean "debenture holders."

An act respecting bills of sale and chattel mortgages in unorganized territories—The Attorney-General. It makes provision for the place of registry and the time of registration in Algoma, Muskoka, Parry Sound, Rainy River and Haliburton.

An act respecting fraud by debt collectors—The Attorney-General. It imposes a penalty of $20 for every day upon which the offence is committed of sending out notices or forms in imitation of the forms appended to the Division Courts Act, or calculated to induce the persons receiving the same to believe that they are process-issued within the Division Court.

An act to amend the Registry Act—Mr. Marter. This is to prevent any plans in which roads are laid out being accepted by the registrar unless the consent of the proper Municipal Council is registered therewith.

An act respecting Surrogate Courts—The Attorney-General. This enables Surrogate Courts, where the estate is less than $1000, to remove an executor or administrator. It also provides that the executor of an executor shall not, by virtue of such executorship, be an executor of the estate of which the testator is appointed executor. The act further repeals the provision which makes County Judges ex-officio judges of the Surrogate Court, but the repeal does not affect judges heretofore appointed.

An act respecting Houses of Refuge—Hon. Mr. Gibson. This provides that where the amount granted by the Government towards the establishment of a House of Refuge has been less than $1000, a further grant, not to exceed, with that already made, the sum of $4000, may be made upon the acquisition of land or the erection of further buildings.

Notice was given that the following side, nor of the English people. Even the nations of Europe whose policy was most divergent from that of Italy expressed sympathy for the Italians in their reverses. Mr. Labouchere also rejoiced because of the resurgence of Mahdism. Had the world ever seen a more cruel or worse rule? He could not conceive a change more for the benefit of the Soudan than that that country should be transferred to a Government acting under English influence. Nothing certainly would more conduce to the welfare and prosperity of the Soudanese than replacing brutal anarchy by regular laws. The Government had no reason to believe that any great power would object to the expedition. Certainly those powers favorable to Italy would not object, and any other power that was desirous that Egypt should remain prosperous and secure would not regret the step the Government had taken. The Government did not dream of extending the conquest to Darfur. That was a nightmare, a creation of Sir Charles Dilke's imagination. The rumor of a British advance would spread with lightning-like rapidity in the Mahdist regions. There could be no better diversion in favor of Italians, even if the expedition went no further than Akasha, one-third of the way to Dongola.

John Redmond, member for Waterford City, and one of the Parnellite leaders, said that if the expedition met with a misfortune similar to that which had befallen the Italians, the news would be received with satisfaction by the greater number of the Irish members of the house.

Mr. Robert A. Verburgh, Conservative member for Chester, asked if in view of the increasing dependence of the United Kingdom upon foreign wheat, the Government would take measures to secure the acceptance of the principle of international law, contention for which was originally advanced by the United States, that provisions shall only be treated as contraband of war when they are destined to a place which is invested or blockaded.

Mr. Balfour said he would not venture to express an opinion in regard to the expediency of a change in the principle of international law. Anyhow, he said, it was not opportune to raise the question just now.

Mr. Curson, replying to questions, said that reports received by the Government confirmed the statements that a great number of forced conversions from Christianity to Islamism, were still being made in Asia Minor. Under the circumstances of cruelty and systematic debauchery of defenceless Christian women throughout the devasted districts of Anatolia, he said, the British consuls in Asia Minor had been instructed to report such cases, and representations in regard to them were constantly being made to the Government in Constantinople.

Mr. Labouchere's motion to adjourn was rejected by a vote of 268 to 126.

TWENTY THOUSAND PERSONS

Welcomed General Booth at the Salvation Army Meeting in London

London, March 16.—Twenty thousand persons to-day attended a meeting of the Salvation Army, held in the Crystal Palace for the purpose of welcoming Gen. Booth, the commander of the Army, who returned a few days ago from India, and bidding godspeed to Mr. and Mrs. Booth-Tucker, who will shortly sail for New York to assume the command of the Salvation Army in the United States. The principal feature of the meeting was an address delivered by Gen. Booth, after which Mr. and Mrs. Booth-Tucker were called to the front of the platform. Two officers then held American and Salvation Army flags over their heads, which was followed by an outburst of cheering. Gen. Booth then grasped the hands of his son-in-law and daughter, and in a few words dedicated them to their new work.

STEAMSHIP BLOWN TO PIECES.

She Carried Twelve Tons of Gunpowder—Over Forty Lives Were Lost.

London, March 10.—The British steamer Matadi, which sailed from Sierra Leone Feb. 5, was destroyed by an explosion of gunpowder at Boma on March 7. A despatch states that twenty-five Europeans and sixteen negroes were killed, among the dead being a missionary named Hawek and his wife. Some of the passengers were saved, but the only survivors of the crew are the captain and four officers. The vessel had on board twelve tons of gunpowder, all of which ignited, blowing the ship into fragments.

ENGLAND'S POLICY

UNCHAINED FORCES A MENACE

To the British Occupation of Egypt, the Peace of Europe and the Cause of Civilization—This Is Why the Expedition to Dongola Has Been Undertaken.

London, March 16.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Albert Kaye Hollitt, Independent-Conservative, asked what truth there was in the reports that the United States Government had expressed willingness that the Venezuelan dispute be referred to a joint commission for consideration and settlement.

Right Hon. George N. Curzon, Parliamentary Secretary to the Foreign Office, replied that the Government had received official proposals from the United States Government upon the subject of the Venezuelan difficulty, and that these proposals were now in course of negotiation, and, therefore, he could not communicate them to the House. Mr. Curzon, however, stated that the proposals made by the United States were not accurately described by the language in question.

Mr. George Nathaniel Curzon, Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, and the representative of that department of the British Government in the House, made a statement which sets at rest all doubts, if any there were, as to the attitude of Great Britain towards the Dreibund, the Government coming out squarely in favor of and in sympathy with Italy in the latter's campaign in Abyssinia, and justifying the course adopted by Lord Salisbury in sending an expedition against Dongola. Mr. Curzon said that for some time past the Government had heard rumors that a large and formidable advance of the Dervish forces was contemplated, which threatened three widely separated objective points. News had reached Cairo, he said, that large bodies of reinforcing Dervishes were being pushed forward to Dongola. This information, he continued, had come into possession of the Government at the end of February. All of the information which had been received by the Government portended an advance of the Dervishes of serious proportions, and equally serious results. The information which had reached the Government had caused considerable anxiety, he said, the more so as the Italian forces in Abyssinia were known to be in difficulties.

Then came the disaster to the Italian army at Adowa, which had been heard of throughout the United Kingdom, with much sympathy and regret—(Cries from the Irish benches of "No, no," and a remark from Mr. T. M. Healy, "It served them right.")

Mr. Curzon, resuming his remarks, after the interruption, said: "Yes, sympathy, which was not broken by a few dissentient voices (Cheers.) The Italians are not only engaged in battle with the Abyssinians, but Kassala itself is threatened by a force of Dervishes, estimated to be 300,000 strong. Obviously they are at present influences at work and forces unchained in Central Africa which, if flushed with victory, mean serious danger, not only to Egypt and British occupation thereof, but to the peace of Europe, and the cause of civilization. The Government has been in constant communication with the Government of Egypt, and the opinion of the military authorities, both here and in Cairo, is that an advance up the Nile is necessary. Consequently an advance of British troops has been ordered to a town one-third the distance between Wady Halfa and Dongola, and it may ultimately be made to Dongola."

Mr. Curzon said he had seen that the press affirmed that the expedition was primarily destined for Dongola. It was not usual, he said, to publish a plan of campaign, and it might not be wise in this case. The future actions of the Government, he said, must be regulated by consideration not merely of military importance but of political and financial moment as well. The Government was convinced that the steps which it had decided upon would act as a diversion for the relief of Kassala, and also save Egypt from a menace which, if left alone, would grow to formidable dimensions.

Mr. Labouchere moved to adjourn in order to consider the serious condition which had been revealed by the statement in regard to Egypt and the Soudan made by Mr. Curzon. Mr. Labouchere contended that the expedition into the Soudan was worse than needless. It hindered the fulfilment of the pledges of Great Britain to evacuate Egypt, and he doubted whether it would relieve the Italians. He was a warm friend of Italy, he said, but not of Italy in Africa. His sympathies were rather with the men to whom that country belonged.

Sir Charles Duke said he believed that the real object of the expedition was the safety of the Egyptian frontier, not a diversion in favor of the Italians, which was impossible. Dongola, he said, was on the way to Khartoum and Darfur. He suspected that the Government intended to strike both places and establish a position at Darfur as the centre of the great African kingdom which they hoped to establish in the near future.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader in the House, said that if this was the first step of a forward policy in Egypt, it was of a most perilous character, and deserved strenuous opposition. There was a great party in England which learned nothing from experience, and which was always eager for the extension of the Empire, which was already large enough to please the most inordinate ambition. He would not, in the meantime, assume that there was any intention on the part of the Government to give the WASTE OF PUBLIC MONEY.

THERE is no disputing the fact that the Dominion Government has been more than reckless in its use of the public's money, and many scandals are recorded to their credit. This is an unfortunate record, for there ought to be no question that the affairs of the country should be honestly and fairly administered. This has not been done by the Government. Of the many evidences of this the Curran bridge is one. From the report of the commissioners appointed to enquire into the terrible waste of public money on this work the following facts are taken as samples of Curran Bridge wages, etc., paid by Government :—

$4 a day for foreman.
$4 a day for foreman for night, or overtime.
$6 a day for foreman on Sunday.
$12 a day for foreman Sunday overtime.
$3 a day for team.
$10 a day for team on Sunday.
$2.50 a day for derrick.
$3.75 a day for derrick for overtime.
$7.50 a day for derrick for overtime on Sunday.
St. Louis puts on all the men he wishes and gets paid for them.
2,000 men on the works at one time.
Large numbers idle.
No Government timekeeper.
No regular count.
No Government foreman.
No Government supervision.
No Government record of men or materials.
No Government classification of labour.
Unskilled labour paid for as skilled labour.
No public tenders for timber.
Inferior timber supplied.
Carters' delivery tickets for lumber, etc., missing.
No checks as to quality of timber and lumber supplied.
Large quantities missing.
New timber burnt as firewood carted away, stolen, etc.
Government teams haul lumber that contractor was to deliver.
$89,806.04 paid for $6,000 worth of stone cutting.
$15,715 paid for $3,000 worth of stone cutting.
Stone hauled by teams 20 miles along railway running from quarry to works.
Government warned all along of the frauds but allow them to continue.
Pay bills as they come in.
When work completed Government issue commission to investigate.
Pending investigation, Government pays St. Louis balance of $105,000 for wages that Chief Engineer discredited and would not certify to.
Commission unanimously report incompetence, extravagance and fraud.
People's money lost.
No one held responsible.

How this precious bit of stealing right under the nose of the government was done, is set forth in the remarks of Judge Desnoyers, quoted from the Montreal Gazette, a good Tory organ, of the 14th May, 1895. This judge adjudicated on the application of the Solicitor General with respect to the suit, for a refund of money which the Solicitor General claimed had been got unfairly from the government. Let us call attention to some of the details of that transaction. It related to two bridges across the Lachine Canal and the Grand Trunk Railway. The Government engineer's first estimate of the cost of completing these bridges was $160,000. But they proposed to make certain changes, to enable them to deepen the canal and improve the works, and the highest figure which the Government's own engineer gave as the cost of the work was $223,000. Although the work was within two or three hours' run by rail of the headquarters of the Government at Ottawa, what did they do? They paid $394,000 for that work which their own engineer had estimated would cost $223,000 and then they instituted a suit against their own contractor to try to get $170,000 out of him. Let us make a few quotations from the statement of the judge upon the evidence placed before him with respect to the terms of the contract made by the Department with the contractor, Mr. St. Louis. Here is a specimen of the wages which this penurious economical Government contracted to pay to that contractor. A stonecutter foreman was allowed $4 a day for day time and $6 for night time, $8 a day for Sunday, and $12 a day for Sunday overtime.....
A double team got $5 a day, and when religiously at work on Sunday, it got $10. What else do we find? We find that a derrick was worth $3.50 in the day time, but the same instrument was worth $3.75 at night, and it was a religious derrick, because when it had to work on Sunday its conscience had to be appeased by giving it $7.50. That was the contract made under the supervision of the Minister right in Ottawa. We are not speaking of what occurred outside, but of the contract that these gentlemen made with Mr. St. Louis. He went to work to carry out that contract. What does the Judge say in addition? He says :

"And on the same scale for stone masons, stone setters and skilled labourers Mr. St. Louis' bills must have been tremendous, when it is remembered the job lasted four months, and that at times there were 2,000 men at work in the day time, and 1,800 men at work at night. The men were paid alternately every two weeks. Mr. Michaud tells us that some of the pays amounted to $24,000, some $10,000, some $15,000, and some $20,000."

"There was no proper surveillance by the officers of the Government on two of the jobs at least, viz., the Grand Trunk bridge and lock No. 1 of the Lachine canal. The time keeping on the two latter jobs seems to have been left to take care of itself, as far as the Government officers were concerned, so much so that two prominent public officers, high in office, lost their situation on that account. Mr. St. Louis procured all the workmen that were asked of him. He did not keep time personally, he had several clerks to do it, and one of them stuffed the lists. This was sworn to by himself to his own disgrace; and when these lists were so made and cooked, they were certified blindly and as a matter of form by the officers of the Government."

After the Government entered suit against St. Louis, Hon. Mr. Dickey referred to the Curran bridge job as a "clear case of steal." The Government contract was so loosely made that the Government has not only failed to get any of the money paid to St. Louis back, but St. Louis has retained all the money paid him besides getting a judgment from the Supreme Court awarding him an additional sum of over $60,000 and interest. The Government is clearly responsible for the stealing that took place and should be properly punished, and to such office-seekers no punishment can be greater than the deprivation of office which the people will administer it at the coming elections. Amid the great excitement over the remedial bill this affair, which is but a sample of scores of others, is apt to escape the public mind. But they must not be allowed to be forgotten, because such mal-administration is the cause of the enormous public debt which requires about one-third of our annual payment of over $30,000,000 taxes to pay the interest of. Is a Government that does and permits such things fit to manage our public affairs No; a hundred times no.

TUPPER, (SIR CHARLES) comes high. The Auditor-General's report gives the expenses of the High Commissioner's office last year as $29,362.55, divided as follows: Tupper's salary, $10,000; staff assistants, $8,650; contingencies, $8,702.55; allowance to Sir Charles Tupper, $2,000.

THE Canada Farmers' Sun, the organ of the Patrons, is sometimes a little "Wrigley." In its last issue it criticises the Orillia Packet on its attitude towards Patronism and classes the Packet as a Liberal journal. The Packet is not Liberal; it is Conservative, not rabidly so, generally, but decidedly Tory for all that. For goodness sake, Brother Sun, don't try to shoulder the sins of Conservative journalists upon the Liberals.

IT is impossible to escape death and taxes, especially the heavy-handed taxes levied by our Dominion Government, as for example—two human skulls imported from England to Toronto, for purely educational purposes, had to pay a duty as "bones, bone-dust superphosphates, etc." Even the means of learning how to treat diseased humanity is subject to taxation. The privilege of paying taxes is a glorious one and that is one privilege the Dominion Government takes good care we are not robbed of.

THE Daily News says 200,000 Armenians are in a starving condition, and are wholly dependent for the necessaries of life upon the charity of the British and American public. This throws a heavy responsibility on the Christian and charitable people of the two Anglo-Saxon nations. Is it not significant that, asks the St. Thomas Journal, out of all the world, it is to the English-speaking peoples the Armenians look for succor? And is it not a reason that the English speaking world which represents the highest development of civilization, should work harmoniously together?

THE following figures are taken from the reports of the Auditor-General for the past eight years, and show the amounts respectively received by the papers mentioned during that period :—

Have not these journals substantial reasons for defending every "job" "steal," corrupt act and extravagance of the Government, which has paid such great sums of the people's taxes as hus money j

The old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling great gratification at the thought that his children have inherited from him no weakness, nor tendency to disease. The healthy old man is the man who has throughout his life kept his digestion good and his blood pure. Not one in a thousand does do it. Germs go through the healthy body without effect. Let them once find lodgment or let them find a weak spot, they will develop by the million and the blood will be full of them. Instead of giving strength to the tissues, it will force upon them innutritious matter and the man will lose flesh and the more susceptible to disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the only medicine that absolutely and infallibly cures all blood diseases, and almost all diseases are blood diseases. It isn't a medicine for some one particular so-called disease. It is a medicine for the whole body. It forces out all the germs of disease and replaces impurities with rich, red blood.

Gradual Failing of Physical and Mental Forces.

General Breaking Down—How to Add to Your Years—Never Despair—Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

With a pathetic sigh how often it has been said :
"Well, then, I suppose I must let go my hold on life.
The failing senses, loss of strength, loss of flesh and, loss of memory finally bring nearly all to this square issue.
To fathers and mothers of unreared children this is tragic.
For children it is simply pathetic and terrible.
How blessed, then is the ray of hope—the timely, sure help in this dark hour of trial!
But whence cometh this sure and timely help! If death is preventible, how?
The timely answer is: By scientific and successful kidney treatment—by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Since its advent, about four years ago, thousands have been saved from premature death by this great kidney medicine.
And hundreds of thousands must have used them, for over a million boxes have been sold in Canada alone.
Hundreds write to thank us and tell of their cure, but none to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have ever failed.

THAT CONFERENCE.

An Invitation Will Be Sent to Mr. Laurier.

THE LIBERAL LEABER WOULD ACT

In Any Bona Fide Effort to Bring About a Compromise on the Manitoba School Question—How Mr. Foster Snubbed Sir Charles Tupper.

Ottawa, March 16.—Mr. Foster sent for a prominent member of the Opposition this afternoon and discussed the proposed conference on the school question. It is understood that Mr. Foster will to-morrow seek an interview with the Liberal leader and suggest his taking part in a conference. If the Government are candidly anxious to leave Manitoba to dispose of the problem Mr. Laurier would, it is said, agree to take part. The motive governing this would be the desire to make any agreement reached a permanent one, and the concurrence of both political leaders would prevent a new Government, no matter which party it represented, reopening the question in any form. Mr. Greenway has intimated that he would be prepared to consider an official invitation from the Ottawa Government to a conference. Sir Donald Smith does not believe there is any necessity for going on with the bill. Under all circumstances it is disappointing to see the Government apparently bent on pressing the motion for a second reading.

The quiet snub administered by Mr. Foster to Sir Charles Tupper on Friday has excited comment. The speech was evidently designed to reassert Mr. Foster's supremacy in the House of Commons as leader. He certainly manoeuvred to dispose Sir Mackenzie Bowell and agreed to the next best thing to instal Sir Charles Tupper as nominal leader of the House of Commons, but he has seen the complete collapse of the Tupper boom and witnessed with pain the numerous blunders of the poor old man since he re-entered the House. He saw him kill his own bill by making an unnecessary speech. He listened to the rambling, feeble speech with which Sir Charles moved the second reading of the Remedial Bill, a speech that showed the political resurrection to have been made in vain. The campaign order for 100,000 copies of that great speech was reduced next day to 50,000, and, it is safe to say, it will yet be cancelled. He saw Sir Charles commit the irretrievable blunder of making public without permission a confidential communication from a Prime Minister and of suppressing a portion of it, and, in common with everyone who heard the subsequent confession must have felt shamed at the humiliation and the blow to the dignity of Parliament. Mr. Foster determined to show Parliament and the country that there was some one in the Government who could make a speech worthy of the occasion. It was made not so much to carry a bill that Mr. Foster detests in his heart, as to show the House of Commons and the country that he, and not the octogenarian, was the real leader of the party in the House, and, judging by the fact that the party for the first time this session cheered with some enthusiasm, he succeeded in his object. With the first breath of Mr. Foster brushed aside, th eopening sentence of Sir Charles Tupper's speech and met it with a negative.

This was Sir Charles Tupper's opening sentence, as taken from Hansard: "Mr. Speaker, in times past, I have had occasion to propose to this House the consideration of measures of very great importance, but I confess that I have never risen to propose the second reading of a bill under the same deep sense of responsibility that I feel on the present occasion. The question that is now submitted for the consideration of this House is one which, in my judgment, transcends in importance any measure that has ever been submitted to this House during its existence."

This was Mr. Foster's opening sentence, as taken from Hansard: "I think I shall commence my remarks by being a little unorthodox, and that may be pleasant to my hon. friend (Sir Richard Cartwright) who sits just opposite me. The remark I shall commence with it this: That I am not of the opinion that the question at present before the House is either the most important or the most difficult of those questions that have engaged the attention of this Parliament from Confederation up to the present time."

This flat contradiction must, under all the circumstances, be regarded as a snub to Sir Charles Tupper from the man who was about to give the House a contrast between himself and the junior member for Cape Breton.

Amendments to the act respecting the Canadian Jockey Club were given a third reading. Mr. Martin again protested against the bill. He held there was no reason for there being stock in the company to make 12 members of it equal to 12 affiliated clubs. The provisions of the bill would be detrimental to the club.

In reply to Mr. McMullen, Controller Wood said 6,667,000 pounds of sugar had been landed in Canada on the S.S. Cynthiana at or about the date of the imposition of the last increase of the duty on sugar on which duty had not been paid. The duty would amount to $33,364. The Canada Sugar Refinery were the importers, and refused to pay the duty, on the ground that it was offered for entry the day before the delivery of the budget speech. The question is before the courts.

Mr. Dickey informed Mr. Bruneau that the amendments to the Remedial Bill would be taken into consideration when offered, and that no other reply could now be given on his enquiry as to whether certain amendments given notice of by Mr. Dupont were accepted.

In reply to Mr. McMullen, Mr. Dickey said the matter of the judgment of the Supreme Court in the St. Louis case was before the Department of Justice for the determination of the legal aspect. The Government's course would depend on the report.

Mr. Dickey informed Mr. Carey that the Government had chosen the improved rifle for the use of volunteers on the report of experts, and, after mature consideration, the Lee-Enfield magazine rifle had been selected, which was practically the same as the Lee-Metford. It was of an improved groove, which greatly prolonged the life of the rifle. It was of the newest pattern known, and the one to be given to the Imperial forces.

On motion for adjournment of the House, Sir Richard Cartwright asked when the Government proposed the Remedial Bill debate should close.

Mr. Foster said he had had a talk with Mr. Laurier, and at first he thought they could get a vote by the middle of the week. However, it had been found this would be difficult to do. It was then thought the vote could be reached on Friday night or Saturday morning. An arrangement had been finally made with the Liberal Whip, who went to Mr. Laurier for the confirmation of it, that the vote should be taken during the sitting commencing to-morrow afternoon, that is, that the House should sit till the vote was reached.

Sir Richard Cartwright thought the arrangements would be inconvenient on account of the number who wished to speak, and that the Government would not gain anything by cutting the debate short, as Wednesday and Thursday were not Government days. He asked Mr. Foster to consider the matter again and let the House know the determination to-morrow.

Mr. Foster said he would, but that the arrangement made was a hard and fast one.

It may be taken as an accepted fact that the division will not take place until Thursday morning.

The House adjourned at 10.40 p.m.

A HOME FIEND!

The Enemy and Disturber of Thousands.

Young and Old Its Victims.

Paine's Celery Compound Releases All From Its Bondage.

MR. GARRETT IS MADE A NEW MAN.

A well known writer declares that dyspepsia is a "home fiend." It is truly a cruel and torturing monster, and makes its slaves miserable specimens of breathing humanity.

This enemy of thousands is effectually conquered by the mighty power and gentle virtues of Paine's Celery Compound and the victims are released forever from the awful tormentor.

This is, perhaps, the worst season of the year for the victims of dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach troubles. The great nerve system requires strengthening; the blood, now charged with impurities, may be made pure, so that it will course healthily and in abundance; the stomach, weak and unreliable, must be toned up.

Paine's Celery Compound will accomplish all these grand objects for the dyspeptic, and fit him for the proper performing of all of life's duties. Mr. Joseph Garret, of Garretton, Ont., writes thus:—

"I was laid up for months, and could not work, eat or sleep. Day after day I was getting weaker, when a friend advised me to take Paine's Celery Compound. I did give the medicine a trial, and before the first bottle was finished, I experienced a great change. I can now eat, sleep and work as well as any ordinary man, and I can truly say that Paine's Celery Compound is a wonderful medicine, and worthy of all the praise that people can give it. I advise all to use it for dyspepsia; as a purifier of the blood. It surely cures."

PETER MOORE WAS MURDERED.

The Coroner's Jury at Brockville Rendered Their Verdict Last Night.

Brockville, March 16.—The adjourned inquest to enquire into the death of Peter Moore, a victim of the shooting tragedy on Monday, March 9, was held before Coroner Vaux to-night in Victoria Hall. In all nine witnesses were examined, and while no new evidence of a startling nature was given, enough testimony was adduced to clearly connect Lapointe with the death of Moore. James McKay, William McCullough and Wallace I. Coopeland, all gave strong testimony in this direction, the latter swearing positively that he saw Lapointe pass down Perth-street with a gun, saw him at the corner of Perth and King, and saw him fire the shot which dropped Moore in his tracks. The jury thereupon rendered a verdict that Moore met his death on March 9 from gunshot wounds inflicted by Lapointe.

A Deserted Babe in Silk.

New York, March 15.—There was taken to Bellevue Hospital last night a four weeks-old female baby, dressed in garments fit for a little princess, which had been found deserted in the basement of a house on Murray Hill. Bellevue has never had such a stylishly dressed youngster as this. The child had on a cream-colored silk cap, trimmed with French point lace, a silk cloak finely embroidered, and the skirt and underclothing were of the finest lawn and silk.

Death of Mrs Ellis Bartlett.

London, March 15.—Mrs. Ellis Bartlett, daughter of the late John King Ashmead of Philadelphia, died to-day at Tunbridge Wells in her 83rd year. She was the mother of Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, M.P., formerly a civil Lord of the Admiralty, and W. L. Ashmead Bartlett, M.P., who in 1881 married Baroness Burdett-Coutts, whose name he assumed.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the "Pleasant Pellets" is that they cure permanently.

A Woman Arrested.

Some time ago the Children's Aid Society had Mrs. Jerry Dawson summoned to appear in order to answer some questions relating to her children. The summons was ignored and Mrs. Dawson disappeared for a time. A warrant was then issued for her arrest, which was accomplished to-day at noon. The magistrate remanded her until Thursday. Considerable trouble was experienced in taking the prisoner up to the gaol, and a big crowd gathered around her as she shrieked and fought with the Chief.

Died From Heart Disease.

Mr. John Cadigan, of 28 Bolivar street, died rather suddenly last night at the age of about 47 years. The deceased had been troubled for some time with heart disease, and recently had a severe attack, from which he had somewhat recovered. But last night a renewed attack proved fatal. His wife has been dead for about four years. He leaves behind him seven children—three sons and four daughters. The funeral takes place to morrow morning at 9 o'clock under the auspices of the C. M. B.A., of which he was a member. The remains will be laid at rest in the Ennismore cemetery.

Consumptives Should Neglect

No means of ameliorating their disease. Cod liver oil is acknowledged one of the most valuable remedies in pulmonary complaints. That, however, it be employed in such a form as to be easily digested is imperative. It is just here that the entire superiority of Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites asserts itself. Maltine itself possesses nutritive value equal to cod liver oil, but more important to the sufferer of bronchitis, colds, consumption, is the great digestive power of maltine upon all foods of a starchy nature. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites is, in brief, a food of great value in emaciation and and wasting diseases; a medicine possessing the remedial power of cod liver oil; a digestive agency of active potency; a restorer of the debilitated. Try it for two weeks.

McDONALD GETS TWO YEARS IN THE CENTRAL.

The Sentence far Lighter Than was Expected.

George McDonald, alias Beaudry, was before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning for sentence, on two charges of breaking into and burglarizing both the Presbytery and St. Peter's Cathedral to which he had plead guilty.

The Magistrate explained to him that he had been remanded in order to see if his previous character would warrant his being less severely dealt with than the occasion seemed to warrant.

Instead of the inquiries, which were instituted, resulting in good being heard of the prisoner, the Magistrate stated that it had been learned that he had already served a term in the Kingston Penetentiary and was also wanted at present in divers places for divers offences. As the prisoner had already spent a seven years in the Kingston Penetentiary, the Magistrate thought that a term in the Central Prison would be a change, and accordingly sentenced him to be confined there for two years on each charge, the terms to run concurrently.

McDonald took his sentence without a word, and in fact did not utter one word all the time he was in the Court Room which was crowded to suffocation.

ST. JOHN'S BRANCH OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

The Annual Meeting and Presentation of Reports—The Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of St. John's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary took place yesterday afternoon in the school house at 3 p.m., and was more largely attended than any previous one. Several of the W. A. members from the South Ward Mission and St. Luke's, Ashburnham, were also present.

After the reports and correspondence had been read, Mrs. R.M. Dennistoun contributed a most interesting paper on Africa, as regards its missionary aspect.

Miss Gibbs followed with a few earnest remarks on the need and value of special prayer.

The president, Mrs. G. A. Smith, then read her annual address, after which Mrs. Davidson, vice-president of the Toronto Diocesan Board, addressed the meeting, keeping all minds rivetted as she pointed out the duties and priveleges of members of the Auxiliary. She also strongly urged all to devote a tenth of their incomes to God—to set it apart for church and missionary work. So should they be blessed and be made a blessing.

The election of officers then followed, after which the Rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, said a few words of kind welcome to those present from other branches.

The meeting then closed with prayer led by Mrs. Davidson.

Tea and cake were then passed around, which proceeding ended a most gratifying and successful meeting.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:

President—Mrs. G. A. Smith.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Weller.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Best.
Secretary—Miss L. L. Vink.
Treasurer—Mrs. A. N Clark.
Parochial Secretary—Miss Halliday.
Parochial Treasurer—Miss Rubidge.

A PARSONAGE WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Mr. Fred Anderson and Miss Mary Bean.

A quiet wedding took place at the Charlotte street church, this morning, when the marriage of Mr. Frederick Anderson, of Seymour township, and Miss Mary Bean, daughter of Mr. Alexander Bean, of North Monaghan, was celebrated by Rev. J. J. Rae. The bridesmaid was Miss Adeline E. Bean, sister of the bride, and the groom was assisted by Mr. E. J. Clough.

PERSONAL.

Mr. R. E. Wood was in Toronto yesterday.

Mr. Jas. Kendry is registered at the Queen's, Toronto.

Mr. R. H. Turner was in Lindsay yesterday on business.

Miss Gertie Wallace, Lakefield, who has been visiting with Miss Lillie Fitzgerald, Ashburnham, returned home this afternoon.

Miss Tottie Hartley, Murray street, has returned home after a pleasant visit in Otonabee with Miss Stewart, of Stewart's Landing.

Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's church and Rev. A. MacWilliams, of St. Andrews, are in Port Hope attending the meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery.

The Lindsay Post says,—Mr. W. H. Pollard, late of J. D. Tully's drug store, Peterborough, a first-class dispenser of seven years' standing, has been engaged by Dr. Shier as manager of the East End Drug Store. Accuracy and dispatch will be the rule with receipts and prescriptions. We bespeak every success for the doctor in his new venture.

—The sun is getting strong these days, and the snow melts rapidly. Weatherwise people are predicting an early break up.

—The Natural Science Association will meet to-night at 8 o'clock, sharp, in the Collegiate Institute. A paper will be read by Mr. Ames. J. A. Five.

—Isn't it about time to send around the paragraph about "winter lingering in the lap of spring?" The words "with both arms around its neck" might be added.

The Pearl of Great Price

To women is beauty. Beauty, the key that unlocks every door, commands deference, inspires homage. But beauty of face cannot satisfy unless the additional grace, beauty of teeth, adds its charm. Fine teeth, sweet breath, rippling laughter—three graces that always go together. Ivorine imparts dazzling pearly like whiteness, removes discoloration and tartar from the teeth, and renders the breath as fragrant as flowers.

Eye, Ear and Throat.

Dr. Ryerson begs to inform the public that he will be at the Grand Central Hotel, Peterborough, on Saturday, March 28th, for consultation in eye, ear and throat cases. dw

ODDFELLOWSHIP AMENITIES.

A Half Century Oddfellow Honoured.

The following correspondence has passed between the Secretary of Otonabee Lodge and Mr. Wm. Cluxton:

Mr. Wm. Cluxton, Town.

Dear Sir and Brother.—At the regular meeting of Otonabee Lodge, I. O. O. F., held on Monday evening, we were greeted with a most pleasant suprise, when one of our brothers, Mr. John Nugent, came forward and presented this lodge with a very handsome portrait of yourself; and while extending a vote of thanks to our good brother for such a fine present, which now adorns our room, we will kindly ask you to accept our thanks for the permission of allowing it to do so. I might say that your picture is prized very highly, so only by our older brothers who sat with you in this lodge but also by the younger members, who so often have heard of your good works. Again asking you to accept our thanks, I remain,

Your fraternally,
James A. Tully,
Rec. Sec.

Peterborough, March, 11th, 1896.

Mr. James A. Tully, Rec. Sec'y Otonabee Lodge, No. 16, I.O.O.F.:

My Dear Sir and Bro.,—I have received your esteemed favour of yesterday's date.

I sincerely thank Bro. Mr. John Nugent, for his great thoughtfulness in presenting the lodge with my portrait, and I thank the lodge, too, for courteously consenting to place it on the wall of their splendid lodge room.

The action of Bro. Nugent and the lodge is most gratifying to me.

It is now fifty years since I joined the Otonabee Lodge. At that time I passed through all the chairs, both in the lodge and Mount Hebron Encampment, so that I have had time to form an opinion as to the usefulness of the Order. It is truly a most benevolent society in every respect, and has been a blessing to many a sick brother, and to the widow and children left after him to the care and protection of his loving brethren.

Wishing the two united lodges of the Independent Order of Oddfellows in Peterborough, and Mount Hebron Encampment, much success and prosperity, I remain, Yours fraternally.

W. Cluxton.

Peterborough, March 13th, 1896.

The circumstance is a credit to all the parties concerned. Mr. Nugent has done a graceful thing in presenting to the lodge the portrait, and the lodge has done itself honour in placing on its walls the portrait of a gentleman who, both as an Oddfellow and a citizen, has for half a century won, and worthily, the high esteem of all classes of citizens. It is to be hoped that Mr. Cluxton will be spared many years to enjoy the respect of his fellow citizens and brother Oddfellows.

GRAND BLACK CHAPTER.

Meeting in Norwood—Standing Committees Appointed—Reference to the Manitoba School Question.

Norwood, March 17th.

The Provincial Grand Black Chapter of Eastern Ontario met in Norwood last evening, with a representation of about eighty members. In the absence of the Grand Master, Sir Knight W. H. Craig, Deputy Grand Master, took the chair. The following were appointed standing committees:

Credentials—D. E. K. Stewart, E. J. Hughes, J. D. Revelier, J. H. Freeborn.

Correspondence—John Kelly, John E. Hellwell, Rev. W. Moore, Thos. Graham.

Finance—R. Weir, Wm. Wray, W. Turner, J. Parks.

Suspensions and Expulsions—Thomas Oulton, C. Herrington, J. R. McKelvie.

The Grand Master, Sir John Carleton, in his address congratulated the Grand Chapter on its growth and healthy condition. Referring to the Manitoba school question he said:—"The Manitoba schools as usual are occupying a great deal of attention, and I am happy to know that there is a likelihood of the difficulty being amicably arranged in the near future."

The Grand Secretary's report referred very feelingly to the death of a number of Sir Knights, and especially that of Past Grand Master James L. Wintara, and his reference to the increase of membership, as well as the favourable report of the Grand Treasurer, showed a healthy revival of interest in the order.

The balance of the evening was taken up in committee work.

The Orange Grand Lodge of Ontario East assembled this afternoon, and a number of delegates have arrived. The session promises to be an interesting one, and warm debates are expected over the Manitoba school question. At last year's session of the Grand Lodge at Gananoque, no action on the matter was taken, but it is not likely the same course will be followed this year.

The Railways Keep on the Brakes.

The Globe says: The position that the railways have taken in the matter of rates for the annual meet has been prompted by the interference of outside parties in the matter, who usurped the privileges of the Transportation Committee of the C.W.A. and have practically bound the latter hand and foot, as Chairman Webster, when he made his annual visit to Montreal, was greeted by the railroad magnates with hands with icicle attachments. There is no prospect that any lower rate will be obtained, as the companies declared that they had closed the affair irretrievably. Yesterday President Van Felson, of Quebec, telegraphed to Mr. Webster that he was sanguine, that he could persuade the railway officials to fix a much lower rate, but in view of the communication which Mr. Webster has already received from them, he could not abstract anything savouring of hope from that.—This puts a good big nail in Quebec's coffin. It is practically out of the running for the meet now.

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor:—Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility, sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers. I have nothing to sell, and want no money, but being a firm believer in the universal brotherhood of man, I am desirous of helping the unfortunate to regain their health and happiness, I promise you perfect secrecy and as I do not wish to expose myself either, please address, simply: P. ST. PATRICK AT ST. PETER'S.

Special Services in Commemoration of The Day—Eloquent Address on St. Patrick by Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

To-day being St. Patrick's Day the occasion had fitting religious commemoration at St. Peter's Cathedral. At 8 o'clock his Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, celebrated mass and the children sang St. Patrick's hymn. At nine o'clock, Rev. Father Scanlan sang high mass. There was a very large congregation present. Ven. Archdeacon Casey delivered an admirable sermon, appropriate to the occasion. He took for his text, the 8th verse of the 1st chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans:

"For I give thanks to God through Jesus Christ for you all, because your faith is spoken of in the whole world."

The venerable preacher began by pointing out that Christ established His church to be victorious in the world, but as the servant is not greater than the master it was inevitable that the church should, as it did, suffer persecutions, and it afterwards was troubled with heresies within. It was then that God in his wisdom called forth a nation to be an example to the world—to be gathered into the true fold. He referred to the church in Ireland and pointed out how God had prepared St. Patrick for his great mission, first during his days of servitude and aftewards when he visited Rome and received his commission from St. Celestine. St. Patrick then went to Ireland, and the preacher set forth in eloquent terms the noble work which the saintly missionary effected, resulting in the conversion of the whole of Ireland in thirty years. Then that country became known and "spoken of in the whole world" as the Island of Saints, a reputation it has maintained through all the vicissitudes and troubles that have since assailed her. Ireland became famed not only for her piety but for her learning. Monasteries and schools were established, and from this centre of light and learning these blessings were afterwards diffused. When the Vandals, Goths and Huns, overran Europe and laid low her religion and learning, it was from Ireland that missionaries went forth preaching and teaching, and rekindling the lamp of faith. Particular reference was made by the preacher to the work of St. Columkill in Scotland. Ireland in her chequered history of persecution and oppression was compared to Job, but as that man of God survived his afflictions and came out triumphant, so had Ireland overcome the troubles and afflictions that assailed her through all mutations, clinging tenaciously to the faith once delivered to the saints. The address, which consumed forty-five minutes in deliverance, receives scant justice from a brief condensation.

The music was special, the mass being Concone's. At the offertory Mrs. George Ball sang St. Patrick's Hymn.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realised more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." Mrs. C. Crompton, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

Save a Dollar.

We have a number of copies left of the Annuals for 1895, which we will sell for a dollar less than the regular price. "The Boys' Own" and "The Girls' Own" will be sold for $1 each and the "Sunday at Home" and "Leisure Hour" for $1.25 each. As they are likely to go quick at these half prices, better not delay ordering at the Peterborough Bookstore.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

See the Windows.

Look at the $10 dinner sets at China Hall if you want the bargain of your lifetime. A few of them are displayed in the Simcoe street show windows and it is worth your while looking at them. Inside we have new goods arriving daily now. A pretty lot of brass goods passed the customs to-day. Visit the store often. We like people to look through and admire or criticise.

High Class Concert Company.

According to Toronto Saturday Night's society columns, Miss Beverly Robinson, daughter of Ex-Lt.-Governor John Beverly Robinson, assisted by Miss Ada Hart, pianist, Miss Evelyn De Latre Street, violiniste, daughter of Judge Street, and Mr. W. H. Robinson, tenor, all of Toronto, will give a concert in Bradburn's Opera House the latter part of this month. The company appears at Ottawa before vice-royalty, and will take in Peterborough on their return to Toronto.

To-morrow Night's Attraction.

A complete freight train of fourteen cars illuminated caboose and practical working engine, a magnificent scene of Niagara Falls by moonlight, with real mist, as seen from Suspension bridge. The flight of the Fast Mail which crosses the stage at the rate of seventy miles an hour, and a realistic steamboat race and explosion on the Mississippi are among the most novel scenes and mechanical effects shown in Lincoln J. Carter's scenic production "The Fast Mail," which appears at the Opera House to-morrow evening.

Camp Broken Up.

Dovey & Son's camp near Irondale has broken up, a very successful winter's operations under the foremanship of Mr. M. Dovey. In all about 3,000 pieces of pine were taken out, and in addition to this the firm have a large stock held over from last season. We are pleased to be able to state that the firm intend to rebuild their mill here as soon as the weather will permit, most of the necessary lumber being already on the ground. It was fashioned at the camp up north and brought here by rail. The new mill will be a combined shingle and saw mill, and will be a much more substantial structure than the former one, destroyed by fire last fall. The saw mill proper will be 30 x 70 ft. in size, while the power house and shingle mill machinery will be located in an extension 24x70. This will be good news for our workingmen.

HOCKEY.

The Kingston News stated that the Victorias have challenged the Peterboroughs twice to a return match, to be played in Kingston, and have received no answer. This is incorrect. The Secretary of the Peterboroughs has never received a line to this effect from the Victorias.

In Saturday's EXAMINER it was stated that the Young Ladies' Hockey Club had challenged the team from Adam Hall's establishment. It appears that it was the other way around. The "Giant T" team wishes to challenge the young ladies.

A large number of Kingston and Toronto's young ladies are playing hockey this year. One of the bank teams in Toronto recently played against the young ladies of the Victoria Rink, with their left hands. The young ladies won easily.

The funniest match of the season is on the ice for to morrow night, when the following teams will line up:—

CURLIANA.

The Thistles played last evening in the point competition. Skip Ray headed the list with 44 points out of a possible 74. The winner of the Ontario Association medal last year succeeded in making but 41 points, so that Skip Ray stands a good chance of winning the trophy this year. Reports have not as yet been published by other clubs. The scores made by the Thistles were as follows:—

Sam Ray	44
D Belleghem	43
J Connal	42
A Blade	39
W G Ferguson	39

The Granites will have to play off in the competition over again, as it seems that the rules under which they played were not the latest issued.

The Oriental boarders having challenged the boarders of any other hotel in town were defeated by those of the Morgan House. The latter were in turn challenged by the Huffman House boarders, who were defeated yesterday as follows:—

The Granites will play off in the point competition this evening at 7.30 at the rink. The umpires will be W. G. Ferguson and S. Ray.

THE WHEEL.

Some wheeling wiseacres whose supply of grey matter would take more than an ordinary every-day sort of an X ray to discover, are deferring the purchase of their new mount until the demand has abated and the predicted "glut" of the market has materialized. They are of the opinion that it will be possible to secure the best modern up-to-date specimen of bicycle architecture for a sum greatly below that at present being paid. Their hopes may be realized, but the signs of the times do not point that way. It is evident that the cycle fever has not reached its worst stages, in fact it is only just beginning its deadly work, and a couple of months hence its far-reaching effect will be apparent.

AQUATIC.

Toronto World:—Presently it looks as if Brockville would get the C. A. A. O. regatta this summer, if the feeling of the many city rowing clubs is a criterion. The matter will be settled at a meeting of the Association about April 1st.—Why don't Peterborough try for the regatta? Brockville is not at all anxious for it.

ST. PATRICK.

A SKETCH OF THE IRISHMAN'S PATRON SAINT.

Patrick Was of High Birth and Came from Gaul—Landed in Ireland in the Fifth Century—His Work in Converting the Irish People—Died at the Age of One Hundred and Twenty.

There is a notion in most people's minds that St. Patrick was originally an Irish peasant boy, says a writer in the Chicago Inter Ocean, who suddenly came into prominence and earned his title by killing off deadly reptiles with a wave of his hand. Shorn of the fiction, the story of St. Patrick's life is one of deep interest.

St. Patrick was born in France, or, as it was then called, Gaul. According to the established laws of that day young Patrick should have been one of Ireland's bitter enemies, for he was early in life captured by the Scots, who ruled Ireland, and was taken from France, his native place, to the Green Isle, where he was for many years a slave in Ireland.

St. Patrick was born an aristocrat. His father, Calphumius, was, it is thought, a prominent member of Roman society. His mother, Conchessa, was nearly related to St. Martin of Tours.

St. Patrick began his career as a broken-hearted boy. He was carried to Ireland, where for six years he was a slave to a chief named Milcho, of Antrim, who employed him chiefly in tending sheep.

And here begins the miraculous part of his career. At night, it is said, he received many visits from angels and planned the great work that he afterwards carried out so successfully.

At the end of six years young Patrick made his escape, and, reaching the coast, at a seaport town called Benum—a name that still survives—he managed to get aboard ship, whose captain, it is thought, was induced by Divine power to take the boy aboard. After a slow journey, Patrick at last found himself at his old abode with his relative St. Martin at Marmoutrel. The spot where he crossed the River Loire is still marked with a sign and is held in great reverence by the people of the vicinity.

For thirty years after this young Patrick studied and worked, preached, made pilgrimages, and fitted himself for the great work he had mapped out for himself, the conversion of idolatrous Ireland, for Ireland then worshipped idols. He always kept this steadily in view. At the end of this time St. Patrick was made a bishop.

St. Patrick landed in Ireland in the year 432.

Ireland at this time was peopled by a fierce and fiery race of sun and idol worshippers, whose priests were the Druids. They had, strange to say, a code of morals of their own, and they treated women with the greatest consideration. They were barbarians, for the Romans, who for nearly 400 years had been the conquerors of Britain, had to acknowledge that they could do nothing with the people of Ireland.

St. Patrick's great ambition was the conversion of his old master, Milchu. He travelled north in the direction of Milchu's castle, but when he came in sight of it a great red light in the sky caused him to halt in wonder. He soon learned the cause of the glare. His fame as a converter of men had preceded him. Something made the old warrior Milchu feel, when he heard that St. Patrick was travelling to his castle, that he would be led to desert the gods the gods of his fathers. Milchu determined to prevent such a humiliating fate by dying as he had lived. So he set fire to his ancestral home and perished in the flames sooner than be converted by St. Patrick.

From the funeral pyre of his old master St. Patrick turned with a new and brilliant idea in view. The court of King Laeghaire, son of Nial, of the Nine Hostages, was about to meet to celebrate the festival of the Fes of Tara. Here all the priests and dignitaries gathered to worship in the national fashion, and St. Patrick determined to strike a blow at the fountain head at once. The sequel showed how wise a determination it was.

The King, who knew well with whom he had to deal, ordered St. Patrick to be brought to the idolatrous celebration at at the earliest moment, to pit his supernatural powers against those of the court magicians and high priests. At daybreak, therefore, behold the Druidical high priests and St. Patrick arrayed against each other, King Laeghaire and court and the people looking on expectantly.

The Druids had the first inning. Their miracles went all awry. They made snow fall to the depth of several feet, but they could not get rid of the nuisance. They caused black darkness to cover the land, but, when they called for the light, the light declined to come. So they had to suffer the ignominy of accepting the proffered assistance of St. Patrick, who caused snow and darkness to disappear in a twinkling.

Then St. Patrick challenged the chief priest to a trial that looked in favour of the latter. He proposed to have the priest placed on a pile of green wood and the boy Benignus, who accompanied the party, placed on a pile of dry wood, and the test made to see whose God would protect his own from the flames. The priest accepted, with the result that he was burned up and the flames did not injure the boy at all.

Then King Laeghaire, with rage in his heart and a smile on his lips, invited St. Patrick to come to his palace on the following day. Armed men were stationed on the way to kill the missionary and his followers, but they saw only a few deer pass them in the night.

Then the King played his last card. A cup of poisoned wine was given to St. Patrick when he reached the palace; but the saint turned the cup upside down, the poison fell out, and again the King was foiled.

Then he decided to make the best of it, and gave St. Patrick the freedom of his kingdom, to do as he pleased. St. Patrick's career began from that hour.

For nearly sixty years St. Patrick continued his work, Rome sending help, and the work was consolidated and built up into a firmly established religion.

He was in a place called Uladh when he was warned that death was near. The saint proceeded towards Armagh, where he wished to be buried; but he was told in a dream to return to the Province of Uladh, which was the scene of his first triumphs. When he arrived at Saul he took to his bed, and on the 17th of March, A.D. 492, sixty years after his arrival in Ireland, and at the age of 120 years, the patron saint of Ireland breathed his last, surrounded by converts of his ministry. He found in Ireland 3,000,000 of pagans, and in sixty years he had changed the religious aspect of the land so completely that there was not an idol to be found in all the land.

The Naked Truth.

As told by Rev. J. R. Johnston, B. A. M. A. (Presbyterian), Toronto. "Pinemalt I have found remarkably efficacious in "nipping a cold in the bud." The quick relief it affords in cough, and the other distressing symptoms of a deep-seated cold, are simply surprising. In sore throat and hoarseness it gives speedy relief. It is the friend of the clergy, as the duties of the Sabbath approach any a cold has been contracted. I have found it so."

Why is it that so many men of education and prominence in business and professional life voluntarily testify to the merits of Pinemalt? No other remedy commands the public endorsation of so many prominent citizens. First, because Pinemalt is a genuine article and does not disappoint, and secondly, because it is not advertised as a cure-all or a miracle working remedy. It is an honest medicine presented in an honest way. Ask your druggist, in chronic cases, and consumption, for Pinemalt and Hypophosphites instead of plain Pinemalt.

DRAWN WORK IN CROCHET.

Dainty Novelties in Crochet Work Shown in These Illustrations.

A very dainty novelty in crochet work is shown in the accompanying illustrations. At first sight one can hardly believe that it is crochet work, says Margaret Sims, in Ladies' Home Journal. Fine French thread is employed.

The doily designed with the diagonal bar is intended for a dessert doily. Begin with a ring of 6 ch, into this work 4 groups of 7 tre tre with 3 ch between each group. Second row—5 tre tre on top of 7, 4 ch, 1 tre tre into last of 7, then 4 ch, 1 tre tre into first of next 7, 6 ch, repeat. Third row—3 tre tre on top of 5, 4 ch, 1 tre tre on last of 5, then 4 ch, 1 tre tre on each long st in previous row, with 4 ch between, 4 ch, 1 tre tre on first of next group of 5, 4 ch, repeat. Fourth row—6 tre into each space with 1 ch between. Over the 3 tre tre work 1 tre into the first and third stitch with 2 ch between. For the diagonal bar work a ch the required length. First row—1 d c, 5 ch, miss 4, repeat. Second row—Into third of 5 ch 2 tre tre, *, 5 ch, 2 tre tre in same loop, 2 tre tre into third of next 5 ch, work the 4 tre tre off together, repeat from *. Third row—1 d c into middle st of each 5 ch with 4 ch between.

The exquisite dessert doily shown in the centre illustration measures six inches square when finished, without the fringe, which is quite three-quarters of an inch deep. The wheel before it is mounted measures one inch and a half; the inserted border a little over three-quarters of an inch. For a similar doily begin the wheel with 6 chain, join in a ring, working into it 16 double treble with 3 ch between each. Second row—1 d c into each loop of 3 ch, with 6 ch between. Third row—1 d c into each loop with 5 ch between. Fourth row—Under each 5 ch work 5 d tre, keeping the last loops of each stitch on the needle and drawing them off together with the last stitch; make 7 ch between each group of d tre. Fifth row—1 d c into each loop with 9 ch between. Sixth row—1 d c into each loop with 11 ch between. Seventh row—13 treble into each loop. When the wheel is completed it should be basted in position on the linen, then buttonholed down with embroidery silk, the linen being afterward cut away from beneath. The insertion is treated in like manner, the embroidery being added as shown in the drawing. The insertion is made in two pieces. Begin with a ch the required length. First row—3 d tre in 3 successive ch; draw them off together at the top; 3 ch, 3 d tre, 2 ch, 3 d tre, worked in the same way, 4 ch, repeat. Second row—Into the top of each group of 3 d tre work 2 d tre, making 6 in all, draw them all off together; 4 ch, 1 d c in fifth of 9 ch, 4 ch, repeat. Third row—Work 3 groups of 2 d tre with 2 ch between into top of 6 d tre, 4 ch, 1 d c into d c of last row, 4 ch, repeat. Fourth row—Into each group of 2 d tre work 3 d tre. This insertion is also suitable for a large table centre, with or without the addition of wheels.

This pattern of a dainty sideboard scarf may be made of any desired width or length. Make a ring of 6 ch; work 4 groups of 5 tre with 2 ch between, join; this forms a square; work 5 d tre drawn off together at the top on each side of the square with 13 ch between; work 5 ch to form the first d tre. Break off, make another centre as before, but catch the first point to joint in first square, 6 ch, join to 7 ch in first square, 6 ch, make another point and repeat with 13 ch between. The following squares have to be joined on two sides. When the required length is made work on each side 6 d c into each space, 1 d c into each point and 1 d c where the ch join. For the knotted fringe pierce holes in the linen close to the edge, (which should be doubled as far as the insertion) by means of a sewing machine, with the needle not threaded; set the stitch large. Work into the holes d c with loops of ch between; into these loops knot the fringe made of the same thread used for working.

Too Confiding.

"Who's that chump just gone along the street?" asked Tadley, pausing on his front stoop.

"That?" responded Hooper, stopping by the gate, "why, that's Col. Simmons—just been elected assessor, you know."

"Wh-a-a-t!" screamed Tadley, gripping at the door knob for support, "assessor?" and he turned pale and gasped.

"Didn't you know him?" inquired Hooper.

"Know him?" echoed Tadley, with a shiver, "how would I know him, and him walking along the street so easy, and asking what my house was worth."

"Well, you told him, didn't you?" Hooper said.

"Told him?" answered Tadley. "I told him it was worth $10,000 if a cent."

Hooper whistled.

"'Taint worth five,' he said, "what made you do it?"

"Man, dear," groaned Tadley, "I thought he was some chump stranger looking for an investment."

Ended in a Sell.

For years the prisoner had toiled on, delving in the dark with parched lips and fingers that dripped blood from the violence of his labors.

"Freedom!" he gasped, still plying his iron bar, "will it never come?"

At the very instant a faint glimpse of light came to his wearied eyes, and with a hoarse cry of joy, he broke through the intervening masonry.

"At last!" he panted.

To his surprise he found himself in his own cell that he had started from so many years previous.

In his excitement he had forgotten that when one travels in the dark one is apt to wander in a circle.—New York Recorder.

Sawing Wood.

A TORONTONIAN OF 85 YEARS WHO CAN STILL HANDLE A BUCKSAW.

To find a man of 85 sawing and splitting wood without any trouble would surprise most of us to whom such vigorous exercise is—to say the least—distasteful, but to hear the circumstances under which it took place but increases the wonder.

"Our representative visited Mr. John Clyne, 174½ Sackville st., City, a sufferer from kidney trouble for the past 10 years, having undergone two operations during that time. Mr. Clyne was for some 30 years engaged in the express and cartage business for such well-known firms as Swan Bros., Hugh Miller, J.P., Wm. Rennie, etc., and having been a resident of Toronto for 50 years, is well known. Mrs. Clyne was interviewed at their residence and said: 'Mr. Clyne was in a very bad state, his urine almost black with sediment and he was expecting to have another operation such as he had before. The pain in his back was at times very severe and kept him from doing any work. Mr. Clyne got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at J. R. Lee's drug store and was relieved from the first dose; the urine is now clear, no trouble or burning sensation, and to-day you would say that although 85 years old, he has taken on a new lease of life.' Mrs. Clyne then took our reporter to the yard, and to his surprise found Mr. C. sawing wood for over Sunday. He emphatically endorsed every word Mrs. Clyne had said. 'From the very first they did me good; I am well known here and you can use my name as reference. Two weeks ago I expected to be operated on, perhaps to die—to-day I am well and strong, better than I have felt for a score of years.'"

. . . THE . . .
Canada Life Assurance Co.

Takes pleasure in announcing the completion of a Successful and Profitable Business for the Year 1895. The new business accepted, although not the largest in the Company's history, was the Largest New Business in the First Year of any Quinquennial Period.

New Assurances accepted in 1890 - - $5,880,000
New Assurances accepted in 1895 - - $6,628,000

A very substantial increase in the total business was effected during 1895.

Total Business in Force About $70,000,000

Some companies, like some individuals, are strong in promises but weak in fulfilment. A period of nearly half a century affords ample time to ascertain whether a company's fulfilment has equalled its promises.

We have taken the trouble to go through the 48 annual reports of the CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, and to total up the amount of premiums received from policy-holders, and the amount of profits paid or allocated to policy-holders, and funds as follows:—

Total Premiums Received From Policy-Holders, 1847-1894 . . . . . $24,630,000
Total Profits, paid and declared . . . $8,041,000

or equal nearly 33 per cent. of total premiums paid.

It is hardly necessary to say that no other company doing business in Canada, whether American or Canadian, can make such an admirable fulfilment of its contracts as the Canada Life.

ITS RATES ARE THE LOWEST AND PROFITS THE LARGEST.

Intending Assurers would be consulting their own interests by getting figures and facts from the undersigned before placing their risks elsewhere.

IT has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. There is no reason why the lungs should remain weak. Weak lungs predispose a child to consumption. They provide a place for germs to settle. That is all that is necessary. Once let the germs of disease gain a foot-hold, and they increase with a deadly rapidity. Pretty soon the blood is full of them, and so loses its healthfulness and its strength-giving qualities. If the weakness is in some other organ, the disease will show itself in that organ. The germs will get into the blood, just the same, and the body will begin to lose strength. We speak particularly of consumption because it is most common—because it causes more than one-sixth of all deaths in the world.

If there is a weak and crumbly spot in the foundation of a house, the owner clears out the decaying material, supplants it with new, strong stuff. That's all there is to do. That's all that's necessary.

That is exactly the thing to do with the lungs. Keep them full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body. It exterminates them completely and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. It supplies the needed nutriment to all the tissues and makes sound, healthy flesh.

There are some interesting facts about it told in one chapter of Dr. Pierce's great work, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." This book of 1008 pages will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Dillenback—What's wrong, old fellow?

The Tramp's Device.

"Madam," said the tramp, as he put his nose through the grate of the basement door, "kin I ask a favor of you?"

"Well, what is it?" demanded the housewife, impatiently.

"Will you give me a description of the outcast what dropped dead at your table the other day; I fear it was me brother."

"What do you mean; no outcast has ever dropped dead at my table."

"Then I have been deceived, heartlessly deceived," continued the tramp. "The lady in the yellow house across the street told me that a man had died while eating one of your meals."

"Step inside, my man, and I will tell you all about that story. That hateful creature across the way is my deadliest enemy. She told you that story to hurt my reputation as a cook. Now, to prove to you that her insinuations are absurd, and that my cooking is as good as any in this town, I will ask you to try it. How do you take your chocolate?"

"With cream and buttered toast," he replied in sympathetic tones as he pushed his legs under the table.—New York World.

ON BUSINESS TOPICS.

COMPILED IN THE INTERESTS OF CANADIAN MERCHANTS.

Pitfalls That the Wise Storekeeper Avoids Hints That If Accepted Will Lead to a Betterment of Trade—The Value of Publicity.

Work without system is like machinery without oil.

Soon deprived of customers is he who strives for inordinate profits.

In business, as well as in a race, it is well to keep your eye on your competitor.

Although selling is an art, the efficient salesman may not necessarily be an artist.

A merchant cannot afford to work always any more than he can afford to play always.

He who who has an eye for business possesses the key that opens the door leading to success.

A dark and dingy store, like a man with a dark countenance, is often viewed with suspicion.

Acknowledge a fault. By "eating the leek" a merchant is saved from swallowing his manhood.

Inconsistency in the weather may be a part of the plan of nature, but inconsistency in man never.

Indispensable as system is in order to success in business, yet it can be followed to deleteriousness.

Don't be pedantic. The pedant, like the man with leprosy, is shunned by ordinary mortals.

It is well to have friends; but the germ of success is within ourselves and not the gift of our friends.

Man, like the chick in the shell, must depend upon his own energies for working his way into the world.

The sugar producers in Cuba are grinding their teeth because the rebels will not allow them to grind their sugar.

He who sacrifices prices in order to gain business may be said to be sacrificing himself to the God of Ambition.

In renting a store the determining factor should not be so much a matter of amount of rent as compatibility of situation.

The doctrine that a man cannot be both honest and successful in business is palatable only to those devoid of conscience.

A receipt is a recipe against irritation, litigation and other complaints which may arise subsequent to the payment of an account.

If there is one trade more than another that a timid man should keep out of it is the grocery trade; in it there is room only for men of courage.

Dollars are often made by reading one issue of a live trade paper; and yet there are merchants who begrudge two dollars for fifty-two issues.

Ignorance may abound, but it is not thick enough to hide from ultimate discovery he who essays to live on the incredulity of his customers.

He who while looking for business pulleth his advertisement from the newspaper column is like unto him who putteth his lamp under a bushel when searching for a gem which he hath lost.

Valuable and all as this discovery of photography may be for locating disease in the human body, yet we shall still have to look in a man's face to learn whether his heart be good or not.

If the same energy and ingenuity were displayed in "fishing" for business as there is in fishing for speckled trout there would be more successful merchants in the country than there are to-day.

I have heard young physicians advised to have the appearance of being busy, whether they were or not; and I don't know that the same advice would be inapplicable to the case of young merchants as well.

In Africa they have trees that grow soap; in one of the Pacific States they have a lake that produces soap. We have none of those things in Canada; and it is because we do not need them; we have manufacturers that produce soap cheap enough for all purposes.

Important as are commercial matters, yet, says The Canadian Grocer, in our laudation of the discoveries of science, we often overlook developments in commerce. Five years ago Manitoba was an importer of dairy products; last year she was an exporter of these products to the value of six millions of dollars. And yet we have said little about it, while very few Canadians are even conversant with the fact.

RESCUED FROM INSANITY.

GENTLEMEN,—To say all I ought to in favour of B. B. B. would be impossible. It has been a great health restorer to me and I do swear by it. I am a different man to what I was ten years ago when it was expected I would be in the asylum, but now I am in perfect robust health and it was the B.B.B. that did it. I suffered for five or six years from constipation, sometimes so severely that I went out of my mind.

I tried various doctors, both in the country and in the city, and took medicines too numerous to mention, but everything failed to have the desired effect. When I used Burdock Blood Bitters it succeeded beyond all expectations, requiring only two bottles to cure. To make it still more certain that B. B. B. the real cure for constipation, I may say that some two years afterwards, I felt the symptoms returning and took one bottle more and from that time to the present day (over eight years) I have never had any returns of the disease.

I never knew any medicine to work so well. It does not seem to be a mere reliever but a sure and certain cure as I can testify to, for hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine and advice failed to do me any good, but three dollars' worth of B.B.B. made a permanent cure that has given me years of health and comfort. Yours truly,

C. L. KILMER, Toronto

His Proper Place.

In an Irish court recently an old man was called into the witness box and being old and just a little blind, he went too far, in more than one sense, and, instead of going up the stairs that led to the box, mounted those that led to the bench. Said the judge, goodhumoredly:

"Is it a judge you want to be, my good man?"

"Ah, sure, Your Honor," was the reply. "I'm an ould man now, and mebbe it's all I'm fit for."

The judge (who shall be nameless, for the bench must be supported, even in Ireland) had no reply ready.—Vanity Fair.

scrofula

Any doctor will tell you that Professor Hare, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, is one of the highest authorities in the world on the action of drugs. In his last work, speaking of the treatment of scrofula, he says:

"It is hardly necessary to state that cod-liver oil is the best remedy of all. The oil should be given in emulsion, so prepared as to be palatable."

He also says that the hypophosphites should be combined with the oil.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is precisely such a preparation.

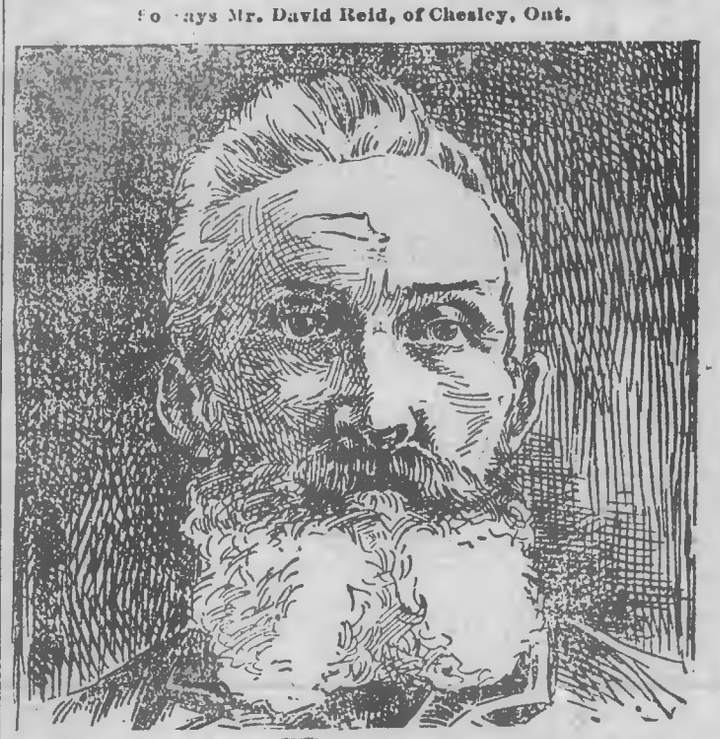
TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.



What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

SERMON TO CURLERS.

The Lindsay Chaplain Speaks to the Members of that Club.

The members of the Lindsay curling club attended Divine worship on Sunday evening in St. Andrew's church. They turned out in full force, and with their friends filled the seats to overflowing. The chaplain of the club, Rev. J. W. McMillan, preached to them from 1 Tim., iv, 8. "Bodily exercise profiteth a little." (R.V.) After a few introductory remarks, in the course of which the curlers were justified as regards attending prayer meeting, and exhorted to improve upon their record, the speaker took up his main subject.

The text was declared to be an epitome of the Bible teaching on athletic exercises. They are accorded a real, though subordinate, place in the number of proper manly accomplishments. They hold their place as being illustrative of, and helpful to, the higher occupation of godliness.

Athletics were defended upon the two grounds of enjoyment and use. Anything innocent and pleasurable is thereby proven good. Our religion teaches us that every creature of God is good if a man use it lawfully. And thus laughter and recreation have a mission among the children of men. A strong plea for exercise was presented, drawn from the relation of mental and spiritual faculties to the physical powers of the body. Exercise, to be of the best, must be decorous and mechanical. It is in the absorption of the contest, in the self-forgetfulness and abandon of the player as he throws his whole nature into enthusiastic endeavours to win, that the maximum of benefit is obtained. Hence exercise is wisely taken in games, rather than in walks, wood-sawing or the dumb-bell drill.

The question of liability to injury was next discussed. The speaker admitted the danger, but held that inasmuch as the danger is really small, and the benefit so great, and the nature of a young man is responsive to the gospel of hard knocks, that no Canadian sport should be abandoned on that ground.

The moral dangers of out-door sports were then taken up at length. They were pronounced very great, and divided into these four classes: 1, Excess, leading to habitual frivolity; 2, professionalism, destroying the recreative powers of the sports; 3, gambling, as always and everywhere injurious; and 4, the leadership of dissolute men. The man who capers about a game with a whisky flask came in for rebuke, and the curlers were asked whether the sports of this town were to be given over to such destructive influences, or kept honest, manly and pure.

The way to save the boys is by means of their ardent love for sports. Every boy, of whatever sort, is ambitious to be an athlete, and admires his elders who are famous in that respect.

The entire gist of the sermon was in favour of the free and hearty employment of all sorts of games. The large body of members of the curling club, representing almost every trade, profession and rank in the town, were exhorted to foster, protect and patronize the enterprises of the younger men and boys during the coming summer, importing into every contest the same gentlemanly spirit of fairness and courtesy that prevails upon the ice about the tee. Even in play the true man is chaste and purposeful, making all he does a part of an upright, self-denying and helpful life.

Some of the closing sentences were, "I believe that it is more important for this town that its young men should be guided safely through the shoals and quicksands of their early years than that their should be an expert fire department. Let us certainly have adequate protection from fire, but let us remember, too, that while a few dollars will repair most damages from fire, nothing can patch and restore a human soul once confirmed in vice. The price of virtue is beyond estimate. As round about race tracks the bookmen and the pickpockets cluster, so round about the pleasures of young men the ghouls and vampires of immorality are collected. Temptations to all sorts of dissipation flock to these games, and the only way to help them out is by erecting a rampart of godly example, godly counsel and godly patronage."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR UNION.

Young Presbyterians in Session in Port Hope.

The young people of the Presbyterian churches within the bounds of the Peterborough Presbytery, are now assembled in session in Port Hope, the organization meeting having been held yesterday afternoon.

The first session was held last evening, with Rev. A. C. Reeves, Moderator of the Presbytery, in the chair.

There was an address by Rev. R. Douglas Fraser, of Bowmanville, who is at the head of the movement in the Presbyterian church. The various societies represented gave three minute reports and there were discussions on Endeavour work, led by delegates from Peterborough and Cobourg. Following are those in attendance: Rev. Mr. Tanner and Miss Sarah Lamb, Omemee; Rev. Mr. MacWilliams, Miss Quinn, Miss Forsythe, Miss White and Mr. Beaton, of Peterborough; Rev. M. Johnston, Miss Hilliard and Miss E. Eakins, Millbrook; Rev. Mr. Lord, Grafton; Miss McCracken and Miss Rutherford, Colborne; Rev. Mr. Hay, Miss Duncan and Miss Russell, Cobourg; Rev. R. Laird and Mr. and Mrs. Cattanach, Campbellford; Mr. Jas. Cullen, Lakefield; Mr. McEwen, Lakeport; Rev. Mr. Jamieson, Lakehurst; Rev. D. A. Thompson, Hastings, and others. The organization meeting of the society was largely attended.

KINDERGARTENS IN ONTARIO.

In the matter of Kindergartens Brantford, says the Expositor, leads all the smaller cities, as the following statistics show:

	Kindergartens.	Teachers.	Pupils.	Av. attendance.
Brantford	3	3	206	114
Guelph	1	1	99	67
Kingston	3	3	291	119
Stratford	1	4	86	34

Of the towns Peterborough is in the lead, having two kindergartens, with two teachers. This system of instruction was first introduced into Ontario in 1892, and in 1894 the members of the kindergarten had increased to 90, with 184 teachers, attended by 3,340 pupils under 6 years of age.

ENGLAND'S POLICY.

movement up the Nile a significance beyond Mr. Curzon's statement. He asked the House to note that the Government repudiated any intention to occupy the Soudan. The House was bound to assume that this was a small movement for military purposes to meet a temporary occasion. He hoped there would be an early opportunity to discuss the matter in its larger bearings when the whole policy of the occupation of Egypt was considered.

Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, Government leader in the House, said that all the Government could state at present was that the advance must be made. It would be premature to discuss the further movements intended. Mr. Labouchere, he added, seemed to rejoice at the defeat of Italy. That, Mr. Balfour continued, was certainly not the view of a single man on the Government side of the House, nor was it the view of a majority on the Opposite bills will be introduced on Wednesday: Mr. Charlton—Bill to amend the act to prevent the spread of noxious weeds and of diseases affecting fruit trees. Mr. Davis—Bill to amend the Assessment Act. Mr. Richardson—Bill to amend the Municipal Act.

ASSESSMENT ACT.

York County Officials Want Some Amendments to the Existing Measure.

Mr. E. J. Davis, M.L.A., introduced yesterday to Hon. Mr. Hardy a deputation from the County of York, who requested that certain amendments to the Assessment Act should be carried out. The delegation included Reeve Hill, Deputy-Reeve Bull and Township Clerk Clark of York; Reeve Davis of North York, Reeve Evans of Etobicoke, Reeve High of Vaughan, Reeve Pugsley of Richmond Hill, Reeve Kane of Newmarket, Mr. C. C. Robinson, County Solicitor, and Mr. W. A. Werrett, York Township Solicitor.

Mr. Hardy approved of one of the several propositions submitted to him, viz.: That local municipalities be empowered to conduct their own sales of land for taxes, instead of having them conducted, as at present, by the mayors, thus extending to townships the privileges now enjoyed by towns and villages.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands did not personally endorse two further propositions, one that these sales be held annually, and the other that no part of a lot of 50 feet or under shall be so sold.

At Mr. Hardy's suggestion, the proposals will be embodied in a bill to be introduced by Mr. Davis.

THE McCORD CASE.

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Dodds' Kidney Pills.

Richmond, March 16th, (Special)—The talk of farmers and others in town is mostly about the astonishing cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer near here. His presence made assurance visible, and he said—"After the doctors pronounced by disease Diabetes no one thought recovery possible. I was partially paralyzed, was nine months in bed, and I ran down until I was a mere shell. When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I stuck close to directions. One box helped me, and nine boxes cured me. Am sixty years old, and have lived here forty years." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers. Price 50 cents a box.

No cold or cough is too severe to yield to the curative power of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It has cured thousands of cases.

To-day this store has a grip on the best trade, not only in Ready-Made Clothing, but in Boots and Shoes, Nobby Hats, Shirts, Ties, Furnishings, etc.; and now the pull is rapidly coming our way in—

Made-to-Measure Clothing.

Department after department has been successfully engrafted until it can be unreservedly claimed that GOUGH BROS'. Mammoth Emporium fills the bill—from the crown of the head to the soles of the feet—from the noted Stanley Hat to the best makes of King's stylish Shoes—every requirement for Man or Boy, with very much in every department that concerns and interests the Ladies as well.

Verily, there's a heap of truth in the trite aphorism of the ingenious McGarvey—"If yez got no push yez'll get no pull."

Fine Dressers

Are learning fast that Gough Bros. are pushing hard for the pull on the finest Tailoring trade of Peterborough. Our business motto—observed as we observe it—will bring success in any line:—"The Better the Grade, the Bigger the Trade."

This store of yours has gathered together for the spring and summer season of 1896, the most correct patterns in Imported and Canadian Tweeds, Worsteds, Cheviots, and Home Spuns, to meet your fancy. The British and American Fashion Plates are now on view. Our Tailors are all back to work again on full time, and Duncan Cameron, the keenest of Cutters, has his coat off—the whole department bustling with an air of activity, ready to corroborate our printed statements.

FASTIDUOUS DRESSERS—Men who have an extra care for looks, when you come to find what we really can do for you, you'll begin to find that you can save a third or so on your clothes, and be well dressed to boot. We won't let you pay so little for them as to get anything unworthy—economy don't lie along that route. We are teaching men who wear good clothes, that high prices need not always be paid to get high values.

"Always Good at Gough's."

MATTERS GET WARM.

M. McCarthy Fires Hot Shot at the Conservatives.

SOME OF THEM WOULD EAT DIRT

For a Consideration, He Says—The Secretary of State Objects to Language That the Speaker Would Not Permit to Pass—Great Disorder in the House.

Ottawa, March 17.—(Special)—When the House opened this afternoon it was observable that most of the members were wearing shamrocks in their button holes, in honor of St. Patrick's Day. A great bunch of the Irish emblem rested upon the desk of Hon. John Costigan, to whom it had been sent by a friend.

It has been a fighting day in the House, and it was characterized by some able, not to say bitter, speeches.

Sir C. H. Tupper resumed the debate on the Remedial bill, and quickly got after Clarke Wallace and D'Alton McCarthy. He said that Mr. Wallace became a member of the Government, and from time to time as such heard the solemn declaration of Sir John Thompson that the Government, in dealing with this question, would be guided by the decision of the Privy Council, whether that decision was for or against the rights of the Catholic minority. The judgment of the Privy Council was given in January, 1895, and yet Mr. Wallace dared to remain a member of the Government until the month of November, 1895, when he resigned. Could any importance be attached to utterances of a man of that ilk? Mr. Wallace represented no influence or outspoken opinion in the country. He could never be the representative of a sentiment in this country that was entitled to great consideration at the hands of Parliament. The other gentleman who was instrumental in stirring up the agitation was the paid adviser of the Manitoba Government. Every argument which Mr. McCarthy had advanced had been paid for; cash paid out in advance by the Province of Manitoba—cash paid down on the counter; not an argument had he given but with the gold of Manitoba in his pocket. (Hear, hear.) An advocate of this kind was not worthy of credence. (Hear, hear.)

Proceeding, Sir Charles reminded the House of the Ontario boundary dispute of some years ago, in which Mr. Mills (Bothwell) had taken part as counsel for Ontario, when Mr. McCarthy had laid down the doctrine that it was not competent for him to take any part in the discussion in the House. Surely Mr. McCarthy should have regard now for his own opinion. (Cheers.) The agitation, led by Mr. Wallace and himself, could come to nothing when Mr. George Brown, without thought of reward, but relying simply upon the intelligence of his countrymen, came to arouse religious prejudices in the country. Sir Charles then adverted to the campaign in Antigonish last year, when Mr. Fraser told the people of that county that Mr. Laurier would do justice to the Catholic minority of Manitoba. (Hear, hear.) He read, amid great applause, from Mr. McIsaac's election address, in which he pledged himself, if elected, to support remedial legislation, and said the Government had done only what they were bound to do in introducing remedial legislation, and that in obedience to the command of the highest judicial authority in the realm. (Cheers.) Mr. Laurier was well known to be a political gymnast. His record on the trade question showed that, but on this question of justice to the Catholics of Manitoba he should be every inch of him a man, a Catholic and a Canadian. (Cheers.)

He cited from an affidavit made by the mayor and leading citizens of Grand River, Gaspe County, that Mr. Laurier, on August 24 last, had stated in their hearing that he would vote for a Remedial law if submitted by Sir Mackenzie Bowell's Government. He (Sir C. H. Tupper) could therefore, appeal to Mr. Laurier to join forces with the Government and put the bill through. He had no hope of him, however, as his position was now a desperate one, and Mr. McCarthy was his leader. Adverting to the value of the decision of the Privy Council, he was astonished that Dr. Weldon, who had approved right along of the judicial procedure in this school case, should now repudiate the decision of the highest court of the land.

Proceeding, Sir Charles then quoted from a speech of Mr. McCarthy's, to show he had argued that in the case of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Separate schools, if such had been granted after union at any time, would become a vested right. Yet, in regard to Manitoba, by reason of his connection with the case as counsel, he argued the very opposite. (Hear, hear.) Before the Privy Council, in 1895, he argued that the appeal clause of the Act was practically a dead letter, while previous to this he had expressed opposite views. (Cheers.)

Conservatives were charged with coercion. If the exercise of the admitted powers of Parliament was coercion, then the Liberals had a worse record than the Conservatives. During the Mackenzie regime an average of four and a half per cent. of the provincial statutes had been disallowed per year, while during the rule of the Conservatives, the yearly average was only two, and in every case the Liberals had acted without commissions of enquiry or investigation. (Cheers.) When Mr. McCarthy was an independent member of the House and not drawing fees from interested parties, he had waxed eloquent about the rights of minorities and the duty of protecting them. He reviewed the school case chronologically and held throughout that the Government had afforded Manitoba abundant opportunities to present all the facts in its possession, and had used every endeavor to get the province to follow a conciliatory course. It was unworthy to say, as Mr. Martin and others had, to the Protestants of Quebec: "You need not be afraid; your rights are guaranteed by ante-union compact; the Manitoba minority has not the same protection, and we propose they won't get the protection of this Parliament."

He concluded by urging the adoption of the bill on the broad basis of toleration and justice, a method which had always been followed by Britons, and was one of the causes which built up and sustained the Empire. (Loud Cheers.)

After recess the debate was continued by Mr. McCarthy. He first took exception to the personal remarks indulged in with respect to him by Sir C. H. Tupper. The idea referred to prevailed throughout the entire laboured harmangue which the House had just listened to. If Sir C. H. Tupper intended to convey the impression that he (Mr. McCarthy) stood for no coercion, because he acted as counsel for Manitoba in the school case, then he could understand why the attacks were made on him. He was bound by his oath to accept a brief when offered, and when offered one by the Attorney-General of Manitoba, he had accepted it. Finally, English precedent and parliamentary practice justified his taking part in debates before the House on matters in which he was concerned as counsel. Proceeding, he also took exception to Sir C. H. Tupper's attack on N. Clarke Wallace, and chaffed him with defending Mr. Wallace last session, when the views held by that gentleman were exactly the same as now.

On being interrupted by Sir C. H. Tupper, he retorted that Sir C. H. Tupper had been Minister of Justice, but it seemed he was actually incapable of understanding the difference between right and wrong.

Sir C. H. Tupper's speech was a tirade of abuse and contained absolutely no argument. What was the position of the matter before the House? There was no question of the power of the House to pass the Remedial Bill, though he did not by that mean it could pass this particular bill. It must be remembered that primarily the duty and responsibility with reference to education lies with the provinces, and Parliament should not interfere unless there was positive evidence that a province had not properly discharged its duties or disregarded them. Mr. Foster, who had made the only good speech delivered on the Conservative side of the House on the question, had said that Separate schools had nothing to do with the case at all, that they were bound in the rock bed of the constitution. Proceeding, he showed that no saving clauses with respect to education were put into the Confederation resolutions drawn up at the Quebec conference, or passed by the Houses of Parliament, but they were introduced in England. The clause on which the present question turned was not found in the original resolutions, or even thought of. However, he thought it would be better to interpret the law without reference to history. He was willing to be bound by the constitution just as much as the enthusiastic young man who spoke this afternoon.

But what had the B.N.A. Act to do with Manitoba? The courts had decided it had nothing. As long as it was not interefering with the Separate schools of Ontario or Quebec, there was no interference with the constitution. He took exception to the claim that ther had been compacts by which Separate schools were guaranteed to the people of the Red River, and held that a limiting clause was put in, not because it was petitioned for, but put in here through the influence which has been felt in other legislations of this Parliament. The courts had decided the limiting clause in the B.N.A. Act, "by law or practice," was a meaningless clause, and therefore the province had absolute power to deal with education, subject, however, to review by Parliament. Parliament, having power, how should it approach the question to exercise it in the Manitoba school case? Should it be assumed that the province had acted wantonly, or that it had acted with a view to doing its duty by the citizens in the matter of educating their children? Who it to be said that the province was not doing its duty in passing the laws of 1890? Would it be said, without evidence, that Manitoba in 1890 should not have reviewed the legislation of 1870 by which Separate schools were established? The decision of the Judicial Committee did not compel the Government to act as claimed, but simply to decide that the minority had the right to appeal and the Government to deal with the appeal. He did not agree with Mr. Laurier's claim as to the necessity for investigation.

Proceeding, he scored the Government for its conduct evinced towards the province. Throughout it was treated as a hostile party.

He challenged anyone to show that such treatment had ever before been shown one friendly civilized country by any other.

And now the Government proposes to carry out its course and get a second reading of the bill through. It proposed to force its followers to eat dirt, and man of them would for a consideration.

Loud cries, "Order, order!" "No, no!"

These things are in the papers so often that we forget they are not true. (Cries, "Order!") It is not true there are a great many hanging on the skirts of the Government? I could name them, but it is not true. (Cries, "Order!")

Sir Charles Tupper, Bart—Mr. Speaker, is it competent for an hon. member who has uttered a gross libel on members of the House to shield himself by a subterfuge?

Mr. Speaker—The hon. member for North Simcoe will realize that that is not a proper expression.

Mr. McCarthy—I bow to the Speaker's ruling. He says that the followers of the Government will not eat dirt.

Mr. Speaker—I refer to the hon. gentleman's statement that the followers of the Government would do certain things for a consideration. That, I think, is not Parliamentary, and the hon. member ought to withdraw it.

Mr. McCarthy—As to the latter part of the statement, it seems I am out of order, and I beg your pardon, Mr. Speaker; and at once withdraw the expression. The rumors, we see, are all fiction. We read the newspapers so frequently that we get imbued, perhaps, with the statements they make. I apologize for that statement. It it not true, sir, I am quite certain, that there are a great number of members now hanging on to the skirts of the Government demanding compensation for their vote in the shape of office. (Loud cries of "Order, order.")

Mr. McCarthy—It is not true. I say it is not true. I could give you the names, but it is not true, and I am not bound to do it.

An hon. member—What are you talking about, then?

Mr. McCarthy—What am I talking about? I am taking it back.

Sir Charles Tupper—I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, whether it is competent for an hon. gentleman to shelter himself by a subterfuge and a side wind, and at the same time to utter a gross libel upon the members of this House. (Loud cries of "Order.")

Mr. Edgar—Mr. Speaker, I ask you to rule whether the leader of the House is in order in the language he has just used.

Mr. Speaker—I am afraid the House is getting into a state of disorder. The member for Simcoe certainly did use an unparliamentary expression in saying that members of this House would be influenced to do certain things, to vote for a bill for a consideration, and I understood the hon. member to withdraw that statement.

Mr. McCarthy—Perfectly correct.

Mr. Speaker—Since that time I have not understood him to make any unparliamentary statement.

Mr. Edgar—I rise to a point of order and I ask you, Mr. Speaker, whether you consider that the leader of the House was in order when he characterized the language of the member for Simcoe as a subterfuge and a libel.

Sir Charles Tupper—The statement I made was this: that the honorable gentleman had uttered a gross libel upon members of the House, and he has been obliged to withdraw that. What I objected to was that by any subterfuge he should endeavor to repeat it and to fix it upon members of this House.

Mr. Speaker—I am afraid the honorable member is not quite in order in using the word, "subterfuge."

Mr. Foster—I want to call your attention to this point of order, to a statement made. Loud cries of "Order, order.")

Mr. Speaker—If the honorable member proposes to raise another point of order he is quite in order in doing so. But the honorable member must either accept the ruling of the chair on the point already raised or appeal to the House. (Liberal cheers.)

Mr. Foster—The point of order I wish to raise is this: The honorable gentleman went on to state that it is not true that there are members in this House who will vote for a compensation.

Mr. Mulock—The honorable gentleman himself is out of order.

Mr. Foster—I think I have a right to state the point of order I am making. The member for Simcoe went on to state further: "It is not true that there are several gentlemen who are willing to do that. I could give the names of those gentlemen, but it is not true." Now, that phrase, "I could give the names of those gentlemen," taken in connection with the honorable gentleman's previous statement, it seems to me, constitutes a direct imputation, and that he cannot cover that up by saying just afterwards, "It is not true." That is the point I take.

Mr. Speaker—I did not quite understand the member for Simcoe to be casting a further imputation on the members of the House. What I did understand him to say was that, although the newspapers had made these statements with regard to members of Parliament, he did not believe them to be true.

Mr. Foster—Then if you will allow me, he said—

Loud cries of "Order," "Chair," and general confusion.

Mr. Foster—I am discussing the question. I do not question the speaker's ruling.

Mr. Speaker—The Hon. Minister of Finance is entirely in order.

Mr. Foster—I did not understand the Speaker to have ruled decisively upon the point of order I raised, and I appeal now to my honorable friend who used the word, whether I am correct in my understanding of what he said, and whether he did not say, "I could give the names of those honorable gentlemen; but it is not true, and, therefore, I am not going to give the names." That is the point of order to which I rose, and I think my honorable friend will admit that he did put in that parenthesis in that way.

Mr. Speaker—If the honorable member for Simcoe meant to continue the imputation that he first uttered by his subsequent remarks, these latter are out of order.

Mr. McCarthy—Honors being easy, I do not think we will pursue this matter any further. I do not wonder that the leader of the House has got libel on the brain at the present moment. (Loud laughter.)

Mr. Edgar—The point of order I raised, I understood was ruled by you to a large extent in my favor. But we have not heard any expression of regret from the Secretary of State. (Cries of "Chair, chair!")

Mr. Laurier—Is the House to understand the leader of the House does not submit to the ruling of the chair, that the honorable member is out of order in using the words "subterfuge and libel?"

MARTER'S MOTION VOTED DOWN

The Idea That a County Judge Should be a License Commissioner Pronounced Absurd Should Foreigners Vote at School Trustees Elections? —The House Says No.

Toronto, March 18.—Considerable time was taken up at the Legislature yesterday afternoon in the discussion of Hon. Mr. Ross' Public School Bill. One clause provided that no one but a British subject could vote for or sit as a Public school trustee. When the bill went into committee of the whole house, Hon. Mr. Balfour complained of this clause. He said he lived at a border town, and that many citizens of the United States were in the habit of residing there during the summer months. They brought their children with them and sent them to the Public schools, for which they paid taxes. He thought these people should be allowed to vote for trustees, seeing they paid taxes and had an interest in the efficiency of the schools. Messrs. Whitney and Matheson strongly opposed permitting any but Britishers to vote. Mr. Howland spoke in favor of Mr. Balfour's amendment. After consultation the Government decided to alter the clause, as desired by Mr. Balfour. Mr. Marter insisted upon a division. Mr. Balfour's amendment was then carried by a vote of 36 to 10. Several other clauses of minor importance were then passed and the committee reported progress.

These bills were read a third time:

Mr. Bronson—Respecting the Rideau Club, Ottawa.

Mr. Chapple—Respecting the Village of Port Perry.

These bills passed the committee and will come up for third reading on Friday:

To make further provision respecting Street Railways—Mr. Bronson.

Consolidating and revising the Acts respecting the registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths—Mr. Harcourt.

To further improve the Agriculture and Arts Act—Mr. Dryden.

Mr. Willoughby continued the debate which began on Thursday last, with reference to the present liquor license system. He thought the only way to have the law observed was to remove the subject altogether from party politics. He thought Mr. Marter was right in his desire to see the boards of commissioners composed of county judges, the wardens of the counties and one member on each board elected by the people. He thought one great objection to the law as it stood was that there was no appeal from the decision of the license commissioners. This, he thought, should be remedied.

Hon. G. W. Ross replied. He ridiculed the idea that the Opposition were anxious to have the subject removed from party politics, and instanced the method proposed by the Dominion Government under the McCarthy Act. It was no argument to say that because under the present law the commissioners were appointed by the Government, they were partizan. Did the Opposition mean to say that because the judges of the land had been appointed by the Dominion Government they were partizan? The argument was ridiculous. (Cheers.) No proof had been offered, not in a single instance. The Opposition simply wanted to try these commissioners without giving them the chance to defend themselves. They asked the Government and the country to condemn 270 men occupying high positions in the country, without offering the slightest evidence. Why had none of the Opposition given instances of partizanship before they asked for a change of system. Simply because they could not do so. (Cheers.) Why did the Opposition not ask for a committee of the House to take evidence under oath, call all the Conservative liquor dealers in the province and find out if in any single instance they had been tampered with or intimidated at election time. No witnesses, no evidence, nothing but unfounded charges, Had the liquor dealers asked for it? Not a petition from a single liquor dealer in the land had been received. Had the temperance people asked for it? He read from different speeches by Mr. Marter showing that he had held various opinions upon the subject and convulsed the House when he quoted from a speech delivered at Toronto, when he had said "Perhaps I have been foolish upon the temperance question." Mr. Ross said that not a single temperance organization had asked for this change. Nor had a single municipal corporation asked for any such change. On the contrary, many of these bodies had passed resolutions endorsing the Government's policy. For whom did Mr. Marter speak? For no one but himself. He had said so. He (Mr. Ross) thought he should have been more careful than to speak upon so slender an authority. (Laughter.) Was his hatred of the law born of a desire to benefit the temperance cause, or was it in order that it might secure to his party some political advantage. (Cheers.) Most of the County Judges were Conservatives. He had come to the conclusion that it was simply a party dodge. In 1877 the Opposition were upon another tack. Then they wanted licenses to be issued by municipal councils; in 1883 they wanted the commissioners appointed by the County Councils, and in 1890 they were to be elected by the municipal electors; now, in 1896. Mr. Marter revived the defunct McCarthy plan, to have a commissioner appointed by the Government, another by the people, and the other to be the County Judge. During all these years of vacillation upon the part of the Opposition, the electors have stood solidly behind the policy of the Government and would continue to do so. (Cheers.) One reason why the County Judge should not be a commissioner was that he would have to sit upon appeals from the magistrates. Under the law there is an appeal from the decision of the License Commissioners to the County Judge. Would the Opposition like to have the judge on the bench sit in judgment upon his decision as a commissioner? It was absurd. Was it not a fact that there were less than half the number of hotels in the province in 1896 than there were in 1876. This proved that the Government was not partizan in its system, since it would be in their interest to have the number increased.

Messrs. Howland, Davis, Magwood and Marter followed, after which the vote was taken, the Government being sustained to 44 to 31.

DR. JAMESON ON TRIAL.

Evidence to Show That the Raid Was Not in Consequence of the Johannesburg Letter Found on the Field.

London, March 17.—The examination of Dr. Jameson and his fellow officers in the Transvaal raid was resumed in the Bow-street Police Court this morning. As at the previous hearings, the courtroom was filled with members of the aristocracy, friends and admirers of the defendants. Sir Robert T. Reid, M.P., Q.C., watched the proceedings on behalf of the Transvaal Government. Associated with him was Sir George Lewis, who prepared the case of Mr. Parnell and the Irish party against The London Times before the Parnell Commission. Among the spectators were Lady Cranborne, Lady Rayleigh and Mrs. Asquith, wife of the late Home Secretary.

Sergeant Ruck, who took part in the raid, was called to the witness stand and described the progress of the expedition into the Boer country.

Several troopers who took part in the fight with the Boers at Krugersdorp were called to the witness box and narrated their experiences, the facts of which have already been published.

The lawyers for the prosecution laid great stress upon admissions made by the witnesses that stores, horses, arms and ammunition, etc., awaited the Jameson expedition at various points on roads converging upon Mafeking, showing that the raid had long been planned, and was not due to the Johannesburg committee's letter, which was read after the expedition arrived at Krugersdorp. Several witnesses testified in behalf of the Government that they had acted in the capacity of messengers. When they found that the wires had been cut behind Jameson's party so that they could not be communicated with, the witnesses were obliged to pursue the party on horseback. They overtook Jameson and tried in vain to induce him to return. The hearing was adjourned for a week.

WHAT EDISON SAYS HE CAN DO.

He Can See With the Naked Eye Through Wood Eight Inches Thick.

New York, March 17.—Thomas A. Edison has progressed so far with his X ray experiments that he has practically abandoned photography and claims to be able to see with the naked eye through a solid block of wood eight inches thick.

Mr. Edison declares that it is simply a question of further experiment and more powerful light when the human eye will be able to see through solid metals, brick walls, sealed letters and the human body. Mr. Edison believes that there is no reason why physicians may not look into the heart, lungs and stomach of patients. He has been at his experiments practically day and night since the discovery of the Roentgen ray was first announced. His aim has been to do away with photography in penetrating solid substances, and to perfect his apparatus so that the human eye can do the work of the photographic plate.

"It is simply," said Mr. Edison, "a question of perfecting the apparatus. To that end I am working. Roentgen's results demonstrate conclusively that if we only can secure the proper condition there is no reason why the human eye, with the aid of the X ray, cannot penetrate walls just as easily as it now penetrates the open atmosphere. You can see for yourself what we can do already with conditions that are by no means controllable or absolute."

HAMMOND'S TRIAL ON TO-DAY.

Is There Anything in the Clue the Detective is Working?

Gravenhurst, March 17.—(Special.)—There have been no new developments in the Hammond case, but interest is maintained by occasional rumors, and the public will keenly watch the magistrate's hearing tomorrow, in which H. Castle, J.P., will probably have associated with him four other magistrates. The inquiry is not expected to elicit anything new. A detective is, however, at work on a clue which points to the theory that Hammond intended the crime to have been carried out in an entirely different way, in which he would have figured not as the principal but as the instigator. If the clue leads up to anything it may explain how the crime came to be committed without premeditation as to details.

The 800 mixed train to-night had on board Mr. E. F. B. Johnston of Toronto, the lawyer retained for the defence. After a few minutes' conversation at the station with Mr. E. Hammond, Mr. Johnston proceeded to Bracebridge to interview the young man whom he has undertaken to extricate, if possible, from the net which circumstantial evidence has woven around him.

THE McCORD CASE.

His Disease Pronounced Diabetes and Incurable—Given up by Himself and Friends—Cured by Dodds' Kidney Pills.

Richmond, March 16th, (Special) — The talk of farmers and others in town is mostly about the astonishing cure of Wm. McCord, a farmer near here. His presence made assurance visible, and he said—"After the doctors pronounced by disease Diabetes no one thought recovery possible. I was partially paralyzed, was nine months in bed, and I ran down until I was a mere shell. When I commenced taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I stuck close to directions. One box helped me, and nine boxes cured me. Am sixty years old, and have lived here forty years." Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers. Price 50 cents a box.

Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They cure constipation, and sick headache.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup positively cures coughs, colds, asthma, hoarseness, bronchitis, and all diseases of the pulmonary organs.

A SOLDIER'S STORY.

HE DISCUSSES A POPULAR MEDICINE WITH A NEWSPAPER MAN.

Had Suffered for Several Years With Rheumatism—Acting on a Friend's Advice he Used Dr. William's Pink Pills and Effectually Drove Out the Trouble.

There are very few people in St. John, N. B. who do not know Capt. S. D. Crawford, who is prominent in military circles, and popular with his brother officers and men. In conversation recently with a member of the Gazette staff, the talk turned upon Dr. William's Pink Pills, and the captain remarked that they had cured him of rheumatism. Being asked if he was willing to give the facts for publication, he replied that while there was nothing startling about his case, he felt he owed the medicine something for the relief it had given him from pain, and he was quite willing to help some one else on to the right road to health by his testimony. "For some years prior to 1893," said Capt. Crawford "I had been a sufferer from rheumatism in my shoulders, the pain and attendant inconvenience being somewhat intermittent in its character. It was sometimes in one shoulder, sometimes in the other and sometimes in both. As may well be understood I endured not a little suffering in this connection. I tried local applications and made many other efforts to rid myself of these pains, but the efforts were always futile. At length a friend recommended to me the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I acted on his advice and am profoundly thankful that I did so. After using the Pink Pills for a short time the pains entirely disappeared, and best of all, although upward of a year has elapsed since that time, the pain has not returned for an instant. I believe myself perfectly cured. I have every reason to believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a sterling remedy, and cheerfully recommend their use to all who may be suffering as I had been."

With the approach of spring and its consequent extremes of weather, rheumatism, makes the lives of hosts of people through the land miserable. All such sufferers should act upon Capt. Crawford's advice, and give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. They cure when all other medicines fail, and there are thousands throughout the Dominion who cheerfully bear witness to their wonderful healing powers. As a spring medicine Pink Pills have absolutely no equal. They make pure, rich red blood, drive out all impurities, strengthen the nervous system, and prevent disease. The genuine can only be had in boxes with complete directions and enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Refuse all imitations no matter what plausible story the dealer who offers them may tell you."

FROM THE YUKON.

The Hardships of Sergeant Brown's Long Trip.

WHERE MEN MUST HAVE MONEY

It is No Place for Inexperienced Persons of Limited Means The Dominion Exhibition — Deadlock in the Cabinet—General Notes From Canada's Capital.

Ottawa, March 17.—(Special.)—Sergeant Charles Brown of the Northwest Mounted Police, who accompanied Inspector Constantine to the Yukon country two years ago, has arrived here with important despatches from Fort Cudahy or Mackenzie to the Government. Sergt. Brown has been continuously on the Yukon River for the past two years, and has undergone great hardship in getting out of the country. His 700-mile trip to the coast was made partly on snowshoes and partly by dog train, and during the entire 34 days the weather was such as to chill one to the marrow. On account of the large number of miners who are working on the Yukon in the vicinity of Fort Cudahy it has become an important customs post. Fully 1500 men remained there this winter, as they find out by the use of fire the frozen ground can be worked to advantage during the long cold season. Mr. Brown is of the opinion that those without capital should keep away from the Yukon country. He deplores the great rush to Alaska this season of inexperienced men and with small means. They are sure to encounter great hardships and possible want. Before venturing to the mines on the Yukon a man should have at least $500. Nothing is heard now of the foolish war talk among the American residents who so strenuously objected to the establishment of the Canadian post at Forty Mile. All the necessary buildings for police have been completed and the Yankees and Canucks are working together in perfect peace and accord for the development of the country in which they are agreed there is room enough for all. The boundary line in the neighborhood of Forty Mile has been definitely determined, Mr. Ogilvie having been industriously working upon it all winter. Mr. Brown looks for a largely increased demand for Canadian goods on the Yukon this season, the avenues of communication having recently been much improved.

H. J. Hill of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition is in the city talking up the proposed Dominion Exhibition in Toronto next year. A number of gentlemen who take an interest in the project will interview the Government on the matter of a grant next Thursday.

His Grace the Archbishop of Ontario arrived here to-day preparatory to the special meeting of the Synod, which meets to-morrow to elect the first Bishop of the new Anglican Diocese of Ottawa. Great interest is manifested in the meeting. Many names are mentioned in connection with this high office, but it is all guesswork as yet.

It is said that Mr. Fauvel, the Protestant Englishman with a French name, who represents Bonaventure, has received a letter from the Bishop of his Diocese instructing him to vote for the Remedial Bill. He will likely bring the matter up in the House.

There is reported to be a deadlock in the Cabinet, says The Journal, over the appointment of Mr. Joseph Pope as Under Secretary of State. The French Ministers, it is said, refuse to agree to the appointment, inasmuch as the present Under Secretary is a French-Canadian, Mr. Catellier, and they think he should be succeeded by one. Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., is anxious that Mr. Pope's appointment should be adopted. The French Ministers say that Mr. Pope's appointment reduces the number of French deputies from five or six a few years ago to two at present.

Mayor Borthwick, who is a Conservative, has consented to extend the official welcome to the delegates to the Young Liberal convention, which is to be held here this week.

A deputation from Almonte, headed by Mayor Thoburn, interviewed Mr. Haggart to-day to ask for a subsidy to the proposed railway from the Carp to Lanark via Almonte.

The bill to incorporate the National Sanitarium Association passed the Private Bills Committee this morning. The committee decided to remit the fe of $200.

Mr. Haggart has given notice of a bill to amend the Dominion Railways Act so as to exempt employes of the Intercolonial Railway in Nova Scotia from the obligation to perform statute labor. It has been found in many places that every time when the men are required to clear away snow from the railway grounds and tracks the municipal authorities claimed their services also.

Mr. McKay proposes to amend the T., H. & B. Railway bill when it comes before the House.

The Senate to-day refunded the deposit of $200 in the Pearson divorce case, less the actual costs for printing the bill.

After a brief discussion at the opening of the House to-day between Messrs. Laurier and Foster, it was decided to close the Remedial Bill debate at to-morrow's sitting.

ONE HONEST MAN.

DEAR EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that if written to confidentially, I will mail in a sealed letter, the plan pursued by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from Nervous Weakness, night losses and weak, shrunken parts.

I have no scheme to extort money from anyone whomsoever. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank Heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and anxious to make this certain means of cure known to all.

Having nothing to sell or send C.O.D., I want no money. Address JAS. A. HAMAR,

MATTERS GET WARM

Sir Charles Tupper, after a pause, rose and said—I am satisfied I was strictly in order in calling attention to the fact which your subsequent ruling has established, that the honorable member, by putting his language in that hypothetical way was continuing to impute the charge he made at first, which charge, I repeat, is the grossest libel that an honorable gentleman in this House can utter. I say, Mr. Speaker, I am perfectly in order, and I am in the judgment of the chair and of the House, when I say that the language of the honorable gentleman is the grossest libel that one member of this House can utter against another; that is to charge him with being influenced in his vote by the promise of office. Taking it on that ground, your subsequent ruling, Mr. Speaker, entirely justified me in calling attention to it.

The Speaker said he thought the word "subterfuge" should be withdrawn, whereupon Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., withdrew it and substituted the word "device."

Mr. Laurier challenged this substitution, but the Speaker did not sustain him.

Mr. McCarthy, continuing, said all Mr. Ewart could point out in objection to the curriculum of Manitoba schools was a history called Buckley's History, and that was found to be in use in the convent schools in Winnipeg. In the Northwest, where Separate schools are established by law, the teaching in all the schools was the same, and when the Roman Catholic bishops protested, the Government here refused to interfere. Why, then, interfere with Manitoba? The schools were all right, why interfere with them?

Col. Amyot—Rank Tyranny.

Not noticing this quotation from Mr. Martin, Mr. McCarthy proceeded to deny that he had instigated the anti-Separate school campaign in Manitoba. They were abolished because they were inefficient.

Mr. LaRiviere—Where is your proof?

Mr. McCarthy—The very bill before the House shows that the schools were inefficient. It does not restore you the control of your schools, the examination of your teachers and schools.

Mr. LaRiviere—And you call that proof?

Mr. McCarthy retorted that he didn't know what better proof the honorable gentleman would want. Besides, Mr. Sifton declared they were being conducted in a manner that was a disgrace to civilization. The school census was so made up as to give the Roman Catholic schools nearly double the grant they were entitled to.

Mr. LaRiviere asked if the honorable gentleman was aware that these returns were sworn to?

Mr. McCarthy—Yes, I suppose so, But I don't think that makes the matter much better. He went on to say that Mr. Sifton's statement was to the effect that the money that should go to the schools went to the Roman Catholic Church. There were signatures by "sign" to petitions, religious questions always in the curriculum, etc.

Mr. Bergeron—Could not all that have been improved away without abolishing the Separate schools altogether?

Mr. LaRiviere—Before he does that, will the honorable gentleman give his authority for the former's statement?

Mr. McCarthy—I have taken the statements from Mr. Wade's pamphlet.

Mr. LaRiviere—Who was paid for writing it by the Manitoba Government?

Mr. McCarthy replied by asking what bound this House to interfere with Manitoba? There was no doubt about its power, but before it did so it should investigate the complaints of the petitioners and he himself had shown what were the grounds upon which the Legislature abolished Separate schools. It was simply a question of whether Separate schools should exist or not. "We only have them in Ontario because we are not able to do away with them," said Mr. McCarthy. "Yet, we had gentlemen from provinces where they had no Separate schools atempting to force Seeparate schools in the Province of Manitoba.."

In conclusion, he held that the whole matter lay in a nutshell, namely, whether it was just, politic, or wise to pass the bill. "Justice," was too narrow a term. Witness the secularization of the clergy reserve, the abolition of seigniorat tenpre and the like. Is justice any justification for disorganization of the present school system by passing an innicuous law, an impracticable law, which we are asked to bow to because the Archbishop approves of it? The House might depend upon it that if His Grace was satisfied with the bill there was some understanding in regard to further concessions. If ever the House got into committee, and he didn't think it would this Parliament, it would be found that half the bill was stolen from the law of 1890. He would like to know by what authority this Parliament delegated the taxing power in Manitoba to the Separate trustees. He would vote for the six months' hoist, because he wanted no enquiry, but was satisfied the bill should not become law. (Liberal cheers.)

Mr. Haggart followed with great Conservative applause. He asked, since when had Mr. McCarthy got the idea into his head that minorities should Jesuits' Estates agitation, he argued not be protected. In 1889, during the for the Protestant minority in Quebec, but now, when the rights of the Catholic minority in Manitoba were at stake, it was entirely a different matter. Devoting himself to the Opposition leader, Mr. Haggart showed by extracts from that gentleman's speech the inconsistent position which he occupied to-day. His action in moving the six months' hoist was a declaration on his part that he disapproved of the principle of Separate schools, that he was opposed to Remedial Legislation altogether. (Cheers.) country had so steered north by south as Mr. Laurier on this question. What was the real ground of objection of Mr. McCarthy and his friends? They objected on principle to Separate schools, because they believed that the teachings of the Catholic church were subversive of morality. He and his friends had not enough of the common religion of mankind to know that the people of this country believed that religion and morality could be taught as safe by Catholics as by Protestants. (Cheers.)

After Mr. Gillies spoke in favor of the bill, the House adjourned, at 3 a.m.

Bourdon Arrested in Paris.

Montreal, March 15.—(Special) — Mr. Rosario Bourdon, treasurer of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co., was arrested yesterday in Paris, whither he had goné after being released from custody in this city. Bourdon had been accused of embezzling $3400 from the R. and O. Company, and, having been out on bail, he left the country and went to Europe. It appears that the authorities learned of Bourdon's whereabouts through an indiscreet friend in this city, who received a letter from the absent cashier, and gave away his address.

The Militia to be Called Out.

Halifax, N.S., March 16.—A telegram from Joggins Mines states that the situation there between the riotous miners and the local constables is unchanged. The men remain locked up in their hall, and refuse to surrender those implicated in last week's attack on non-union workmen. It is expected that the militia will be called out to-morrow.

Distinguished Lutheran Minister Dead.

Philadelphia, March 16.—The Rev. Charles William Schaeffer, D.D., LL.D., a distinguished minister of the Lutheran Church, died yesterday, aged 83.

The man with a weight on his leg can't hope to win in the race. A man with a weight on his health can't expect to compete in life and business with those who are not handicapped. If his brain is heavy, and his blood sluggish, because of constipation, he will not succeed in doing anything very well. Constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of all sickness. Symptoms of it are sallowness, listlessness, poor appetite, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness, biliousness, and lassitude. Constipation can be cured easily and certainly by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are not at all violent in their action, and yet they are more certain than many medicines which are so strong that they put the system all out of order. The great advantage of the 'Pleasant Pellets' is that they cure permanently.

The Brantford "RED-BIRD"

SHORT HISTORY.

In the year 1895 this wheel proved a favourite with the good riders throughout the whole Dominion. It HOLDS EVERY CANADIAN CHAMPIONSHIP to-day, except one. Later on in the season it began to girdle the globe. It was the first to show the famous Zimmerman its rear wheel. Away in the Antipodes, the Champions of New Zealand, Australia and Africa, use it; give it time and the Champions the world over will ride it. We will explain to you the secret of its great success if you will call at 184 Simcoe street, Snowden's Block,

H. A. WALKER.

Built this year in four different weights—including Ladies.

BLOUSES

Perhaps a little early yet to talk about Spring Blouses, but as we just opened up two cases of the Newest Stylish Designs in white and artistic colors. We extend an invitation to the Ladies to come in and see them.

One advantage in buying Blouses from us is that you can try on in our fitting room and so avoid misfits.

Wood's Phosphodine.—The Great English Remedy.

Is the result of over 25 years treating thousands of cases with all known drugs, until at last we have discovered the true remedy and treatment—a combination that will effect a prompt and permanent cure in all stages of Sexual Debility, Abuse or Excesses, Nervous Weakness, Emissions, Mental Worry, Excessive Use of Opium, Tobacco, or Alcoholic Stimulants, all of which soon lead to Insanity, Consumption and an early grave. Wood's Phosphodine has been used successfully by hundreds of cases that seemed almost hopeless—cases that had been treated by the most talented physicians—cases that were on the verge of despair and insanity—cases that were tottering over the grave—but with the continued and persevering use of Wood's Phosphodine, these cases that had been given up to die, were restored to manly vigor and health—Reader you need not despair—no matter who has given you up as incurable—the remedy is now within your reach, by its use you can be restored to a life of usefulness and happiness.

Price, one package, $1; six packages, $5; by mail free of postage.

One will please, six guaranteed to cure. Pamphlet free to any address.

"At Home."

Courts Peterborough and Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, will hold their next popular "At Home," in the lodge rooms, No. 180 Simcoe street, to-morrow evening, Thursday 19th, at 8 p. m. Admission as usual, 15c. 1d

St. Patrick's Day in Lindsay.

Last night Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, of St. Peter's Cathedrial, delivered an eloquent address in St. Mary's church, Lindsay, on the subject "St. Patrick and his labours in Ireland." Rev. Father Fitzpatrick created an excellent impression. The offertory was for St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

WEDNESDAY, March 18.—For some time back the temperature has been almost uniform, but now a change is perceptible and I expect soon to see a breaking up, for at this morning's observation the self-registering thermometer indicated 22 degrees above zero. We may have rain soon. —THOMAS TELFORD.

"At Home."

An "at home" will be given St. Adrew's manse under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society on Thursday, 19th inst., at 8 p. m. A good musical programme has been prepared. Refreshments will be served during the evening. Gentlemen as well as ladies will be cordially welcomed. Admission, 25c.

Save a Dollar.

We have a number of copies left of the Annuals for 1895, which we will sell for a dollar less than the regular price. "The Boys' Own" and "The Girls' Own" will be sold for $1 each and the "Sunday at Home" and "Leisure Hour" for $1.25 each. As they are likely to go quick at these half prices, better not delay ordering at the Peterborough Bookstore.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.
